AFTERMATH OF VANDALS' VISIT

Marin's nightriding vandals escalated their tactics last night with a tire-slashing spree in Novato — two months to the day since the union-led Valentine's Day riot outside the Independent-Journal building in San Rafael. The seats on one unlocked new car (right) were slashed and 71 tires punctured at Ted Shuman Chevrolet, 7123 Redwood Highway. Schuman estimated damage at $3,900. At Novato Toyota Inc., 7505 Redwood Highway, (above) 52 tires were punctured, causing an estimated $1,785 damage. Also last night, an $80 window was broken by a steel nut at Grand Auto Supply, 7427 Redwood Highway. It was the sixth window at the store to be broken by vandals. Operators of all three firms told police they had been asked and refused to withdraw advertising from the I-J by San Francisco Typographical Union 21, which struck the paper Jan. 7.

Apollo 13 Veers Off Homeward Path

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Mission Control reported today that the Apollo 13 spaceship was off course and must make a mid-course engine correction tonight or Thursday if it is to return to earth. If the firing is not successful, the spaceship would miss the earth by 104 miles and probably would have no way to get home.

However, officials noted that the chances of making the course correction were "excellent." The normal firing would be done with the engine of the lunar module, a powerplant that fired flawlessly Tuesday night.

A burn of only a few seconds is required to alter the course to aim at the desired landing area in the Pacific Ocean.

If the lunar module engine should fail, the astronauts could use the small control jets on the side of either the lunar module or the command ship.

Astronauts James A. Lovell, Fred W. Haise and John L. Swigert are scheduled to make the mid-course correction at 6:13 p.m. (PST) today. However, officials are considering delaying it until 9:13 a.m. (PST) Thursday.

There was no explanation how the spacecraft veered off a so-called free return trajectory which would have brought it back to a landing on earth even if no mid-course were attempted.

Splashdown is set for 10:04 a.m. (PST) Friday.

The space agency had said Tuesday that the Apollo 13 ship was on such a path.

The astronauts rested and did little activity as the conserved their consumables. They were in good spirits after the tense hours of Monday and Tuesday. An oxygen tank rupture late Monday aborted their moon landing plans and placed them in the gravest danger ever faced by American astronauts.

Although confidence was building that they would land safely in the Pacific, officials cautioned there is always a possibility something could go wrong in the remaining two days. The astronauts have been reduced to dependence on the power and other resources of the attached lunar landing craft.

On the performance of the lunar module, flight director Eugene Kranz said, "I think the LM spacecraft is in excellent shape, and I

Dixie's School Tax Wins; Novato's Fails

Dixie School District voters approved a 50-cent hike in their general purpose tax rate limit yesterday, but Novato Unified School District voters rejected an 85-cent hike in their rate ceiling.

The Dixie vote, 2,233 yes to 1,468 no, will cut down the number of teaching jobs that will be eliminated in the 1970-71 school year.

Before the election the district staff estimated that about 14 jobs would be cut if the increase were approved, but as many as 27 might be terminated if it were defeated.

The vote increased the general purpose tax rate from $3.35 to $3.85 per $100 assessed valuation. The total rate is now at $3.995.

Dixie voters also approved, 2,563 to 1,143, a measure to raise the bond interest rate from five to seven per cent so the district can sell $1,495,000 in previously authorized bonds on today's market.

Of the district's 8,085 voters, 3,714 cast ballots, a 45-9 per cent turnout.

The Novato voters narrowly defeated the measure to raise the general purpose tax rate ceiling by 85 cents from $3.43 to $4.28 assessed valuation. The district's total rate is $5.435.

The measure was defeated 3,461 to 3,072 where a simple majority was required. There was a turnout of slightly more than 51 per cent of the district's 12,848 registered voters.

Couple Held In Infant's Camp Death

A young couple from Wisconsin was arrested yesterday on suspicion of child abuse after their 5-month-old bruised baby son died in a small, cold tent at a camping site on Mount Tamalpais.

Sheriff's Deputy Jeanette Prandi gave this account of the tragedy:

Dean Allen Lampiris, 20, and his wife, Debra, 17, had been camping with two young men in a tent at Pan Toll station for four days. The fifth occupant of the tent, which Mrs. Prandi said was about six-by-six feet in floor area, was the Lampiris's baby Dean Allen, who was born last October.

Yesterday about 9 a.m., Mrs. Lampiris discovered the infant was dead in his makeshift bed atop a sheepskin jacket. An ambulance was called, and the child was taken to Marin General Hospital, where a doctor pronounced him dead.

Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said that death was due to asphyxia but further tests will be performed to determine what caused the death. He said that the child had bruises and scrapes on his body, especially on his face, and that he had seven fractured ribs which had probably been broken about a week ago.

The young mother told Mrs. Prandi that the baby was fine when she put him to bed the night before and had no explanation for the injuries. She said they had come to Mount Tamalpais from their San Francisco apartment with two young men for a vacation.

She "wanted to have her child

Lower Vote Age Loses On Mill Valley Ballot

Mill Valley voters narrowly defeated a measure supporting the 18-year-old vote yesterday, but elected one city council candidate who approved of the lower voting age.

The measure, defeated 1,620 to 1,421, had been supported by the city's youth commission. It had received little opposition.

Jean S. Barnard had endorsed the measure with reservation. Edward J. Boessenecker had opposed it.

Youth Commissioner George B. Kewin, 17, who wrote the argument in favor of the measure, volunteered to chalk the results on a blackboard in the council chambers and watched the proposition go down to defeat.

The rejection was in contrast to liberal action two years ago when voters approved a resolution calling for orderly withdrawal of troops from Vietnam.

Kewin said he had expected the proposition to pass and "it probably would have if we hadn't specified the age of 18. I think people would have gone for 19."

The trend was evident soon after the totals began going up at 8:10 p.m., but the final results weren't known until three hours later when the American Legion Hall precinct reported in.

The successful cleanup of Mount Tamalpais "won votes for us," Kewin said, but could not push the proposition over the top. The youth commission conducted the April 4 cleanup.

Interest seemed to be a little higher in the council race. Some 3,099 of the city's 6,496 registered voters cast ballots for councilmen, while 3,041 (47 per cent) voted on lowering the voting age.

Nixon Asks Lake Pollution Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today asked Congress to halt further dredge-waste pollution of the Great Lakes —one of the nation's worst trouble spots.

In a special message to the House and Senate, Nixon asked for legislation to prohibit dumping of polluted dredge waste into the lakes and require bordering states to provide dumping areas on land.

Nixon's Great Lakes program would concentrate on their most polluted harbors in the initial stages and would cost about $70 million to build containment areas for polluted material.

The Federal government would pay half and state and local governments the rest.

Burglar Shot In Sausalito; Body Sought

The murky waters of Richardson Bay were being searched for the body of a young man believed shot to death by Sausalito police last night during an attempted burglary of a Sausalito jewelry store.

A second man, David James Robertson, 22, of South Berlin, Mass., was booked into Marin County Jail early today on suspicion of burglary after police found him hiding under a small desk in the store.

Police said the dead youth was identified by Robertson as Richard (Bud) Anton, about 25 years old, of Ann Arbor, Mich.

About 11:40 p.m. Officers Stephen M. Willis and Gary Verdi responded to a burglar alarm at

INCOME TAX

A government tax disliked by only two classes of people—men and women.

Southern Sonoma Turnout Is Big

There were election upheavals in Novato and Fairfax yesterday but overall it was an even split between incumbents and newcomers in city council races.

The unofficial count showed 13 incumbents and 13 newcomers gaining council seats in 12 cities and towns in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

Five incumbents were ousted in Marin.

Generally, there was a strong voter turnout with Rohnert Park's 62 per cent the highest since the city was incorporated in 1962.

The three-candidate "revolt slate" in San Anselmo failed to make a clean sweep.

Marsha J. Owen (Sally Stanford), veteran Sausalito campaigner, missed out again.

Mayor Harley A. McAskill and former mayor Babe Silva were defeated in Novato.

In San Anselmo Warren R. Perry, a planning commissioner, and Lewis W. Stewart, a community development consultant, and Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro won seats.

Capurro was the only member of the three-candidate "revolt" slate to win. His running mates, former mayor Arthur W. Smith and Sarah Nome lost out.

Ragan, running independently, ran sixth, in the field of seven.

In Fairfax, Councilman Frank J. Egger, polling the largest vote in city history, went back into office, along with Lee Nelder, a San Francisco police sergeant, and Albert E. Gately, chairman of the planning commission.

Souza, a controversial figure in Fairfax politics, ran a close third and Adelaide P. Wilson, chairman of the City-County Planning Council, fourth.

Court Nominee Blackmun: Not Easy Man To Pin Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - The judicial record of Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun, a federal appeals judge considered a strict constructionist by President Nixon, does not appear that easy to pin down.

The judge himself brushed aside labels shortly after he learned Tuesday in St. Louis, where he sits on the U. S. 8th Court of Appeals, that Nixon had named him to fill the vacancy created almost a year ago with the resignation of Justice Abe Fortas.

"I've been called liberal and conservative," Blackmun said. "Labels are deceiving. I call them as I see them."

Blackmun, 61, who lives in Rochester, Minn., has been compared judicially with his old friend and fellow Minnesotan, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, as being fairly liberal on civil rights issues and strict on the rights of criminal defendants.

Nixon, who has frequently criticized court decisions expanding the rights of defendants in criminal cases, was reported by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler to have been highly impressed when he studied Blackmun's judicial record.

"He considers Judge Blackmun to be a strict constructionist," Ziegler said.

Twice Blackmun wrote decisions turning back challenges to the constitutionality of the death penalty. One of them is before the Supreme Court now in a major test case, apparently deadlocked awaiting a ninth justice. But Blackmun would not be able to help out in this case since he wrote the decision being challenged .

HARRY A. BLACKMUN
'Labels are deceiving'

Last week the Supreme Court overturned a Blackmun decision rejecting the contention that a man was placed in double jeopardy when he was tried twice in connection with the robbery of a poker game.

Burger, in his first major lone dissent as a member of the high court, called the decision of his colleagues "a case of expanding a sound basic principle beyond the bounds, or needs, of its rational and legitimate, objectives to preclude harassment of an accused."

But Blackmun's reasoning in the case is not entirely clear. He had predicted the opinion might be reversed, and implied the ultimate decision, in any case, should be made by the Supreme Court.

In a 1968 civil rights case, Blackmun ruled against a Negro who charged a housing developer refused to sell him a home in a new subdivision in St. Louis County, but he indicated a sympathy for the plaintiff's contention.

"It is not for our court, as an inferior one, to give full expression to any personal inclinations any of us might have and to take the lead in expanding constitutional precepts when we are faced with a limiting Supreme Court decision," Blackmun wrote.

"It would not be too surprising if the Supreme Court one day were to hold that a court errs when it dismisses a complaint of this kind," he added.

Although he has upheld the death sentence in celebrated cases, Blackmun wrote a 1965 decision ordering a new hearing for an Arkansas Negro sentenced to death for raping a white woman. He held that a confession introduced as evidence was involuntary, the type of ruling that appears to conflict with Nixon's views.

The nominee graduated with highest honors from Harvard with a degree in mathematics and from Harvard Law School. He practiced law in Minneapolis for 17 years before moving to Rochester as counsel for the Mayo Clinic in 1950. He was named to the federal appeals court by President Eisenhower in 1959.

AIR STRIKE ENDS

Drivers' Walkouts Increase Layoffs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wildcat strikes by truck drivers in scattered cities have caused increased layoffs and an embargo on some piggyback freight rail shipments to Chicago. Teachers remained on strike in Los Angeles and Minneapolis. But an air traffic controllers strike was reported virtually ended.

The trucker strikes were blamed by nine railroads for an embargo they imposed today on piggyback freight shipments to many Chicago companies. However, a Chicago Teamsters union official termed the embargo an attempt by the railroads to help the trucking industry break the truckers' walkout.

Layoffs due to the walkout, already in the thousands, were reported increasing in industries which lacked parts or were plagued by jammed warehouses.

Cities hit by the trucker strikes included Chicago; Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio and Cherryville, N.C.

The striking truckers were protesting a tentative nationwide contract providing wage increases of $1.10 an hour over three years.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported today, "There are no problems at any facility in the country."

Air travel began returning to normal Tuesday as hundreds of striking controllers reported back to work. The FAA said the manpower level was normal or near normal in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and most other spots around the country.

Heavy absenteeism continued at Kansas City, Minneapolis, Denver and Oakland, Calif.

The controllers struck to protest what they called inadequate manpower, obsolete equipment and "union busting" by the FAA.

In New York publishers of the four major daily newspapers offered printers a three-year contract providing a 9 per cent wage increase the first year and a 7 per cent raise the second and third years. The printers promptly rejected the contract as "insufficient." They currently receive $184.43 weekly on the day shift and $193 on the night shift.

A newspaper dispute in Boston was settled Tuesday when editorial workers at the Boston Record American accepted a two-year contract. They had been on strike since Saturday. A management spokesman said the contract provided a 29 per cent wage hike over two years. The top minimum for a reporter was $189 weekly under the old contract.

Strikers Urge Parents To Keep Children Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leaders of the massive teachers' strike against Los Angeles city schools reversed their earlier policy and urged parents to keep their children home starting today.

Robert Ransom, president of the 22,000-member United Teachers of Los Angeles, voiced the new policy Tuesday night after he described as "functionally inoperative" at least 75 of the city's 583 elementary and secondary schools.

With 653,000 students, the 711-square-mile district is the nation's second largest in enrollment after New York City's.

Strike leaders claimed that on Tuesday—the second day of the walkout for smaller class size and larger paychecks—nearly 65 per cent of the district's 25,000 teachers were off the job. School officials set it at 52 per cent.

After many students joined teachers on the picket lines Tuesday, Ransom urged district Supt. Robert Kelly and the school board to close all schools and send the students home to prevent possible harm to students.

"The responsibility of any untoward acts or accidents will fall squarely on your shoulders in the event of your callous indifference to the need for closing the schools," he told them.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Jail For Hilliard

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — David Hilliard, chief of staff of the Black Panther party, and Elmer Douglas, the party's minister of culture, have received six-month jail sentences after they were charged with contempt of court during a hearing for five party members charged in a murder case.

The two Panther leaders became involved in a scuffle with sheriff's deputies Tuesday in Superior Court and were arrested and handcuffed.

Hilliard is currently free on bond in connection with an alleged threat against the life of President Nixon at San Francisco.

The scuffle with the deputies came as Hilliard and Douglas were huddled together in the spectator's section reading a sheaf of papers. A deputy reportedly told them not to read while court was in session, and the scuffle ensured. The court has banned demonstrations during court sessions in the Panther cases.

Russian Held

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — A Soviet captain was held here Tuesday night pending settlement with the State Department over a fine for an oil spillage from his tanker Monday.

Capt. V. C. Sherstovitof was arrested Monday night by the U.S. Coast Guard off Marmot Island near Kodiak in the Gulf of Alaska and charged with spilling oil overboard in violation of an 1899 law.

The oil slick spread 300 yards wide and one mile long.

The maximum penalty under the Refuse Act, which is also being used by the federal government to crack down on pollution by mills and oil companies, is a $2,500 fine or one year imprisonment, or both.

However, U.S. officials decided to settle the case and avoid an arraignment scheduled for Tuesday. Instead, it appears the government will settle out of court for a fine of about $1,500.

Education Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a budget-busting $4.1 billion appropriation for education but stopped short of further increases that might invite a presidential veto.

The money bill for the U.S. Office of Education, passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate, goes $319 million over Nixon's budget requests.

But the House defeated an attempt to boost spending by another $191 million.

A patchwork amendment embodying all the intended proposed increases was put together by Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., but it was defeated, 121 to 103, on a non-record vote.

Also defeated were attempts to delete from the bill provisions aimed at limiting federal school desegregation efforts. Similar amendments have been added each of the last three years in the House but watered down by the Senate before enactment.

Manson Charged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson, hippie cult leader who allegedly masterminded the seven Tate-Labianca killings, has been charged in a secret indictment with still another slaying — the stabbing death of bagpipe musician Gary Hinman.

Two of Manson's followers also were indicted Tuesday: Susan Atkins, whose grand jury testimony led to the Tate-Labianca indictments; and a male member of the cult who still is at large.

The indictments were issued one day after Robert K. Beausoleil, currently on trial for the Hinman slaying, testified that Manson stabbed the musician to death last July.

It was believed, however, the secret indictments stemmed from testimony of Mary Brunner, 26, by whom Manson fathered a baby more than a year ago.

Marquess Dies

LONDON (UPI)—The Marquess of Milford Haven, once tagged one of Britain's most eligible bachelors and best man at the wedding of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, died Monday night. He was 50.

David Michael Mountbatten, who succeeded to his title in 1938 and was the great grandson of Queen Victoria and a nephew to the Earl Mountbatten, collapsed at a railway station while on the way home. He was dead on arrival at a nearby hospitol.

A decorated naval hero of World War II, the Marquess retired from the service in 1948 and quickly was labelled one of Britain's most eligible bachelors. At one time he was rumored to be engaged to Princess Margaret.

Soviet Games

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviets have massed between 125 and 135 warships and support vessels in the North Sea, Atlantic and Mediterranean in their greatest show of naval strength, Western defense officials said today.

The officials said the concentrations apparently are in preparation for naval maneuvers under the code name "Operation Ocean," announced by the Soviet Union Tuesday.

The exercises, timed to coincide with the centenary of Vladimir I. Lenin's birth, will involve Soviet fleets in the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian Oceans in a single coordinate exercise, the Soviet announcement said.

Mrs. Wilkinson Still In Custody

LONDON (AP) — Joan Tunney Wilkinson, 30-year-old daughter of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, was ordered today to be held in custody for another seven days in a London court.

Mrs. Wilkinson of Tiburon is charged with the bludgeon murder of her 31-year-old husband, Lynn, on Easter Sunday.

Another hearing is scheduled April 22.

Jordanians Storm U.S. Embassy

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—A mob of 12,000 Jordanians protesting the forthcoming visit of an American diplomat stormed the U.S. Embassy today, ripped down the American flag and burned the U.S. Information Service (USIS) library.

The demonstrations flared when a planned peaceful protest against the visit of U.S. assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco got out of hand. Sisco, in Tel Aviv today for talks with government leaders, plans to come to Amman on Friday.

The mobs surged through the street to the U.S. Embassy, smashed the windows, burned the cars of the embassy staff, hauled down the American flag and ran up the green and black Palestinian flag. Then they burned the USIS library.

Anti-American feeling flared throughout the Arab world last week after Israeli pilots flying American-built Phantom jet fighter-bombers were reported to have attacked an Egyptian school and killed 30 children.

Cambodia Massacre Reported

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two thousand South Vietnamese troops joined a hundred Cambodians in a joint operation to smash a North Vietnamese base inside Cambodia Tuesday. Despite this military cooperation, the bodies of hundreds of Vietnamese civilians were floating down the Mekong River in Cambodia today, and it was believed the Cambodians had massacred them.

Only small-scale attacks were reported on the other battle fronts in Vietnam.

The joint South Vietnamese-Cambodian operation occurred at the point where Highway One crosses the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon. The attack was in retaliation for a North Vietnamese attack Monday night which smashed the South Vietnamese border post.

Although the Saigon government denied that its forces had crossed the border, eyewitnesses said they pushed at least a mile into Cambodia with the support of tanks, armored vehicles, South Vietnamese planes and artillery.

American advisers to the South Vietnamese watched the operation from the South Vietnamese side of the border.

The South Vietnamese said their force killed 179 North Vietnamese, captured 30 others and destroyed 550 straw huts and bunkers. They claimed another 96 North Vietnamese killed in the attack on the border post the night before.

The population of Laos, variously estimated at from two to three million, is composed of 22 minority groups which legend says emerged from a gourd punctured by a demigod.

Pact On Old Land Dispute Worked Out

The Marin Municipal Water District board found itself on an abandoned railroad right-of-way without a deed yesterday, and got off fast.

The board quickly approved a compromise settlement to a dispute between the district and Laurence M. Symmes Jr., of 309 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley, over the ownership of a 100-foot abandoned right-of-way on the southern face of Mount Tamalpais.

The settlement gives the district 50 feet of the right-of-way and a 15-foot easement on Symmes's 50 feet. Symmes also maintains a 15-foot easement on the district's side of the property.

The action came after the district was notified by Symmes that if a settlement was not reached by tomorrow, he would withdraw the compromise offer and lay claim to all of the property involved.

The board was advised by its legal counsel, Robert W. Elliott, that the compromise would give the district more than it could ever hope to get if it took Symmes to court.

The matter had been before the board twice, but both times action was postponed at the request of the Marin Conservation League, which did not want the district to compromise its claim to the land.

On March 11, the board postponed action on the dispute for 90 days, but Symmes notified the district that he would obtain title insurance on the property tomorrow if the board did not agree to the compromise offer.

Elliott told the board that the district's title company would not insure the district's claim to the property.

The Mount Tamalpais and Muir Woods Railway quit its claim to the property in 1931. Ownership of the right-of-way, between West Blithedale Avenue and Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, has been unclear since. The district owns the land above the property, and Symmes the land below.

The conservation league made a last-ditch effort yesterday to insure preservation of the property as it is now.

Mary Donnelly, vice-president of the league, asked the board to limit the easements to a total of 16 feet, guarantee the dirt road on the property would never be paved, and preserve trees, shrubs, wild flowers and other natural features within the right-of-way.

The board agreed, however, that since they didn't have a deed, much less a strong claim to the property, it was not possible to place restrictions on it.

Mrs. Donnelly was told to discuss conservation of the land with Symmes.

Director William A. March abstained from voting on the compromise settlement, because he is a director of one of the title insurance companies involved in the dispute.

The Marin Municipal Water Board Also:

JANITORS—Accepted the low bid of $956 per month from Commercial Building Maintenance Co. of San Francisco, for the district's janitorial service contract.

Lottery In Cotati Axes Teachers

The Cotati School District, over the objections of the local teachers association, conducted a teacher lottery last night and drew the names of two first-year instructors.

Drawn were the names of Marjorie Bascherini and Pat Hebert, both from Thomas Page School. The action means the pair will be forced to seek employment in another district next year.

The lottery became necessary when the district found itself in a revenue bind because of diminishing enrollment and the prospect of lower state and federal funds.

The drawing brought to five the number of teachers who will not be returning to the district in the fall. Two others resigned and one is taking a leave of absence.

The names of eight first-year teachers were in a container when Board President Lester H. Petersen made the drawing.

In a letter to the trustees, the executive board of the Association of Cotati District Teachers objected to the action as improperly conducted, citing sections of the state Education Code and threatening legal action.

In other business last night, the board said it would not be able to use revenue from the sale of state bonds at this time for the proposed addition to Waldo Rohnert school because of delay on a bill pending in Sacramento and said it would hear a report at its next meeting April 28 on correction of acoustical problems at Thomas Page school.

The board was also advised by the Sonoma County Counsel's office that it conducted a closed meeting in violation of the state's Ralph M. Brown Act when it met with the district architect March 10 on the Page School problem.

think it's fully capable of getting the crew back. I feel we are much better off than we were last night as far as consumables and everything is concerned. We have a better margin to work with and we have more flexibility."

The astronauts will ride the command ship through the atmosphere to a planned splashdown near Samoa in the Pacific at 10:04 a.m. PST Friday, some 46 minutes later than earlier estimated by the space agency.

Because of the possibility that Tropical Storm Helen, now about 500 miles away, might be in the recovery area, Mission Control told the astronauts it might delay a final course correction until Thursday afternoon.

This would give them a chance to make the best possible adjustment in aim and, doing it only once, conserve power.

The command vessel normally relies on power and oxygen from the attached service module. But these were made useless in the accident. For re-entry, the astronauts will switch on a battery and auxiliary oxygen system, the standard procedure on all Apollo missions.

But this time there will be no chance to recharge the batteries from the service module's systems since they are dead.

First, they will jettison the lunar and service modules, both of which will burn up in the atmosphere.

One part of the lunar vehice is not expected to burn up. It is a canister carrying a small amount of radioactive plutonium 238, which would have been used to power a science station Lovell and Haise had planned to leave on the moon.

To prevent escape of the radioactive material, the canister was designed to survive a blazing dive through the atmosphere. It is expected to sink in the Pacific. Even if plutonium should be exposed, the dose is so small it would not harm life, officials reported.

As Apollo 13 streaked closer to earth, Mission Control spent more than an hour today radioing up instructions for setting hundreds of switches in the command ship, placing them in the proper order for re-entry and landing.

If the storm dictates a shift of the landing site, this might add a few minutes to the flight.

"If I can get on that aircraft carrier, I don't care how long it takes," Haise radioed.

Of the three, mission commander Lovell was the only one having trouble sleeping. He said he got only three hours early today, while Swigert slept eight and Haise six.

After hours of calm but tense composure following Monday night's oxygen tank rupture that wiped out their moon landing attempt, the astronauts today were in better spirits. For the first time since the chilling accident that drained oxygen and electrical power from the command ship they joked with Mission Control.

They were buoyed Tuesday night when astronaut boss Donald K. Slayton radioed: "We think you guys are in good shape all the way around. Why don't you quit worrying and go to sleep?"

"We think that is a pretty good idea" Lovell said. "And at least part of us will."

The astronauts have been sleeping in shifts so that at least one is up at all times to monitor the lunar module systems.

But in the hectic hours after the accident there was little time for rest and Lovell complained Tuesday night: "We've gone a hell of a long time without sleep."

The lunar craft Aquarius is hooked nose-to-nose with the command ship and the tiny ship's oxygen is being used to supply both craft. The astronauts transfer back and forth through a connecting tunnel.

"This Aquarius has really been a winner" Haise said.

Two Accused Of Mail Order Dope

Two Fairfax residents suspected of setting up a mail order drug business were arrested yesterday by federal and Marin narcotics agents.

Due to be arraigned today before the U. S. Commissioner in San Francisco were Edward Nation Meyer, 25, of 24 Walsh Lane, and Tina Ann Hansen, 19, of 200 Tamalpais Road.

A federal warrant charging them with selling hashish and LSD through the mails was served on them yesterday.

Agents said they were accused of sending the drugs to a Kansas resident.

The agents found only a small amount of suspected marijuana in the Tamalpais Road residence, where they arrested the two, but they said that Meyer had a notebook full of addresses in other states.

Champagne Victory Ends In Argument

Minutes after his election to the Sausalito City Council was announced last night, Stephen A. Fraser became the center of attention at Paterson's Bar, 379 Bridgeway, when his glass of victory champagne ended up all over the face of a woman who said he owed her money.

The vinous happening was staged about 15 minutes after the final vote count was announced when Fraser and a small band of supporters went to Paterson's to celebrate.

Shortly after the group had serenaded the new city councilman by singing "He's a jolly good fellow" and toasted him with champagne, Stella Popowski, an artist who lives at 12 Princess Street, joined the group.

"Well, Steve, now that you've made it, are you going to pay me what you owe me?" she asked heatedly. Fraser made an offhand remark and Miss Popowski called him a "smuck."

Fraser's hand suddenly lifted and the bubbly liquid joined Miss Popowski's facial makeup, ran down her neck and decorated her blouse.

Miss Popowski claims Fraser, who formerly operated a gallery at 759 Bridgeway, owes her $319 for paintings of hers which he sold during a one-man show of hers in June 1968.

Police were called and took statements from persons in the bar. Miss Popowski signed a police complaint charging Fraser with battery last night and said she was taking the matter to the district attorney's office for official action.

Fraser declined to comment on the incident.

close to nature," Mrs. Prandi reported as the mother's explanation of the four days of camping during the recent chilly and windy weather.

Park rangers said the young people did not have a permit for the campsite and that the rangers had been unable to find them during the four days.

Further investigation yesterday turned up the information that the Lamperis baby had been taken to Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco on March 30 for treatment of a broken rib and two black eyes, Mrs. Prandi said.

She said the young parents had taken the baby out of the hospital because they felt the officials were accusing them of child abuse.

The Lamperis couple, who has been living on welfare since coming to California a little over two months ago, was married in Milwaukee in December, Mrs. Prandi said.

The two young men who were with them, Allen Michael Glass, 21, and Daniel Lee Bozick, 19, who are also from Milwaukee, were not arrested yesterday.

Lamperis was being held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $315 bail and Mrs. Lamperis was booked into Juvenile Hall. Lamperis was to appear in Municipal Court today.

The baby's body was taken to Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley.

There were 13 changes in council seats because eight incumbents failed to run and five were ousted.

Planning Commissioner Albert Sennett and M. Carlisle Becker, a landscape architect, were elected to two seats left open on the Tiburon City Council, while Willard G. Pittman, a food broker, and Allan Steinau, former chairman of the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission, were elected to two open seats on the Belvedere City Council.

TO FILL VACANCY

In Mill Valley Jean Barnard, former chairman of the parks and recreation, was elected to the seat left vacant by the retirement of Dean N. Meyer, and Edward Boessenecker, appointed to the council in October, was elected to the chair.

In Larkspur, the incumbents Mayor Neil R. Brixon and Councilman Alfred J. Malvino easily defeated the lone challenger Raymond C. Kesner, chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee.

MAN

Dubin and Dubin Jewelers, 658 Bridgeway.

When officers reached the east side of the two-story commercial building where the store is located, they noticed a broken window over a small timber dock behind the structure and saw a man climb out of the window and step onto the dock.

Officer Willis said he called: "Halt, police" in a loud voice and both men said the suspect turned rapidly toward them and made a reaching movement inside his coat.

Thinking he was reaching for a weapon, the officers fired at the man, who was about nine feet away from them, a total of nine shots.

Willis and Verdi said the shots knocked the man into the bay. Search operations early today by the Coast Guard, Sausalito police and firemen failed to recover the body.

Anton was described as about five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, with short brown hair and wearing a gray tweed car coat, light blue work shirt, blue jeans and brown cowboy boots.

Police were contacting Ann Arbor authorities to obtain further information on the dead man.

No bail has yet been set for Robertson, who was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Builders Ordered To Follow Design

Builders of a controversial 40-unit apartment house in Picnic Valley were ordered by the San Rafael Planning Commission last night to rebuild according to approved specifications after outraged neighbors demanded enforcement of originnai architectural approval.

The apartment house project had been bitterly fought from its inception by protesting neighbors, was the subject last year of several stormy planning commission sessions and equally strong but unsuccessful appeals to the city council that construction be blocked.

Picnic Hill Properties Inc. was ordered to stucco sidings on three units of its project at 237 Picnic Avenue by a 3-2 vote with chairman Joseph J. Barbarino and commissioner Alan M. Kay dissenting.

The order was made after the commissioners were informed that the builders had substituted redwood paneling for specified stucco inserts without obtaining architectural approval for the change.

The change from stucco to redwood was made to eliminate the "stark stucco exteriors" Edmund T. Ghirardo, a partner in the firm explained.

He said approval for the change had been obtained from the Federal Housing Administration, which financed the project, and that it had cost an additional $4,000 to $5,000.

Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding reprimanded Ghirardo for not coming to the commission with the plan change and chided him for overlooking "his responsibility to the people."

Trevor Whitsen, a leader of the opposing neighborhood group, demanded the commission enforce the original plans charging "this man (Ghirardo) did not build what you told him to," adding if the commission didn't follow through, "we'll give up and go home."

Whitsen asked the commission why a stop work order had not been placed on the project when the builders deviated from the plans; why had final approval been given by the building inspector, and why the project had been given an occupancy permit.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said the fault did not lie with the planning staff but with the applicant. He said his department had notified Ghirardo to stop building when they learned of the deviation.

Ghirardo said he was first notified about the question of his sidings three weeks ago and that the sidings had been completed for three months.

He added he was surprised at the reaction stating "we were making improvements. . . and expected to be patted on the back."

Ghirardo said he had been issued an occupancy permit for all but one of the four units at the site.

Kay commenting that he liked the appearance of the redwood sidings made a motion to accept the altered plans. The motion died for lack of a second.

As the 20 membes of the resident's group, anticipating the commission's acceptance of the altered buildings, began to file from their seats, Lunding suggested restoring the elecation as originally approved.

Commissioner Lawrence E. Mulryan recommended modifying the ends of the units to the original half-timber half-stucco design.

The commission decided that the end elevations on units one, two and three, facing the street, be redone according to the original plans.

Commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole and James Dougan were absent.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

Nuclear Aircraft Plea Scuttled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has temporarily scuttled the administration's request for a third nuclear aircraft carrier.

The committee removed authority for construction of the craft from the $20.3 billion military procurement request, a move that could delay initial construction of the carrier by at least a year.

The action would free $135 million for diversion to Navy ship modernization which has been assigned top priority by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C.

Zucker Campaign Officials Appointed

Betty Forry of 2615 Heatherstone Drive, Marinwood, has been named general chairman of Paul C. Zucker's campaign for a seat on the county board of supervisors in the June 2 election.

Annette Bode of 37 Mount Foraker Drive, Lucas Valley, has been named finance chairman of the campaign.

Bills Seek To Amend Brown Secrecy Act

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bills to amend the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act, have been introduced—two to weaken it, and one to toughen it.

The last, AB 2442 by Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Hollywood, would extend the act's provisions to any entity receiving more than 50 per cent of its funds from public sources, and to any agency formed under a joint powers agreement.

The Brown Act allows closed meetings only to discuss hiring, firing or hearing charges against an officer or employee of the public body.

Another bill, AB 2087 by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, would allow local agencies to hold closed meetings to discuss any matter exempted from public disclosure by the California Public Records Act. This reliance on the host of exemptions in the Public Records Act would expand considerably the ability to meet behind closed doors.

The third bill, AB SB 1034 by Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, would allow closed meetings involving acquisition or disposition of property.

A related bill, SB 1154 by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, would subject to the Public Records Act all records of investigations relating to enforcement of laws on the erection, construction, alteration or maintenance of buildings.

San Franciscan Skips Court Date

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 has been issued in Marin Superior Court for Richard L. Givens, 28, of San Francisco, who failed to appear Monday for setting a trial date on a car theft charge.

Givens was arrested by the California Highway Patrol on June 10, 1969 in a car allegedly stolen three days earlier in San Francisco.

GOP Group Backs Pessner For Seat

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Hugh O. Pessner of Greenbrae, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has been endorsed by the United Republicans of California.

The conservative group made the endorsement at its annual area convention Saturday night at the Holiday Inn. The area runs from Sausalito to Oregon.

Betty Gardner of Woodacre and Ruby Streiff of Greenbrae were endorsed for the Republican State Central Committee and Susan M. Tennler of Greenbrae was elected lieutenant governor of the group.

Demo Names Aide

Michael Peevey, unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for state Senate, has named Jack H. Feller Jr. of San Rafael as treasurer of his campaign. Feller is a partner in a San Anselmo management consulting firm.

Veto On Sewer Plants Sought For Bay Panel

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill empowering the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to veto any new sewage treatment facilities has been introduced by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo.

Any local agency proposing to construct new or enlarged waste water treatment, reclamation or disposal facilities would have to submit all plans and designs to the BCDC for its approval under Dolwig's bill. The BCDC would judge plans on their compatibility with the state's long-range master plan to upgrade waste water treatment in the bay and Delta.

That plan called for regional treatment facilities, first to upgrade and extend discharges into deep bay waters, and later to divert most discharges into the ocean.

Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, previously introduced a bill requiring local agencies to submit such plans to the BCDC for its review and comment, but Knox did not give BCDC power to veto such plans.

Both bills would require BCDC to come up with a plan on how to carry out the 1969 state plan for a regional system.

Without such a system, Dolwig has warned, the bay will see the same kind of water quality problems that have virtually killed the lower Hudson River.

Engine Is Stolen

WOULD YOU LEAVE YOUR CAR HOME?

University of California co-eds Mary Morris (center) of Kentfield and Tara Harvey (right) of Pasadena pass out questionnaires asking what motorists jamming the Golden Gate Bridge think of forming car pools to reduce traffic congestion and pollution. The forms, handed out yesterday, are part of a four-day campaign to urge commuters to form carpools, culminating tomorrow in "Car Pool Day" sponsored by several groups including the Marin Ecology Center. Car pool stations will be set up at 6 a.m. tomorrow at Bon Air, Strawberry, Corte Madera and Northgate shopping centers. (Independent-Journal photo)

Burglars Trapped By Sneaker Treads

Police have literally tracked down three juveniles to break up a youthful burglary ring that has been operating on Paradise Drive since early March, Corte Madera police reported yesterday. More youths were to be questioned.

A break-in Sunday at Morris Roofing Co., 5768 Paradise Drive, led to the gang's downfall, reported Detective Sgt. George W. Koehler. The boys stole some screwdrivers, then took a dry chemical fire extinguisher and sprayed inside the building through a broken window.

The boys then made the mistake of re-entering the building, leaving a welter of tennis shoe footprints in the white chemical dust.

Police kept an eye on the vicinity after school Monday and noticed three boys, wearing tennis shoes, bicycling by the building to look at it. They stopped the trio and readily found their sneakers a perfect match for the footprints, which showed tread patterns.

Police said six boys, all 13 and 14 years old, are implicated in the ring, which is believed responsible for two break-ins at Morris Roofing, three at Denny's House of Plumbing, two at Granada School, two at North Bay Lumber Co., one at Motorcycles Unlimited and one at the Patio Car wash. The car wash was hit Sunday after the roofing firm theft.

The gang got about $1,000 worth of loot, mostly tools and cash, Koehler said. They also vandalized most of the places, and are believed responsible for four bicycle thefts. Koehler said the boys tore down the bicycles and swapped parts to assemble new ones and sell them.

The boys caught Monday were cited to meet with Corte Madera's juvenile officer. Names were withheld pending completion of the investigation.

New Poultry Trace Element

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has given final approval for adding a trace element called titanium dioxide to soybean protein used in poultry meat products.

Officials said the material will enable inspectors to keep track of how much soy protein is added to poultry products.

The department said "routined chemical analysis cannot separate isolated soy protein from poultry or animal protein" without the addition of titanium dioxide.

Federal regulations have allowed titanium dioxide in red meat products since 1964 at the rate of one-tenth of 1 per cent as specified under Food and Drug Administration rules.

Bill Offered On Yacht Club Border

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to resolve a long-standing boundary dispute between the state and Marin Yacht Club in San Rafael has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley's office said that a key to the dispute was a requirement in a state law, also authored by Bagley, that grantees pay the cost of surveying land involved in boundary disputes with the state.

His new bill, however, would suspend this provision of the law for one year so the matter could be resolved.

Bagley also has introduced a bill to exempt from any sales tax increase after July 1 the sale or use of material contracted for before that date. Thus, a business which contracted to buy something before July 1 at the current sales tax rate would not have to pay for any higher rate in effect after July 1.

Several measures, including one by Bagley, to raise the sales tax are pending before the Legislature.

Sewage Service In Annexed Area Slated

The City of Mill Valley is preparing to extend sewage service to a recently annexed portion of the city, called the high school tidelands, City Mgr. H. Cunningham reported yesterday.

The city council voted 3-1, Monday, Robert H. Andresen dissenting, to ask the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission to de-annex the tidelands, which became part of Mill Valley in 1968, from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District so the city could bring its own sewage lines into the area.

Cunningham said that Stanley M. Bala, city engineer, told the council that the first phase of the operation would cost $103,000, but financial support from developers of the shelter ridge housing project, who would have to build the lines if the city didn't, would lower the figure to $87,500.

Andresen said yesterday he voted against the sewer project because the money for it will come from a $500,000 bond issue approved two years ago and the people who pay for the construction live in other parts of Mill Valley and won't benefit from it.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer said, "For some years we've asked the Richardson Bay Sanitary District to allow us to hook up to these homes, but we've been ignored."

He said he hoped the council's action would motiviate the district to move on the request now.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

ALTO—Agreed to examine the city's contract with the Alto Sanitary District to see if a rate adjustment should be made.

FUNDS—Heard that the city will receive $175,000 in urban thoroughfare funds for improvements to Camino Alto.

ADJOURNMENT —Adjourned to April 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall to canvass ballots from yesterday's municipal election.

Deukmejian Party

A no-host cocktail party for Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, candidate for the GOP nomination for attorney general, will be held from 6 to 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael. Tickets are available through the Marin County chairman of Deukmejian's campaign, John F. Fiorito Jr. of Tiburon.

NOVATO PUTS PARK BOND ON JUNE BALLOT

At a short adjourned meeting last night, the Novato City Council passed an ordinance calling for a $2.9 million park bond issue to be consolidated with the June 2 primary election.

The bond election will have two propositions. One will be for $2,365,000 for land purchase and development of the 67 acre O'Hair property at Novato Boulveard and $600,000 for the development of a community center.

The council set a tax rate on the bonds for a 17 year retirement plan. The maximum would be 31 cents for the park and 6.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the community center, for a total of 37.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, according to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown. Brown said that the tax would be smaller when the city's assessed valuation increased.

Explorer I, the first U.S. satellite, has made over a half million trips around the world since being launched Jan. 31, 1958.

Bagley In Plan To Undermine Prop. 8

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to cut the ground from under Proposition 8 has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The June proposition, sponsored by the California Teachers Association and County Supervisors Association of California, would require the state to pay 50 per cent of school costs and 90 per cent of state and local welfare expenses.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, has opposed the proposition, which makes no provision for raising the $1.3 billion the program is estimated to cost.

Bagley's bill would undermine a key provision in the proposition, a provision that would prohibit the Legislature from cutting school tax rate limits existing when and if the proposition passed.

His bill, however, would cut the "existing" limits to one cent per $100 assessed valuation from June 1 to June 15 only. Thus, if his urgency measure passed before the June 2 primary election, the Legislature would retain the power to set school tax rates—despite the provision in the proposition.

Drug Case To Superior Court

Clarence Dale Taylor, 26, of Fairfax, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of driving under the influence of narcotics, possessing heroin and driving a car as a known addict, after a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

Taylor is to appear in court May 4 for arraignment.

He was arrested Nov. 7 when narcotics agents followed him from the San Rafael apartment of a woman who has been charged with heroin sales.

Ruth Lynn Johnson Heads Dimes March

Ruth Lynn Johnson of San Anselmo has been elected the new chairman of the Marin chapter of the March of Dimes by the chapter's executive board.

Other officers elected are Dr. John Plank of San Rafael, vice chairman; Mary T. Hewitt of Fairfax, secretary, and Donald R. Swing of San Rafael, treasurer.

Appeal Set On Releasing Kopechne File

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge withdrew objections today to the release of the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest transcript, but a free-lance court stenographer said he will appeal the decision.

U.S. District Court Judge Andrew J. Caffrey turned down a motion to bar release of the transcript but gave the stenographer, Sidney R. Lipman, until 3 p.m. today to appeal.

Lipman said he would appeal and his plea is to be heard before Chief Justice Bailey Aldrich of the First U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

LIPMAN'S CLAIM

Lipman claims that only he has the right to distribute copies of the transcript.

"We will be seeking a temporary injunction," Lipman said. "It should be decided one way or the other this afternoon.

An attorney for Lipman said, however, that the notice of appeal could be accepted without a hearing and that it could be several days before a hearing is scheduled.

The 764-page transcript and a 12-page judge's report on the inquest had been scheduled for release at 11 a.m. today by Suffolk Superior Court.

However, Superior Court Judge Wilfred Paquet impounded the documents after Lipman took the issue to federal court. The transcript cannot be released without Paquet's consent.

The action was the latest legal tangle in the case involving Miss Kopechne, a 28-year-old Washington, D.C., secretary who drowned last July 19 in the car of U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

ACCIDENT SCENE

The car was found overturned off a bridge in a tidal pond at Chappaquiddick Island. Kennedy did not report the accident until about 10 hours after it occurred. He said he had been driving the car, but lost his way. He said he was able to escape but could not rescue Miss Kopechne.

Booster's Moon Crash A Success

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The rest of the Apollo 13 mission may be a washout but scientists are elated with the moonquake created by crashing the Saturn 5 booster rocket into the lunar surface.

The impact at 5:09 p.m. PST Tuesday sent a four-hour shudder through the moon that was recorded by a seismometer erected in the lunar Ocean of Storms last November by the Apollo 12 crew.

Describing the seismic signals radioed to earth as exciting data scientists said the moonquake proves that crashing man-made objects into the lunar sphere can be a powerful tool for ultimately unraveling the mystery of the moon's origin.

"We now have a powerful and effective method for investigating the lunar interior even if we never get a big meteor impact and even if we never get a moonquake," said Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia University.

Ewing, Dr. Gary Latham of Columbia's Lamont Geophysical Observatory and Dr. Frank Press of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology spoke at a news conference Tuesday, several hours after the booster rocket impact.

The three seismologists were baffled by the seismic signal received last November when the Apollo 12 lunar lander was purposely crashed in a similar experiment. Such an impact on earth would have produced a brief signal, but on the moon the seismic waves lasted an hour.

It was as if someone had struck a bell and it reverberated for 55 minutes, Ewing said then.

When the seismic signal received Tuesday was almost identical with the one last November, the scientists knew the Apollo 12 moonquake was not a unique event. It proved that man-made impacts can produce significant seismic data and that seismic investigations aren't dependent on meteor hits or natural moonquakes.

"Now we can think in terms of a series of studies, maybe four or five moon missions or so, where you have impacts of succeeding distances so that seismic waves penetrate deeper and deeper into the moon," said Press.

Scientists have known for several years from tracking data on spacecraft orbiting the moon that the lunar surface has many "mascons"—areas where the lunar material is apparently dense and has an enhanced gravitational pull. But they don't know what mascons are made of.

Press wants to use a lunar landing to place a seismometer on the edge of a mascon then crash a booster stage into the center of the area.

The seismologists have not agreed yet on what causes the strange reverberating seismic signals fro the spacecraft crashes.

Latham prefers the idea that the moon's outer shell is extremely broken up—a layer of jumbled blocks that bounces seismic waves like sound in an echo chamber.

Press thinks perhaps the impact of a spacecraft in the vacuum of the lunar atmosphere creates a "wave of debris" that fans out for miles under the surface.

"As this debris moves horizontally along the surface it continues to pump energy into the ground. It continues to excite seismic waves" he explains.

Cotati Session

The Cotati City Council is scheduled tomorrow to adopt updated versions of the building, electrical, plumbing and mechanical codes when it meets at 7:30 p.m. in the fire station.

Columnist's Testimony Is Ruled Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Testimony by a newspaper columnist that management "killed" a column he had written denouncing television violence has been ruled as inadmissible in hearings on KRON-TV's license renewal.

Testiomony by San Francisco Chronicle writer Charles McCabe was ordered stricken from the record Tuesday by Federal Communication Commission hearing officer Chester F. Naumowicz Jr.

KRON attorney Robert Heald contended it was inadmissible under the First Amendment, saying "A newspaper has the right to publish or not to publish what it wants to." The Chronicle and KRON-TV are under joint ownership.

McCabe, called as a witness by the FCC's Broadcast Bureau, said the article, the only one he had turned down in 10 years, was written after the murder of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

"It ended with an exhortation to people in the Bay Area who watched television to write the FCC and request a proceeding such as is now being conducted here to express their feeling about violence," McCabe said.

Warrant Is Issued In Marijuana Case

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 has been issued for a former Rancho Olompali resident who failed to appear Monday in Marin Superior Court for setting of a trial date.

James Edward Bartee, 23, is accused of having marijuana when arrested at the former hippie colony on Jan. 14, 1969.

INCOME TAX DEADLINE IS MIDNIGHT

Midnight today is the deadline for filing income tax returns.

If returns are filed after the deadline, there will be a charge of one per cent per month until the tax is paid, Joseph M. Cullen, district director of the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

Last year, late filers were charged only one half per cent per month, but new federal legislation in 1969 authorized the increase for all bills due after December 31, 1969.

Meter Fee Revisions Are Proposed

A subcommittee of the Petaluma Finance Committee has recommended revisions in city parking meter operations that could bring an additional $3,000 in annual revenue, committee chairman E. W. Schneider said.

The subcommittee, one of four seeking ways of supplementing the city treasury, recommended that the nickelmeter fee, now charged for two-hour parking, be levied on an hourly basis; that meters not be removed from the downtown area for traffic improvement until replacement revenue is found, and that utility companies and contractors putting meters out of service because of construction work be charged five cents hourly per meter.

The measures, the subcommittee said in its report to the full group Monday, could raise annual meter revenue from $7,000 to $10,000.

The subcommittee also recommended that consideration be given to returning a portion of parking fines to the general fund.

Proposals of other subcommittees were that the business license fee structure be completely reworked and that animal license fees be revised in order to put the service on a self-sustaining basis.

A tax on utilities was studied by another subcommittee, but the full group chose not to explore that possible means of revenue at this time, Schneider said.

Schneider said the subcommittees were given new assignments for reports in two weeks. Studied, he said, will be fire inspection and ambulance fees, a possible property tax increase, formation of a lighting district and new sewer connection fees.

The full committee will report to the city council when its work is concluded.

Yreka Voters Change Council

YREKA (UPI)—Yreka voters elected a brand new city council Tuesday and rejected a proposal to fluoridate the water supply.

Mayor Tom Colburn and councilman Byron Lewis were both soundly defeated and the third incumbent member did not run. The new winners were retiring city manager Alton Taylor, Don Carey and Ron Lamson.

The fluoridation measure was defeated 990 to 449.

Restricted Drug Charge Dismissed

A charge of possessing a restricted drug against James Stephen Maring, 19, of Lucas Valley, was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when it was learned that the drug allegedly found does not fall into the restricted category.

Maring had been accused of having stelazine when arrested in a car March 6 in Marinwood.

Guilty Pleas To Pot Possession

Lester Patrick Pendleton, 23, and Emily Link Killebrew, 25, both of San Francisco, pleased guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to reduced misdemeanor counts of possessing marijuana.

Sentencing was set for May 15.

They had earlier been accused of felony charges of the same offense as well as having a pipe for smoking pot.

The couple was arrested Feb. 21 when they were found sleeping in a makeshift tent behind an Inverness summer residence.

Hughes Ridding Air West Of Debts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Las Vegas billionaire Howard Hughes and his companies have paid off $20 million of Air West's debts since he bought the airline April 3, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Hughes Tool Co. said the regional carrier had "turned the corner" on its financial problems and asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to reconsider routes it had rejected.

Air West said it wants to operate certain routes between the Pacific Northwest and California, from Phoenix to Seattle and Portland nonstop, and service in Salt Lake City.

A spokesman for Air West and Hughes Tool Co. said CAB examiners refused permission before the purchase on grounds of poor financial condition and lack of unlimited investment.

He said Hughes Air Corp., owned by Hughes and his Hughes Tool Co., paid $20 million in debts and "has thus honored its commitments to financially aid Air West . . . The way is now clear for increased advertising and the development of new routes which may be awarded by the board."

Just before the sale, former stockholders sold preferred stock to bring the net worth to $16.2 million as required in the purchase agreement.

Among debts paid by Hughes were $1,724,000 for airports and landing fees.

Other debts paid included fuel supplies, $1,320,000; engine overhaul accounts, $1,429,000; accounts for parts and supplies, $1,811,000; data processing equipment leases, $305,000; telephone and communications services, $509,000; passenger food suppliers, $380,000, and other creditors $622,000.

The statement said the Bank of America was paid $267,000 in past-due interest, and past-due principal and interest payments totaling $765,000 were made to the Seattle First National Bank for its account and the American National Insurance Co. to cure defaults.

'Mild' Earth Shock

MANILA (UPI)—A "mild" tremor, an aftershock of strong earthquakes which have hit the Philippine island of Luzon in the last eight days, gently rocked buildings in Manila tonight.

Religious Mail Stolen

Religious study material was stolen Friday from a paper box in the mailbox of Esther Ware at 119 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Other mail may have also been taken, police said.

Tax Charges For Bay Accountant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford Winter, 49, a Millbrae accountant, has been charged in a criminal information filed in U.S. District Court with failing to file income tax returns and filing false and fraudulent returns for clients.

Winter is to appear April 23 before Judge Alfonso Zirpoli to enter a plea.

The information, filed Tuesday, alleges Winter attempted "to evade and defeat" part of the income tax by a couple for 1963 and 1964. He also is charge with failing to file his own income tax for 1963 through 1965 covering $33,956 in income.

Bagley Endorses Riles For Post

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Wilson C. Riles, deputy state superintendent of public instruction seeking to unseat his boss, Max Rafferty, yesterday was endorsed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley praised Riles as "the epitome of the type of person needed for this office — an educator who can disassociate himself from politics and run the school system of California."

Bagley said that "the caliber of the man" was shown by the fact he had been a prime candidate of President Richard M. Nixon to be the U.S. Commissioner of education.

Deficit Talk Surrounding Budgets

San Rafael Board of Education with a tax election in the offing, faces deficit budgets for 1970-71.

Board members last night received without comment a preliminary high school district budget of $4,901,841 in the high school district and $4,629,605 in the elementary district.

Supt. John F. Plant explained that the budgets include 5 per cent cost-of-living pay raises and restoration of cuts made during the 1969-70 school year.

When the budgets were accepted without comment, acting chairman John C. Pfeiffer explained the board would take them under study and they would be reviewed at several meetings.

Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte said if the proposed general purpose tax rate hikes, 40 cents in the elementary district and 30 cents in the high school district are defeated at the polls June 2, $180,000 would have to be cut from the elementary budget and $300,000 from the high school budget.

He estimated that it would require a 17-cent tax rate hike in the elementary district and a 21 cent hike in the high school district to finance the preliminary budgets.

The elementary district budget is $346,586 higher than the estimated expenses for 1969-70, and the high school district budget $117,414 higher than estimated 1969-70 expenses.

The high school budget however calls for reducing the reserve funds.

The budgets were projected on estimates of a decrease in elementary school enrollment of 133 and a 100 student increase in the high district.

Lumber Theft Seen

A witness has said he saw two youths steal lumber Sunday at 4:20 p.m. from a house under construction on Lagoon Place, San Rafael, police reported yesterday. The youths loaded the lumber onto a green truck and drove away, the witness said. The home is owned by Twenth Century Homes of San Rafael, police said.

School Offices Hit By Flames

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fire caused $75,000 damage early today to the administrative building of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The blaze, which engulfed most of the one-story Spanish-style structure, was first seen by two passing sheriff's deputies who turned in the alarm.

Eight city fire units responded and controlled the fire in about 45 minutes. There were no injuries.

Arson investigators were attempting to determine if the three-day-old teachers' strike had any connection with the fire.

Board Of Education Shying Away From School Recreation Program

The San Rafael Board of Education indicated last night that it isn't going to start its own recreation program.

The idea for a school-operated system was offered by William Monti, chairman of the San Rafael Council for Phsical Education and Recreation.

It wasn't before the board of action, but board members generally held to their prior conviction that the schools should get out of the recreation business.

The board was has notified the City of San Rafael it intends to eliminate its annual $25,000 contribution to the city recreation program.

Monti said the school operated program at a cost of $25,000 would provide an improved program, but board member John C. Pfeiffer said this would be a move in the wrong direction.

There was a prolonged discussion including debate between Monti and Andrew J. Snyder, director of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

After listening to the debate, board member Paul L. Jones, said: "I was never more convinced we should get out of it, and let the city assume the responsibility."

Supt. San Rafael Board of Education also:

Case Denied By Juvenile Court

The case of Gerald Clair Crane, 18-year-old Larkspur youth accused of having a cache of stolen dynamite, has been refused by Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court.

A probation officer said that Crane was turned down because he planned to leave his mother's home and go into business for himself before his arrest. He did not say what the business was.

Crane pleaded innocent to two counts of burglarizing the Hutchinson Co. rock quarry in Greenbrae as well as possessing 100 pounds of dynamite on March 15.

Marin Eyes Charges Vs. Loggers

Marin County supervisors yesterday called for legal sanctions—if possible—against an Oregon logging firm that the board feels is responsible for 14 spot fires this month on Bolinas Ridge.

Unanimously approving a motion by Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the board requested the district attorney to institute criminal action immediately if facts substantiate charges by county Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom against the logging operators.

The board further reommended that the state revoke the logging permit it issued to the firm of Mathews, Humbert and Walker of North Bend, Ore.

"I'm for making an example of them," Baar said. "I think we should soak them any way we can, both legally and morally."

In Sacramento, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, called for "an immediate investigation" of the county's allegations. In a letter to the state Board of Forestry, Bagley also said he would join in the request for revocation of the permit if the facts were as stated by the county.

The firm, which is running logging operations on the Ethel Righetti ranch at Bolinas Ridge, is accused by Bloom of leaving an unattended control fire April 1, which has started spot fires on the property ever since.

According to Bloom, the spot fires have on several occasions threatened valuable watershed property belonging to the Marin Municipal Water District.

The fire chief told the board yesterday his department has spent $1,836 in controlling the unattended fires.

An attorney for the firm, Hugh G. Lawrence, told the board his clients had secured the approval of a deputy state forest ranger before leaving the fire April 1.

Claiming the firm had complied with state regulations, Lawrence asked the supervisors to get specific facts from Bloom so they could "get the scope of things."

"The county counsel (Douglas J. Maloney) admits in his letter to you that he doesn't have all the facts," the attorney told the supervisors, "but then he goes right on anyway making his recommendation for criminal action."

"Do you arrest a person whose house has burned down because of faulty wiring?" Lawrence asked.

"You do if his neighbor's house burns down because of it," McInnis responded.

"Well that's not a criminal matter," Lawrence added, "that's civil, and it's no different in this case."

The board then agreed to let the district attorney determine if facts supported the charge that the loggers had violated public health and safety.

Off Critical List

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Leroy Rudolph, manager of the main San Rafael branch of the Bank of America, has been removed from the critical list and is "doing nicely," a Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital spokesman has reported. He was injured in a fall from a horse about two weeks ago in Santa Rosa.

Larkspur Schools Set Budget Session

The Larkspur School District board will take up its preliminary 1970-71 budget again when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the administration office, 20 Magnolia Avenue.

The board also is to hear a report on the proposed Larkspur summer recreation program and a report on teacher salary negotiations.

Marin Shuns Tijuana Look, Bans Roadside Peddling

An ordinance prohibiting roadside peddling without a license won unanimous approval by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

"The roadside north of Sausalito is getting to look like Tijuana to the border," declared Supervisor Michael Wornum, who moved for passage of the ordinance. Wornum also asked the County Administrator to let the sheriff know that the county now has an ordinance controlling roadside peddling. The ordinance will go into effect in 30 days.

The new law is aimed primarily at peddlers along the roads to Mill Valley, Sausalito and some areas of West Marin. It does not apply to any regularly established business which operates from a permanent and fixed place of business and complies with provisions of the county codes.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

HOUSEBOAT VIOLATIONS—Decided to wait one more week before moving ahead with legal action against some 150 code violations reported among houseboats in Richardson Bay. Supervisor Michael Wornum asked for one week's time to get a report on when Donald J. Arques' new 50-berth marina will be ready and which of the houseboats can be moved to the new marina.

JUVENILE HALL PLAN—Asked the county Department of Public Works to coordinate the installation of new gas and water lines and landscaping at the Marin County Farm and Juvenile Hall in Lucas Valley. Architect George V. Banning submitted a proposal to draw up master plans for utilities, drainage and landscaping for about $15,000. Supervisors said the job is not a big one, and county engineers should be able to coordinate the job.

ABATEMENT—Gave Robert Lekven of 1123 California Avenue, Mill Valley, 45 more days to get rid of his house, which slid down the hill about 75 feet last Jan. 22. Lekven asked for at least 30 days time to see if federal money is available to pay for demolition of his house.

AVIATION—Set April 28 as the time to discuss the proposed joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base by civilian and military planes. The Marin Aviation Commission recommended a limited civilian use of the existing Hamilton runway, whereas former aviation commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind is arguing for a separate civilian runway at Hamilton Field.

McNEAR'S BEACH — Indicated the beach opening will probably be delayed until late summer because the county has no reserves to get the park ready for opening on June 1. However, the supervisors decided to visit the beach next Tuesday noon and look for possibilities for a June opening.

LAGOON—Approved a recommendation that the Public Health Department look into a claim by an Army Corps of Engineers officer that Bolinas Lagoon is the most highly polluted body of water, being used by the public, in both California and Nevada.

TERMS — Unanimously approved a staff recommendation that the terms of office for two planning commission members-at-large be reduced from four years to two years starting July 1, 1971, and that the commissioners now serving in those seats be extended until 1971.

CHILDREN'S CENTER—Approved the transfer of operational functions of the Children's Center and preschool programs from the board of supervisors to the Marin County Board of Education, effective July 1.

HEALTH—Approved a previously considered ordinance setting fees and eligiblity standards for the Public Health Department, but deferred child health conference eligibility standards until June budget sessions.

PARKING — Approved proposed adjustments in Civic Center parking zones to provide more two-hour parking areas.

McCarthy Seeks Gas Tax Change

SACRAMENTO — A bill to eliminate all exemptions from the state's tax for fuel used in aircraft has been introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The tax, five cents per gallon, currently is not imposed on aircraft carrying cargo or passengers for hire, nor on crop dusting aircraft.

McCarthy's office said the purpose of the bill was to raise more cash for the state, but could offer no estimate of the additional revenue the bill would produce.

Miller Avenue Job Priority Is Hiked

Construction of Miller Avenue Extension in Mill Valley, which had been shoved back to 1973-74 in the county's capital improvements program, shot back up the priority list yesterday.

Marin County Board of Supervisors and County Administrator Alan Bruce agreed that some funds for Miller Avenue Extension could be allocated in 1970-71.

It came about when supervisors lopped off $320,000 which was earmarked for Sir Francis Drake widening next fiscal year.

The funds for Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Laurel Grove Avenue to Maple Avenue are left intact. However, widening of Drake Boulevard from Maple Avenue to the Ross Town line would be senseless until Ross decides to widen its portion, declared Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

"I think we should complete the widening from Laurel Grove to Maple but hold back on Maple to the Ross Town line," said Arrigoni. "It would be insane to widen to Ross General Hospital and then create a bottleneck there."

Deleting this portion of Sir Francis Drake widening meant a deletion of $320,000 in 1970-71.

Delighted with this unexpected windfall, Supervisor Michael Wornum asked that Miller Avenue Extension be moved up the prioity list, with at least $100,000 in 1970-71 to start filling the marshland from Miller Avenue to Shoreline Highway.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost warned that there are other obstacles besides financing on the Miller Avenue Extension, such as fill approval by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

"If we can get the other things worked out, let's put some money in for Miller Avenue Extension," urged Wornum.

Supervisors asked the county administrator to make the necessary changes in the capital improvements program.

John W. Brewer, county probation officer, asked for a $260,000 boys' dormitory at Marin Juvenile Hall for boys aged 6 to 13. They are now housed in a leased portable building, which is not fireproof and cannot be locked. Brewer said at least $22,000 should be set aside in 1970-71 to draw up plans for the boys' dormitory.

Chairman John F. McInnis noted that $30,000 is earmarked for 1971-72 for two classrooms at juvenile hall. Why not use the present portable building for classrooms and divert the $30,000 set aside for classrooms to start plans for a new boys' dorm, McInnis suggested.

Supervisors asked the county administrator to make the various changes suggested yesterday and bring back a refined capital improvements program at budget time in June.

Purse Stolen

Supervisors Tell Park-Rec Panel To Concentrate On East Marin

A county park at Toms Point on the northeast shore of Tomales Bay is out of the question, Marin County Board of Supervisors told members of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday.

The two groups met to air differences and improve communication.

Supervisors re-emphasized that the first priority in park acquisition and development must come in the populated eastern portion of the county. One good example is McNears Beach, purchased last month for a county park. Supervisors noted that the county reserve fund is so low that the county can't even spruce up McNears. Beach for opening this fiscal year.

Lothar Salin, chairman of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, said the supervisors's message on Toms Point is crystal clear, and the parks commission would not push for that acquisition.

Parks and Recreation Department's fight during later capital improvement budgeting, for more park acquisition ran up against a stone wall. Supervisors unanimously rejected both a San Geronimo Redwood Park and a recreation area on Petaluma River where Mira Monte Marina is now located. The county administrator had recommended rejection of both the redwoods and the Petaluma Creek purchase.

"We have plenty of redwoods already," said Supervisor Louis H. Baar. "You have Muir Woods and Samuel Taylor Park as a starter and 53,000 acres in Point Reyes."

Joske argued that those are state and federal parks, and a county redwood grove is needed where children can go for educational tours.

"Wouldn't federal people allow us to use Muir Woods?" asked Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Baar and Supervisor William A. Gnoss warned against purchase of the Mira Monte Marina area on Petaluma Creek. "That place floods," said Baar. "It's really a dog. You get stuck on the island out there and can't get back at high tide."

The county supervisors had also ignored recommendations made by the parks commission on the use of county matching funds to help senior citizen programs, commissioners complained during their workshop session.

This, said Chairman John F. McInnis, must have been just an oversight on the part of the county supervisors.

McInnis asked Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, to re-submit the recommendation on the senior citizen program so that the county supervisors can take another look.

"I think it got lost in the press of problems" said McInnis.

On still another project, a countywide tennis-swim center, the supervisors said they like the concept but want more details on where a 20-25 acre site can be found and how such a center can be financed.

Parks commissioners also wanted a park acquisition fund built up from admissions charged at McNears Beach, and possibly at Stafford Lake when that park is developed.

At least a part of the admission fees should go to pay for maintenance, said Chairman McInnis. Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. suggested that revenue from admission fees could help pay for operating and maintenance cost, while revenue from any concessions at the park can be set aside for park acqusition.

Week's Diseases

One hundred and fifty-two cases of streptococcus infection, 27 of gonorrhea, two each of syphilis and infectious hepatitis, and one of tuberculosis were reported in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, health officer.

British Vessel Puts Out Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A fire today in the engine room of the freighter Akaroa, carrying 550 passengers and crewmen, was reported extinguished and the ship radioed that no assistance was needed, the Coast Guard said.

The 584-foot ship of British registry was some 1,200 miles southeast of Bermuda when it reported the blaze. The distress call was heard by a commercial radio station which notified the Canadian Coast Guard.

They relayed the message to Coast Guard rescue controllers here who dispatched a rescue plane and the cutter Androscoggin. A spokesman said the cutter would continue to the scene at the Akaroa's request.

Airport Funds Aid BART Study

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The city Public Utilities Commission approves the use of $50,000 in airport funds to help pay San Francisco's $77,000 share of a Bay Area Rapid Transit International Airport service study.

The commission voted Tuesday to help fund the $577,000 study which will determine how best San Francisco Airport can be serviced by BART. the remaining $27,000 will be credited to employe services.

The study is a joint San Francisco-BART-San Mateo County venture, two-thirds of which will be financed by a federal National Transportation Act grant.

San Mateo and BART have contributed $77,000 and $30,000 respectively to the study.

STILL AUTOGRAPH HOUNDS — Onetime actor, Gov. Ronald Reagan stil is besieged by young autograph seekers. He signed a few yesterday while returning to his Sacramento office after a news conference in which he declared that the state can do nothing about the Los Angeles teacher strike, which he said is a strike against children. Reagan Defends His 'Bloodbath' Remark

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says "a great many people" agree with his "bloodbath" comment about campus demonstrators.

The governor, responding to a question recently about how to resolve campus violence, said: "If it takes a bloodbath, let's get it over with. No more appeasement."

At his weekly news conference Tuesday, Reagan said the comment generated "much ado about nothing.

"A figure of speech became a balloon that was inflated with the hot air of campaign oratory, took off and the last I saw it disappeared over the horizon. I don't think it can ever be wafted back again."

Reagan continued, "I haven't gotten an actual mail count, but I know that a great many people have been slapping me on the back and they didn't think it was a wrong figure of speech at all to describe the situation."

Reagan's press office later said "several dozen" letters have been received "but they have not been tallied."

The governor said, "I think there are people who agree it was a figure of speech and didn't think it was inappropriate.

"We were talking about a small dissident group in the campus that has made it plain now that they are not, as they pretended for some time over the last few years, concerned with legitimate student grievances. They are revolutionaries and they must be resisted."

Reagan said he "was talking about administrators who must meet their moment of truth and stand firm."

He said some administrators previously "temporized," hopisg "these people would react to reasonable debate. We have passed that point."

Spanish Republic Still In Exile

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Spanish Republic celebrated its 39th anniversary in exile Tuesday in an unpretentious home in downtown Mexico City, with no apparent animosity for the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

"All we want is a free determination by the Spanish people," the exiled government's charge d'affaires, Martinez Feduchy, said during the celebration at his home. The house is also the government's headquarters in Mexico.

"If the people freely accept a monarchy or a republic or a democracy—we'll recognize it," said Feduchy. "Whatever the Spanish people decide in a free election is acceptable to us."

Demos' School Aid Demands May Slow Reagan's Tax Reform Plans

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The political battle over Gov. Reagan's billion dollar property tax relief plan is taking shape around the question whether ta reform should be turned into a vehicle for increasing state support of schools.

"We have planted the seeds of a taxpayers revolt, and we must change this first," Assemblyman William T. Bagley, author of the tax reform plan, told the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee Tuesday.

"The homeowners need this exemption more than the schools need an extra $500 million," added Bagley, R-San Rafael. "I submit that although there is no major new money for schools, we are creating a better atmosphere . . . adding to voter morale."

That, he said, would help schools raise more local money.

Bagley resisted repeated attempts by Democratic committee members to add extra school support to the reform proposal during the second of three hearings scheduled on the bills. The committee is expected to vote on the reform package Thursday.

"I would support proposals to give schools more support . . . but not here, not in this proposal," Bagley said. "I think this is a good enough package to support without encumbering it with extra school support," he said.

Said Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, "You have here a reasonably well balanced tax package . . . but we have to do something for schools, and we must do it here or we will throw (the reform proposal) off balance."

Bagley termed property tax relief "the most critical need today in our society." The tax reform plan would cut property taxes by $588 million next year and $993 million by fiscal 1973-74 by increasing sales taxes, adopting income tax withholding and making other changes.

Democrats are expected to press their amendments Thursday. A series of minor amendments by Bagley were adopted at the Tuesday hearing.

Lobbyists for manufacturers, retailers, real estate interests, the Teamsters Union and the California Taxpayers Association all endorsed the reform plan while the California Teacher Association and County Supervisors Association of California argued the reform didn't do enough.

Los Angeles County Supervisor Warren M. Dorn complained that increasing state support of welfare from 50 per cent to 70 per cent didn't go far enough to relieve countries while the proposed statewide school equalization property tax is a "subterfuge usurping the last tax base of local government."

Added Teachers' lobbyist Cal Rossi, "The school districts have no more reserve, and school teachers are being laid off throughout the state. You have 206 pages of tax reform legislation and say, 'we're not going to complicate it with school support' — it's incredible."

Base-Novato Sewer Pact Snarled?

The agreement between the Air Force and the Novato Sanitary District on handling sewage from Hamilton Air Force Base, expired in August 1967, and the new agreement is lost somewhere in bureaucratic red tape.

The sanitary district board Monday night instructed Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph to find out where the new agreement is bogged down.

The Novato Sanitary DIstrict Board also:

ALARM SYSTEM—Authorized a $2,200 alarm system which would flash a warning to the police station and the main treatment plant of any failure in power or high water. This will serve the main treatment plant, the Bahia treatment plant and the Olive Avenue pump station.

STANDARDS—Asked Joseph to find out what standards for discharge are to be set by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, and to file a report on the Novato Sanitary District with the control board.

LOS ROBLES—Accepted the mains and pump station to Los Robles mobile home park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

Senator Seeking Repayment Of Civil War Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to force the federal governmen to pay the town of Frederick, Md., $200,000 plus interest for a "Civil War debt" has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md.

Mathias said Confederate Lt. Gen. Jubal Early stayed in the town in 1864 and demanded $200,000 ransom in return for not destroying the community.

Many historians say the 24-hour delay enabled Gen. Ulysses S. Grant time to mass his forces and halt a later Confederate drive on Washington.

Mathias, saying it took the town 87 years to repay the banks that loaned the money to the town, said "the federal government should repay the western Maryland community its $200,000 plus interest."

Railroad Pollution To Be Probed By State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pollution of railroad rights-of-way by railroads will be investigated by the State Public Utilities Commission.

Massachusetts Statute Goes Beyond Vietnam

The State of Massachusetts has done more than challenge the Vietnam War in enacting a law which says that Bay State servicemen may not be sent into combat abroad against their will unless in a war declared by the United States Congress.

Most of those commenting on the Massachusetts law have viewed it merely as it pertains to Vietnam. And most of them have dismissed it rather lightly.

ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY Drummond, in their article on the opposite side of this page, suggest that Massachusetts has picked the wrong war to challenge. They hold that sending U.S. troops into combat in Vietnam is thoroughly constitutional because of the Tonkin Gulf Resolution voted by both houses of Congress on Aug. 10, 1964.

The administration, however, does not put such high store by the Tonkin Gulf Resolution. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week voted unanimously to terminate that resolution. It did so without opposition from the President. The word from the White House was that the administration does not regard the Tonkin Gulf Resolution as the legal basis for our fighting in Vietnam.

FLORA LEWIS, who is classed as a liberal columnist, has called the Massachusetts law "unique, ingenious, and almost certainly unconstitutional." James J. Kilpatrick, who is classed as very conservative, has called it "a remarkably fatuous law."

Dean Robert McKay of New York University Law School has been quoted as predicting that if the Supreme Court rules, it will hold that since federal law is superior to state law, the Massachusetts statute is void.

MAYBE SO. But these commentators have overlooked something.

The U.S. Supreme Court, under both Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and his predecessor, Earl Warren, has studiously avoided ruling on the constitutionality of American fighting in Vietnam. It has accepted none of the several cases carried through the appellate courts in an attempt to get such a ruling.

This reticence hardly indicates that the eight justices of the Supreme Court are supremely confident that there is no question about the constitutionality of our involvement. If they were, it seems unlikely they would try so hard to avoid saying so.

And it will be very difficult for them to dodge acceptance of a direct challenge by a state.

MASSACHUSETTS' contention is based primarily on Article I, Section 11, of the U.S. Constitution, which gives Congress the power "to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water."

The federal defense of Vietnam involvement must rest largely on Article II, Section 2, which says the President "shall be commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy of the United States." (Nobody has ever bothered to add the Air Force.)

But if the commander-in-chief can send troops to fight anywhere in the world without a declaration of war, what is the point of Article I, Section 11?

THIS IS THE KIND of states' rights challenge that has not been raised in a long time. And it goes far beyond Vietnam.

It goes to the heart of what has become U.S. policy of risking war by sending troops into "hot spots." It brands as meaningless such subterfuges as the Tonkin Gulf Resolution and President Harry Truman's ordering U.S. troops into a "police action" in Korea under the banner of the United Nations.

If sustained, it could change completely the nature of U.S. foreign policy. And if it is rejected, the arguments and the court's ruling, should at the very least provide some needed guidelines on the extent of presidential authority.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

If Dog Could Write —An Appreciation

If our lovable and friendly German shepherd, Baron, could write I suspect that he would. . .say something like the following:

"Last week I bit my loving master on his hand. Today I was released after 10 days of quarantine restriction, a sentence imposed by the Marin County Health Department. I bit the hand that feeds me, not in anger, but from severe pain while my leg was caught and twisted. I had no other way of telling him that he might break my leg by pulling on it.

"I am a purebred dog, licensed, and my rabies shots are always up-to-date. Since I was brought home almost two years ago as a clumsy big-footed eight-week pup I have had the best of love and affection. I never run loose unattended. I've been raised on the best food, vitamin pills, and good bones.

"With this background one might question the necessity for my quarantine. But neither my master nor I hold any grievance because of my restriction. To the contrary, we wish to commend the Marin County Health Department and Humane Society for their strict and efficient enforcement of a law designed for the protection of everyone. Representatives of the Humane Society visited me three times, the last being the day of my release. Now I can resume our walks on a leash, and I can play with the neighborhood kids. . .

"Marin is marvelous, even for dogs! Let's keep it that way.

Howling yours,
Baron von Marin.

"P.S. The hand I bit belongs to the one who wrote this for me."

Candidate's Signs Called Pollution

Question: Who is the "conservationist" candidate for state senator whose signs have suddenly sprung up every 100 yards along Tiburon Boulevard and other county areas?

Answer: He's a Behr for polluting the environment.

NAN HEPP
Mill Valley.

Zucker Explains His Decision

Some people have suggested that I was wrong in seeking the office of Marin County supervisor without resigning my position as county planning director. I feel so deeply about the rightness of this decision that I believe your readers should receive this personal letter from me.

In order to run for supervisor without infringing upon government time or creating possible conflict of interest, I voluntarily asked for and was granted a leave of absence without pay, even though the county administrator recommended that I be fired. It is well known that at one point after the filing I decided not to run, feeling my family's sacrifices were simply too great a price to pay. In the final analysis, however, my wife and I decided that I simply must run to do what we as two voters and taxpayers could do to help relieve peoples frustration with government, regardless of the personal consequences.

There is no legal precedent or ethical reason why a public employee in my circumstances should not seek office. The Supreme Court has again and again upheld the employees right to such activity and no valid county ordinance prohibits it. Several similar precedents exist in Marin County. My being on leave avoids any conflict of interest. I have gained the reputation of a candid person, and in so doing have created no confidential relations with the board and administrator which create problems of ethics. In terms of professionalism I ask what greater ethics can there be than serving the public and openly debating the issues?

Our Democratic form of government is in serious trouble in the country—serious trouble because people increasingly feel that they can not participate in government—serious trouble because many governmental officials feel they can no longer take the public into their confidence. What does Marin County government have to hide? What can an honest open discussion of issues do to government? Nothing—I suggest—other than give us a stronger, more viable form of democracy.

Old Movie Sets May Help Governor Get New Mansion

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Another attempt on the part of private enterprise to rake together enough money for a governor's mansion for California is to be made next week, and it looks like this one may turn out some results.

The Pasadena Area chapter of the American Institute of Interior Designers has announced it will stage what may turn out to be the largest, strictly invitational benefit party ever held in the state.

THE EVENT will be a black tie premiere of a half century of Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer memorabilia. It will be held on the sound stages of the MGM studios in Culver City.

More than 600 of the state's American Institute of Interior Designers members are involved in the planning and hosting of the party, which they expect to attract more than 4,000 of the state's cultural, social and civic leaders.

The fund "will help finance a governor's residence that reflects the prestige, culture and heritage of California" says Richard M. Holmes, chairman.

"Guests will roam," the promoters say, "through three vast sound stages covering more area than several football fields, overflowing with hundreds of thousands of costumes, antiques, period furnishings, vintage firearms and cars, paintings, imports, sculpture, miniatures, and scale models seen in more than 2,200 films over the past half century."

The big event is scheduled to be held April 22, after which the display will be on exhibition, and auctioning it off will start May 3.

THE MATTER of a governor's mansion has been one of controversy for many years, brought to a head when Governor and Mrs. Reagan moved out of the 93-year-old mansion because it was unsafe. The mansion not only has been unsafe, but inconvenient and miserably located for many years. It is now a museum accommodating tourists for a price.

A group of civic minded citizens started a fund for a new mansion, and acquired a site on the American River, but could not come up with enough money to construct a residence for the chief executive. The state legislature has failed to appropriate funds for the state to do the construction.

The interior designers party may be a gimmick to help get rid of the MGM inventory by a subsequent auction sale. But at least, it may start the wheels moving.

By BENNETT CERF

THE DRUMMONDS

Massachusetts May Have Picked Wrong War To Challenge

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The state of Massachusetts is raising the wrong question about the wrong war.

A law passed by the state legislature and signed by the governor challenges the legality of the war in Vietnam.

But as so many people fail to remember, or conveniently forget, it was not President Johnson who neglected to go to Congress for approval to help defend South Vietnam. He did exactly that.

It was President Truman who neglected to go to Congress for approval to help de-

THE FACT IS: Every military measure which President Johnson and President Nixon have taken to support the defense of South Vietnam has been authorized by Congress.

The unrestricted use of U.S. forces was explicitly endorsed by the "Southeast Asia Resolution" which was passed by Congress Aug. 7, 1964, by a House vote of 414 to 0 and by a Senate vote of 88 to 2.

Neither President has acted beyond the terms of this conal resolution.

MASSACHUSETTS is raising the wrong question.

Gov. S. Francis W. Sargent says that the intent of his legislature is "to present our highest tribunal with the grave questions of whether and under what circumstances an individual can be required to serve in any armed conflict that lacks a formal congressional declaration of war."

This question misses the center of the target. Surely the precise question is whether Congress has the constitutional right to authorize the use of the nation's armed forces to help a treaty ally defend itself against aggression and to do this without making a formal act of war.

That's the heart of the matter, and that seems to us to be the question the Supreme Court may ultimately be asked to pass upon.

THERE IS NO basis for doubt about how explicitly and how completely Congress authorized U.S. participation in the Vietnamese war. It said:

"Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives that Congress approve and support the determination of the President as commander-in-chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

Congress went further. It added:

"Consonant with the Constitution of the United States and the Charter of the United Nations and in accordance with its obligations under the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty, the United States is, therefore, prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member or protocol state in the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom."

CONGRESS ALSO gave its reasons. It stated in its resolution: "The United States regards as vital to the national interest and to world peace the maintenance of international peace and security in Southeast Asia."

We fail to see how there could be a clearer, fuller, more precise congressional authorization of the U.S. role in Vietnam than contained in this resolution.

President Truman made a grave mistake not to take his Korean decision to Congress. Mr. Johnson did right to take his Vietnam decision to Congress. President Nixon has said he would never deploy ground forces in battle without approval of Congress.

THE ONLY QUESTION conceivably at issue is whether Congress in approving the use of U.S. forces in combat must rest this approval on a formal declaration of war. It is doubtful that any court would so rule.

In the 1964 resolution, Congress did not wish to declare war because such a declaration greatly enlarges the powers of the President and has wide international consequences. Congress was right.

Russia Turns To West In Foodstuff Shortage

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The faltering Soviet economy has made the Russians eager buyers in Western markets.

Performance of the Russian economy was dismally poor in 1969. That economic slowdown has occurred at a time when the Russian people are impatiently seeking to buy consumer goods.

Despite the comparatively low wages in the Soviet Union, Moscow's man in the street is ready to buy and able to pay. According to some estimates, Russian men and women have as much as $40 billion tucked away in capitalistic savings accounts.

To meet this accumulated consumer demand, the Soviet Union is looking to the West for consumer goods and for materials from which consumer goods can be fashioned. Strategic materials are on the shopping list too, of course.

Until rather recently, Russia and Communist China swapped their surpluses of many strategic metals and materials. With the two Communist super-owers now at one another's throats, that friendly barter arrangement has gone by the boards.

Much of the Kremlin's purchasing is still done secretly, but the Russians are known to have bought large quantities of tin in the West. Russia produces some tin, but it used to get additional tin supplies from Red China.

In some instances, Russia and China apparently are bidding against one another in western markets. Both have been heavy buyers of copper, for example, and trade experts say the two Communist powers, by their purchases, prevented a western world copper surplus last year.

ACCORDING TO the boastful predictions of former Premier Nikita S. Khruschev, Russia was to have overtaken the United States by 1970 in the production of meat and milk. However, Russian agriculture has shared in the slow economic pace.

Consequently, the Kremlin is reported negotiating to buy as much as 80,000 tons of butter for Russian tables from the large surplus of the European Common Market. Russian buyers are also trying to buy beef and mutton from Australia and New Zealand, and in Latin America.

Under a recently signed agreement, Russia will purchase nearly 3.5 million long tons of wheat and flour from Canada.

Cocoa is another consumer item which has been purchased extensively in free world markets. According to one estimate, Russia doubled its imports of cocoa last year, buying in Africa and Brazil, as well as in Europe.

TO FINANCE their purchases, the Russians are stepping up their shipments of traditional exports, furs, for example, and nickel, as well as sugar and diamonds.

Free world purchases got nearly twice as much nickel from Russia last year as they had obtained in recent years, according to trade estimates.

A single sale of 100,000 tons of Russian sugar to refiners in Britain was recently reported. Diamond shipments to Britain were up more than 50 per cent in 1969 over the previous year.

State Testing Report Gives Data For Judging Schools

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Little Happy Valley Elementary School District in Santa Cruz County, with average daily attendance of only 86 pupils, ranked No. 1 in sixth grade reading scores among California school districts last year. To do so, it spent $457 per pupil on costs of instruction (which include most, but not all, of the costs of school operation).

Emery Unified School District in Alameda County ranked No. 1 in per-pupil instruction costs, at $1,574. Its sixth grade pupils ranked 257th on the reading tests.

THESE ARE AMONG disclosures in a new report on the state testing program produced by the California Department of Education, which shows spending, class sizes, minority racial enrollment, and other data along with the rank on the reading tests.

The top 10 on the reading score list (actually 11 because of a tie for 10th place) included three districts in San Mateo County, two each in Contra Costa and Marin, and one each in San Diego, Fresno, Los Angeles and Santa Cruz counties.

In order, behind Happy Valley, they were: Orinda Elementary, Contra Costa County (2,495 average daily attendance), Rancho Santa Fe, San Diego County (297 a.d.a); Moraga Elementary, Contra Costa (1,962); Menlo Park Elementary, San Mateo (1,687); Big Creek Elementary, Fresno (152); Kentfield Elementary, Marin (1,307); Portola Valley Elementary, San Mateo (908); Hillsborough Elementary, San Mateo (1,211); Ross Elementary, Marin, (469), tied with Beverly Hills Unified, Los Angeles (4,993).

Of these, only two — Big Creek and Beverly Hills — showed up among the top 10 spenders per pupil. (Some little one-room school districts which showed very high costs per pupil were not included in the reading tests.)

TOP 10 SPENDERS, in terms of instructional costs per pupil, were, in order: Emery Unified; Borrego Springs Unified, San Diego County, which ranked No. 6 on the reading scores; Elk Hills Elementary, Kern County, which ranked 188; Big Creek; Shasta Elementary, Shasta County, ranked 277; Maricopa Unified, Kern County, ranked 270; Buena Vista Elementary, Kern County, ranked 237; Beverly Hills, and Sausalito Elementary, Marin County, ranked 228. (Worst possible rank on the sixth grade reading scores was 301 because of numerous ties.)

To large extent, the districts topping the reading tests also had children ranking at or near the top in intelligence quotient tests. This bore out to an extent an often-heard contention that bright children learn to read on their own and the teaching has little to do with it. However, there were enough variations from this pattern to show that the teaching definitely can affect the children's reading accomplishment.

The sixth graders of Happy Valley district, who ranked No. 1 in reading, ranked No. 19 in median IQ, while those of Ross, No. 1 in IQ, squeezed in a tie for 10th in reading. Of the top 10 IQ score districts, six — Ross, Kentfield (No. 3 in IQ), Hillsborough (No. 6); Big Creek (No. 7), Orinda (No. 8), and Beverly Hills (No. 10) — made the top 10 in reading.

THE DATA disclosed a pattern in the reading accomplishments in districts with large enrollment of minority races. Most districts with a majority of pupils from the minority races placed lower in reading than in IQ scores, and the spread generally increased as the percentage of minority pupils increased. However, there were enough exceptions to prove the pattern can be broken.

As the top 10 lists suggest, there was no correlation between amount spent per pupil and the reading accomplishments. A single county — Alameda — will serve to illustrate the typical situation. Highest in reading scores among Alameda County districts was Piedmont Unified, placing No. 15. In spending per pupil, it ranked No. 146. As already noted, Emery Unified was top spender per pupil in the state but came out No. 257 on the reading scores. Lowest spending per pupil in Alameda County was in Murray Elementary School District, which ranked No. 611, but its sixth grade pupils placed No. 103 in reading.

The data in the report gives an opportunity to gauge to some extent which districts are getting the best returns per dollar spent on the schools.

Viaduct Project Well Ahead Of Schedule

The $3 million viaduct now under construction in San Rafael is about two months ahead of schedule, the California Division of Highways has announced. The project was originally due for completion next Jan. 1.

In a progress report on Marin County highway work, the division of highways said the southbound viaduct running from Mission Avenue to Irwin Street its two-thirds completed.

When Murphy-Pacific Enterprises of Oakland has completed the 2,800-foot-long structure, it will carry three lanes of traffic southbound on Highway 101. The existing highway will be converted to three northbound lanes.

The California Division of Highways also announced:

SPENCER AVENUE — A $61,000 project to provide an additional northbound land on Highway 101 at Spencer Avenue near Sausalito is 35 per cent completed.

SAN PEDRO ROAD — Design is almost complete on a project to construct a ramp and frontage road on Highway 101 between San Pedro Road and the Forbes Avenue overhead, San Rafael, but funds have not yet been allocated.

MUIR BEACH — Design work for widening the Big Lagoon Bridge at Muir Beach has been completed, but no funds for the project have been allocated.

ROUTE 37 — Funds have been approved for constructing bus stops on Highway 37 at the Atherton Avenue intersection. Bids will be sought in April.

Terms of the lease-purchase have been agreed on and will be signed probably in about two weeks, said Milano.

The club has named R. H. Carolan of 381 San Luis Way, who plays end for the Kansas City Chief's professional football team, as honorary fund raising campaign chairman, Milano said.

Riles In Marin City

Rohnert Park Rec Panel Questions Hair Hiring Ban

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission has recommended a look at city policy banning hirsute employees on the recreation staff.

The commission, acting Monday night on a request from Gregory Jilka of the Associated Students at Sonoma State College, asked the city council to review the regulation for possible revision to "go along with the changing times," according to Commission Chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen.

Rasmussen said the policy requires staff members to be clean shaven, neat and to keep their hair trimmed.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

POOL — Approved summer pool rates, unchanged from last year.

PETITION — Suggested that youths in the audience who voiced a need for a bowling alley and movie theater in the community organize petitions for possible presentation to developers.

RESIDENTS — During review of programs offered by the city, heard citizen suggestions for additions, such as boxing or judo classes.

DEVELOPMENT — Heard a committee report on the progress of park development plans. Drawings may be presented to the commission within a month.

The Gourmet Touch of Wine Jellies

Hostesses looking for something to give a little gourmet fillip to breakfast, brunch, luncheon or dinner may want to try the recipes for wine jellies given below.

Or if they want to try how they taste first, they will find the jellies available at the rummage and bake sale to be sponsored Saturday by the Mill Valley guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley.

Any of the following recipes are said to be delicious with hot rolls or biscuits or as an accent to enhance the flavor of meats replacing the traditional apple sauce with pork, mint with lamb or chutney with various dishes.

RED PORT JELLY

1¾ cup mellow ruby port
3 cups sugar
½ bottle liquid pectin

Mix wine and sugar in top of a double broiler. Place over boiling water; stir until sugar is completely dissolved, about five minutes. Remove from heat, but leave jelly over hot water. Stir in pectin. Skim off foam. Pour into sterilized jars or glasses, leaving ½ inch at top. Cool slightly, then cover with ¼ inch hot melted paraffin. Makes about four half pints.

CHAMPAGNE JELLY

The bubbles are the feature of this jelly. Wait until the jelly is almost firm, then stir briefly to form bubbles.

1¾ cup champagne, a sweet champagne is best
3 cups sugar
½ bottle liquid pectin

Using a double boiler, mix wine and sugar until sugar is completely dissolved. Remove from heat but leave jelly over hot water. Stir in pectin. When mixed well, remove it from the hot water, cover pan and let stand at room temperature. Do not stir for bubbles until ready. To test for readiness, wait two to two and a half hours, then tilt the pan at an angle. Pull away the top film from the pan side with a rubber spatula. Jelly is ready when it pulls away from the side of the pan. Skim off any foam. Stir vigorously for a couple of seconds to form bubbles. Pour into champagne glasses or other sterilized glasses. Seal with melted paraffin. This jelly cannot be processed in boiling water. Serve chilled.

GERMAN MAY WINE JELLY WITH WOODRUFF HERB

7 cups sugar
1 quart May wine
½ to 1 teaspoon lemon rind
Pinch of woodruff herb (found on Mount Tamalpais)
½ basket fresh strawberries. If one box of frozen strawberries is used, defrost and add during the last 30 seconds.
2 bottles pectin

Mix ingredients and bring to a rolling boil. Add pectin, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil for 30 seconds. Remove and skim off foam. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal with melted paraffin.

Peruvian Foods Sold On Street

By JEANNE LESEM

LIMA (UPI)—The tantalizing aromas of street foods follow you everywhere in Peru.

Construction workers at a work site buy hot plate lunches from pushcart vendors, who serve on heavy restaurant-weight china. They also sell finger food—including empanadas, or meat pies, tamales and humitas.

But anticuchos are the hottest meat snack—literally and figuratively. They're bits of grilled beaf heart that have been marinated in a peppery sauce, then grilled and served with more peppery sauce.

They were served frequently to a group of North American newsmen and newswomen during a trip to Lima as guests of Improtur, S.A., to attend the opening of a new restaurant. The Peruvian firm is a subsidiary of Braniff International.

At a street fair, we watched a buxom young Indian woman make picarones, doughnut-type confections.

Street vendors of uncooked foods also are commonplace. You wonder who buys from the women we saw squatting at the entrance of a suburban supermarket with baskets of fruit.

The store itself resembled a North American one, except for the meat department. There everything was sold from an open cooler amply supplied with long-handled forks and skimmers that customers used to place the meat or poultry of their choice in plastic bags. Attendants weighed and ticketed the bags.

MRS. FREDERICK Baker, left, looks on as Mrs. Thomas Kearney adds an ingredient to the wine jelly they are making for a bake sale Saturday. Members of the Mill Valley Guild of the Boyd Museum of Science have been making the jellies for the sale to be held in conjunction with their annual fund-raising rummage sale. Spring-Time Chopped Steak For A Slim Summer Figure

With the spring and summer months fast upon us and fashion emphasizing clingy fabrics, today's woman is most interested in maintaining the good figure she has kept through the winter.

Remembering it is easier to control weight before one becomes overweight she can serve spring-time chopped steaks with Bearnaise sauce to the delight of the entire family. To complete the meal and meet nutritional needs, merely add a generous tossed green salad, hard rolls and skimmed milk. Use a low-calorie salad dressing if desired.

The dieter might prefer to substitute diet garlic dressing for the Bearnaise sauce as well as reducing the oval patty to a 3 to 4 ounce size.

SPRING-TIME CHOPPED STEAKS

2 pounds ground beef chuck or round
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 egg
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
6 servings (18 to 24 spears) hot cooked asparagus
Bearnaise Sauce, recipe follows

Combine first 4 ingredients; mix well. Shape into six flat oval patties about ¾ inch thick. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat source to desired doneness, 15 to 18 minutes, turning at end of 8 to 9 minutes. Top with asparagus spears and serve with Bearnaise Sauce. Yield,: 6 servings.

BEARNAISE SAUCE

3 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons sliced green onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
3 tablespoons dry white wine or water
2 egg yolks.
1/3 cup melted butter or margarine
¾ cup salad dressing
Salt and white pepper to taste

Combine first 3 ingredients in saucepan; simmer gently until liquid is reduced by half. Stir in wine or water; set aside. Beat egg yolks until very thick and lemon colored; beat in butter or margarine. Cook egg mixture in top of double boiler over gently simmering water until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Blend in wine mixture then salad dressing. Add salt and pepper to taste. Yield: 1 2/3 cups.

Remove Bass Taste

When it is not convenient to skin or fillet bass, eliminate the characteristic "of" taste by scaling the fish and using a soft brush to scrub it with soap. Then rinse the bass in clear water before cleaning it.

Salads With Cottage Cheese

Cottage cheese blends so well with so many other foods that an imaginative cook need never duplicate a dish containing this dairy food.

Because one-half cup of cottage cheese has as much protein as two cups of fresh milk, this diary food is ideal for a family which includes a weight-watching father, a calorie counting daughter, a teen-age athlete and a very young child. They all need lots of body-building protein, calcium, and other minerals and vitamins.

The great variety of cottage cheese available makes daily menu-planning a simple matter. Choose from small or large curd, creamed or diet-packed, mixed with fruit or chives, or blend your own with herbs, onion or fresh canned fruits.

"Spring-Green Salad" gives a hint of the many ways a simple cottage-cheese gelatin salad can be varied. Crunchy celery, a touch of onion, and even a dash of vinegar make this a special spring green salad.

VEGETABLE DRESS-UP DRESSING

(Makes 1½ cups dressing or six servings)

1 cup sour cream or cottage cheese or ½ cup of each
¼ cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
Dash seasoned pepper
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
2 Tablespoons chopped pimento

Combine sour cream or cottage cheese, buttermilk, lemon juice, seasoned salt and papper. Mix until smooth. Stir in ripe olives and pimento. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours to blend flavors. This dressing will keep for two weeks, refrigerated.

Line individual salad plates or bowls with lettuce. Arrange two or three pieces of each of four or five vegetables on each plate. Top with about ¼ cup dressing.

Suggested vegetables: artichoke hearts, cooked carrots, canned tomato wedges, canned green beans, cooked cauliflower or any canned, fresh or frozen cooked vegetable.

BASIC COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

½ cup cottage cheese
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons sour cream

To the above ingredients you may add pickle relish, or minced onion, or chpped chives, or capers, or blue cheese or a combination of any of these to suit your taste. Beat with a rotary beater until all ingredients are well blended.

LEFT OVER vegetables are made into gourmet fare by "vegetable dress-up dressing." Served with hot buttered buns and a tall glass of milk, this salad makes a vitamin-packed lunch that tastes good too.

Will the real peanut butter please stand up.

(Hint: it's the one that's offering 10¢ off on your next jar.)

There are three of us. The famous brands. The "good" ones. But spread all three and you'll see: Two just lie there. Kind of plain and punchless. Alas, no real character to call their own.

And then there's one—the only easy-eatin' peanut butter with the grownup taste. The taste of the peanuts is so big and rich, it leaps off the bread. So creamy, it nearly spreads itself. So rich with the grow-on protein of peanuts—why, you can just watch a little guy grow on it. So why don't you?

Drumming Up Political Action

Marin Women

A fresh, creative approach to political action has developed in the American Association of University Women's Mill Valley Branch, thanks to the ideas and leadership of Mrs. James Schock, chairman of the group's political awareness section.

Two successful luncheons, one to "Save the Bay" and the other to stimulate interest in Southern Marin planning, "Space for Living", have triggered a new sense of involvement among Southern Marin women in political issues which are important to them and their families.

This year the national AAUW slogan is "Action is Our Bag", and Trubee Schock is dedicated to the belief that ideas must be implemented by action — not the negative action of the protest-marcher and picketer, but the positive action of working through established political channels for legislation and candidates supporting causes she feels are important.

AFTER THE frustrating experience of working on two unsuccessful political campaigns, Mrs. Schock, an artist by training and profession, realized a new approach was necessary to make political action attractive and exciting to the women of her community.

First she proposed a new study section, political awareness, to the AAUW board of 1968-69. Possibilities for political action on issues affecting their communities are now presented at this group's monthly meetings by speakers, representing both major political parties. As a nonpartisan group, AAUW does not support any particular candidates but does take a stand on issues and ballot measures.

One of last spring's speakers, Nancy Swadesh, discussed the crucial status of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and at her suggestion the political awareness group decided to organize Mill Valley precincts to bring the issue to the attention of the voters.

Trubee Schock enlisted the support of a politically-oriented friend, Mrs. Burton Wise, who offered her Mill Valley home for a luncheon meeting. Trubee designed invitations, planned a menu of low-caloric "finger foods", and asked five political figures to explain why immediate action was necessary to save the bay. After lunch precinct lists were distributed, and about 70 women left with a feeling of total commitment to what turned out to be a successful campaign to continue a strong BCDC.

A SECOND ACTION luncheon, "Space for Living", developed this spring from a joint meeting of the political awareness and conservation study sections of AAUW. In studying the Richardson Bay marshlands, the group was appalled at the lack of coordination and overlapping of political districts they discovered and decided to look into regional planning.

City planners from Mill Valley, Tiburon, Corte Madera and Sausalito, Supervisor Michael Wornum and county planner Paul Zucker presented their ideas on regional planning to the women at the luncheon in the Wise home, who became interested in working for a strong regional government.

Although Trubee Schock has kept her AAUW activities non partisan, she is a Republican and Myra Wise is a Democrat, both firm believers in the two-party system and in working through political channels. Trubee is actively participating in two current campaigns — one for State Senator and one for Mill Valley City Council, and she urges all women to get out and work for the candidates who support the causes they feel are important.

"The results of the Save the Bay Campaign and Save the Seashore have shown us that we can be involved in determining our own destiny," she ehphasized.

TRUBEE TRACES her interest in political action to her days at Beverly Hills High School, where, she says, "involvement became a way of life. Everyone worked for the causes he believed in, and extra-curricular activities were an important part of school life."

After earning a B.A. in commercial art from San Jose State College, Trubee entered retail advertising in San Francisco. After her marriage to James Schock, a television news producer, Trubee continued to do free lance art work and illustrated two guide books to San Francisco which her husband wrote.

The Schocks, who moved to Mill Valley in 1963, have three sons — Jeffrey, 11, David, 9, and Will, 5. Trubee is involved in their activities such as the Strawberry Swim Team and Cub Scouts along with her political work.

Trubee's mother, Mrs. Trubee Campbell, lives in Fairfax and her grandmother, the late Mrs. Harold Truscott, was a long-time resident of Belvedere.

MRS. JAMES SCHOCK, center, member of the American Association of University Women, Mill Valley Branch, is the chairman of the group's new political awarness section. Mrs. Schock and Mrs. Troy Lewis, right, chairman of the Marin County Chapter of the Women's Division of the Democratic State Central Committee, discuss plans for an open house, where Mrs. Lewis will tell members of the study section how women can become involved in political campaigns, with Mrs. Leo Killion, left. Mrs. Harold R. Beem To Lead Cancer Drive

"This year's April Cancer Crusade will be particularly urgent from a financial point of view because of the increased demand for privately sponsored research which has resulted from cuts in the federal government budget", said Richard S. Riede, crusade chairman of the American Cancer Society's Marin County Branch.

"Applications being received from scientists by the American Cancer Society are far greater than in any previous year," he continued. "This is because a lid has been placed on government support of research, and this is having a crippling effect on projects already in progress."

As residential chairman of Marin's Crusade against Cancer, Mrs. Harold R. Beem of San Anselmo will lead a group of volunteers starting April 25 for three days to house-to-house calls on Marin families as part of the American Cancer Society's 1970 educational and fund-raising drive. An informational leaflet will be distributed urging the recipient's family to go for regular medical checkups as a way toward early discovery of the onset of cancer.

Through these calls on families the society also hopes to raise a large share of the Marin County goal of $60,000 for support of its year-round program of research, education and service to cancer patients.

Area chaimen for the drive are Mmes. M. M. Magladry, San Rafael; Richard Less, Terra Linda; Wilmer McDowell, Novato; Rodney Thorsen, San Geronimo Valley; Edward Shev and John Hinman, Sausalito; A. S. W. Love, Belvedere; James Ziegler, Hooshang Taybi and Leo Souza, Tiburon; Robert Lantis, San Anselmo; Jon Bagshaw, Fairfax; John Young, Sleepy Hollow; Gibbs Lawson, Dillion Beach; Charles Silva III and Peter Niederberger, Stinson Beach; Richard Moore, Strawberry; Peter Smiley, Ross; H. C. Stevenson, Larkspur; John C. Polhemus and Ernest Mock, Corte Madera.

Blind Women Learn To Cook, Measure, Handle Hot Pans

By EDITH M. LEDERER

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Rosemarie Grayley sniffed her freshly baked custard, held up a slightly red finger and said: "Only one burn—not bad!"

Dorothy Daniels bent over an electric oven, counted four blobs of glue on the temperature dial and exclaimed: "I've got it—350 degrees."

Linda Havens batted her right hand hesitantly in the air until she touched the edge of her casserole dish. "There it is!" she declared.

These three young women were cooking lunch—a task performed daily by millions of women. But for them there was a difference: each is blind.

Since 1954, the Orientation Center for the Blind, a state-run school, has been teaching blind and partially sighted men and women to cook by touch—some with gourmet results.

Instructor Jane Teeter says there are many difficulties, such as learning to handle hot pots and pans, finding the right ingredients and measuring them properly, and knowing when a dish is finished.

Some sugar cookies have turned out a little salty and some hamburgers have been a little too well done, Mrs. Teeter said in an interview, but anyone who takes the course for four to six months can learn to cook.

At the end of the course each student cooks a complete meal for eight persons with food the student has purchased in a supermarket.

While shopping, Mrs. Teeter said, blind people must rely on store employes. Otherwise they may end up with canned peaches instead of canned peas.

In the center's kitchen, the cans, drawers, shelves, pans and measuring cups are labeled in braille. Dials on the oven are marked with blobs of glue every 50 degrees starting at 200 degrees.

Reading from a braille recipe, 22-year-old Rosemarie, a Long Beach State college student, began heating milk for her custard.

The problem? To figure out when it was just about to boil. "You stick your finger in it, and when it's hot, you know it's time," Mrs. Teeter explained. "If it boils, you'll hear it."

Lynda, 32-year-old Santa Cruz mother of two, put the finishing touches on her casserole, explaining: "I'm not a good cook. I've made hamburgers and pancakes and flipped one over on top of the other and never known it."

Said 19-year-old Dorothy of Bakersfield: "I like to cook. So far, I've made some pork chops, pancakes, fruit salad, chocolate pie and peach upside down cake. I guess they were pretty good. There wasn't anything left —they ate it all up."

ROSEMARIE GRAYLEY, left, who is blind, cooks by feel with an assist from Jane Teeter, who is showing her how to take a freshly baked custard from the oven. Miss Teeter is an instructor at the Orientation Center for the Blind, a state run school in Albany, where sightless persons have been learning how to cook since the school's inception in 1954. The masks are used by partially blind students to make sure no light interferes with the instruction. (AP Wirephoto)

Back From Safari In Africa

By MOLLY MARIN

The Thomas Welshes have returned to their home in Kentfield from a trip to Africa that Pat Welsh, an enthusiastic bird watcher, says was a paradise for anyone interested in that hobby.

On March 4 they flew via Athens to East Africa, where they drove 2,000 miles taking pictures of birds and animals. Then they flew to South Africa for a quick tour of Johannesburg and Cape Town and ended their African safari with a visit to Victoria Falls in Rhodesia. They spent Easter in London and returned home last week.

THE INFANT daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maffia of Cotati was christened Alyssa Anne on April 4 at St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma.

The Rev. Stephen Anny performed the ceremony. Godparents are Mrs. Maffia's brother, Severa Wilford III of Cotati, and Lucinda McaDniel of ePtaluma.

After the ceremony, friends and relatives gathered at Sonoma Joe's restaurant in Petaluma for luncheon.

MR. AND MRS. Tom Siebe, who were married on March 21 at St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma, will make their home in Santa Rosa.

The bride, the former Carol Corda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Corda of Petaluma. A graduate of Petaluma High School, she is attending the University of San Francisco as a candidate for an elementary teaching credential.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Siebe of Petaluma, is a deputy sheriff with the Sonoma County Sheriff's Department.

PETALUMANS WHO have returned home after attending the 46th annual convention and exposition of the Pacific Egg and Poultry Association in Palm Springs are Messrs. and Mmes. Oscar Miller, Edmund Johnsen, Albert Nissen, Clay Thompson, John Tennyson and Richard Weber.

MARRIED MARCH 26 in the Phoenix Wedding Chapel in Phoenix, Ariz., were Dorelle Ball, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Ball of San Anselmo and Paul E. Weimeschkirch of Phoenix.

Dore is the sister of Tamara, Sheldon, Scott, John and Bevanne Ball and is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon H. Guess of Healdsburg and Palm Springs.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helen Weimeschkirch of Phoenix and a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico. He is an electronics engineer and production director at KTVK in Phoenix.

They plan a wedding trip to Puerto Rico this summer.

HELEN HELP US!

If Your Children Laid Down The Law At Your House . . .

DEAR READERS:

If you parents think you're tough about rules, read below and imagine what it would be like if your children laid down the law at your house.

This list of 30 iron-fast orders came to me from a friend, Zorah Buchtman, whose 10-year-old Laurie helped put on an "afternoon musical and dance festival" for the neighborhood—in a home fearfully volunteered by one of the mothers.

The young producers, knowing many children would attend, decided to preserve family fixtures, furniture and sanity by handing out these regulations at the door:

RULES

1. No laughing. (I'm sure they meant, "Except when the actors are funny.")
2. No talking.
3. No going to the refreshment stand if no one is there.
4. No stealing anything from the refreshment stand.
5. At intermission time after each song, there will be two minutes for going to the bathroom or to get refreshments.
6. Refreshments every three songs or at intermission time only.
7. No getting up in the middle of songs.
8. No playing with curtains. (Which were floor-length chains of multi-colored paper loops, painstakingly glued together to look like the beaded-curtain entrances of certain speakeasies the kids must have seen on TV.)
9. No playing with the record player.
10. No going to the bathroom unnecessarily.
11. No going upstairs.
12. No going in the record case.
13. No pushing and shoving.
14. No lifting up chairs.
15. Boys, no teasing girls. Girls, no teasing boys.
16. No lifting dresses.
17. No pulling hair.
18. No pulling necklaces.
19. No making a mess of the room.
20. No pulling down chains.
21. You may go home in the middle of the show, but not in the middle of a song unless sick. (The repertoire included some 30 songs, plus interpretive dancing, so this rule may have been followed more often than some of the others.)
22. In the bathroom there will be changes of costume. Do not touch.
23. No touching anything downstairs that does not belong to you.
24. No reading any of the books Debby's mother and father have here.
25. No switching chairs.
26. No annoying anyone.
27. Don't make a show of yourselves.
28. No fooling around.
29. No ruining couch or chairs.
30. No bothering parents.

As Zorah said, if the kids apply the same foresight and thoroughness to planning their futures, they've got it made. After all, the world has managed with only Ten Commandments throughout the ages. — H.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Named Volunteer Of The Year

Mrs. Allen P. Lovejoy of San Rafael was named "Volunteer of the Year" today by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin at its sixth annual meeting.

Mrs. Marion Kelley, executive director of the Bureau, said, "Mrs. Lovejoy, with her unique ability to contribute in depth in several areas simultaneously, is a bridge in the community and an outstanding volunteer."

Mrs. Lovejoy herself disclaims anything outstanding or unusual about her volunteer work. She says, "There is a guiding principal in what I do. It is first to educate and inform myself as to what the important current issues are and second, because I feel very strongly the frustration of young people in coping with today's society, to work with youth and help them with their problems."

Mrs. Lovejoy's vehicle for education is the League of Women Voters. She is a Unit Coordinator and Board Member of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin. She is also a representative for the League on the Marin Ecumenical Association for Housing and Recording Secretary for this group. She additionally serves once a week as an office volunteer in the League's San Rafael headquarters and as their observer at the Marin Board of Supervisors meeting.

MRS. LOVEJOY finds involvement with Juvenile Hall a means of helping young people. She is a Board member of the Juvenile Court auxiliary and a volunteer driver. Two years ago she helped set up the library at Juvenile Hall. She is now coordinator of library volunteers and a library aide herself. She and her husband recently invited a boy from Juvenile Hall, there awaiting placement in a foster home, to their home for a weekend.

"This was a happy experience for us and for him. There are many ways for volunteers to help at Juvenile Hall and there is such a shortage of them," she said.

Both Mrs. Lovejoy and her husband are members of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City where she is in charge of the primary department of the church school. She says: "St. Andrew is an example of black and white people working together in a meaningful way. My work there has a special satisfaction." In the summertime she is a driver for the church day camp and both Lovejoys often put in weekend hours doing volunteer gardening and custodial work for the mission church.

Another favorite activity for this young grandmother is writing and editing a monthly newsletter for the Marin Human Rights Commission. Two years ago she originated the Newsletter which now has county-wide distribution through requesting churches, libraries and schools. Its purpose is to inform the County of the issues before the commission, review pertinent books, interview commissioners and so on.

"MY PRESENT volunteer work", says Mrs. Lovejoy, "is a natural offshoot of raising five daughters, being scout leader, room mother, and all the other things I did when they were growing up." One of her daughters, Mrs. Thomas Best lives in San Anselmo. Of the others; one lives in New York, one in Washington, D.C., and two are still in college.

Mr. Lovejoy is assistant to the president for development at Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley. The couple, whose past includes a three year stint in Taiwan, moved to Marin two years ago. They enjoy sailing and the symphony together.

Despite her extensive volunteer activities, Mrs. Lovejoy insists, "My most important job is still being a homemaker." She substantiates this with hobbies of sewing and knitting plus an unshakeable committment to always "keep one day a week free for catching up at home!"

Angry Consumers Get Some Action

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—A decision last week by the Food and Drug Administration shows what a few letters from aroused consumers can do.

Letter writing is often futile, as many consumers can attest. But in this case, it beat a powerful industry on a basic principle: truth in labeling.

The issue was whether labels of small cosmetic products should list net weights, as many other products are required to do under the so-called "Truth-in-Packaging" law.

THE TOILET GOODS Association, representing the large manufacturers, wanted an exemption for lipsticks, rouges, mascaras, eyeliners, eyebrow pencils, powders, creams and fragrances when packaged in quantities of less than one-fourth of an ounce for solids and one-eighth of an ounce for liquids.

The association claimed that the labels are often too small to list the number of ounces. It also did not want to list the name and address of the manufacturer or distributor. The FDA decided last year to require that the name and address be labeled, but it granted a delay on the quantity declaration until comments were obtained from all interested parties.

That was when this column got into the picture. The time was last June. The question was simply whether any women want to know the net contents of "beauty" products or are they all content to keep playing the game of "surprise" with oddly shaped packages at the cosmetic counter.

It was not long before comments began arriving in Washington. Within a few days, one woman in Wisconsin sent in a petition with 28 signatures favoring the listing of net weights and urging the FDA also to require ingredients to be listed.

The industry submitted surveys purporting to show that most cosmetic buyers don't care whether weights are listed on the label.

THE PETITION and letters apparently had considerable influence on FDA's decision last week to require weights to be listed. In announcing its ruling, the agency said all but one letter favored the idea. The FDA set a deadline of July 1 for the labels to be changed.

To be sure, the decision was not earth-shaking. Eventually, the government is going to have to consider more important matters, such as requiring manufacturers to list ingredients and provide scientific proof that their products are safe for human use before selling them to the public.

But the decision confims an important principle: that all buyers have a right to know how much is inside even the smallest package.

It is not often that ordinary people have much say in government actions involving consumer products.

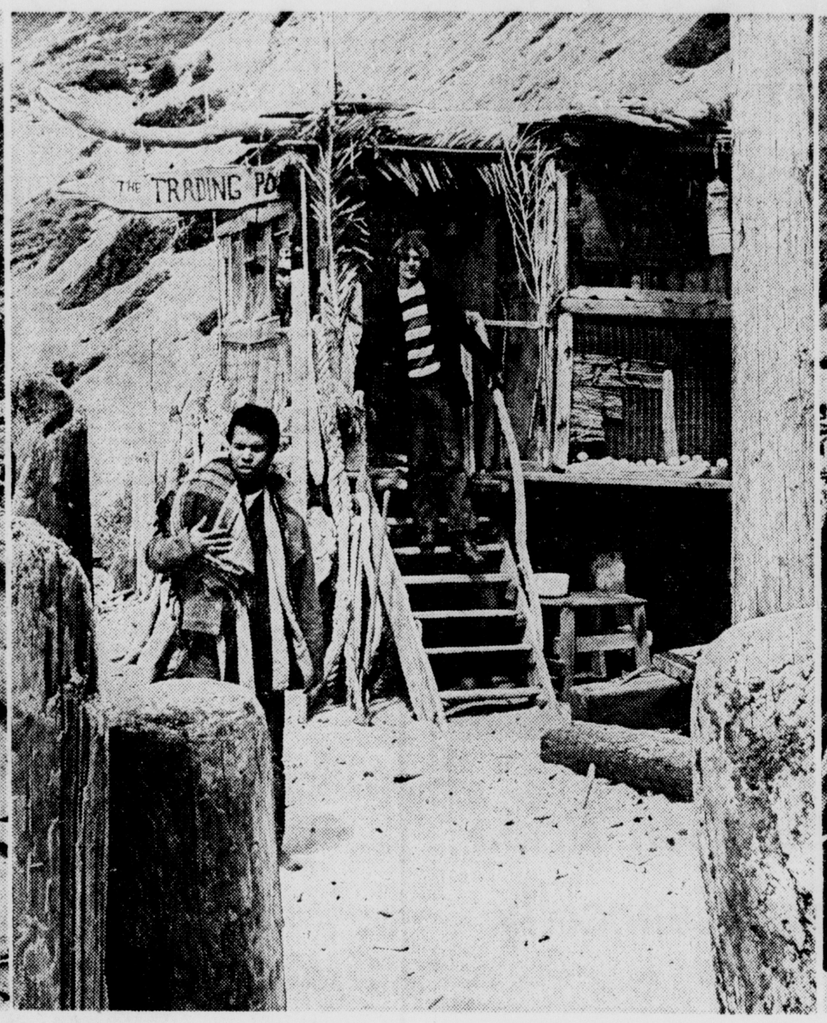
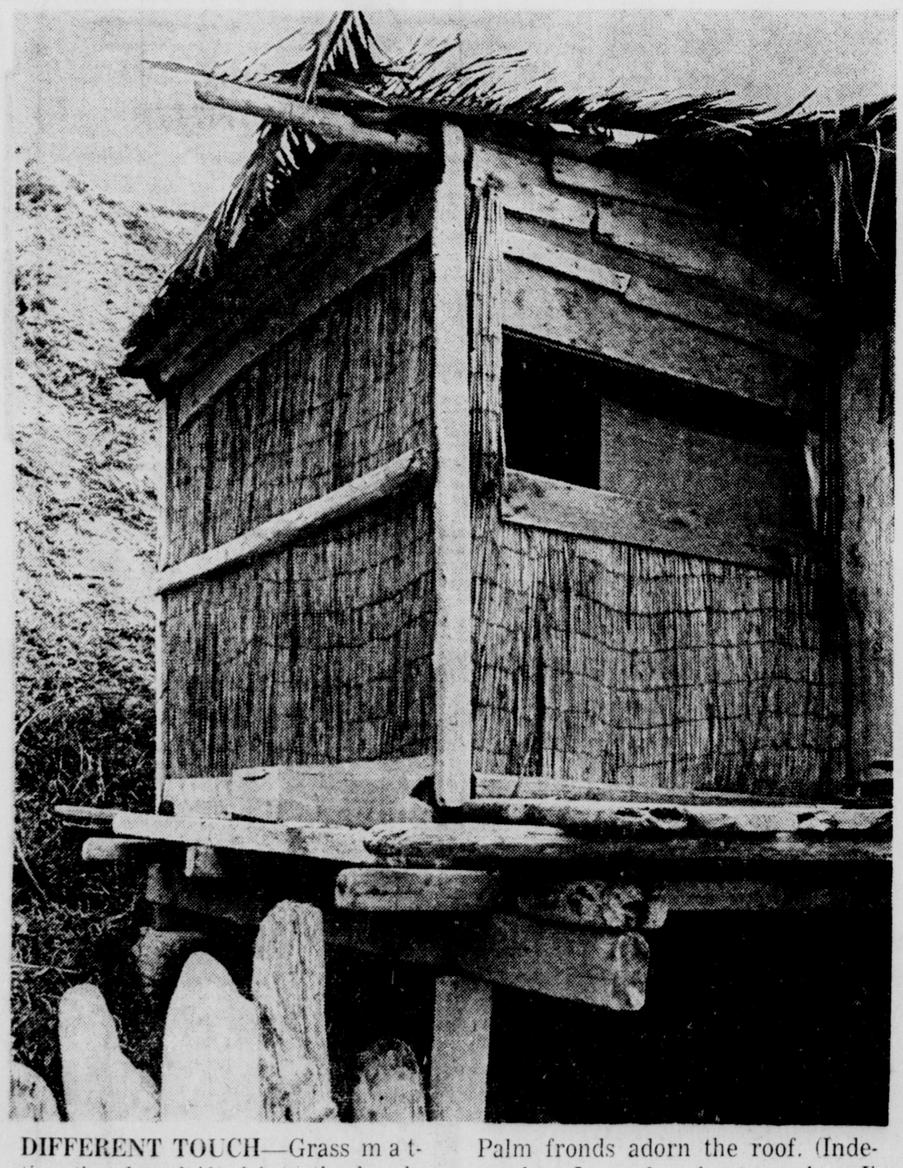
In From The Sea—A Trea sure Of Driftwood Homes



DRIFTWOOD HOMES—Out on west Marin's coast, about a 40-minute walk north of Agate Beach, is a small community made of up young people who come and go and who depend on the sea to provide their homes. There are two houses, one of them (center) labeled Trading Post, and a lean-to (left and right) built more like a tent and using a baby quilt for part of a wall.

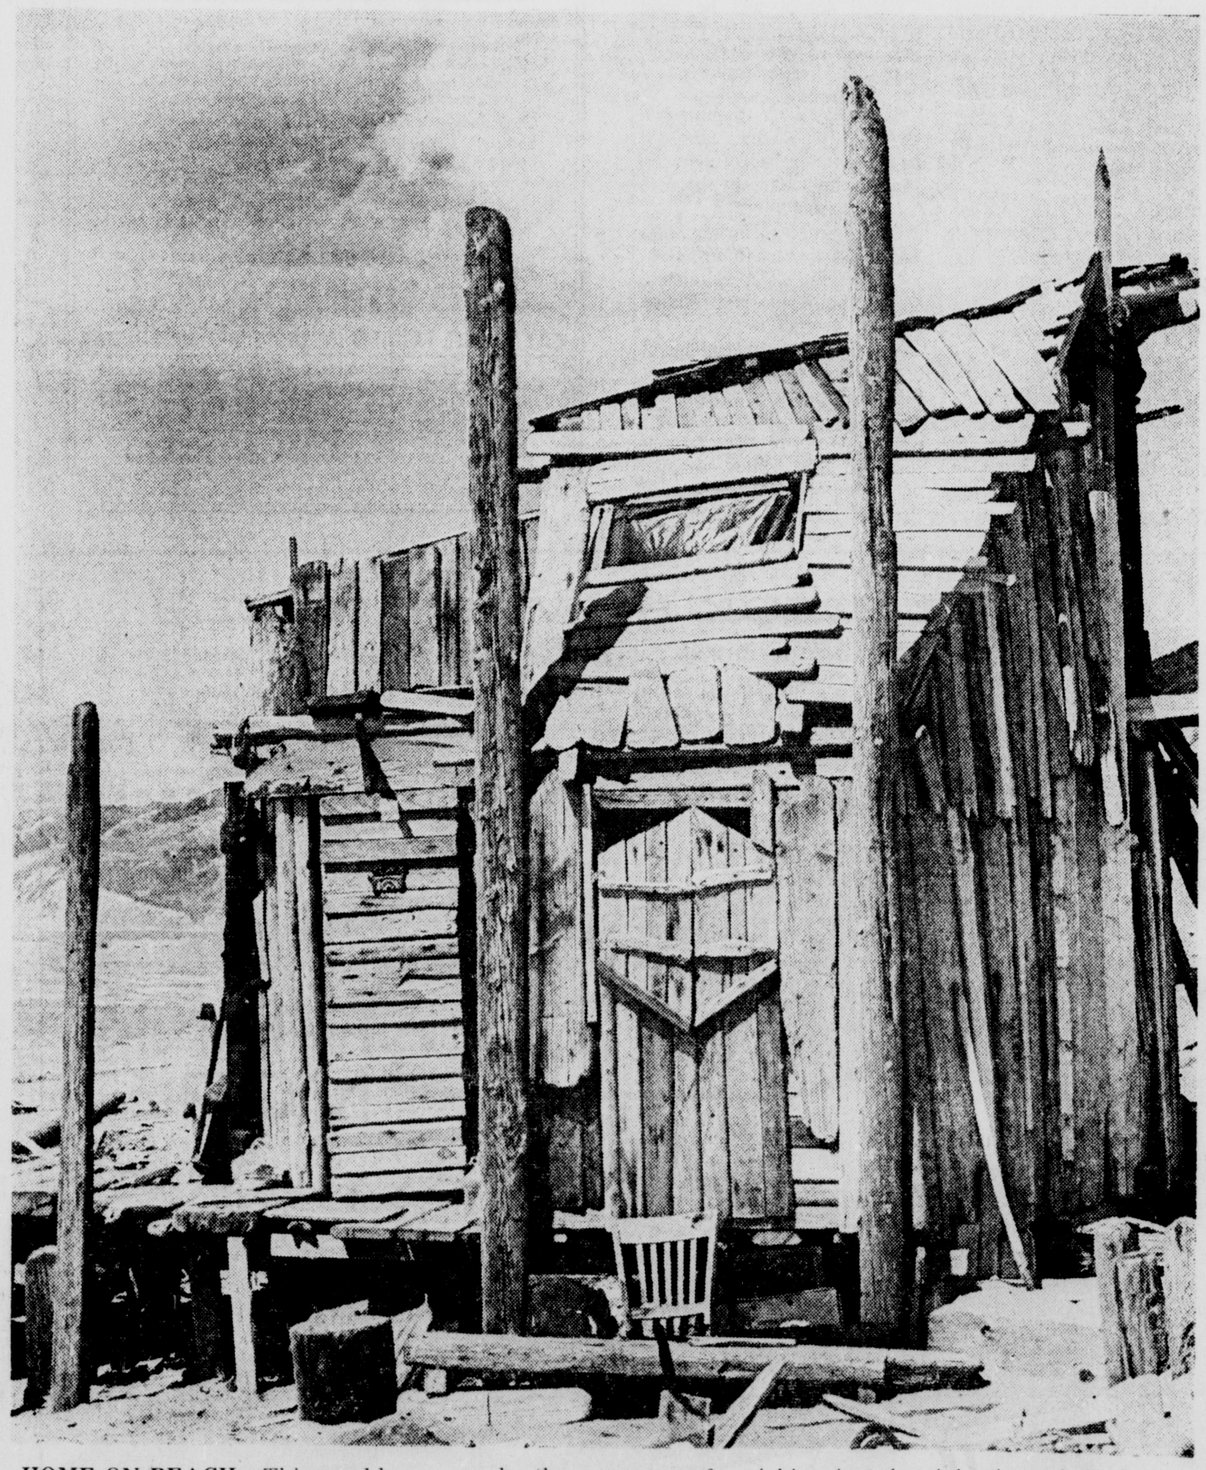
WHERE IT COMES FROM—Scraps of wood and other things washed up from the sea is the "lumber yard" where young coastal drifters can pick and choose materials for their seaside homes. Only hammers and nails are used—no saws.

SEA SHINGLES — This is a detail of side construction. Thin pieces of driftwood, shaped and smoothed in the sea, and nailed against each other, overlapping in an artistic detail.



DIFFERENT TOUCH—Grass matting that has drifted into the hands of a few young beach builders provides a different construction touch. Palm fronds adorn the roof. (Independent-Journal photos by Ji Kean)

TOUCH OF ART — Here and there in the tiny community are touches of sculpture. A doll's leg protudes from driftwood (above), and wood hangs from a post (below) like a catch of fish from the ocean.



HOME ON BEACH—This would never make the cover of an architectural magazine but for someone north of Agate Beach it is home. Main builder is a man called John, who, they say, has an eye for picking just the right sizes of wood for construction. He has built 10 such homes on the Northern California coast. His friends, all young, come and go.

'Blood Knot' Puts ACT In New Area

By GARY TISCHLER

SAN FRANCISCO—In a very ambitious, but so far, uneven, season, Athol Fugard's "The Blood Knot," a seemingly modest, two-act, two-character play about race and identity, may yet turn out to be one of the American Conservatory Theater's better efforts.

The play, which opened at the Marines' Memorial Theater last night, concerns the very special, agonized relationship of two brothers, one black, one white-skinned, living in a shack in the non-white section of a too close New Elizabeth, South Africa.

There is no plot, as such. Rather it is a journey toward a kind of realization that the two are indeed brothers not just in fact, but in a shattering kind of love and hate.

Morris, the white brother, is a fearful sort of man, neat, routine-captured, afraid of himself and his life-loving brother Zach, puttering around the room like some whimpering child listening for the wrath of God. He has locked his black brother into a kind of quiet bondage, working toward an escape, a new life on a farm, an ambigious dream to escape the drudgery of their present situation.

Zach, the black brother, is a living stick of untouched dynamite, trying to get out of a tiring body. Uneducated, unable to read his own name, he has an aching, memory-yearning for simple joys—sex, singing and Friday night drunks, as symbolized by his now-absent friend Mini, "who don't come around no more."

This sort of thing could easily fall into an integrated odd couple routine, but it doesn't. There is something much deeper at work here, for Morris cannot accept the fact that he is the son of a black mother, which is anathema in the world of South Africa. He longs to be white, inside and out and his love-hate for his brother bubbles over in a shattering play-game at the play's climax, in which he dons white man's clothes and attitudes and Zach does indeed become white man's kind of blackie, something threatening but unnoticed.

The play is a bit too long, but the actors, John Schuck as Morris and Gilbert Lewis as Zach, keep it afloat with a pair of very real, touching, funny and moving performances. They never let the brothers simply stand for something—these are, after all, human beings, and never more so then when they act out a childhood game of riding a car "to hell and back".

In that recall, clutched at joyfully and desperately, is the only time in which they are at all comfortable in each other. It is a scene at once innocent and moving.

"The Blood Knot" is a startling step away from the opulence of, say, "Oedipus Rex," or even the well-done but familiar efforts of ACT's other efforts this year. It's a sure-footed step into an area where the company has never been before. And it is well worth seeing.

Pamphleteer's Trial Recessed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trial of antiwar pamphleteer Roger Lee Priest has been recessed to give the Navy time to name additional officers to a court-martial panel.

Three Navy-appointed members were disqualified from the panel Tuesday after the trial judge, Navy Capt. B. Raymond Perkins, agreed that two of the officers might be biased or prejudiced. The third was excluded on a peremptory challenge by the defendant's attorney.

Priest is accused of urging servicemen to desert and commit sedition.

DRAMA REVIEW

'The Boy Friend' Is Revived In A First-Class Production

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you missed the musicals of the 1920's, or 1954's "The Boy Friend," which parodized their style, there is a new chance to catch up with things at the Ambassador Theater where "The Boy Friend" was revived Tuesday night.

John Yorke, Don Saxon, and Michael Hellerman have given handsome, first-class production to the show created by England's Sandy Wilson, responsible for book, music and lyrics.

Gus Schirmer, an old hand at staging revivals, directed this one, and Buddy Schwab has done well as supervisor of the dance and musical numbers reminiscent of the era.

As an historical note, it should be recalled that the 1952 production introduced to these shores the then unknown Julie Andrews.

The show has been smartly designed by Andrew and Margaret Brownfoot, both as to scenery and fine period costumes. This is the English couple's first work here.

"The Boy Friend" brings to Broadway for the first time Judy Carne, also English, who has become nationally known in the past two or three years as the "sock-it-to-me" girl of television's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" comedy series.

Miss Carne does a good job as the heroine, pleasing as singer and dancer, but for me the outstanding female in the cast is Sandy Duncan, a reddish-blonde sprite already known here, as one of the heroine's schoolmates. It is to be hoped that it won't be long now before some producer is smart enough to bring Miss Duncan together with just the right role and show that will send her into the stardom she deserves.

There isn't much point to wasting space on details of the story. Finishing school for girls on the French Riviera, romance abloom on several fronts, rich student finding love with a temporary dropout from a titled British family, girl's pater reviving an old French flame, and so on.

The musical numbers, the dancing and the general comportment of the players reflect in somewhat exaggerated form the style of such numerous 1920 musicals. For my part, I think director Schirmer has overdone the mimicry, although I am sure many will not find this disconcerting.

Now comes the moment of truth in my reaction. I never did think that Wilson's show deserved the acclaim that it got originally. It is my belief that a parody, except in a short revue sketch, should show some contribution of talent above and beyond mere paraphrasing by the Author. I feel that Wilson has not done this. Admittedly, this is difficult, but it has been done by others.

Outstanding in the excellent cast are Ronald Young, Jeanne Beavais, Leon Shaw, Simon McQueen, Harvey Evans, David Vaughan, Barbara Andres, Marie Paxton and Lesley Secombe.

Without embracing it wholeheartedly, I must admit that this is a sparkling revival that may please those who want a look at the old days.

Shone Appoints Two County Aides

Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, today named chairmen of his Napa and Solano county campaigns.

In Napa, George B. Heibel, operator of Aetna Springs resort in St. Helena and 1966 Napa County chairman for Ronald Reagan, was named. A former chairman of the county GOP central committee, Heibel is president of the Napa County Taxpayers Association.

In Solano, Shone named George C. Demmon, former mayor of Vallejo. Demmon served on his county's board of supervisors from 1935 to 1943, then as mayor from 1943 to 1955.

Dr. Sam's Death Blamed On Liver

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Franklin County Coroner Robert Evans said today an official autopsy report showed Dr. Sam Sheppard died of natural causes brought on by liver failure.

Evens said there was no sign Sheppard had cancer or had taken large doses of drugs before his death April 6. Evans had delayed the official autopsy report pending results of chemical tests.

Sheppard was convicted of murdering his first wife, Marilyn, in their Bay Village, Ohio, home on the shore of Lake Erie July 4, 1954. He served 10 years in prison and then was acquitted at a second trial, ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Bike Thefts Plague In Larkspur

Bicycle thefts are reaching epidemic proportions in Larkspur.

Police have reported six 10-speed bicycles stolen, possibly by professional thieves, in the past week.

Three bicycles were stolen last Wednesday and Thursday from the bicycle racks at Redwood High School. Wolfgang Gutscher of 520 Redwood Avenue, Cofte Madera, reported his $60 Schwinn bicycle taken Wednesday after someone forced its lock.

Daniel A. Airola of 145 Stewart Drive, Tiburon, reported his Mercier, valued at $50, was taken Thursday at the school.

Linda S. May, 11 Echo Avenue, Corte Madera, reported her bicycle, valued at $20, was taken Thursday at the school.

The other three machines were removed from owners' carports or garages, all Saturday night or Sunday morning. John V. Carlson of 115 Lower Via Casitas reported his $100 Schwinn taken. Jay T. Watson of 490 Riviera Circle reported his $95 Dawes taken, same time, and Anita M. Cattaneo of 120 Lower Via Casitas reported her son's $100 Schwinn taken.

Police Chief Howard H. Clark said he suspected professional thieves because the expensive machines are rarely recovered, and because most are stolen after bolt cutters or other tools are used to cut their padlocks.

State Facing Bad Year For Forest Fires

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California can expect a "more severe" forest fire season than last year, the state Board of Forestry was told Tuesday.

"Certainly, we are going to have an early fire season and it is going to be more severe," said John Hastings, deputy state forester for fire control.

Hastings said forest fires have been breaking out at sharply increased rates this year in California and have consumed 10 times more acreage than burned on a five-year average.

He said he based his forest fire prediction on strong northerly winds and the lack of rain and snow last winter. "We have been sadly lacking in precipitation," he told the board.

Hastings reported there have been 803 fires so far this year compared with 569 at this time last year. He said the fires have consumed 1,188 acres this year while only 248 acres had burned by this time last year. The five-year average on burned acreage is 163 acres.

Mieuli Hoping To Block Pro Basketball Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association has started a pattern play toward merger — general agreement among its club owners—and now its up to the National Basketball Association to help complete the goal.

But a member of the NBA team—owner Franklin Mieuli of the San Francisco Warriors—is threatening to block the shot at marrying the two pro leagues.

And Mieuli also has hollered technical foul at Ned Irish, president of the NBA New York Knicks, charging Irish with pushing for merger in the interests of Madison Square Garden, which owns the Knicks.

These were the developments Tuesday on the bumpy road toward merger.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph announced after an owners' meeting in New York that they had agreed in seven general areas for merger. The two leagues' merger committees alreads had agreed on the points, he said, and now if the NBA owners agree, more technical negotiations can begin.

The NBA owners might meet in New York next week.

Four of the seven points agreed on were:

—All 11 of the ABA teams will be included in any merger.

—All players who are involved in multiple signings will remain in their current legal status and will be resolved between the two teams involved.

—An indemnity of approximately $11 million will be paid by the ABA.

—The Washington-Baltimore situation cannot be resolved unilaterally, and a decision on this matter will depend on the NBA meeting. However, Earl Foreman has indicated to the ABA that he is not unwilling to leave Washington under certain circumstances, and the ABA has reached an agreement on a recommendation to be given the NBA on this matter.

Mieuli told the San Francisco Examiner:

"I've got three votes to block this merger and I hope to have a fourth, which would guarantee defeat."

Twelve of the 15-member NBA Board of Governors must vote for the merger for approval.

Mieuli said he wants only six ABA teams to join the NBA—Indiana, Kentucky, Carolina, Denver and two more to be picked by the NBA.

He also said he not only wants Rick Barry returned to the Warriors from Washington but wants all other players who jumped, or are expected to jump, to the ABA returned to their NBA clubs.

"He wasn't on the merger committee so we have not dealt with Mr. Mieuli," said Dolph.

Mieuli charged Irish with pushing expansion because Madison Square Garden also has a lease on a Long Island arena where the ABA Nets play.

"Irish doesn't care what trash he brings into the NBA so long as the Nets survive and rent his building on Long Island," said Mieuli. "It makes me laugh because Irish has always been against expansion."

Irish countered by saying, "I can't say much for his statement since it's inaccurate. No. 1, we have no lease nor contemplate seeking a lease on any building on Long Island. No. 2, if he's trying to read my mind, he's not doing a very good job."

Dolph did not say what recommendation would be made to the NBA concerning the Washington franchise which has been considered a major stumbling block toward merger. The NBA Baltimore franchise contends Washington infringes on its territorial rights.

A Few Bats And Balls On A Vacation Trip

Bert and Evelyn Gustafson of Tiburon may have trouble getting across the border next week enroute to their annual vacation in Mexico.

Besides the usual vacation paraphernalia, the Gustafsons will be lugging along 24 baseball bats, four dozen National League balls, about a dozen mitts and a complete catcher's outfit.

Imagine, the two of 'em, crossing the border and trying to explain all that sporting gear to a Mexican customs official.

What kind of vacation is THIS, Amigo?

Yanqui, go home! And Cardinals and Dodgers and Tigers. . .

Really, the Gustafsons haven't flipped. They're not going to Mexico just to play catch and hit a few grounders. No, they don't have a little game of pepper before meals nor does Bert hit Evelyn some fungoes every morning.

Ambassadors Of Good Will

Actually, the Gustafsons are goodwill ambassadors to our neighbors south of the border.

A little background music, Jose, and I'll fill you in. . .

The Gustafsons have adopted a town baseball team in Zihuatanejo, Gro., where they vacation each year.

Bert, a physiotherapist who helps condition the San Francisco Giants in Arizona each spring, embarked on a project to better equip the Mexican team. "They were playing in the darnedest outfits with the goshawfullest equipment you've ever seen, he regoshawfullest equipment you've ever seen," he reflects. "To put it politely, they were ragamuffins.

"So, last year I told the people in town that if they'd raise some money for equipment, I'd match it. Well, we managed to scrape together enough for shoes and uniforms, which was a pretty good start, but not enough for everything."

Up Steps Horace Stoneham

Somehow news of Gustafson's project drifted back to Candlestick Park where Horace Stoneham caught wind of it, called Bert and told him to buy as much equipment as he needed, and to send him the bill. Stoneham does things like that, unsung.

Which, I think, is a nice story. About some very nice people named Bert and Evelyn Gustafson and Horace C. Stoneham going out of their way to make the townfolk of Zihuatanejo, Mexico, a little happier, a little sportier. And, perhaps, enhancing the American image.

Oh, I forgot one thing. Mr. Stoneham also sent along a whole mess of Giants' caps.

Which is why that one-time ragamuffin town team in Mexico is now officially and proudly called the Zihuatanejo Gigantes.

Adios, adios, Bambino!

Terra Linda High School's Mark Millard won the diving competition yesterday to help the Trojans to a 61-32 swim victory over Drake. PREP BASEBALL

San Marin, Redwood Lead

San Marin High School's baseball team came from behind with two runs in the last inning yesterday to edge crosstown Novato High, 2—1, and remain undefeated in Marin County Athletic League play.

Joining the Mustangs in first place with in identical 3-0 record are the Redwood Giants, who gained a 5-2 recenge victory over Marin Catholic, behind the three-hit pitching of Roger Smith.

In other high school games Tamalpais got by Drake 9-5, and Terra Linda whipped San Rafael, 14-6.

RALLY

Novato's Dave Judnick had a two hitter going into the seventh inning against San Marin. Pinch hitter Steve Francis led off the inning with a single, and took second base when Jim Thompson struck out. Marty Larsen promptly singled Francis home with the tying run, and Ken Gnoss slashed a double that scored Larsen for the victory.

San Marin's Dennis Bueler went the distance to pick up his third win without a loss.

Redwood scored three runs in the third inning to give Smith all the insurance he needed. Joe Caito's base hit scored Pete Cooney and Frank Pomilia, who had both singled and Tom Wickert came in on a squeeze. Smith fanned seven in winning his second game without defeat.

DOUBLE PLAYS

Jim McCammon collected three hits for Tam and the Indians turned in three double plays in handing Drake its third straight loss. Bill Secor went the distance to get the win.

Dewey Forry's two run home run climaxed a four-run third inning that paved the way for Terra Linda's win over San Rafael. The 425-foot shot to left-centerfield followed back to back doubles by Bill Berry and Bob Daniele.

Terra Linda, Novato and Tamalpais are all tied for second place, with 2—1 records.

Henderson Paces Giants' Comeback

Houston Is Next For S.F.

ATLANTA (AP) —After two innings it looked like an Atlanta romp was under way, but three hours and 44 minutes after the first pitch the San Francisco Giants were on the winning end of a 15-11 marathon.

The Braves scored eight runs in the second inning Tuesday night but two innings later were clinging to a shaky 10-9 lead. And after Willie McCovey tied it at 11-11 with a two-run homer in the eighth, Ken Henderson put it away with a grand slam homer in the ninth.

The Giants move on to Houston for games tonight and tomorrow.

DIETZ HOMERS

After the Braves' big second inning during which 14 men went to the plate, Dick Dietz got the Giants started on the comeback trail with a three-run homer in the third as San Francisco scored five runs.

The blast kayoed Braves' starter Jim Nash, making his first appearance in Atlanta after he was traded from Oakland during the winter. Nash, who lives in nearby Marietta, had won his first start of the season, beating San Diego.

The Braves made it 10-5 in the third on Hank Aaron's fourth homer of the season, but the Giants got right back in the game with a four-run fourth.

Loser Gary Neibauer, the Braves' fifth pitcher, sealed his downfall by walking the bases loaded in the ninth. Milt Pappas relieved him, and promptly served up Henderson's game-winning blast.

BATTING 545

Henderson had himself quite a series in the two games here. He was four-for-four Tuesday night and three-for-four in the opener Monday night, won by the Braves 9-3. The heavy hitting boosted his average to a gaudy .545.

The grand slam, his first homer of the year, was he first bases-loaded clout of his major league career.

McCovey's blast was his first of the year and Dietz' was his third.

DOWNING DELIVERS

Athletics' Trade Paying Dividend

OAKLAND (AP) — A winter trade started paying dividends for the Oakland A's Tuesday night as lefthanded pitcher Al Downing was the winner in a 9-1 rout of the Milwaukee Brewers.

The victory was the second straight for Oakland, and evens its season record at 3-3. They go after their third straight when they meet the Chicago White Sox in the Coliseum tonight. Rookie Jerry Janeski, 1-0, will pitch for Chicago against Chuck Dobson, 0-1, of the A's.

Downing, who came to the A's in a deal that sent first baseman Danny Cater to the New York Yankees, made his first start of the season and hurled 6 2-3 innings.

"My arm got a little stiff but that's because I hadn't been in a game for 10 or 11 days. I started to struggle in the fifth inning," Downing said.

Four double plays kept Downing out of trouble in the early innings. Two of the twin killings were unusual, with five players participating irn one and an aborted double steal leading to the other.

Manager John McNamara was pleased with the way Downing pitched out of trouble in the early innings. "It was a good performance," he said.

LINDBLAD

Downing gave up eight hits and walked three before giving way to relief pitcher Paul Lindblad, who shut out the Brewers in the final 2 1-3 innings.

The A's broke out of a scoring slump that had produced only five runs and three defeats in the previous four games.

Outfielder Rick Monday had three hits, including a three-run homer, and Tito Francona came through with a two-run pinch single.

Four of the Oakland runs were unearned as two errors ruined a good pitching performance by loser Gene Brabender, who gave up only three hits over 5 2-3 innings.

Milwaukee manager Dave Bristol's pitching strategy went wrong for the second straight night. He ordered an intentional walk to Dick Green in the sixth inning and before the inning was over, Oakland had three runs and the victory.

The defeat was the second straight for the Brewers, who had nine hits.

Steve Hovley, Greg Goossen and Ted Kubiak each rapped two hits for the losers, with Hovley scoring their only run when he singled in the sixth and scored from first when A's third baseman Roberto Pena bobbled a grounder and threw wild to first.

More And More Teams Try Tricky Maneuvers

Trick plays in baseball occasionally are successful because of the element of surprise. But long ago the surprise element was eliminated from a trick defensive maneuver designed against a bunt sacrifice with runners on second and first base.

DURING THE successful 1960 world championship season of the Pirates, Dick Groat and Don Hoak worked the trick play several times. In the bunt situation with two men aboard, Groat, the Pirate captain and shortstop, would start running to third base as the pitcher delivered the ball to the batter.

Simultaneously, Hoak, the Pirate third baseman, would charge in for the bunt. So would Dick Stuart, the Pirate first baseman, while Bill Mazeroski, the second baseman, ran to first base to cover that bag.

THE STRATEGY of the maneuver was obvious—to erase the lead runner at third base with the possibility of a double play at first on the bunter.

A batter ordered to sacrifice with teammates on second and first invariably tries to lay the ball down along the third base line. That makes sense because normally, under conservative defensive setups against the sacrifice, the third baseman stays back to cover the bag, the shortstop covers second and the second baseman covers first as the first baseman charges. The pitcher—or catcher—is responsible for fielding the bunt along the third base line.

THE TRICK maneuver always is tipped by the way the shortstop breaks with the pitch. It leaves the entire infield defenseless but there are no batters, under orders to bunt, who would take the initiative of swinging away in hope of hitting a grounder through an undefended infield.

Batters would no more think of defying a manager's bunt orders than a Marine in boot camp would defy the orders of a DI.

BUT NOW that more and more major league teams this season seem to have adopted the tricky maneuver of the 1960 Pirates, managers may give capable batters the option of bunting or hitting away.

In the opening series at Candlestick last week, the Astros tried the trick play twice. It worked once, backfired the second time. Doug Rader, Astro third baseman, and Denis Menke, Astro shortstop, made it work on a bunt down the third base line by Bobby Bonds with Hal Lanier and Steve Whitaker aboard on singles and none out. Rader threw to Menke, covering third, to erase Lanier. That was in the season opener.

SECOND TIME the Astros tried it, Bonds also was the batter with Ron Hunt aboard on a pinch single and Willie Mays on a walk. This time Bonds bunted along the first base line to the Astros' rookie first baseman, John Mayberry, who got a bit rattled as the ball stuck in his glove. Mayberry threw late and wildly to third. Hunt scored and that started a winning five-run eighth inning rally in the third game.

WHEN THE Cincinnati Reds came into Candlestick during last weekend, they also used the trick maneuver. Hunt again had started a winning eighth inning rally with a leadoff pinch double after which Bob Burda was hit by a pitch. Frank Linzy popped up, trying to sacrifice, as the Reds sent their infielders in all directions. There was no defense, tricky or conservative, for what followed.

It was a game-winning single to right by Bonds that tallied Hunt.

Petaluma Baseballers Take Lead

Petaluma High School jumped into the driver's seat in the North Bay League I Baseball race yesterday as it scored four times in the final inning to nip Montgomery High (Santa Rosa), 5-4.

The win, the Trojans fourth in as many league contests, puts Petaluma on top of the NBL-I standings, one-half game ahead of idle Napa, and sets the stage for a showdown with the Indians Friday in Petaluma.

The Trojans topped Montgomery mainly due to the heroics of Jim Thomas and Dave Adams.

Adams blanked the Vikings on two hits for the first six innings before Montgomery could score a run. He gave way to reliever Norm Sweeney in the seventh after Montgomery had gone ahead 4-1.

Thomas, a sophomore who has just stepped into the starting catcher's role, blasted a solo home run to put Petaluma on top 1-0 in the bottom of the fifth, then singled home two runs to tie the game in the last of the seventh. Walt Sweeney then singled home Thomas and Petaluma had the win.

Danny Cader tossed a four-hitter in the junior varsity game to lead Petaluma to an 8-4 win over the Viking JV's.

Two other southern Sonoma baseball contests, Sonoma-Analy and Rancho Cotate-Cardinal Newman, were rained out. The Sonoma game will be played today at Analy in Sebastapol, while no date has been set for making up the Rancho Cotate-Cardinal Newman contest.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

When your ball just doesn't seem to carrying the pins as it used to and you've searched in vain to find out what you are doing wrong, consider your left knee. Maybe you've gotten a little lazy and have stopped bending it enough. If so, you'll be dropping the ball from too steep an angle and robbing it of some of its explosiveness.

West Shows His Skills On Defense

ATLANTA (AP) — Jerry West, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, plays defense, too.

The Los Angeles star pitched in 23 points Tuesday night as the Lakers defeated Atlanta 105-94 to take a 2-0 lead in the Western Division playoff finals.

But West's key contribution came on defense where he continued to shackle Atlanta's Lou Hudson, holding him to 12 points, 13 below his regular season average.

5 OF 20

Hudson managed to hit only 5 of 20 shots from the floor, and went only 6 of 16 in his 16-point effort in the first game of the best-of-7 series here Sunday.

"We did not expect to win two games here," West said. "It's nice to be in this situation."

Los Angeles could sweep the series with victories on its home floor Friday and Sunday nights and then face the New York-Milwaukee survivor for the NBA championship.

New York also leads the Eastern Division playoffs, which resume at Milwaukee Friday night, by a 2-0 margin.

If the capacity crowd of 7,100 expected to see blood, they were disappointed.

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin, ed at the officiating in Sunday's irked at the officiating in Sunday's game, called a news conference Monday and accused officials of protesting West and Elgin Baylor.

QUOTES

"If we get called for little bitty fouls, then West and Baylor won't be around at the end," Guerin had said. "A lot of blood will be split on the floor tomorrow night."

Walter Kennedy, the league commissioner, slapped a $1,000 fine on Guerin for remarks "detrimental to basketball."

However, the game wasn't any rougher than the average NBA game, but an aroused crowd peppered paper cups and occasionally ice onto the floor when they disagreed with an official's calls.

"The only thing," West said, "the fans don't realize a player could get hurt on that ice. These fans are just wrapped up in the Atlanta team and want to see them win."

24 REBOUNDS

Wilt Chamberlain, continuing to play back into peak condition, pulled down 24 rebounds and matched teammate Dick Garret's game high 24 points.

"We can't beat them without shooting well," Guerin said. The Hawks hit only 39 of 100 field goal attempts while the Lakers were hitting 45.8 per cent.

"Our backs are against the wall, but it has been done before and we'll be fighting," Guerin said. "But it's a long haul."

Home Is Place To Be

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home is still the best place to be for Detroit's Al Kaline and Boston's Reggie Smith, but the other man's grass has been greener this spring for the California Angels.

Kaline marked his 18th home opener in Detroit Monday with a two-run double that helped the Tigers maul Cleveland 12-4 and Smith crashed a homer, triple and double as the Red Sox whipped the New York Yankees 8-3 in their first start at Boston.

LOSE AT HOME

But the Angels, who had reeled off five consecutive road victories to set the early pace in the American League, bowed to the Chicago White Sox 3-1 in their initial home game as Joe Horlen tossed his 100th career victory.

In the only other AL game, Oakland bombed Milwaukee 9-1 behind left-handers Al Downing and Paul Lindblad. Kansas City and Minnesota were snowed out at Minneapolis-St. Paul and Washington's game at Baltimore also was postponed because of wet grounds.

N.L. SCORES

San Francisco outslugged Atlanta 15-11, Cincinnati trimmed San Diego 6-1, Pittsburgh topped the New York Mets 6-4 in 10 innings, St. Louis shaded Montreal 6-5 in 10, the Chicago Cubs nipped Philadelphia 5-4 and Los Angeles edged Houston 3-2 in National League play.

"You always enjoy playing in front of a home crowd on Opening Day," said Kaline, whose double keyed a four-run third inning salvo at Detroit, where the Tigers pounded out 15 hits before an appreciative throng of 46,891. "I think there's a little extra incentive when you know everyone is behind you."

ADRENALINE

"When it's Opening Day the adrenaline always flows a little more," added Manager Mayo Smith.

Norm Cash and Jim Northrup had three hits apiece for the Tigers, including a two-run homer by Cash, and left-hander Mickey Lolich weathered 12 Cleveland hits on the way to his second victory in three decisions.

At Boston, 34,010 jammed Fenway Park to see the Red Sox wreck the Yanks with a 12-hit barrage. Smith, George Scott and Tony Conigliaro pounded bases-empty homers over the short left field wall. Smith doubled home two more runs and tripled and scored another while boosting his early batting average to .345.

Horlen, a nine-year AL veteran, reached the century mark in victories with late inning relief help from Wilbur Wood before 18,229 at Anaheim.

The White Sox, who had won just one of six games at home, turned an error by second baseman Sandy Alomar into three first inning runs and made them stand up.

Solano J.C. Stops Ken's Bat Streak

College of Marin's Ken Lazzarini had his hitting streak stopped at 17 games yesterday as the Tar baseballers bowed ingloriously to Solano Junior College of Vallejo, 7-2, at Kentfield.

Lazzarini was hitless in four tries. Marin first baseman Rafael Gallardo highlighted a punchless attack with a pair of hits, and Steve Trono had a double.

The Tars, who had won two games in a row after losing their first nine, commited five errors to finance their own defeat.

Alcindor Wears Rookie Crown With Modesty

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lew Alcindor, wearing the National Basketball Association's rookie of the year crown with modesty, refused Tuesday to predict the outcome of the Eastern Division playoffs.

The Alcindor-led Milwaukee Bucks move back into the Milwaukee Arena for the first time in more than a month to take on the New York Knicks Friday night in the third of their best-of-7 series.

New York won the first two games, in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The 7-foot-2 center was unanimously named the NBA's top rookie by writers and broadcasters throughout the league.

All the three-time UCLA All-American did was finish second to Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers in scoring with 28.8 points per game; wind up third behind Elvin Hayes of San Diego and Wes Unseld of Baltimore in rebounds; lead all NBA centers in assists with 337, and lift the Bucks from a last-place finish last year to second place in the Eastern Division this season.

Another Upset For Redwood

The Redwood High School Giants, led by the freestyle victories of Paul Cane and Brian Hennessey, downed Novato High yesterday 49-46 for their second upset in a row.

First place Tamalpais High swamped San Marin, 61-24, while Terra Linda, now alone in second, handed Drake a 61-32 defeat.

In the day's other meet, San Rafael beat Marin Catholic, 50-35.

DOUBLES

The Giants, who defeated Terra Linda last week, needed double wins from Cane in the 200 and 400 free, and Hennessey in the 50 and 100 free to lock up their victory and move into a third place tie with the Hornets. Both clubs are now 7-3.

Tamalpais got double wins from Lowry McFerrin and Tom Smiley in winning their ninth meet against a single loss.

EASY TIME

Terra Linda had such an easy time with Drake that freshman sensation Rick Demont didn't even swim his specialties, the 200 and 400-yard freestyle events. He went instead in the 100 back, finishing second to Drake's Scott Bradley.

Clint McDuffie and Steve McGee were double winners in Marin Catholic's losing effort against San Rafael. Gary Schweitzer won two events for the Bulldogs.

Salmon Party Boat Fleet Hits Jackpot

By AL GIDDINGS

The salmon party boat fleet out of Sausalito had it pretty good over the past weekend, even though it was fairly windy and rough. On Saturday, eight boats working out of Caruso's had 233 salmon. Generally, all hands had limits.

The fish seem to be getting a little bit larger and heavier. Most boats reported their top fish with weights of 15 or 16 pounds. Of course, a lot of fish are still in the five to eight pound class, but a couple of these topped with a 16 pounder would be considered a good day's catch.

WHILE WORKING the Sausalito area in my capacity as warden for the Department of Fish and Game, I went over to the Golden Gate Bridge area at Fort Baker. There were about 150 fishermen trying for anything they could catch off the army pier there. I thought I would work it undercover (out of uniform) just to see what was really cooking without getting bogged down with a million questions.

I just leisurely walked around the pier more or less eyeballing the catches. Then I noticed this one old fellow going around really checking the catches! If someone had an undersized crab, they got a lecture from him. If they didn't put the crab back, he did it for them.

No arguments; they took his word as law. He explained the differences between rock and market crabs, the female and male crabs, the fact that using two rods is illegal, and that the worms in the meat of the smelt would not harm humans.

At times he would waive his arms and even yell a little. Sometimes I would have to ask myself if I ever appeared that way. It was funny.

Most of the anglers had a few perch, and lots of jack smelt. Spinning rods and bobbers with two or three small hooks using prawns for bait seemed to be the best setup. The kids there were having a ball, and the area is somewhat protected from the wind.

WITH THE old man still in charge, (though he probably ruined my day's quota), I left and checked for stripers from Richardson Bay around to Buck's Landing in San Pablo Bay. There were no boats at Paradise Cay and only a few below the Richardson Bridge.

There has been some trolling activity from about two hours before high tide to about two hours after between San Quentin and Paradise Cay. Trollers using pet spoons with a pork rind trailer and no sinker have been taking limits unless the area is too windy.

Off China Camp and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia a few fish are still being taken, but things are generally slow with most of the bass up in the delta for spawning purposes.

A few good sturgeon have been taken by patient anglers fishing the deeper waters outside and below the pumphouse. If you're out there in a small boat and the wind comes up, get in, but take it easy. You might get wet, but you won't dump over. I haven't taken a sturgeon in a month. Things are tough there.

FOR THE fellows with small boats who usually get commercial licenses each year, the price has gone up. The legislature this year raised the fee per fisherman to $25 for the season (April 1 to March 31). The legislature also raised the boat registration fee for commercial boats to $50. The license before was $10 and the registration $15.

The commercial salmon season opens April 15 for this area. The minimum size limit for commercial salmon remains at 26 inches.

Marin County municipal lakes are scheduled to open May 2 with the regular trout season. The early season limit is still five trout per person. On May 2 the limit will change to 10 per person.

Plans are being made to stock Rodeo Lagoon with trout this week.

I HEARD a rumor about some good fishing in the private lagoon at Bel Marin Keys. But don't get excited if you have an "in" there. I checked 17 anglers who had all fished five or six hours there Saturday. The catch: One six pound bass. That was it! And if you do fish there keep the place clean.

DID YOU watch channel 5 last Friday night? The special entitled "Man's Deepest Dive" was filmed and directed by my skindiving son, Al Jr. A dive of 240 feet was made by a navy freediver named Croft for a world record.

A SPEEDER—Eric Bortfeld pushes his drag racer to a speed of nearly 124 miles per hour in a quarter-mile.

Marin Drag Racer Urges Major Changes In Sport

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Eric Bortfeld of San Rafael is a young man of 23 who would like to see some major changes made in the sport of drag racing.

"There should be two divisions, one for the pros and one for the amateurs," he declared shortly after winning top money at Fremont Drag Strip's summer championships.

Bortfeld is very proud of his black 1955 Chevrolet sedan racer. Running in B modified production class, he clocked 11.37 seconds in a quarter mile and reached top speed of 123.90 miles per hour.

"I'll win a lot unless I go up against the pros in the factory backed cars," he said.

Bortfeld was critical of Sears Point International Raceway in Sonoma, saying "they should open it up for us, have weekly drag races there, instead of just big ones to attract the pros."

Continued Bortfeld, "The little guy just gets pushed around in those national meets, and it's almost impossible to compete against those factory teams."

Bortfeld got interested in drag racing while a student at San Rafael High School. "We used to drag on the streets," he said, "and one time I saw this guy, just a bystander, get hit by a car during a drag. Right then I decided that if I was going to drag it would be on a track."

He does most of his racing at either the weekly sessions at Fremont Drag Strip or at the Vaca Valley Drag Strip in Vacaville.

"Drag racing is quite a sport," said Bortfeld, a transmission specialist at Carlo's Transmission Service in San Rafael. "I think it's the safest type of auto racing. You have to pass some rigid safety and technical inspections before you can even get on the track."

After high school, Bortfeld went to College of Marin and planned to major in business. But he changed his mind and went into auto mechanic work "because there is more money in it and I guess it just comes naturally with me."

Bortfeld's car, powered by a 1969 Corvette 427 cubic inch engine, is sponsored by H.A.T. Racing Enterprises and Barsotti's Body and Fender Service, both of San Rafael.

"The car has won prizes in auto shows," said Bortfeld, "and there isn't a scratch on it. If I put mufflers on it, it would be ready for street driving, but I keep it in a garage and just use it for either drag racing or show."

He has had the car since high school and estimates the total cost today at $3,000 over the five-year span.

Bortfeld won his class at the Sears Point drags last month, but says that was only because a factory team car blew an engine and had to withdraw. "That factory car would turn 10:50, and I can't compete against that. I'm hoping to break 11 seconds with my car."

Bortfeld, a bachelor, says he feels drag racing is the best way to get the kids off the dangerous game of street drags. He knows. He's been there before.

Boston Bruins Get Back To Their Winning Ways

BOSTON (AP) — For two periods the Boston Bruins played as though they were still reeling from their weekend beatings in New York, but they came to life just in time to pull out a 3-2 victory and move ahead once again in their National Hockey League quarter-final playoff series.

"I think it was the realization that this was probably the most critical period of the season for them," Coach Harry Sinden said Tuesday night in explanation of the turnabout, which left the Bruins leading 3-2 in games and in position to wrap up the best-of-seven series in New York Thursday night.

"We smartened up," forward Wayne Cashman said, and several teammates echoed the sentiments.

"Between the periods we said to ourselves 'if we blow it here we're in deep trouble,'" Derek Sanderson said. "They'd be flying in New York...if they knew they could end it there. Now they know that even if they win they've got to come back here. A team goes into a game with a different attitude when they know that if they lose they're out."

In the other hockey playoff, St. Louis whipped Minnesota 6-3, also taking a 3-2 advantage.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 15, the 105th day of 1970 with 260 to follow.

The moon is between first quarter and full.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, eVnus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1861 President Lincoln died from an assassin's bullet and Andrew Johnson was sworn in as president three hours later.

In 1912 the luxury liner Titanic sank off Newfoundland. Of 2,223 persons aboard, 1,517 died.

In 1959 Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived in the United States for a goodwill visit.

A thought for the day: American poet Robert Frost said, "I never dared be radical when young, for fear it would make me conservative when old."

Seminary Building, Hub Signs Approved

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee has approved plans by the San Francisco Theological Seminary for a new communications building at 2 Kensington Road.

Also approved Friday were plans by Abbey Carpets, 820 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, to install new backing and lettering on its signs, secretary Thelma Foster has reported.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It's Always Easy To Tell Other Player Exact Chart

It's very easy to tell the other fellow how to play bridge. Knowing how to play our own hands is far more difficult. That's why we must have deep sympathy and a crocodile tear or two for South's failure to make his contract with today's hand.

TAKES TRUMPS

East put up the king of spades at the first trick, and South won with the ace and drew four rounds of trump. Then he led the ten of diamonds for a finesse.

On a good day, the finesse would win, and South would win 12 easy tricks. Then he would scold his partner for not getting to a slam. But this was a bad day. East won with the king of diamonds, cashed the ace of clubs and led the jack of spades.

West overtook with the queen of spades and cashed the ten of spades to defeat the contract. It's now time to shed those tears.

SIMPLE PLAY

South could have made his contract by a simple play. He should refuse to take the first trick with the ace of spades. South takes the second spade, draws the fourth round of trumps, and tries the diamond finesse.

East wins with the king of diamonds, but cannot lead a spade for the very good reason that he has no spades in his hand. This was what South should have in mind at the first trick.

CAN GET LEAD

No matter what East does return, South can regain the lead and run the diamonds to get rid of his last losing spade.

Perhaps we shouldn't scold South for his play at the first trick. He doesn't have to refuse the first spade if the diamond finesse is going to work. In fact, it will cost South an Overtrick to hold up the ace of spades in that case. South explained this very patiently to his partner, but North was very rude about it.

What the world needs now is sympathetic bridge partners.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Despite your trump length and the side singleton, the hand simply isn't strong enough for a jump to four spades. However, some experts would risk the jump to four spades, especially if not vulnerable against vulnerable opponents.

Swift Contract

CHICAGO (UPI)—Swift & Co. has negotiated a new 41-month labor contract with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America covering 7,500 workers.

Stock Fall In Day Of Light Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market shaved its lead late this afternoon, with winning issues on the New York Stock Exchange leading losers by a narrow margin.

At 2 p.m., an hour before the close of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead 1.58 at 782.14. The average had been ahead as much as 4.35 arond midsession.

The market had been ahead for the entire session.

Analysts said the early advance was a carryover from yesterday's late firming trend. But they noted that it was strictly technical and had little support because traders were still concerned about first and second quarter corporate earnings, and the general slowdown in the economy.

"The market is oversold, but there's more negative news than positive," one analyst commented.

Glamor issues generally advaced, although they were be low their highs for the session in some instances. Prices of glamors included Control Data, up ⅜ at 48¾; IBM up ⅝ at 325⅝; Polaroid, up ⅜ at 95⅛; and Zerox, up ⅝ at 84⅞.

Ling-Temco-Vought was ahead ¾ at 184. The company said all of its major subsidiaries except Jones & Laughlin were operating at profit.

Monroe Auto Equipment was off 4¾ at 354 after a delayed opening. It last traded Monday. The company said Monday that per share earnings for the March quarter had declined to 43 cents a share from 46 cents a year earlier.

A DRILLING WATCHDOG

This huge steel chamber, which may cut down on the cost and pollution risk involved in wresting oil from under the sea, is scheduled for dryland testing later this month at Long Beach. The chamber is 55-feet high, 16 and one-half feet in diameter and weights 235 tons. It is designed to automatically monitor and control up to 18 oil wells down to 6,000 feet below the surface. INVESTING

Laser Has A Bright Outlook

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I wish to invest a small amount in a laser stock. Would you please give me information about some companies in this field? Have heard favorable things about Spacerays.—S.K.

A. There is little doubt that the laser industry has tremendous future growth potential. According to trade sources, 1970 volume may rise 18 per cent and move ahead at a 20 per cent annual rate through 1972. Thus over 800 companies — in an attempt to cash in on this growth — are now in some way involved with lasers.

Perkin-Elmer has captured 8-10 per cent of the total laser market. Sales of lasers and related equipment represent a small but growing part of PKN's $200-million yearly volume. Company has expanded its markets by shifting emphasis from laser production to laser-based equipment, such as its "Lasergage." In the six months ended January, 1970, per-share net rose to 53 cents from 47 cents. Shares offer participation in the emerging laser business without the high risk factor.

Spacerays, a younger company, has been aggressively developing and implementing industrial applications for the laser. It has established a job shop, using the equipment at its disposal, which has brought in contracts and equipment sales. Backlog is at an all-time high and sales in 1970 should double the $1 million estimated for 1969. Speculative shares have long-term appreciation potential.

Q. Can you give me any information on Leasco Data Processing? I have shares at $55 and $30 and it is now below 20. Has something gone wrong?—R.A.

A. Accounting procedures used by computer leasing and other firms have been sharply criticized by some analysts. The argument boils down to what should or should not be included as earnings. Earnings have included capital gains plus income from an insurance subsidiary as well as profit from its computer leasing and consulting operations.

Although these have been acceptable accounting practices, new guidelines being adopted would substantially reduce reported results for firms like Leasco. Because of the uncertainty, traders have dumped shares. I would not be so hasty, however, in writing off LDP at these depressed prices.

'Military Manufacturers' Firm Plans Move Into Northgate Park

Moving to Northgate Industrial Park from San Francisco about May 1 is the western regional office of V. H. Monette and Co., described as "a manufacturers representative for the military."

The company, headquartered in Smithfield, Va., has leased space at 77 Mark Drive through William W. Hoey and Co. Its operations are said to cover every U. S. military base throughout the world, supplying products (mostly food) used in commissaries.

The western regional office is managed by Mrs. Jacqueline Suttle of Greenbrae. Other members of the office staff also are either Marin residents or will soon be moving to the county. This office covers the area from Alaska to San Diego, also Hawaii, the Philippines and the Far East.

ANOTHER NEW TENANT lined up for Northgate Industrial Park by Hoey is Security Control Co., possibly also moving by the first of next month to 28 Mark Drive from Sanchez Street, San Francisco.

Security Control is just getting into extensive production in the manufacture of electronic burglar alarms. Devices are sold through distributors throughout the United States exclusively to alarm installers. Used in both homes and industry they give both audio and printed message alarms to police departments upon illegal entry.

Principals in the firm are Robert Langstroth of San Francisco and Paul Allen of Napa.

JOHN H. TINDELL of Loma Verde has been named sales manager of Tankersley Realty in Novato. He has been selling Marin real estate about five years, half that time with Tankersley. Previously he was 25 years with Safeway Stores as store manager and district manager and for 12 years had his own retail business in San Francisco.

The Tankersley office has recently been remodeled and enlarged, adding about one-third more space - some of this devoted to a large conference room.

ROBERT L. WEBER of Novato, vice president of McCann-Erickson, Inc., advertising agency, has been transferred from the San Francisco office to the Portland office. His family will remain in Novato until after the close of school in June.

Weber DeUrioste

GEORGE DE URIOSTE of Mill Valley has been appointed manager of the property management department of Fox and Carskadon. He joined the Menlo Park-based real estate firm from Fireman's Fund American Insurance Co., where he was real estate manager.

TWO REPRESENTATIVES of Bache and Co., San Francisco, John Rende of Greenbrae and Philip Speyer of Tiburon, will hold a meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at the Marin County Civic Center to explain details of the new American Telephone and Telegraph Co. offering of an aggregate of over $1.5 billion in 30-year debentures for subscription along with warrants to purchase 31,386,540 common shares of AT&T. It is said to be the largest such offering in history.

A RECREATION VEHICLE SHOW will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Northgate, in the small parking area at the corner of Northgate Drive and Las Gallinas Avenue

This will be put on by the Marin County Recreational Dealers Association—all dealers in the county who specialize in campers, trailers and other similar vehicles. Many makes will be represented.

FRED S. ENEMARK, executive vice president of Marin County Savings and Loan Association (soon to be named Bell Savings and Loan), has been appointed to the 1970 management committee of the United States Savings and Loan League.

SHEEP DOG WANTS TO BE COUNTED

Census taker Bruce Pearson humors Alfie, a 75-pound English sheep dog, by pretending to fill out a census form for him. The two-year-old canine trundled into the San Rafael census bureau, 580 Irwin Street, about 8 a.m. this morning seeming to want to be counted. No one told Alfie that census forms were mailed out weeks ago and that his three-mile walk from the home of Robert Rosenblatt, 27 Graceland Drive, was all for naught. A phone call to his owner ended Alfie's visit.

Dixie Voters Continue School Funds Support

Dixie School District, which has never lost a bond or tax election, kept its record clean yesterday.

A 50-cent increase in the general purpose operating tax passed 2,233 to 1,468, or 60.34 per cent "yes."

Conversion of $1,495,000 in previously authorized bonds to a new issue with a maximum of 7 per cent interest passed 2,563 to 1,143, or 69.19 per cent "yes."

The total vote of 3,714 was a 45.9 per cent turnout of the 8,085 registered in the district — exceptionally high for a special election.

The tax increase, which will boost the general purpose maximum to $3.85 per $100 assessed valuation, and probably will mean a total rate of nearly $5 for the district, carried in all but two of the 10 precincts. It got only 49.7 per cent approval at Bernard Hoffman School and 46.3 per cent at Don Timoteo School.

The bond issue fell below the necessary two-thirds at Hoffman, Timoteo, Mary Silveira, and Miller Creek schools.

The district board recessed its regular meeting while totals were posted on the blackboard as they were received from the polling places.

Fate of the bond issue was in doubt until the final return, from Santa Margarita School, where it received 73.9 per cent approval.

The board then took up the matter of hiring an architect to design additions to Oak View and Miller Creek schools which will be financed from the new bonds. The previous bonds were unsalable because of their 5 per cent interest limit.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell noted that the firm of Rockwell and Banwell, which has designed all Dixie district buildings for some years, has dissolved. Chairman Earl Koehler commented this seemed an appropriate time to solicit proposals from a wide field of architects. This was agreed.

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff announced he will present April 28 the preliminary budget prepared in expectation of the tax increase passing. (Another had been readied in case the increase failed.)

Adoption of the preliminary budget is set for May 12, with the "publication budget" to be adopted May 26 and final budget hearing set June 23.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

NDEA APPLICATION — Approved submittal of an application for $56,000 for audio-visual equipment under the National Defense Education Act.

GIFTS ACCEPTED — Accepted a new English Bible donated by the Don Timoteo School faculty; a two-volume set on Galapagos by the Don Timoteo Parent-Teacher Association, and carpet in the Don Timoteo School library and principal's office, also by the P-TA.

TEACHERS LEAVING — Granted Mrs. Claire Gould, a Santa Margarita teacher, maternity leave for next school year, and accepted the resignation of Mary Campion, a teacher on leave this year. Superintendent Campbell announced that this resignation will make it unnecessary to release any teachers whose names were drawn in a recent lottery. Thirteen more would have to be released had the tax issue not passed.

AUDIT — Agreed to hire Soderblom and Co. to audit the district books for the current fiscal year.

MILLER CREEK FIRE — Heard from Campbell that an arson charge arising from a fire at Miller Creek School had not resulted in conviction, and advised him to consult the district's insurors regarding action to recover damages.

Affairs Panel Sets Election

Marin Council for Civic Affairs will elect officers at its annual dinner meeting next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Tiburon Tommie's in Tiburon.

Chairman, vice chairman and a board of directors will be elected at the meeting. A slate of candidates has been prepared by a nominating committee headed by Bunny Lucheta of Greenbrae. Nominations also will be accepted from the floor.

Proposed as chairman, to succeed Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon, is George Ellman of Tiburon, a research biologist. Mrs. Dewey J. Forry of Marinwood is proposed as new vice chairman to succeed Ellman.

Ellman and Beverly Savitt of Belvedere are in charge of the dinner meeting. A light show prepared by Edward Farrell of Mill Valley will be a feature of the program.

Landscaping Bids Sought

Bids for landscaping an unsightly plot of land outside the Federal Building in San Rafael are now being sought by the General Services Administration.

The building was remodeled last winter and spring at a cost of $270,000, but no money was left to landscape the building.

Bids will be opened April 28, a year after the weed garden at Third and D streets began.

Children Sign For Summer

A total of 1,747 children has signed up for summer school in the Dixie School District, Asst. Supt. Raymond A. Riley reported to district trustees last night.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell reported this represents 41 per cent of the eligible kindergarten through seventh grade pupils.

Riley pointed out that the registration in fourth through seventh grades is more than double last summer. He credited this to adoption of an elective subject program for these grades.

The board approved appointment of Curtis Kalstand at Vallecito School and Otto Geiger at Miller Creek School as summer school principals for grades four through seven, at $1,400 each. It also authorized appointment as teachers in charge for summer sessions in the primary grades, at $800 each, of: Jean Blackburn at Dixie School; Clark Matthiessen at Lucas Valley; Eric Goodrich at Mary Silveira; A. William Malet at Oak View; Michael Glose at Don Timoteo; Jack Neiger at Bernard Hoffman; Jack Klippensteen at Santa Margarita, and Nina Bloom at Nova Albion.

Riley reported 66 teachers will be needed to staff the summer session.

Conditional Nod To Plans For A Market

The Cotati Planning Commission conditionally approved the design last night of a proposed Pam's supermarket at 7646 Redwood Highway and of a duplex at 8107 El Rancho Drive.

The store is proposed by the Todd Construction Co. Earl Anderson applied for design approval for the duplex.

In other business, the commission recommended that the city council rezone three lots from single family to duplex use on West Cotati Avenue across from St. Joseph's Catholic Church and that it approve a cost study of installing a sidewalk on the north side of West Sierra Avenue, east of Highway 101.

The commission also affirmed its recommended denial by the county of a use permit that would enable William Espenshade Jr. to operate a printing shop outside the city limits at 8840 Poplar Avenue.

Three Apartment Developments Given Approval

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved architectural plans for three apartment developments in Bon Air, clerk Barbara Bruton reported.

Plans were approved for a 16-unit project by Sue Mills, Inc., on Via Casitas, a 10-unit project by J. J. Menke on South Eliseo Drive, and an 8-unit project by Belardo Co. at 599 South Eliseo Drive.

The commission also approved a lot split allowing Charles McLeran to divide a 30,000-square foot parcel at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane and combine 9,015 square feet of it with a commercially zoned parcel on Magnolia Avenue.

After hearing a preliminary proposal by Patrick A. O'Donnell for development on four acres at Olive and Maple avenues, the commission recommended that the city council abandon Olive Avenue between Maple and View Street, opening up the acreage for either cluster of conventional development. O'Donnell proposes to build four houses on the land.

Behr Challenges On Party Loyalty

Peter H. Behr, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, yesterday challenged his three GOP opponents to a test of "Republican Party loyalty."

In letters to Don Pinkerton, Raymond H. Shone and Hugh O. Pessner, Behr urged them to agree to support the winner of the June primary and to observe the party's "11th commandment," which bars Republicans from speaking ill of one another.

"I don't have to tell you of the need for party unity," Behr wrote. "Only we can guarantee that the party will not suffer another damaging primary."

How Marin, Southern Sonoma Voted In 12 City Elections

BELVEDERE

Willard G. Pittman, a food broker, and Allen Steinau, an architect, were elected to the Belvedere City Council last night.

They will succeed Sally Matthews and John R. Moore, who didn't seek reelection.

It became a three-way race for the two seats when one of the candidates, Vernon E. Perry, withdrew although his name oppeared on the ballot.

Pittman, a board member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, was the top vote getter with 508 votes, while Steinau, a former chairman of the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission, garned 470.

Beatrice S. Mann, a member of the parks and recreation commission, was runnerup with 387. Perry, although out of the race, had 63 votes.

There was a 54 per cent voter turnout with 793 of the city's 1,483 voters casting ballots.

CORTE MADERA

By the slim margin of one obscure ballot, Corte Madera voters returned to office all three incumbents running for reelection to the three open town council seats.

Incumbent Mayor Edward W. Colthurst polled 1,005 votes to secure a fourth term and lead the list followed closely by Harold B. Wagstaff in his first bid for reelection with 976.

A photo finish race developed early in the evening between incumbent Holmes S. Norville and challenger Herber C. Leney, a retired attorney, for the third council seat.

The lead changed hands four times between them as each of the five precincts reported their totals. The final tally saw Norville winning by one vote with 861, and Leney indicating he would probably finance a recount.

The youngest candidate, David I. Freed, a 27-year-old attorney showed surprising strength in eastern Corte Madera, beatinrg both Leney and Norville at the two eastern precincts. Freed totaled 833 votes.

Housewife Patricia Friend trailed the slate with 293 votes.

The turnout in Corte Madera was 43 per cent with 1,339 ballots cast out of 4,119 registered voters.

COTATI

Voters rejected last night the bid of T. Jeffrey Hughes, a 24-year-old graduate student challenging two experienced office holders for a seat on the city council ,but authorized a $100,000 sewer bond issue by the whopping margin of 318 to 27.

Hughes, a political science major at Sonoma State College in adjacent Rohnert Park, ran third in a three-man race for two council seats. Elected were incumbent Mayor Frank J. Dolsinek, with 215 votes, and former Councilman Herbert Winters, 205. Hughes got 176.

Besides Dolsinek's, the seat of John Rasmussen, who did not seek reelection, was up.

Dolsinek, appointed to the council in 1966, won his first full term of four years. He is a nursery owner.

Winters, owner of a mattress company, served one term on the council but was defeated in a reelection bid two years ago.

The bond issue is to finance new sewer lines and a connection with the Rohnert Park sewage treatment plant. Engineers had recommended the hookup to Rohnert Park's facility instead of improving Cotati's treatment plant, which is under a cease and desist order by North Coast Regional Water Quality Control officials.

Federal funds will supplement the bond project .

Voter turnout was 355 of 654 registered, or 54 per cent.

FAIRFAX

Fairfax voters yesterday gave incumbent Frank J. Egger the highest vote ever polled by a candidate in the city, while ousting two other incumbents seeking reelection.

Elected along with Egger were San Francisco police sergeant Lee Nelder and Albert E. Gately, an attorney and chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission.

Egger polled 1,043 votes, Nelder 992 and Gately 981. The three w... incumbents Robert R. Souza with 978 votes and Adelaid P. Wilson with 772. James K. Henington had 311 and Winston R. Curtis 193.

The previous high vote in the city was in 1964 when Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., now a county supervisor, polled 993 votes.

A total of 1,841 votes was cast, or 56 per cent of the city's 3,302 registered voters.

LARKSPUR

Two members of the Larkspur City Council (one of them the mayor) beat off a challenge by a San Quentin correctional officer who is chairman of a John Birch Society committee to win reelection.

Elected were Mayor Neil R. Brixon, owner of the Elite Rug Cleaners in Larkspur, and Alfred J. Malvino, who operates Malvino Furniture Co. in San Francisco.

Defeated was Raymond C. Kesner, who is chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee.

Totals were Malvino, 1,056; Brixon, 963; and Kesner, 395.

Twenty-nine per cent, or 1,303 of the 4,420 of the registered voters in Larkspur turned out yesterday.

MILL VALLEY

As many had expected, Mill Valley returned Edward J. Boessenecker to the city council and elected Jean S. Barnard to succeed Mayor Dean N. Meyer, who chose not to run.

Voters turned thumbs down on a $150-a-month salary for councilmen and a measure supporting the 18-year-old vote.

Mrs. Barnard, head of the city's parks and recreation commission before she resigned to run for the council, was top vote getter with 2,333. Boessenecker received 2,107 and Dolph Jaeger 1,030.

Voters said no to the 18-year-old vote by 1,620-to-1,421.

Mrs. Barnard had opposed the salary measure and it was defeated soundly, 1,876 to 1,063. Boessenecker had supported it.

Some 47.7 per cent, or 3,099 of the 6,496 registered voters went to the polls.

NOVATO

Novato voters yesterday ousted Mayor Harley A. McAskill and former mayor Babe Silva and voted in two members of the city planning commission.

Elected to two council seats were F. Wayne Sartain, vice chairman and George C. Quesada, chairman, of the planning commission.

Sartain, a printer, was the top vote getter with 2,637 while Quesada, an architect, had 2,543.

Silva was third with 1,546, while rancher Wilford H. Lieb had 1,537. Betty J. Machadao, 949, McAskill, 758, and Joseph Bonomolo, service station operator, 295.

McAskill, elected to the council in 1966, has served as mayor for two years and recently was elected to the Marin Transit District Board by the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

Silva, was elected to the council when Novato was incorporated in 1960, served as mayor in 1962-64. He was defeated in 1964, but regained his seat in a comeback in 1966.

There was a 56 per cent turnout of the city's 9,860 registered voters, 5,549 of whom went to the polls.

ROHNERT PARK

Incumbents James W. Rogers and Arthur N. Roberts rode a record turnout back into their city council seats last night, repulsing the bid of three challengers.

Rogers, also mayor, got 617 votes and Roberts, 608. Billy C. Ayers and Louis G. Beary tied for third with 492 votes. Paul C. Lynd, 93 votes, finished last.

The spirited race, during which Ayers and Beary assailed the incumbents' records, produced a turnout of 62 per cent — 1,195 voted out of 1,922 registered — highest since the city was incorporated in 1962.

Rogers, a real estate agent, was appointed to the council in 1963 and elected to his first full term three years later.

Roberts, winning his second council term, is a pharmacist.

Ayers, past president of the Rohnert Park Homeowners Association, had raised conflict-of-interest implications in the voting records of Rogers and Roberts, with Beary also criticizing the two for allegedly shielding higher costs in the purchase of property for the new municipal golf course.

Rogers and Roberts had hotly rejected the criticism, with Rogers saying "interested people" in the community were fully aware right along of golf course costs.

ROSS

In an uncontested Ross City Town Council election Mayor Frederick S. Allen and Councilmen Ro... Farrington Jones yesterday regained their seats for another four years.

The vote was 153 for Allen and 139 for Jones. A total of 153 of the town's 1,300 registered voters balloted yesterday, a 12 per cent turnout.

Allen has been a member of the council since 1960 and Jones since 1962.

SAN ANSELMO

San Anselmo residents split their ballots last night to reelect Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and challengers Warren R. Perry and Lewis W. (Skip) Stewart.

Perry and Stewart led the field by whacking margins, rolling up 1,867 and 1,780 votes respectively against Capurro's 1,397.

Incumbent Duane C. Ragan ran a distant sixth among seven candidates with 1,008 votes.

Capurro was the only member of a three candidate "revolt slate" to win, former councilman Arthur W. Smith getting 1,127 votes and Sarah Nome last at 941.

Fourth place went to Martin G. Blinder with 1,190. Early returns had Blinder close behind Capurro but the mayor gained a sizeable bulge with the last returns from two precincts.

The city turned out 50.23 per cent of registered voters in the spirited campaign, with a total of 3,207 voting and 6,384 registered.

In a precinct-by-precinct count, Perry and Stewart were among the top three candidates in all eight precincts, while Capurro was in the top three in four precincts.

One confused voter wrote in the name of Raymond H. Shone. The trouble is that Shone is a Nicasio resident; running for the State Senate, and running in the June 2 election.

SAUSALITO

Incumbent Earl F. Dunphy, seeking his fourth full term, captured one of two council seats up for election in Sausalito last night and led the field in the voting. Stephen A. Fraser, a government professor at Sonoma State College was successful in his council bid.

Robert D. Bauerle, co-owner of a Sausalito gift shop, trailed the successful Fraser by 27 votes. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), owner of the Valhalla Inn, came in fourth in her fifth attempt to gain a council seat. Attorney Michael J. Kutsko was fifth and artist Serge Trubach, also a perennial candidate, came in last in the voting.

Dunphy, a machinist for a San Francisco newspaper printing company, will begin his 15th year as a councilman. He was first elected to the council in 1936.

The totals were: Dunphy, 812; Fraser, 726; Bauerle, 699; Mrs. Owen, 682; Kutsko, 197 and Trubach, 87.

Forty-six per cent, or 1,710 of Sausalito's 3,714 voters turned out.

TIBURON

Tiburon planning commissioner Albert H. Sennett, incumbent Branwell D. Fanning and landscape architect Carlisle Becker were elected to four-year terms on the Tiburon City Council last night.

Sennett led in the balloting with 868 votes, followed by Fanning with 838. Fanning was the only incumbent seeking reelection. Councilmen William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan did not run.

Becker narrowly edged Alvin R. Kuhn. Becker had 664 votes to Kuhn's 662. Kuhn did not indicate last night whether he would seek a recount.

Forty-nine per cent, or 1,335 of the city's 2707 registered voters, cast ballots.

Totals for the other candidates were Donald L. Batten, 319 and R. Gary Gray, 310.

Report In Error In Filling Vacancy

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Harvey R. Crotts Jr., of Bolinas was selected to fill a vacancy on the Bolinas Fire Protection District board.

Actually, Harvey R. Crotts Sr. of Bolinas, a longtime volunteer fireman and mill superintendent for Hutchison Co. in Greenbrae, was nominated for the post. His nomination must be confirmed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

San Rafael Man Collapses, Dies

Walter C. Volz, 67, of 908 Fifth Street, San Rafael died enroute to a local hospital after collapsing at a San Anselmo service station, the coroner's office said today.

According to Keith Craig, deputy coroner, Volz had a history of heart trouble and apparently died of natural causes.

The body was moved to Harry Williams Mortuary for autopsy.

Incumbents Lose Out In Novato

Novato voters had the last word yesterday in the long fight between the planning commission and the city council.

Planning Commissioners F. Wayne Sartain and George C. Quesada thrashed two incumbent councilmen and three other candidates by overwhelming margins.

Sartain, vice chairman of the commission, led with 2,637 votes and Quesada, the chairman, had 2,543, compared to Councilman Babe Silva's 1,546 and Mayor Harley A. McAskill's 758.

The vote apparently settles the commission-council battle, in which the council has for two years consistently overridden planning commission recommendations, to favor commercial development.

The commission sought a moratorium on all new business during the 701 downtown study, but the council rejected it. An ordinance was passed requiring a use permit for new business, however.

Many residents were angered by the Sutter Hills development at South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, protesting the council's granting of use permits for a drive-in restaurant, Lucky grocery and Thrifty drugstore there.

Other projects in the past year which the council overrode the commission to approve included a readerboard sign for Pacheco Plaza, a proposed car wash on Seventh Street, increased height for a Toyota sign at 7505 Redwood Highway, a garage on First Street for John Angeloni, the teen center for the Economic Opportunity Council at 875 Grant Avenue, and a veterinary clinic on Highway 101.

Inmate Near Parole Found After Escape

A night-long search for an escaped San Quentin prisoner ended this morning at about 7 o'clock when a woman phoned the sheriff's office complaining of a man sleeping in her car.

According to James W. L. Park, associate warden, Gerald D. Davis, 29, was captured as he lurked near the back door of a San Quentin Village home. A few minutes earlier the homeowner had noticed him sleeping in the family car.

Park said Davis, who was to be paroled next December, had escaped at 12:20 a.m. today by wading around a prison fence at low tide.

Davis had been working at the prison's employees snack bar outside the maximum security wall when he made his escape.

Park said only those men with close parole dates are allowed outside the walls to work.

Davis has been at San Quentin since 1961, when he was moved from a southern California prison for repeated escapes.

Mill Valley Apartments Plan Vetoed

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has rejected a plan submitted by the Bothin Real Estate Co. for an apartment project at the corner of Miller Avenue and Camino Alto, according to Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator.

The commission decided at Monday night's meeting that the area's zoning, commercial-recreational, did not permit the apartments to be built. MGill said that the zoning required water-oriented businesses and fewer dwelling units.

The commission also decided to make a budget request for $8,000 to retain a planning consultant to develop an East Mill Valley plan for land and water use, McGill said.

Postponed to the regular meeting April 27 at 8 p.m. in city hall were: Formulation of the commission's recommendation to the city council on the small craft harbor; consideration of a master plan for a residential development submitted by William Cullen; a request by Cal-Fong Investment Co. to allow a dwelling density of 4.36 dwelling units per acre when zoning calls for a density of 3; and a request for a use permit to allow construction of a Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant at East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Chocolate Does Not Necessarily Aggravate The Condition Of Skin

The latest on acne is that chocolate and fatty foods do not bring on or aggravate the skin condition. Dermatologists from the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine became skeptical about the influence of chocolate on acne when they were unable to find any reliable proof in the medical literature that an association existed.

For their study, the researchers used two identical appearing candy bars, remarkably similar in taste. Bar A contained 10 times the amount of chocolate found in an average 10 cent candy bar; the control bar (B) had no chocolate but it contained 28 per cent vegetable fat to mimic the fats found in chocolate liquor and cocoa butter.

SIXTY-FIVE YOUNG volunteers with moderate acne consumed one candy bar (either A or B) a day for four weeks. After a three-week rest period, they ate the alternate bar (one daily) for a month. Weekly examinations were done to determine whether the skin was improved, the same, or worse. In addition, the investigators ran tests on 5 of the volunteers to determine whether the (sebaceous) oil producing glands were more or less active, and whether the composition of the oil had changed.

AT THE END of the experiment with bar A, in 46 of 65, the acne condition remained the same. Ten were better and nine worse. With bar B, 53 remained the same, five were better, and seven worsened. There was no change in the amount of oil produced or in its composition. They concluded that chocolate did not alter the course of acne. And, because the control bars (B) contained one-third fat, neither did a diet rich in vegetable fats.

With further research, old prejudices against chocolate, fried foods, and fats may gradually fade. For the teenager, acne is bad enough without having to give up his favorite foods. On the other hand, some develop pimples whenever they eat certain foods. If you know that chocolate is bad for your skin—leave it alone.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ANTIBIOTIC REACTION

A. R. writes: Could an antibiotic cause hives?

REPLY

Yes. Hives is one type of skin reaction that occurs when a person is allergic to penicillin or one of our other antibiotics. It is well to remember that not every rash that develops when taking penicillin represents an allergy to the antibiotic.

BLOOD CLOTTING

W. N. writes: When a blood clot forms, as in phlebitis, is it due to a blood disease?

REPLY

Not as a rule. In phlebitis, the wall of the vein becomes inflamed and blood cells adhere to its surface. In time a clot develops that obstructs the passageway. Now and then clotting occurs when the flow of blood is sluggish.

NODULE IN THYROID

W. N. writes: My physician told me that I have a nodular growth in the thyroid gland. What is the difference between this and a goiter?

REPLY

Goiter is an over-all enlargement of the thyroid, whereas a nodule is a tumorlike growth that protrudes from the gland.

REFINED SUGAR

F. S. writes: Is it true that the use of white sugar robs the body of calcium and vitamin B?

REPLY

No. The food faddists really give poor old refined sugar a beating.

Span Board Ferryboat Discussion Tomorrow

A $558,673 bid on a ferry boat for the Golden Gate Bridge District will be considered by the district's "committee of the whole" at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the toll plaza office.

Directors balked last week at acting on the bid before knowing where the boat would dock, who would run it, and whether it was the best vessel for the proposed Marin-San Francisco service.

A preliminary report on long-range plans for the ferry service, drawn by the district's consulting naval architect, Philip F. Spaulding, will be presented immediately after the "committee of the whole" meeting to the joint transportation and finance-auditing committee.

The joint committee also will hear a report on a proposal to provide service to Sausalito if the district accepts the bid on the ferryboat.

The legislation-public relations committee will meet at 9 a.m. to consider a request from Okamoto-Liskamm, urban design and planning consultants, to hire a public relations firm to help its work on a long-range transit plan for the district.

A special meeting of the full board will be held at 10 a.m. Friday to consider hiring a new attorney for the district. A closed session is expected to discuss candidates for the job, a post for which some directors are competing.

The rules and policy committee will meet at 11 a.m. Friday to consider a policy on allowing the public to address directors' meetings.

Petaluma Education Board Eyes $7.3 Million Spending

The board did not discuss the budgets in detail, Mrs. Beltzner said, setting further presentations through the first week in August, when it expects to adopt a final spending program. (State law now requires a budget hearing before June 30.)

Petaluma Board Of Education Also:

Candidate Tells Of His Finances

Despite the California Supreme Court's ruling last month that the state law requiring disclosure of financial investments by public officials and candidates is unconstitutional, Harry E. Rice, candidate for Marin Municipal Court judge, yesterday filed a statement of his financial interests with the county clerk's office.

He declared his sole investment in excess of $10,000 held for income or gain is a $19,000 rental property in Pleasant Hill, Contro Costa County.

Rice said he filed the statement because "I believe that the public has a right to be assured that the private financial dealings of candidates for judicial office present no conflict of interest between the public trust and private gain."

U.S.-Russ Chat Is SALT Prelude

VIENNA (UPI) — The Chief U.S. and Soviet arms control negotiators, Gerard C. Smith and Vladimir S. Semenov, met briefly today prior to the opening of talks Thursday on the limitation of nuclear weapons.

Officials of both delegations said the meeting was strictly informal and conference details were not discussed.

The substantive stage of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—begin at noon Thursday with a formal ceremony in the Belvedere Palace. Smith, Semenov and Austrian Foreign Minister Kurt Waldheim will deliver prepared speeches.

School Chief Won't Take Bolinas Job

Johnn A. O'Shea, selected last week as new superintendent of Bolinas-Stinson School District, said today he has decided not to take the post.

"I just feel I would like to stay in this particular area and follow through with the programs we are developing and work with my faculty," said O'Shea, principal of a Yuba City elementary school.

He expressed regret in causing "quite a bit of inconvenience to the Bolinas-Stinson District," but said he had signed no contract with the district.

The 39-year-old O'Shea was the unanimous choice of Bolinas-Stinson trustees, from 64 applicants. Clarence B. Larison resigned as superintendent in December, effective at the end of the school year.

The Bolinas-Stinson board has called a special meeting for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Bolinas School to choose another man for the superintendent's job.

Cash Bag Stolen

A thief yesterday stole a money bag containing $150 from beneath a counter at Stop and Go Market, 2222 Fourth Street, San Rafael police reported today.

State Truckers Get Rates Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California truckers have been granted an interim hike in freight rates to help offset new wage increases.

The state Public Utilities Commission Tuesday approved the hikes, which total $38.6 million and average about 7.5 per cent.

Most of the hikes — $32.5 million — cover general freight. Also affected are fresh fruits and vegetable hauling and hauling within Los Angeles, San Francisco, the East Bay and San Diego.

Not affected are livestock, household goods, new furniture, dump trucks, trailers, cement, grain and oil-bearing seeds.

Hearings will be held later to determine new permanent rate hikes to replace the interim hikes.

According to National Geographic, scientists believe 75 million meteors slam into earth's atmosphere every day. However, all but a relative few —weighing about one ton altogether—burn up before reaching the ground.

Shots Fly In Feud By Neighbors In 70s

A feud between two Larkspur neighbors—both in their 70s—was punctuated by gunfire yesterday, Larkspur police reported.

It started, Chief Howard H. Clerk said, when Walter a Frizzi, 77, of 119 Ward Street, saw his next door neighbor, William Joseph Riley, 76, of 44 Locust Street, pulling on some of Frizzi's shrubbery at 12:45 p.m.

Frizzi yelled at Riley, and Riley invited him to step outside. Instead, Frizzi went into his front yard to mow the lawn, where Riley approached him with a pistol and fired two shots at him, Calrk said.

Riley reportedly then hit Frizzi twice with the gun, turned and went back to his home, where Clark arrested him.

Both men said Riley had fired blanks, and he was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of battery. He was released on his own recognizance to appear Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Police later found two bullet holes in the wall of Frizzi's home, and Clark said further investigation today may lead to a new charge against Riley.

He said the two men have feuded for 15 years or more.

Kentfield Woman Has Both Feet Fractured

A 60-year-old Kentfield woman has been treated at Marin General Hospital for fractures of both feet after being struck by a car while walking along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Kathern Meek, of 14 Stetson Avenue, was hit by a car driven by Barbara J. Pugh, 39, of 7 Oak Hill Drive, San Anselmo, at 1:15 p.m. Monday.

'This Is Your Life' Planned For Revival

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer-master of ceremonies Ralph Edwards says he will revive the "This Is Your Life" show next January. The show left the air in 1961 after nine years on television, which followed two years on radio.

An Edwards spokesman said the show, chronicling the lives of unsuspecting guests and bringing together friends and acquaintances they have not seen for years, would be taped on outdoor locations instead of in a studio as before.

Marathon Wins Nod In Tiburon

The Tiburon City Council has reversed an earlier decision and voted to allow the Golden Gate Marathon to pass through Tiburon May 30, according to Robert Kleinert, assistant city manager.

The council Monday night, reconvening after once adjourning its meeting, voted unanimously to allow the 300 to 500 racers to run along Tiburon Boulevard on their way to the Golden Gate Bridge and San Francisco in the Memorial Day event billed as the West's answer to the Boston Marathon.

The council had indicated on March 23 that it did not want the race to go through its city because of possible traffic and spectator congestion.

Richard W. Perry, race director told the council that the starting time had been moved up from 9:30 to 8:30 a.m. and most of the runners would be through Tiburon within an hour.

Two German cities, Munster and Nordlingen, still retain tower watchmen who blow a horn every hour of the night to indicate they are on guard against dangers.

Oil Tanks Are Going Underground

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (GF) — The first subterranean oil storage tanks in West Germany will be ready for service this coming summer near Wilhelmshaven on the North Sea coast.

Engineers have made use of a natural geological structure, a huge underground salt deposit, or "dome", near the city, and have piped in sea water to dissolve and literally "flush out" nine pear-shaped caverns which can be filled with petroleum for storage.

Work will be finished on a tenth cavern this summer, bringing total storage capacity to 260,000 cu. yds. per cavern, equal to the cargo of ten ocean-going super tankers.

The caverns will be used for storage over longer periods of time, since removal of the oil more frequently by pumping in salt water would unnecessarily enlarge the tanks.

The pipeline presently used to pump in sea water will later serve as an oil transport artery.

The "North-West Cavern Co.," which is constructing the subterranean tanks expects to invest some 13.7 million dollars into the project, half of which is being spent on the caverns themselves, and the rest on surface facilities.

New Optical Instrument For Space

WETZLAR, Germany (GF) — West German firms are supplying American and European space programs with optical instruments.

Cameras and objectives from the Zeiss Co. in Oberkochen or precision instruments from the Leitz Works in Wetzlar are in common use in satellites and research rockets, while smaller German firms have also contributed to America's Apollo program and other international space experiments.

Experts in Wetzlar have recently developed a new optical electronic instrument designed for automatic microscopic and macroscopic photographic analysis.

QUICK WORK

Called the "integramat", the precision tool requires only fractions of a second to define an object under the microscope, reproduce the material in its component parts on an attached picture screen, and provide computerized data on the contents.

The "integramat" can be used in variety of ways. Currently it is being employed to analyze moon soil. But it can also be mounted in an aircraft for cross-country surveying or for registration of urban structures.

Leitz scientists have also produced optical sensors used primarily for adjustment and guidance of space satellites. Such sensors are to be employed to keep the German-French communications satellite "symphony" in orbit.

OLYMPIC ROLE

Leitz sensors will also play a role in satellite television broadcasts of the 1972 Olympic Games from Munich.

A test model of the Olympic satellite will be orbited next year to an altitude of 21,600 miles above the earth, and will, when replaced with a permanent version, broadcast news and pictures from the Olympic games to all of Europe, a large part of Africa, Central America and the Antilles.

Train Hobbyists Keep Memory Of Crack Trains

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Those great-name trains of America, such as the 20th Century Limited, Golden State and Chief have not passed completely into oblivion.

Scale models of these famous flyers are making more and more runs every year—across the basements and attics of America.

A model railroading magazine estimates that 150,000 Americans engage in the hobby, spend more than $41 million annually and keep a bit of Americana alive at the same time.

The average hobbyist today is 33.2 years old, indicating the age level has remained constant for the past 20 years.

Underwater 'Lawns' Could Hold Major Pollution Key

I-J Special Report

DAVIS—Underwater "lawns" may help solve one form of water pollution.

Scientists on the University of California campus at Davis are planting submerged turf to control aquatic weeds in canals and reservoirs without chemical herbicides. Actually, it isn't grass—it's a small aquatic plant called slender spikerush. But it grows like a lawn, even under five feet or more of water.

"Slender spikerush doesn't clog water-ways with masses of foliage, and it crowds out the pest plants that do," says Richard Yeo, who heads a U.S. Department of Agriculture aquatic pest control research laboratory here.

Because herbicides in water can cause environmental pollution, a chief goal of the laboratory is to develop biological controls for aquatic weeds. Slender spikerush looks like one of the most promising possibilities, Yeo said.

JUST A BASKIN' IN THE SUN

It's a predicament for some birds to find a pillar of their own on Chicago's lake front so they can bask in the warm sun on a chilly afternoon. The two in the center seem to be arguing about terrirtorial rights as almost every breakwater pillar along Lake Michigan was taken when the photographer snapped the picture. (UPI Telephoto)

Wrong Name

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Cafe proprieter Jao Vasco Consalier Perroira was fined $210 on three charges under the public health laws. Health inspectors found his food was exposed, kitchen utensils were filthy, cooks were not wearing overalls or aprons and "flies and cockroaches swarmed in the kitchen." Perroira's cafe is named the "Spic and Span."

NOT A NEW MADEUP FAD

These baby walruses from the Russian Arctic looks like they're made up for a masquerade party. Actually, it's just enriched clam chowder smeared over their faces after they dipped to the bottom of their bowls at the Los Angeles Zoo.

Colleges Face Task In Computer Demands

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The demand for college training in the field of computer sciences, systems analysis, and data processing has multiplied at a staggering rate, according to a Temple University dean.

Dr. Seymour L. Wolfbein, dean of the School of Business Administration, said college graduates from every segment of commerce and industry are seeking graduate education in computer sciences because the use of computers in business has no limit.

Commercial's Timing Couldn't Be Worse

LONDON (UPI)—The play on the commercial television channel was about Sweeney Todd, "The Demon Barber of Fleet Street," who killed and chopped up customers to make pork pies.

Halfway through the show came the commercials, including one for pork pies. A spokesman for the pork pie company said he was "at a loss for words" when heard of the unfortunate coincidence, but accepted the television company's apology.

Britain Learning To Count By Tens

LONDON (AP) — Britain is learning to count by tens. Its quiet revolution in numbering may leave the United States as the world's last bastion of the foot and the pound.

Industrial and government planners are at midpoint of a 10-year changeover to metric measurements—meters, liters and grams. This will affect the shape and weight of nearly everything manufactured or sold.

The change is so gradual that nearly one-third of the population is unaware that the country is goint metric.

Only one-sixth of the women in a recent shoppers' poll knew that a kilogram weighs more than a pound, and only a fifth of those questioned had heard of the Metrication Board.

Metrication is the second part of a one-two combination that will bring British commerce into line with the weights and measures used by 85 per cent of the world. The first part is decimalization, the switch from coinage based on 12 pennies to a shilling to a system based on 100 pennies to a pound sterling.

The advantages of divisible-by-10 systems in increased efficiency and east of counting are clear. Authorities expect the $300-million cost of minting decimal coins and converting business machines to handle them, as well as the undetermined millions involved in metricizing British industry, to be regained many times over.

People like Kathleen Johns blue-eyed grandmother of 59 went to a demonstration supermarket where 150 women a day are practicing shopping with the new money to get ready for Decimal Day next Feb. 15.

"Britain was a great power for a great many years. Must we lose everthing we had?" "Doing like everyone else is wrong. Let them do as we do."

Executives say the demonstration market has been a success in training employes to make decimal change and that most shoppers find decimal buying confusing at first but enjoyable.

"I had no trouble at all," said Freda Moss, a 52-year-old housewife. "Decimal money should have come in years ago."

Three decimal coins are already in circulation—for 5, 10 and 50 pennies. Three more will be introduced on decimal day—the new halfpenny, new penny and two-penny piece. They will replace the last remaining non-decimal coins—the present penny, threepenny piece and sixpence.

His Nightmare Was Too Real

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Tony Rose thought he was having a nightmare. He woke to find his horse galloping away with his bed—and himself still in it.

On an overnight camping trip with his horse, Roadrunner, professional horse trainer Rose camped alongside the road at nightfall, fastened his steed to his camp bed and went to sleep. Roadrunner was probably frightened by a snake and made off, dragging bed and master behind him. Rose, clad only in shorts, managed to roll off the bed. He stopped a passing car and gave chase, but it took a police patrol car to stop the runaway.

City Father And Wife Both Jog

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Charles E. Barnhart, chairman of Albuquerque's city commission and ex-officio mayor, jogs at least a mile five days a week.

He is joined by his wife, Kathleen, in the physical fitness program.

"There's nothing like it to keep you feeling well and priming you for the decision-making chores," says the Albuquerque attorney. Barnhart is 48.

Steeplejack, 66, Is Still Ready To Work

MUNDAY, Tex. (UPI)—At the age when most men are thinking about retiring, A.W. Williams is out looking for jobs.

Williams, 66, is a steeplejack. He cut his teeth on a water tower in East Texas 54 years ago and has made his living painting towers and poles most people wouldn't dare touch ever since.

Perched 50 feet in the air he dipped his brush into a bucket of silver paint and smoothed it onto a rusting flag pole. Back down on the ground a little later, the West Texan admitted it was a crazy way to make a living.

"You have to be part cowboy and part jackass to climb a flagpole and paint it," he said. "Yet, it comes natural to me. I just wouldn't know what else to do."

Williams said he had from 15 to 25 jobs a month—depending on what kind of jobs they were and where they were located. He said when he was younger he worked 26 states but now he limits himself to Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

His highest job was on a radio tower 1,640 feet up. He has fallen just once in 54 years.

"A pole broke with me in Gunterville, Alabama," Williams said. "I tried to get in a hurry and save 10 minutes. Instead I wound up spending eight weeks in a hospital."

The spry, stocky veteran climber uses a pair of specially-knotted ropes for climbing. He puts his weight on one knot while he slides the other up the pole.

"The Navy calls the knot I use a crow hitch, lumberjacks call it a rolling half hitch, Boy Scouts call it a clove hitch and us steeplejacks just call it a rigger hitch."

Regardless of what it is called, Williams knows how to use it to go up the pole at a good clip, although he explains: "I used to be fast, now I'm old and careful."

Williams makes his home in this small Knox County community of Munday, about mid-way between Abilene and Wichita Falls in West Texas. However, he spends little time here.

"I was in Amarillo a few years ago fighting a 70-footer when a good-looking girl walked by," he said with a twinkle in his eye. "You know, before I knew what was happening I had climbed 10 feet past the end of the pole."

Sand, Gravel Soar Steeply In Value

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Sand and gravel is worth $1.25 a cubic yard at the gravel pit, according to the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries.

By the time it leaves the pit its value has increased 10 times, and when the material is put in steel-reinforced concrete buildings, its value has increased more than 100 times the original costs.

AFTERMATH OF VANDALS' VISIT

Marin's nightriding vandals escalated their tactics last night with a tire-slashing spree in Novato — two months to the day since the union-led Valentine's Day riot outside the Independent-Journal building in San Rafael. The seats on one unlocked new car (right) were slashed and 71 tires punctured at Ted Shuman Chevrolet, 7123 Redwood Highway. Schuman estimated damage at $3,900. At Novato Toyota Inc., 7505 Redwood Highway, (above) 52 tires were punctured, causing an estimated $1,785 damage. Also last night, an $80 window was broken by a steel nut at Grand Auto Supply, 7427 Redwood Highway. It was the sixth window at the store to be broken by vandals. Operators of all three firms told police they had been asked and refused to withdraw advertising from the I-J by San Francisco Typographical Union 21, which struck the paper Jan. 7.

Apollo 13 Veers Off Homeward Path

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Mission Control reported today that the Apollo 13 spaceship was off course and must make a mid-course engine correction tonight or Thursday if it is to return to earth. If the firing is not successful, the spaceship would miss the earth by 104 miles and probably would have no way to get home.

However, officials noted that the chances of making the course correction were "excellent." The normal firing would be done with the engine of the lunar module, a powerplant that fired flawlessly Tuesday night.

A burn of only a few seconds is required to alter the course to aim at the desired landing area in the Pacific Ocean.

If the lunar module engine should fail, the astronauts could use the small control jets on the side of either the lunar module or the command ship.

Astronauts James A. Lovell, Fred W. Haise and John L. Swigert are scheduled to make the mid-course correction at 6:13 p.m. (PST) today. However, officials are considering delaying it until 9:13 a.m. (PST) Thursday.

There was no explanation how the spacecraft veered off a so-called free return trajectory which would have brought it back to a landing on earth even if no mid-course were attempted.

Splashdown is set for 10:04 a.m. (PST) Friday.

The space agency had said Tuesday that the Apollo 13 ship was on such a path.

The astronauts rested and did little activity as the conserved their consumables. They were in good spirits after the tense hours of Monday and Tuesday. An oxygen tank rupture late Monday aborted their moon landing plans and placed them in the gravest danger ever faced by American astronauts.

Although confidence was building that they would land safely in the Pacific, officials cautioned there is always a possibility something could go wrong in the remaining two days. The astronauts have been reduced to dependence on the power and other resources of the attached lunar landing craft.

On the performance of the lunar module, flight director Eugene Kranz said, "I think the LM spacecraft is in excellent shape, and I

Southern Sonoma Turnout Is Big

There were election upheavals in Novato and Fairfax yesterday but overall it was an even split between incumbents and newcomers in city council races.

The unofficial count showed 13 incumbents and 13 newcomers gaining council seats in 12 cities and towns in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

Five incumbents were ousted in Marin.

Generally, there was a strong voter turnout with Rohnert Park's 62 per cent the highest since the city was incorporated in 1962.

The three-candidate "revolt slate" in San Anselmo failed to make a clean sweep.

Marsha J. Owen (Sally Stanford), veteran Sausalito campaigner, missed out again.

Mayor Harley A. McAskill and former mayor Babe Silva were defeated in Novato.

OUSTERS IN FAIRFAX

In Fairfax former mayor Robert R. Souza and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson lost, and in San Anselmo an incumbent councilman and former mayor, Duane C. Ragan, was defeated.

Corte Madera Councilman Holmes S. Norville held a one-point edge over challenger Herber C. Leney for the third council seat.

Mill Valley voters defeated a measure supporting lowering the voting age to 18 and a measure to grant councilmen, now unpaid, a salary of $150 a month.

APPROVE BOND

In contrast Cotati voters overwhelmingly approved a $100,000 sewer bond measure, 318 to 27, and a 24-year-old graduate student made a good showing in the city council race.

Sausalito Mayor Earl F. Dunphy was reelected and Stephen A. Fraser, a Sonoma State College professor and executive director of the Sausalito Coalition for an Open Waterfront, was elected to the seat left vacant by the resignation of Jan Paul Dyk.

NEWCOMERS WIN

McAskill and Silva were defeated by two planning commissioners, F. Wayne Sartain and George C. Quesada.

Surprisingly, McAskill, who also serves as a member of the Marin Transit District Board, finished sixth in a seven-candidate field.

In San Anselmo Warren R. Perry, a planning commissioner, and Lewis W. Stewart, a community development consultant, and Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro won seats.

Capurro was the only member of the three-candidate "revolt" slate to win. His running mates, former mayor Arthur W. Smith and Sarah Nome lost out.

SIXTH IN FIELD

Ragan, running independently, ran sixth, in the field of seven.

In Fairfax, Councilman Frank J. Egger, polling the largest vote in city history, went back into office, along with Lee Nelder, a San Francisco police sergeant, and Albert E. Gately, chairman of the planning commission.

Souza, a controversial figure in Fairfax politics, ran a close third and Adelaide P. Wilson, chairman of the City-County Planning Council, fourth.

Dixie's School Tax Wins; Novato's Fails

Dixie School District voters approved a 50-cent hike in their general purpose tax rate limit yesterday, but Novato Unified School District voters rejected an 85-cent hike in their rate ceiling.

The Dixie vote, 2,233 yes to 1,468 no, will cut down the number of teaching jobs that will be eliminated in the 1970-71 school year.

Before the election the district staff estimated that about 14 jobs would be cut if the increase were approved, but as many as 27 might be terminated if it were defeated.

The vote increased the general purpose tax rate from $3.35 to $3.85 per $100 assessed valuation. The total rate is now at $3.995.

Dixie voters also approved, 2,563 to 1,143, a measure to raise the bond interest rate from five to seven per cent so the district can sell $1,495,000 in previously authorized bonds on today's market.

Of the district's 8,085 voters, 3,714 cast ballots, a 45-9 per cent turnout.

The Novato voters narrowly defeated the measure to raise the general purpose tax rate ceiling by 85 cents from $3.43 to $4.28 assessed valuation. The district's total rate is $5.435.

The measure was defeated 3,461 to 3,072 where a simple majority was required. There was a turnout of slightly more than 51 per cent of the district's 12,848 registered voters.

Couple Held In Infant's Camp Death

A young couple from Wisconsin was arrested yesterday on suspicion of child abuse after their 5-month-old bruised baby son died in a small, cold tent at a camping site on Mount Tamalpais.

Sheriff's Deputy Jeanette Prandi gave this account of the tragedy:

Dean Allen Lampiris, 20, and his wife, Debra, 17, had been camping with two young men in a tent at Pan Toll station for four days. The fifth occupant of the tent, which Mrs. Prandi said was about six-by-six feet in floor area, was the Lampiris's baby Dean Allen, who was born last October.

Yesterday about 9 a.m., Mrs. Lampiris discovered the infant was dead in his makeshift bed atop a sheepskin jacket. An ambulance was called, and the child was taken to Marin General Hospital, where a doctor pronounced him dead.

Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said that death was due to asphyxia but further tests will be performed to determine what caused the death. He said that the child had bruises and scrapes on his body, especially on his face, and that he had seven fractured ribs which had probably been broken about a week ago.

The young mother told Mrs. Prandi that the baby was fine when she put him to bed the night before and had no explanation for the injuries. She said they had come to Mount Tamalpais from their San Francisco apartment with two young men for a vacation.

She "wanted to have her child

Lower Vote Age Loses On Mill Valley Ballot

Mill Valley voters narrowly defeated a measure supporting the 18-year-old vote yesterday, but elected one city council candidate who approved of the lower voting age.

The measure, defeated 1,620 to 1,421, had been supported by the city's youth commission. It had received little opposition.

Jean S. Barnard had endorsed the measure with reservation. Edward J. Boessenecker had opposed it.

Youth Commissioner George B. Kewin, 17, who wrote the argument in favor of the measure, volunteered to chalk the results on a blackboard in the council chambers and watched the proposition go down to defeat.

The rejection was in contrast to liberal action two years ago when voters approved a resolution calling for orderly withdrawal of troops from Vietnam.

Kewin said he had expected the proposition to pass and "it probably would have if we hadn't specified the age of 18. I think people would have gone for 19."

The trend was evident soon after the totals began going up at 8:10 p.m., but the final results weren't known until three hours later when the American Legion Hall precinct reported in.

The successful cleanup of Mount Tamalpais "won votes for us," Kewin said, but could not push the proposition over the top. The youth commission conducted the April 4 cleanup.

Interest seemed to be a little higher in the council race. Some 3,099 of the city's 6,496 registered voters cast ballots for councilmen, while 3,041 (47 per cent) voted on lowering the voting age.

Nixon Asks Lake Pollution Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today asked Congress to halt further dredge-waste pollution of the Great Lakes —one of the nation's worst trouble spots.

In a special message to the House and Senate, Nixon asked for legislation to prohibit dumping of polluted dredge waste into the lakes and require bordering states to provide dumping areas on land.

Nixon's Great Lakes program would concentrate on their most polluted harbors in the initial stages and would cost about $70 million to build containment areas for polluted material.

The Federal government would pay half and state and local governments the rest.

Burglar Shot In Sausalito; Body Sought

The murky waters of Richardson Bay were being searched for the body of a young man believed shot to death by Sausalito police last night during an attempted burglary of a Sausalito jewelry store.

A second man, David James Robertson, 22, of South Berlin, Mass., was booked into Marin County Jail early today on suspicion of burglary after police found him hiding under a small desk in the store.

Police said the dead youth was identified by Robertson as Richard (Bud) Anton, about 25 years old, of Ann Arbor, Mich.

About 11:40 p.m. Officers Stephen M. Willis and Gary Verdi responded to a burglar alarm at

$20.6 Million Hike In Gas Bills Voted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Public Utilities Commission today authorized Pacific Gas and Electric Co. a $20,637,000 increase in gas rates —about 40 cents per month for general users.

The increase was granted to offset added costs of gas to PG&E from El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Pacific Gas Transmission Co.

Court Nominee Blackmun:

Not Easy Man To Pin Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - The judicial record of Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun, a federal appeals judge considered a strict constructionist by President Nixon, does not appear that easy to pin down.

The judge himself brushed aside labels shortly after he learned Tuesday in St. Louis, where he sits on the U. S. 8th Court of Appeals, that Nixon had named him to fill the vacancy created almost a year ago with the resignation of Justice Abe Fortas.

"I've been called liberal and conservative," Blackmun said. "Labels are deceiving. I call them as I see them."

Blackmun, 61, who lives in Rochester, Minn., has been compared judicially with his old friend and fellow Minnesotan, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, as being fairly liberal on civil rights issues and strict on the rights of criminal defendants.

Nixon, who has frequently criticized court decisions expanding the rights of defendants in criminal cases, was reported by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler to have been highly impressed when he studied Blackmun's judicial record.

"He considers Judge Blackmun to be a strict constructionist," Ziegler said.

Twice Blackmun wrote decisions turning back challenges to the constitutionality of the death penalty. One of them is before the Supreme Court now in a major test case, apparently deadlocked awaiting a ninth justice. But Blackmun would not be able to help out in this case since he wrote the decision being challenged .

HARRY A. BLACKMUN
'Labels are deceiving'

Last week the Supreme Court overturned a Blackmun decision rejecting the contention that a man was placed in double jeopardy when he was tried twice in connection with the robbery of a poker game.

Burger, in his first major lone dissent as a member of the high court, called the decision of his colleagues "a case of expanding a sound basic principle beyond the bounds, or needs, of its rational and legitimate, objectives to preclude harassment of an accused."

But Blackmun's reasoning in the case is not entirely clear. He had predicted the opinion might be reversed, and implied the ultimate decision, in any case, should be made by the Supreme Court.

In a 1968 civil rights case, Blackmun ruled against a Negro who charged a housing developer refused to sell him a home in a new subdivision in St. Louis County, but he indicated a sympathy for the plaintiff's contention.

"It is not for our court, as an inferior one, to give full expression to any personal inclinations any of us might have and to take the lead in expanding constitutional precepts when we are faced with a limiting Supreme Court decision," Blackmun wrote.

"It would not be too surprising if the Supreme Court one day were to hold that a court errs when it dismisses a complaint of this kind," he added.

Although he has upheld the death sentence in celebrated cases, Blackmun wrote a 1965 decision ordering a new hearing for an Arkansas Negro sentenced to death for raping a white woman. He held that a confession introduced as evidence was involuntary, the type of ruling that appears to conflict with Nixon's views.

The nominee graduated with highest honors from Harvard with a degree in mathematics and from Harvard Law School. He practiced law in Minneapolis for 17 years before moving to Rochester as counsel for the Mayo Clinic in 1950. He was named to the federal appeals court by President Eisenhower in 1959.

AIR STRIKE ENDS

Drivers' Walkouts Increase Layoffs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wildcat strikes by truck drivers in scattered cities have caused increased layoffs and an embargo on some piggyback freight rail shipments to Chicago. Teachers remained on strike in Los Angeles and Minneapolis. But an air traffic controllers strike was reported virtually ended.

The trucker strikes were blamed by nine railroads for an embargo they imposed today on piggyback freight shipments to many Chicago companies. However, a Chicago Teamsters union official termed the embargo an attempt by the railroads to help the trucking industry break the truckers' walkout.

Layoffs due to the walkout, already in the thousands, were reported increasing in industries which lacked parts or were plagued by jammed warehouses.

Cities hit by the trucker strikes included Chicago; Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio and Cherryville, N.C.

The striking truckers were protesting a tentative nationwide contract providing wage increases of $1.10 an hour over three years.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported today, "There are no problems at any facility in the country."

Air travel began returning to normal Tuesday as hundreds of striking controllers reported back to work. The FAA said the manpower level was normal or near normal in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and most other spots around the country.

Heavy absenteeism continued at Kansas City, Minneapolis, Denver and Oakland, Calif.

The controllers struck to protest what they called inadequate manpower, obsolete equipment and "union busting" by the FAA.

In New York publishers of the four major daily newspapers offered printers a three-year contract providing a 9 per cent wage increase the first year and a 7 per cent raise the second and third years. The printers promptly rejected the contract as "insufficient." They currently receive $184.43 weekly on the day shift and $193 on the night shift.

A newspaper dispute in Boston was settled Tuesday when editorial workers at the Boston Record American accepted a two-year contract. They had been on strike since Saturday. A management spokesman said the contract provided a 29 per cent wage hike over two years. The top minimum for a reporter was $189 weekly under the old contract.

Strikers Urge Parents To Keep Children Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leaders of the massive teachers' strike against Los Angeles city schools reversed their earlier policy and urged parents to keep their children home starting today.

Robert Ransom, president of the 22,000-member United Teachers of Los Angeles, voiced the new policy Tuesday night after he described as "functionally inoperative" at least 75 of the city's 583 elementary and secondary schools.

With 653,000 students, the 711-square-mile district is the nation's second largest in enrollment after New York City's.

Strike leaders claimed that on Tuesday—the second day of the walkout for smaller class size and larger paychecks—nearly 65 per cent of the district's 25,000 teachers were off the job. School officials set it at 52 per cent.

After many students joined teachers on the picket lines Tuesday, Ransom urged district Supt. Robert Kelly and the school board to close all schools and send the students home to prevent possible harm to students.

"The responsibility of any untoward acts or accidents will fall squarely on your shoulders in the event of your callous indifference to the need for closing the schools," he told them.

Jail For Hilliard

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — David Hilliard, chief of staff of the Black Panther party, and Elmer Douglas, the party's minister of culture, have received six-month jail sentences after they were charged with contempt of court during a hearing for five party members charged in a murder case.

The two Panther leaders became involved in a scuffle with sheriff's deputies Tuesday in Superior Court and were arrested and handcuffed.

Hilliard is currently free on bond in connection with an alleged threat against the life of President Nixon at San Francisco.

The scuffle with the deputies came as Hilliard and Douglas were huddled together in the spectator's section reading a sheaf of papers. A deputy reportedly told them not to read while court was in session, and the scuffle ensured. The court has banned demonstrations during court sessions in the Panther cases.

Russian Held

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — A Soviet captain was held here Tuesday night pending settlement with the State Department over a fine for an oil spillage from his tanker Monday.

Capt. V. C. Sherstovitof was arrested Monday night by the U.S. Coast Guard off Marmot Island near Kodiak in the Gulf of Alaska and charged with spilling oil overboard in violation of an 1899 law.

The oil slick spread 300 yards wide and one mile long.

The maximum penalty under the Refuse Act, which is also being used by the federal government to crack down on pollution by mills and oil companies, is a $2,500 fine or one year imprisonment, or both.

However, U.S. officials decided to settle the case and avoid an arraignment scheduled for Tuesday. Instead, it appears the government will settle out of court for a fine of about $1,500.

Education Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a budget-busting $4.1 billion appropriation for education but stopped short of further increases that might invite a presidential veto.

The money bill for the U.S. Office of Education, passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate, goes $319 million over Nixon's budget requests.

But the House defeated an attempt to boost spending by another $191 million.

A patchwork amendment embodying all the intended proposed increases was put together by Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., but it was defeated, 121 to 103, on a non-record vote.

Also defeated were attempts to delete from the bill provisions aimed at limiting federal school desegregation efforts. Similar amendments have been added each of the last three years in the House but watered down by the Senate before enactment.

Manson Charged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson, hippie cult leader who allegedly masterminded the seven Tate-Labianca killings, has been charged in a secret indictment with still another slaying — the stabbing death of bagpipe musician Gary Hinman.

Two of Manson's followers also were indicted Tuesday: Susan Atkins, whose grand jury testimony led to the Tate-Labianca indictments; and a male member of the cult who still is at large.

The indictments were issued one day after Robert K. Beausoleil, currently on trial for the Hinman slaying, testified that Manson stabbed the musician to death last July.

It was believed, however, the secret indictments stemmed from testimony of Mary Brunner, 26, by whom Manson fathered a baby more than a year ago.

Marquess Dies

LONDON (UPI)—The Marquess of Milford Haven, once tagged one of Britain's most eligible bachelors and best man at the wedding of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, died Monday night. He was 50.

David Michael Mountbatten, who succeeded to his title in 1938 and was the great grandson of Queen Victoria and a nephew to the Earl Mountbatten, collapsed at a railway station while on the way home. He was dead on arrival at a nearby hospitol.

A decorated naval hero of World War II, the Marquess retired from the service in 1948 and quickly was labelled one of Britain's most eligible bachelors. At one time he was rumored to be engaged to Princess Margaret.

Soviet Games

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviets have massed between 125 and 135 warships and support vessels in the North Sea, Atlantic and Mediterranean in their greatest show of naval strength, Western defense officials said today.

The officials said the concentrations apparently are in preparation for naval maneuvers under the code name "Operation Ocean," announced by the Soviet Union Tuesday.

The exercises, timed to coincide with the centenary of Vladimir I. Lenin's birth, will involve Soviet fleets in the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian Oceans in a single coordinate exercise, the Soviet announcement said.

Mrs. Wilkinson Still In Custody

LONDON (AP) — Joan Tunney Wilkinson, 30-year-old daughter of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, was ordered today to be held in custody for another seven days in a London court.

Mrs. Wilkinson of Tiburon is charged with the bludgeon murder of her 31-year-old husband, Lynn, on Easter Sunday.

Another hearing is scheduled April 22.

Jordanians Storm U.S. Embassy

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—A mob of 12,000 Jordanians protesting the forthcoming visit of an American diplomat stormed the U.S. Embassy today, ripped down the American flag and burned the U.S. Information Service (USIS) library.

The demonstrations flared when a planned peaceful protest against the visit of U.S. assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco got out of hand. Sisco, in Tel Aviv today for talks with government leaders, plans to come to Amman on Friday.

The mobs surged through the street to the U.S. Embassy, smashed the windows, burned the cars of the embassy staff, hauled down the American flag and ran up the green and black Palestinian flag. Then they burned the USIS library.

Anti-American feeling flared throughout the Arab world last week after Israeli pilots flying American-built Phantom jet fighter-bombers were reported to have attacked an Egyptian school and killed 30 children.

Cambodia Massacre Reported

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two thousand South Vietnamese troops joined a hundred Cambodians in a joint operation to smash a North Vietnamese base inside Cambodia Tuesday. Despite this military cooperation, the bodies of hundreds of Vietnamese civilians were floating down the Mekong River in Cambodia today, and it was believed the Cambodians had massacred them.

Only small-scale attacks were reported on the other battle fronts in Vietnam.

The joint South Vietnamese-Cambodian operation occurred at the point where Highway One crosses the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon. The attack was in retaliation for a North Vietnamese attack Monday night which smashed the South Vietnamese border post.

Although the Saigon government denied that its forces had crossed the border, eyewitnesses said they pushed at least a mile into Cambodia with the support of tanks, armored vehicles, South Vietnamese planes and artillery.

American advisers to the South Vietnamese watched the operation from the South Vietnamese side of the border.

The South Vietnamese said their force killed 179 North Vietnamese, captured 30 others and destroyed 550 straw huts and bunkers. They claimed another 96 North Vietnamese killed in the attack on the border post the night before.

The population of Laos, variously estimated at from two to three million, is composed of 22 minority groups which legend says emerged from a gourd punctured by a demigod.

Pact On Old Land Dispute Worked Out

The Marin Municipal Water District board found itself on an abandoned railroad right-of-way without a deed yesterday, and got off fast.

The board quickly approved a compromise settlement to a dispute between the district and Laurence M. Symmes Jr., of 309 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley, over the ownership of a 100-foot abandoned right-of-way on the southern face of Mount Tamalpais.

The settlement gives the district 50 feet of the right-of-way and a 15-foot easement on Symmes's 50 feet. Symmes also maintains a 15-foot easement on the district's side of the property.

The action came after the district was notified by Symmes that if a settlement was not reached by tomorrow, he would withdraw the compromise offer and lay claim to all of the property involved.

The board was advised by its legal counsel, Robert W. Elliott, that the compromise would give the district more than it could ever hope to get if it took Symmes to court.

The matter had been before the board twice, but both times action was postponed at the request of the Marin Conservation League, which did not want the district to compromise its claim to the land.

On March 11, the board postponed action on the dispute for 90 days, but Symmes notified the district that he would obtain title insurance on the property tomorrow if the board did not agree to the compromise offer.

Elliott told the board that the district's title company would not insure the district's claim to the property.

The Mount Tamalpais and Muir Woods Railway quit its claim to the property in 1931. Ownership of the right-of-way, between West Blithedale Avenue and Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, has been unclear since. The district owns the land above the property, and Symmes the land below.

The conservation league made a last-ditch effort yesterday to insure preservation of the property as it is now.

Mary Donnelly, vice-president of the league, asked the board to limit the easements to a total of 16 feet, guarantee the dirt road on the property would never be paved, and preserve trees, shrubs, wild flowers and other natural features within the right-of-way.

The board agreed, however, that since they didn't have a deed, much less a strong claim to the property, it was not possible to place restrictions on it.

Mrs. Donnelly was told to discuss conservation of the land with Symmes.

Director William A. March abstained from voting on the compromise settlement, because he is a director of one of the title insurance companies involved in the dispute.

The Marin Municipal Water Board Also:

JANITORS—Accepted the low bid of $956 per month from Commercial Building Maintenance Co. of San Francisco, for the district's janitorial service contract.

Lottery In Cotati Axes Teachers

The Cotati School District, over the objections of the local teachers association, conducted a teacher lottery last night and drew the names of two first-year instructors.

Drawn were the names of Marjorie Bascherini and Pat Hebert, both from Thomas Page School. The action means the pair will be forced to seek employment in another district next year.

The lottery became necessary when the district found itself in a revenue bind because of diminishing enrollment and the prospect of lower state and federal funds.

The drawing brought to five the number of teachers who will not be returning to the district in the fall. Two others resigned and one is taking a leave of absence.

The names of eight first-year teachers were in a container when Board President Lester H. Petersen made the drawing.

In a letter to the trustees, the executive board of the Association of Cotati District Teachers objected to the action as improperly conducted, citing sections of the state Education Code and threatening legal action.

In other business last night, the board said it would not be able to use revenue from the sale of state bonds at this time for the proposed addition to Waldo Rohnert school because of delay on a bill pending in Sacramento and said it would hear a report at its next meeting April 28 on correction of acoustical problems at Thomas Page school.

The board was also advised by the Sonoma County Counsel's office that it conducted a closed meeting in violation of the state's Ralph M. Brown Act when it met with the district architect March 10 on the Page School problem.

'Hair,' Politics Open Peace Day

STANFORD (UPI) — The anti-Vietnam war moratorium got off to an early start today in the San Francisco Bay area, with the cast of "Hair" performing at dawn before 8,000 persons at Stanford University.

Activities were planned throughout the day in San Francisco, Berkeley, Livermore, Pleasant Hill, San Mateo, Stanford and other communities in the region.

When the "Hair" performers finished, about half the 8,000 spectators left. The remainder stayed to hear antiwar speeches, including talks by George Brown and John Tunney, Democratic candidates for the U.S. Senate.

APOLLO

think it's fully capable of getting the crew back. I feel we are much better off than we were last night as far as consumables and everything is concerned. We have a better margin to work with and we have more flexibility."

The astronauts will ride the command ship through the atmosphere to a planned splashdown near Samoa in the Pacific at 10:04 a.m. PST Friday, some 46 minutes later than earlier estimated by the space agency.

Because of the possibility that Tropical Storm Helen, now about 500 miles away, might be in the recovery area, Mission Control told the astronauts it might delay a final course correction until Thursday afternoon.

This would give them a chance to make the best possible adjustment in aim and, doing it only once, conserve power.

The command vessel normally relies on power and oxygen from the attached service module. But these were made useless in the accident. For re-entry, the astronauts will switch on a battery and auxiliary oxygen system, the standard procedure on all Apollo missions.

But this time there will be no chance to recharge the batteries from the service module's systems since they are dead.

First, they will jettison the lunar and service modules, both of which will burn up in the atmosphere.

One part of the lunar vehice is not expected to burn up. It is a canister carrying a small amount of radioactive plutonium 238, which would have been used to power a science station Lovell and Haise had planned to leave on the moon.

To prevent escape of the radioactive material, the canister was designed to survive a blazing dive through the atmosphere. It is expected to sink in the Pacific. Even if plutonium should be exposed, the dose is so small it would not harm life, officials reported.

As Apollo 13 streaked closer to earth, Mission Control spent more than an hour today radioing up instructions for setting hundreds of switches in the command ship, placing them in the proper order for re-entry and landing.

If the storm dictates a shift of the landing site, this might add a few minutes to the flight.

"If I can get on that aircraft carrier, I don't care how long it takes," Haise radioed.

Of the three, mission commander Lovell was the only one having trouble sleeping. He said he got only three hours early today, while Swigert slept eight and Haise six.

After hours of calm but tense composure following Monday night's oxygen tank rupture that wiped out their moon landing attempt, the astronauts today were in better spirits. For the first time since the chilling accident that drained oxygen and electrical power from the command ship they joked with Mission Control.

They were buoyed Tuesday night when astronaut boss Donald K. Slayton radioed: "We think you guys are in good shape all the way around. Why don't you quit worrying and go to sleep?"

"We think that is a pretty good idea" Lovell said. "And at least part of us will."

The astronauts have been sleeping in shifts so that at least one is up at all times to monitor the lunar module systems.

But in the hectic hours after the accident there was little time for rest and Lovell complained Tuesday night: "We've gone a hell of a long time without sleep."

The lunar craft Aquarius is hooked nose-to-nose with the command ship and the tiny ship's oxygen is being used to supply both craft. The astronauts transfer back and forth through a connecting tunnel.

"This Aquarius has really been a winner" Haise said.

Two Accused Of Mail Order Dope

Two Fairfax residents suspected of setting up a mail order drug business were arrested yesterday by federal and Marin narcotics agents.

Due to be arraigned today before the U. S. Commissioner in San Francisco were Edward Nation Meyer, 25, of 24 Walsh Lane, and Tina Ann Hansen, 19, of 200 Tamalpais Road.

A federal warrant charging them with selling hashish and LSD through the mails was served on them yesterday.

Agents said they were accused of sending the drugs to a Kansas resident.

The agents found only a small amount of suspected marijuana in the Tamalpais Road residence, where they arrested the two, but they said that Meyer had a notebook full of addresses in other states.

Champagne Victory Ends In Argument

Minutes after his election to the Sausalito City Council was announced last night, Stephen A. Fraser became the center of attention at Paterson's Bar, 379 Bridgeway, when his glass of victory champagne ended up all over the face of a woman who said he owed her money.

The vinous happening was staged about 15 minutes after the final vote count was announced when Fraser and a small band of supporters went to Paterson's to celebrate.

Shortly after the group had serenaded the new city councilman by singing "He's a jolly good fellow" and toasted him with champagne, Stella Popowski, an artist who lives at 12 Princess Street, joined the group.

"Well, Steve, now that you've made it, are you going to pay me what you owe me?" she asked heatedly. Fraser made an offhand remark and Miss Popowski called him a "smuck."

Fraser's hand suddenly lifted and the bubbly liquid joined Miss Popowski's facial makeup, ran down her neck and decorated her blouse.

Miss Popowski claims Fraser, who formerly operated a gallery at 759 Bridgeway, owes her $319 for paintings of hers which he sold during a one-man show of hers in June 1968.

Police were called and took statements from persons in the bar. Miss Popowski signed a police complaint charging Fraser with battery last night and said she was taking the matter to the district attorney's office for official action.

Fraser declined to comment on the incident.

close to nature," Mrs. Prandi reported as the mother's explanation of the four days of camping during the recent chilly and windy weather.

Park rangers said the young people did not have a permit for the campsite and that the rangers had been unable to find them during the four days.

Further investigation yesterday turned up the information that the Lamperis baby had been taken to Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco on March 30 for treatment of a broken rib and two black eyes, Mrs. Prandi said.

She said the young parents had taken the baby out of the hospital because they felt the officials were accusing them of child abuse.

The Lamperis couple, who has been living on welfare since coming to California a little over two months ago, was married in Milwaukee in December, Mrs. Prandi said.

The two young men who were with them, Allen Michael Glass, 21, and Daniel Lee Bozick, 19, who are also from Milwaukee, were not arrested yesterday.

Lamperis was being held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $315 bail and Mrs. Lamperis was booked into Juvenile Hall. Lamperis was to appear in Municipal Court today.

The baby's body was taken to Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley.

Pittman, a food broker, and Allan Steinau, former chairman of the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission, were elected to two open seats on the Belvedere City Council.

TO FILL VACANCY

In Mill Valley Jean Barnard, former chairman of the parks and recreation, was elected to the seat left vacant by the retirement of Dean N. Meyer, and Edward Boessenecker, appointed to the council in October, was elected to the chair.

In Larkspur, the incumbents Mayor Neil R. Brixon and Councilman Alfred J. Malvino easily defeated the lone challenger Raymond C. Kesner, chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee.

Dubin and Dubin Jewelers, 658 Bridgeway.

When officers reached the east side of the two-story commercial building where the store is located, they noticed a broken window over a small timber dock behind the structure and saw a man climb out of the window and step onto the dock.

Officer Willis said he called: "Halt, police" in a loud voice and both men said the suspect turned rapidly toward them and made a reaching movement inside his coat.

Thinking he was reaching for a weapon, the officers fired at the man, who was about nine feet away from them, a total of nine shots.

Willis and Verdi said the shots knocked the man into the bay. Search operations early today by the Coast Guard, Sausalito police and firemen failed to recover the body.

Anton was described as about five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, with short brown hair and wearing a gray tweed car coat, light blue work shirt, blue jeans and brown cowboy boots.

Police were contacting Ann Arbor authorities to obtain further information on the dead man.

No bail has yet been set for Robertson, who was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Builders Ordered To Follow Design

Builders of a controversial 40-unit apartment house in Picnic Valley were ordered by the San Rafael Planning Commission last night to rebuild according to approved specifications after outraged neighbors demanded enforcement of originnai architectural approval.

The apartment house project had been bitterly fougnt from its inception by protesting neighbors, was the subject last year of several stormy planning commission sessions and equally strong but unsuccessful appeals to the city council that construction be blocked.

Picnic Hill Properties Inc. was ordered to stucco sidings on three units of its project at 237 Picnic Avenue by a 3-2 vote with chairman Joseph J. Barbarino and commissioner Alan M. Kay dissenting.

The order was made after the commissioners were informed that the builders had substituted redwood paneling for specified stucco inserts without obtaining architectural approval for the change.

The change from stucco to redwood was made to eliminate the "stark stucco exteriors" Edmund T. Ghirardo, a partner in the firm explained.

He said approval for the change had been obtained from the Federal Housing Administration, which financed the project, and that it had cost an additional $4,000 to $5,000.

Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding reprimanded Ghirardo for not coming to the commission with the plan change and chided him for overlooking "his responsibility to the people."

Trevor Whitsen, a leader of the opposing neighborhood group, demanded the commission enforce the original plans charging "this man (Ghirardo) did not build what you told him to," adding if the commission didn't follow through, "we'll give up and go home."

Whitsen asked the commission why a stop work order had not been placed on the project when the builders deviated from the plans; why had final approval been given by the building inspector, and why the project had been given an occupancy permit.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said the fault did not lie with the planning staff but with the applicant. He said his department had notified Ghirardo to stop building when they learned of the deviation.

Ghirardo said he was first notified about the question of his sidings three weeks ago and that the sidings had been completed for three months.

He added he was surprised at the reaction stating "we were making improvements. . . and expected to be patted on the back."

Ghirardo said he had been issued an occupancy permit for all but one of the four units at the site.

Kay commenting that he liked the appearance of the redwood sidings made a motion to accept the altered plans. The motion died for lack of a second.

As the 20 membes of the resident's group, anticipating the commission's acceptance of the altered buildings, began to file from their seats, Lunding suggested restoring the elecation as originally approved.

Commissioner Lawrence E. Mulryan recommended modifying the ends of the units to the original half-timber half-stucco design.

The commission decided that the end elevations on units one, two and three, facing the street, be redone according to the original plans.

Commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole and James Dougan were absent.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

Nuclear Aircraft Plea Scuttled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has temporarily scuttled the administration's request for a third nuclear aircraft carrier.

The committee removed authority for construction of the craft from the $20.3 billion military procurement request, a move that could delay initial construction of the carrier by at least a year.

The action would free $135 million for diversion to Navy ship modernization which has been assigned top priority by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C.

Zucker Campaign Officials Appointed

Betty Forry of 2615 Heatherstone Drive, Marinwood, has been named general chairman of Paul C. Zucker's campaign for a seat on the county board of supervisors in the June 2 election.

Annette Bode of 37 Mount Foraker Drive, Lucas Valley, has been named finance chairman of the campaign.

Bills Seek To Amend Brown Secrecy Act

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bills to amend the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act, have been introduced—two to weaken it, and one to toughen it.

The last, AB 2442 by Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Hollywood, would extend the act's provisions to any entity receiving more than 50 per cent of its funds from public sources, and to any agency formed under a joint powers agreement.

The Brown Act allows closed meetings only to discuss hiring, firing or hearing charges against an officer or employee of the public body.

Another bill, AB 2087 by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, would allow local agencies to hold closed meetings to discuss any matter exempted from public disclosure by the California Public Records Act. This reliance on the host of exemptions in the Public Records Act would expand considerably the ability to meet behind closed doors.

The third bill, AB SB 1034 by Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, would allow closed meetings involving acquisition or disposition of property.

A related bill, SB 1154 by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, would subject to the Public Records Act all records of investigations relating to enforcement of laws on the erection, construction, alteration or maintenance of buildings.

San Franciscan Skips Court Date

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 has been issued in Marin Superior Court for Richard L. Givens, 28, of San Francisco, who failed to appear Monday for setting a trial date on a car theft charge.

Givens was arrested by the California Highway Patrol on June 10, 1969 in a car allegedly stolen three days earlier in San Francisco.

GOP Group Backs Pessner For Seat

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Hugh O. Pessner of Greenbrae, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has been endorsed by the United Republicans of California.

The conservative group made the endorsement at its annual area convention Saturday night at the Holiday Inn. The area runs from Sausalito to Oregon.

Betty Gardner of Woodacre and Ruby Streiff of Greenbrae were endorsed for the Republican State Central Committee and Susan M. Tennler of Greenbrae was elected lieutenant governor of the group.

Demo Names Aide

Michael Peevey, unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for state Senate, has named Jack H. Feller Jr. of San Rafael as treasurer of his campaign. Feller is a partner in a San Anselmo management consulting firm.

Veto On Sewer Plants Sought For Bay Panel

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill empowering the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to veto any new sewage treatment facilities has been introduced by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo.

Any local agency proposing to construct new or enlarged waste water treatment, reclamation or disposal facilities would have to submit all plans and designs to the BCDC for its approval under Dolwig's bill. The BCDC would judge plans on their compatibility with the state's long-range master plan to upgrade waste water treatment in the bay and Delta.

That plan called for regional treatment facilities, first to upgrade and extend discharges into deep bay waters, and later to divert most discharges into the ocean.

Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, previously introduced a bill requiring local agencies to submit such plans to the BCDC for its review and comment, but Knox did not give BCDC power to veto such plans.

Both bills would require BCDC to come up with a plan on how to carry out the 1969 state plan for a regional system.

Without such a system, Dolwig has warned, the bay will see the same kind of water quality problems that have virtually killed the lower Hudson River.

Engine Is Stolen

A marine engine and transmission valued at $800 were stolen late Monday or yesterday from the rear of a pickup truck at Harbor Texaco Service, 49 Medway Road, San Rafael police reported today.

WOULD YOU LEAVE YOUR CAR HOME?

University of California co-eds Mary Morris (center) of Kentfield and Tara Harvey (right) of Pasadena pass out questionnaires asking what motorists jamming the Golden Gate Bridge think of forming car pools to reduce traffic congestion and pollution. The forms, handed out yesterday, are part of a four-day campaign to urge commuters to form carpools, culminating tomorrow in "Car Pool Day" sponsored by several groups including the Marin Ecology Center. Car pool stations will be set up at 6 a.m. tomorrow at Bon Air, Strawberry, Corte Madera and Northgate shopping centers. (Independent-Journal photo)

Burglars Trapped By Sneaker Treads

Police have literally tracked down three juveniles to break up a youthful burglary ring that has been operating on Paradise Drive since early March, Corte Madera police reported yesterday. More youths were to be questioned.

A break-in Sunday at Morris Roofing Co., 5768 Paradise Drive, led to the gang's downfall, reported Detective Sgt. George W. Koehler. The boys stole some screwdrivers, then took a dry chemical fire extinguisher and sprayed inside the building through a broken window.

The boys then made the mistake of re-entering the building, leaving a welter of tennis shoe footprints in the white chemical dust.

Police kept an eye on the vicinity after school Monday and noticed three boys, wearing tennis shoes, bicycling by the building to look at it. They stopped the trio and readily found their sneakers a perfect match for the footprints, which showed tread patterns.

Police said six boys, all 13 and 14 years old, are implicated in the ring, which is believed responsible for two break-ins at Morris Roofing, three at Denny's House of Plumbing, two at Granada School, two at North Bay Lumber Co., one at Motorcycles Unlimited and one at the Patio Car wash. The car wash was hit Sunday after the roofing firm theft.

The gang got about $1,000 worth of loot, mostly tools and cash, Koehler said. They also vandalized most of the places, and are believed responsible for four bicycle thefts. Koehler said the boys tore down the bicycles and swapped parts to assemble new ones and sell them.

The boys caught Monday were cited to meet with Corte Madera's juvenile officer. Names were withheld pending completion of the investigation.

New Poultry Trace Element

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has given final approval for adding a trace element called titanium dioxide to soybean protein used in poultry meat products.

Officials said the material will enable inspectors to keep track of how much soy protein is added to poultry products.

The department said "routined chemical analysis cannot separate isolated soy protein from poultry or animal protein" without the addition of titanium dioxide.

Federal regulations have allowed titanium dioxide in red meat products since 1964 at the rate of one-tenth of 1 per cent as specified under Food and Drug Administration rules.

Bill Offered On Yacht Club Border

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to resolve a long-standing boundary dispute between the state and Marin Yacht Club in San Rafael has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley's office said that a key to the dispute was a requirement in a state law, also authored by Bagley, that grantees pay the cost of surveying land involved in boundary disputes with the state.

His new bill, however, would suspend this provision of the law for one year so the matter could be resolved.

Bagley also has introduced a bill to exempt from any sales tax increase after July 1 the sale or use of material contracted for before that date. Thus, a business which contracted to buy something before July 1 at the current sales tax rate would not have to pay for any higher rate in effect after July 1.

Several measures, including one by Bagley, to raise the sales tax are pending before the Legislature.

Sewage Service In Annexed Area Slated

The City of Mill Valley is preparing to extend sewage service to a recently annexed portion of the city, called the high school tidelands, City Mgr. H. Cunningham reported yesterday.

The city council voted 3-1, Monday, Robert H. Andresen dissenting, to ask the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission to de-annex the tidelands, which became part of Mill Valley in 1968, from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District so the city could bring its own sewage lines into the area.

Cunningham said that Stanley M. Bala, city engineer, told the council that the first phase of the operation would cost $103,000, but financial support from developers of the shelter ridge housing project, who would have to build the lines if the city didn't, would lower the figure to $87,500.

Andresen said yesterday he voted against the sewer project because the money for it will come from a $500,000 bond issue approved two years ago and the people who pay for the construction live in other parts of Mill Valley and won't benefit from it.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer said, "For some years we've asked the Richardson Bay Sanitary Disrict to allow us to hook up to these homes, but we've been ignored."

He said he hoped the council's action would motiviate the district to move on the request now.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

ALTO—Agreed to examine the city's contract with the Alto Sanitary District to see if a rate adjustment should be made.

FUNDS—Heard that the city will receive $175,000 in urban thoroughfare funds for improvements to Camino Alto.

ADJOURNMENT —Adjourned to April 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall to canvass ballots from yesterday's municipal election.

Deukmejian Party

A no-host cocktail party for Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, candidate for the GOP nomination for attorney general, will be held from 6 to 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael. Tickets are available through the Marin County chairman of Deukmejian's campaign, John F. Fiorito Jr. of Tiburon.

NOVATO PUTS PARK BOND ON JUNE BALLOT

At a short adjourned meeting last night, the Novato City Council passed an ordinance calling for a $2.9 million park bond issue to be consolidated with the June 2 primary election.

The bond election will have two propositions. One will be for $2,365,000 for land purchase and development of the 67 acre O'Hair property at Novato Boulveard and $600,000 for the development of a community center.

The council set a tax rate on the bonds for a 17 year retirement plan. The maximum would be 31 cents for the park and 6.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the community center, for a total of 37.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, according to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown. Brown said that the tax would be smaller when the city's assessed valuation increased.

Explorer I, the first U.S. satellite, has made over a half million trips around the world since being launched Jan. 31, 1958.

Bagley In Plan To Undermine Prop. 8

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to cut the ground from under Proposition 8 has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The June proposition, sponsored by the California Teachers Association and County Supervisors Association of California, would require the state to pay 50 per cent of school costs and 90 per cent of state and local welfare expenses.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, has opposed the proposition, which makes no provision for raising the $1.3 billion the program is estimated to cost.

Bagley's bill would undermine a key provision in the proposition, a provision that would prohibit the Legislature from cutting school tax rate limits existing when and if the proposition passed.

His bill, however, would cut the "existing" limits to one cent per $100 assessed valuation from June 1 to June 15 only. Thus, if his urgency measure passed before the June 2 primary election, the Legislature would retain the power to set school tax rates—despite the provision in the proposition.

Drug Case To Superior Court

Clarence Dale Taylor, 26, of Fairfax, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of driving under the influence of narcotics, possessing heroin and driving a car as a known addict, after a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

Taylor is to appear in court May 4 for arraignment.

He was arrested Nov. 7 when narcotics agents followed him from the San Rafael apartment of a woman who has been charged with heroin sales.

Ruth Lynn Johnson Heads Dimes March

Ruth Lynn Johnson of San Anselmo has been elected the new chairman of the Marin chapter of the March of Dimes by the chapter's executive board.

Other officers elected are Dr. John Plank of San Rafael, vice chairman; Mary T. Hewitt of Fairfax, secretary, and Donald R. Swing of San Rafael, treasurer.

Appeal Set On Releasing Kopechne File

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge withdrew objections today to the release of the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest transcript, but a free-lance court stenographer said he will appeal the decision.

U.S. District Court Judge Andrew J. Caffrey turned down a motion to bar release of the transcript but gave the stenographer, Sidney R. Lipman, until 3 p.m. today to appeal.

Lipman said he would appeal and his plea is to be heard before Chief Justice Bailey Aldrich of the First U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

LIPMAN'S CLAIM

Lipman claims that only he has the right to distribute copies of the transcript.

"We will be seeking a temporary injunction," Lipman said. "It should be decided one way or the other this aftennoon.

An attorney for Lipman said, however, that the notice of appeal could be accepted without a hearing and that it could be several days before a hearing is scheduled.

The 764-page transcript and a 12-page judge's report on the inquest had been scheduled for release at 11 a.m. today by Suffolk Superior Court.

However, Superior Court Judge Wilfred Paquet impounded the documents after Lipman took the issue to federal court. The transcript cannot be released without Paquet's consent.

The action was the latest legal tangle in the case involving Miss Kopechne, a 28-year-old Washington, D.C., secretary who drowned last July 19 in the car of U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

ACCIDENT SCENE

The car was found overturned off a bridge in a tidal pond at Chappaquiddick Island. Kennedy did not report the accident until about 10 hours after it occurred. He said he had been driving the car, but lost his way. He said he was able to escape but could not rescue Miss Kopechne.

Booster's Moon Crash A Success

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The rest of the Apollo 13 mission may be a washout but scientists are elated with the moonquake created by crashing the Saturn 5 booster rocket into the lunar surface.

The impact at 5:09 p.m. PST Tuesday sent a four-hour shudder through the moon that was recorded by a seismometer erected in the lunar Ocean of Storms last November by the Apollo 12 crew.

Describing the seismic signals radioed to earth as exciting data scientists said the moonquake proves that crashing man-made objects into the lunar sphere can be a powerful tool for ultimately unraveling the mystery of the moon's origin.

"We now have a powerful and effective method for investigating the lunar interior even if we never get a big meteor impact and even if we never get a moonquake," said Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia University.

Ewing, Dr. Gary Latham of Columbia's Lamont Geophysical Observatory and Dr. Frank Press of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology spoke at a news conference Tuesday, several hours after the booster rocket impact.

The three seismologists were baffled by the seismic signal received last November when the Apollo 12 lunar lander was purposely crashed in a similar experiment. Such an impact on earth would have produced a brief signal, but on the moon the seismic waves lasted an hour.

It was as if someone had struck a bell and it reverberated for 55 minutes, Ewing said then.

When the seismic signal received Tuesday was almost identical with the one last November, the scientists knew the Apollo 12 moonquake was not a unique event. It proved that man-made impacts can produce significant seismic data and that seismic investigations aren't dependent on meteor hits or natural moonquakes.

"Now we can think in terms of a series of studies, maybe four or five moon missions or so, where you have impacts of succeeding distances so that seismic waves penetrate deeper and deeper into the moon," said Press.

Scientists have known for several years from tracking data on spacecraft orbiting the moon that the lunar surface has many "mascons"—areas where the lunar material is apparently dense and has an enhanced gravitational pull. But they don't know what mascons are made of.

Press wants to use a lunar landing to place a seismometer on the edge of a mascon then crash a booster stage into the center of the area.

The seismologists have not agreed yet on what causes the strange reverberating seismic signals fro the spacecraft crashes.

Latham prefers the idea that the moon's outer shell is extremely broken up—a layer of jumbled blocks that bounces seismic waves like sound in an echo chamber.

Press thinks perhaps the impact of a spacecraft in the vacuum of the lunar atmosphere creates a "wave of debris" that fans out for miles under the surface.

"As this debris moves horizontally along the surface it continues to pump energy into the ground. It continues to excite seismic waves" he explains.

Cotati Session

The Cotati City Council is scheduled tomorrow to adopt updated versions of the building, electrical, plumbing and mechanical codes when it meets at 7:30 p.m. in the fire station.

Columnist's Testimony Is Ruled Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Testimony by a newspaper columnist that management "killed" a column he had written denouncing television violence has been ruled as inadmissible in hearings on KRON-TV's license renewal.

Testiomony by San Francisco Chronicle writer Charles McCabe was ordered stricken from the record Tuesday by Federal Communication Commission hearing officer Chester F. Naumowicz Jr.

KRON attorney Robert Heald contended it was inadmissible under the First Amendment, saying "A newspaper has the right to publish or not to publish what it wants to." The Chronicle and KRON-TV are under joint ownership.

McCabe, called as a witness by the FCC's Broadcast Bureau, said the article, the only one he had turned down in 10 years, was written after the murder of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

"It ended with an exhortation to people in the Bay Area who watched television to write the FCC and request a proceeding such as is now being conducted here to express their feeling about violence," McCabe said.

Warrant Is Issued In Marijuana Case

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 has been issued for a former Rancho Olompali resident who failed to appear Monday in Marin Superior Court for setting of a trial date.

James Edward Bartee, 23, is accused of having marijuana when arrested at the former hippie colony on Jan. 14, 1969.

INCOME TAX DEADLINE IS MIDNIGHT

Midnight today is the deadline for filing income tax returns.

If returns are filed after the deadline, there will be a charge of one per cent per month until the tax is paid, Joseph M. Cullen, district director of the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

Last year, late filers were charged only one half per cent per month, but new federal legislation in 1969 authorized the increase for all bills due after December 31, 1969.

Meter Fee Revisions Are Proposed

A subcommittee of the Petaluma Finance Committee has recommended revisions in city parking meter operations that could bring an additional $3,000 in annual revenue, committee chairman E. W. Schneider said.

The subcommittee, one of four seeking ways of supplementing the city treasury, recommended that the nickelmeter fee, now charged for two-hour parking, be levied on an hourly basis; that meters not be removed from the downtown area for traffic improvement until replacement revenue is found, and that utility companies and contractors putting meters out of service because of construction work be charged five cents hourly per meter.

The measures, the subcommittee said in its report to the full group Monday, could raise annual meter revenue from $7,000 to $10,000.

The subcommittee also recommended that consideration be given to returning a portion of parking fines to the general fund.

Proposals of other subcommittees were that the business license fee structure be completely reworked and that animal license fees be revised in order to put the service on a self-sustaining basis.

A tax on utilities was studied by another subcommittee, but the full group chose not to explore that possible means of revenue at this time, Schneider said.

Schneider said the subcommittees were given new assignments for reports in two weeks. Studied, he said, will be fire inspection and ambulance fees, a possible property tax increase, formation of a lighting district and new sewer connection fees.

The full committee will report to the city council when its work is concluded.

Yreka Voters Change Council

YREKA (UPI)—Yreka voters elected a brand new city council Tuesday and rejected a proposal to fluoridate the water supply.

Mayor Tom Colburn and councilman Byron Lewis were both soundly defeated and the third incumbent member did not run. The new winners were retiring city manager Alton Taylor, Don Carey and Ron Lamson.

The fluoridation measure was defeated 990 to 449.

Restricted Drug Charge Dismissed

A charge of possessing a restricted drug against James Stephen Maring, 18, of Lucas Valley, was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when it was learned that the drug allegedly found does not fall into the restricted category.

Maring had been accused of having stelazine when arrested in a car March 6 in Marinwood.

Guilty Pleas To Pot Possession

Lester Patrick Pendleton, 23, and Emily Link Killebrew, 25, both of San Francisco, pleased guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to reduced misdemeanor counts of possessing marijuana.

Sentencing was set for May 15.

They had earlier been accused of felony charges of the same offense as well as having a pipe for smoking pot.

The couple was arrested Feb. 21 when they were found sleeping in a makeshift tent behind an Inverness summer residence.

Hughes Ridding Air West Of Debts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Las Vegas billionaire Howard Hughes and his companies have paid off $20 million of Air West's debts since he bought the airline April 3, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Hughes Tool Co. said the regional carrier had "turned the corner" on its financial problems and asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to reconsider routes it had rejected.

Air West said it wants to operate certain routes between the Pacific Northwest and California, from Phoenix to Seattle and Portland nonstop, and service in Salt Lake City.

A spokesman for Air West and Hughes Tool Co. said CAB examiners refused permission before the purchase on grounds of poor financial condition and lack of unified management.

He said Hughes Air Corp., owned by Hughes and his Hughes Tool Co., paid $20 million in debts and "has thus honored its commitments to financially aid Air West . . . The way is now clear for increased advertising and the development of new routes which may be awarded by the board."

Just before the sale, former stockholders sold preferred stock to bring the net worth to $16.2 million as required in the purchase agreement.

Among debts paid by Hughes were: $1,724,000 for airports and landing fees.

Other debts paid included fuel supplies, $1,320,000; engine overhaul accounts, $1,429,000; accounts for parts and supplies, $1,811,000; data processing equipment leases, $505,000; telephone and communications services, $500,000; passenger food suppliers, $380,000, and other creditors $622,000.

The statement said the Bank of America was paid $267,000 in past-due interest, and past-due principal and interest payments totaling $765,000 were made to the Seattle First National Bank for its account and the American National Insurance Co. to cure defaults.

Religious Mail Stolen

Religious study material was stolen Friday from a paper box in the mailbox of Esther Ware at 119 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Other mail may have also been taken, police said.

Tax Charges For Bay Accountant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford Winter, 49, a Millbrae accountant, has been charged in a criminal information filed in U.S. District Court with failing to file income tax returns and filing false and fraudulent returns for clients.

Winter is to appear April 28 before Judge Alfonso Zirpoli to enter a plea.

The information, filed Tuesday, alleges Winter attempted "to evade and defeat" part of the income tax by a couple for 1963 and 1964. He also is charge with failing to file his own income tax for 1963 through 1965 covering $33,956 in income.

Bagley Endorses Riles For Post

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Wilson C. Riles, deputy state superintendent of public instruction seeking to unseat his boss, Max Rafferty, yesterday was endorsed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley praised Riles as "the epitome of the type of person needed for this office — an educator who can disassociate himself from politics and run the school system of California."

Bagley said that "the caliber of the man" was shown by the fact he had been a prime candidate of President Richard M. Nixon to be the U.S. Commissioner of education.

Deficit Talk Surrounding Budgets

San Rafael Board of Education with a tax election in the offing, faces deficit budgets for 1970-71.

Board members last night received without comment a preliminary high school district budget of $4,901,841 in the high school district and $4,629,605 in the elementary district.

Supt. John F. Plant explained that the budgets include 5 per cent cost-of-living pay raises and restoration of cuts made during the 1969-70 school year.

When the budgets were accepted without comment, acting chairman John C. Pfeiffer explained the board would take them under study and they would be reviewed at several meetings.

Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte said if the proposed general purpose tax rate hikes, 40 cents in the elementary district and 30 cents in the high school district are defeated at the polls June 2, $189,000 would have to be cut from the elementary budget and $300,000 from the high school budget.

He estimated that it would require a 17-cent tax rate hike in the elementary district and a 21 cent hike in the high school district to finance the preliminary budgets.

The elementary district budget is $346,586 higher than the estimated expenses for 1969-70, and the high school district budget of $117,414 higher than estimated 1969-70 expenses.

The high school budget however calls for reducing the reserve funds.

The budgets were projected on estimates of a decrease in elementary school enrollment of 133 and a 100 student increase in the high district.

Lumber Theft Seen

A witness has said he saw two youths steal lumber Sunday at 1:20 p.m. from a house under construction on Lagoon Place, San Rafael, police reported yesterday. The youths loaded the lumber onto a green truck and drove away, the witness said. The home is owned by Twentieth Century Homes of San Rafael, police said.

Sailboat Prowled

A $25 ventilator, $20 anchor chain and $15 anchor line were stolen Monday night from a sloop owned by Eugene R. Schleiger of 1898 Centro West, Tiburon and parked at Garvey's Boat Shop, 60 Bay Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

School Offices Hit By Flames

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fire caused $75,000 damage early today to the administrative building of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The blaze, which engulfed most of the one-story Spanish-style structure, was first seen by two passing sheriff's deputies who turned in the alarm.

Eight city fire units responded and controlled the fire in about 45 minutes. There were no injuries.

Arson investigators were attempting to determine if the three-day-old teachers' strike had any connection with the fire.

Board Of Education Shying Away From School Recreation Program

The San Rafael Board of Education indicated last night that it isn't going to start its own recreation program.

The idea for a school-operated system was offered by William Monti, chairman of the San Rafael Council for Phsical Education and Recreation.

It wasn't before the board of action, but board members generally held to their prior conviction that the schools should get out of the recreation business.

The board was has notified the City of San Rafael it intends to eliminate its annual $25,000 contribution to the city recreation program.

Monti said the school operated program at a cost of $25,000 would provide an improved program, but board member John C. Pfeiffer said this would be a move in the wrong direction.

There was a prolonged discussion including debate between Monti and Andrew J. Snyder, director of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

After listening to the debate, board member Paul L. Jones, said: "I was never more convinced we should get out of it, and let the city assume the responsibility."

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

Case Denied By Juvenile Court

The case of Gerald Clair Crane, 18-year-old Larkspur youth accused of having a cache of stolen dynamite, has been refused by Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court.

A probation officer said that Crane was turned down because he planned to leave his mother's home and go into business for himself before his arrest. He did not say what the business was.

Crane pleaded innocent to two counts of burglarizing the Hutchinson Co. rock quarry in Greenbrae as well as possessing 100 pounds of dynamite on March 15.

A preliminary hearing was set for May 12.

Marin Eyes Charges Vs. Loggers

Marin County supervisors yesterday called for legal sanctions—if possible—against an Oregon logging firm that the board feels is responsible for 14 spot fires this month on Bolinas Ridge.

Unanimously approving a motion by Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the board requested the district attorney to institute criminal action immediately if facts substantiate charges by county Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom against the logging operators.

The board further recommended that the state revoke the logging permit it issued to the firm of Mathews, Humbert and Walker of North Bend, Ore.

"I'm for making an example of them," Baar said. "I think we should soak them any way we can, both legally and morally."

In Sacramento, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, called for "an immediate investigation" of the county's allegations. In a letter to the state Board of Forestry, Bagley also said he would join in the request for revocation of the permit if the facts were as stated by the county.

The firm, which is running logging operations on the Ethel Righetti ranch at Bolinas Ridge, is accused by Bloom of leaving an unattended control fire April 1, which has started spot fires on the property ever since.

According to Bloom, the spot fires have on several occasions threatened valuable watershed property belonging to the Marin Municipal Water District.

The fire chief told the board yesterday his department has spent $1,836 in controlling the unattended fires.

An attorney for the firm, Hugh G. Lawrence, told the board his clients had secured the approval of a deputy state forest ranger before leaving the fire April 1.

Claiming the firm had complied with state regulations, Lawrence asked the supervisors to get specific facts from Bloom so they could "get the scope of things."

"The county counsel (Douglas J. Maloney) admits in his letter to you that he doesn't have all the facts," the attorney told the supervisors, "but then he goes right on anyway making his recommendation for criminal action."

"Do you arrest a person whose house has burned down because of faulty wiring?" Lawrence asked.

"You do if his neighbor's house burns down because of it," McInnis responded.

"Well that's not a criminal matter," Lawrence added, "that's civil, and it's no different in this case."

The board then agreed to let the district attorney determine if facts supported the charge that the loggers had violated public health and safety.

Off Critical List

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Leroy Rudolph, manager of the main San Rafael branch of the Bank of America, has been removed from the critical list and is "doing nicely," a Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital spokesman has reported. He was injured in a fall from a horse about two weeks ago in Santa Rosa.

Larkspur Schools Set Budget Session

The Larkspur School District board will take up its preliminary 1970-71 budget again when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the administration office, 20 Magnolia Avenue.

The board also is to hear a report on the proposed Larkspur summer recreation program and a report on teacher salary negotiations.

Marin Shuns Tijuana Look, Bans Roadside Peddling

An ordinance prohibiting roadside peddling without a license won unanimous approval by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

"The roadside north of Sausalito is getting to look like Tijuana to the border," declared Supervisor Michael Wornum, who moved for passage of the ordinance. Wornum also asked the County Administrator to let the sheriff know that the county now has an ordinance controlling roadside peddling. The ordinance will go into effect in 30 days.

The new law is aimed primarily at peddlers along the roads to Mill Valley, Sausalito and some areas of West Marin. It does not apply to any regularly established business which operates from a permanent and fixed place of business and complies with provisions of the county codes.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

HOUSEBOAT VIOLATIONS—Decided to wait one more week before moving ahead with legal action against some 150 code violations reported among houseboats in Richardson Bay. Supervisor Michael Wornum asked for one week's time to get a report on when Donald J. Arques' new 50-berth marina will be ready and which of the houseboats can be moved to the new marina.

JUVENILE HALL PLAN—Asked the county Department of Public Works to coordinate the installation of new gas and water lines and landscaping at the Marin County Farm and Juvenile Hall in Lucas Valley. Architect George V. Banning submitted a proposal to draw up master plans for utilities, drainage and landscaping for about $15,000. Supervisors said the job is not a big one, and county engineers should be able to coordinate the job.

ABATEMENT—Gave Robert Lekven of 1123 California Avenue, Mill Valley, 45 more days to get rid of his house, which slid down the hill about 75 feet last Jan. 22. Lekven asked for at least 30 days time to see if federal money is available to pay for demolition of his house.

AVIATION—Set April 28 as the time to discuss the proposed joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base by civilian and military planes. The Marin Aviation Commission recommended a limited civilian use of the existing Hamilton runway, whereas former aviation commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind is arguing for a separate civilian runway at Hamilton Field.

McNEAR'S BEACH — Indicated the beach opening will probably be delayed until late summer because the county has no reserves to get the park ready for opening on June 1. However, the supervisors decided to visit the beach next Tuesday noon and look for possibilities for a June opening.

LAGOON—Approved a recommendation that the Public Health Department look into a claim by an Army Corps of Engineers officer that Bolinas Lagoon is the most highly polluted body of water, being used by the public, in both California and Nevada.

TERMS — Unanimously approved a staff recommendation that the terms of office for two planning commission members-at-large be reduced from four years to two years starting July 1, 1971, and that the commissioners now serving in those seats be extended until 1971.

CHILDREN'S CENTER—Approved the transfer of operational functions of the Children's Center and preschool programs from the board of supervisors to the Marin County Board of Education, effective July 1.

HEALTH—Approved a previously considered ordinance setting fees and eligiblity standards for the Public Health Department, but deferred child health conference eligibility standards until June budget sessions.

PARKING — Approved proposed adjustments in Civic Center parking zones to provide more two-hour parking areas.

McCarthy Seeks Gas Tax Change

SACRAMENTO — A bill to eliminate all exemptions from the state's tax for fuel used in aircraft has been introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The tax, five cents per gallon, currently is not imposed on aircraft carrying cargo or passengers for hire, nor on crop dusting aircraft.

McCarthy's office said the purpose of the bill was to raise more cash for the state, but could offer no estimate of the additional revenue the bill would produce.

Miller Avenue Job Priority Is Hiked

Construction of Miller Avenue Extension in Mill Valley, which had been shoved back to 1973-74 in the county's capital improvements program, shot back up the priority list yesterday.

Marin County Board of Supervisors and County Administrator Alan Bruce agreed that some funds for Miller Avenue Extension could be allocated in 1970-71.

It came about when supervisors lopped off $320,000 which was earmarked for Sir Francis Drake widening next fiscal year.

The funds for Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Laurel Grove Avenue to Maple Avenue are left intact. However, widening of Drake Boulevard from Maple Avenue to the Ross Town line would be senseless until Ross decides to widen its portion, declared Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

"I think we should complete the widening from Laurel Grove to Maple but hold back on Maple to the Ross Town line," said Arrigoni. "It would be insane to widen to Ross General Hospital and then create a bottleneck there."

Deleting this portion of Sir Francis Drake widening meant a deletion of $320,000 in 1970-71.

Delighted with this unexpected windfall, Supervisor Michael Wornum asked that Miller Avenue Extension be moved up the prioity list, with at least $100,000 in 1970-71 to start filling the marshland from Miller Avenue to Shoreline Highway.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost warned that there are other obstacles besides financing on the Miller Avenue Extension, such as fill approval by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

"If we can get the other things worked out, let's put some money in for Miller Avenue Extension," urged Wornum.

Supervisors asked the county administrator to make the necessary changes in the capital improvements program.

John W. Brewer, county probation officer, asked for a $260,000 boys' dormitory at Marin Juvenile Hall for boys aged 6 to 13. They are now housed in a leased portable building, which is not fireproof and cannot be locked. Brewer said at least $22,000 should be set aside in 1970-71 to draw up plans for the boys' dormitory.

Chairman John F. McInnis noted that $30,000 is earmarked for 1971-72 for two classrooms at juvenile hall. Why not use the present portable building for classrooms and divert the $30,000 set aside for classrooms to start plans for a new boys' dorm, McInnis suggested.

Supervisors asked the county administrator to make the various changes suggested yesterday and bring back a refined capital improvements program at budget time in June.

Purse Stolen

Laverle R. Kelly of Brisbane reported her purse, check book, $112 in cash, wallet and credit cards were stolen March 20 near 24 Tiburon Street, according to San Rafael police.

Supervisors Tell Park-Rec Panel To Concentrate On East Marin

A county park at Toms Point on the northeast shore of Tomales Bay is out of the question, Marin County Board of Supervisors told members of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday.

The two groups met to air differences and improve communication.

Supervisors re-emphasized that the first priority in park acquisition and development must come in the populated eastern portion of the county. One good example is McNears Beach, purchased last month for a county park. Supervisors noted that the county reserve fund is so low that the county can't even spruce up McNears. Beach for opening this fiscal year.

Lothar Salin, chairman of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, said the supervisors's message on Toms Point is crystal clear, and the parks commission would not push for that acquisition.

Parks and Recreation Department's fight during later capital improvement budgeting, for more park acquisition ran up against a stone wall. Supervisors unanimously rejected both a San Geronimo Redwood Park and a recreation area on Petaluma River where Mira Monte Marina is now located. The county administrator had recommended rejection of both the redwoods and the Petaluma Creek purchase.

"We have plenty of redwoods already," said Supervisor Louis H. Baar. "You have Muir Woods and Samuel Taylor Park as a starter and 53,000 acres in Point Reyes."

Joske argued that those are state and federal parks, and a county redwood grove is needed where children can go for educational tours.

"Wouldn't federal people allow us to use Muir Woods?" asked Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Baar and Supervisor William A. Gnoss warned against purchase of the Mira Monte Marina area on Petaluma Creek. "That place floods," said Baar. "It's really a dog. You get stuck on the island out there and can't get back at high tide."

The county supervisors had also ignored recommendations made by the parks commission on the use of county matching funds to help senior citizen programs, commissioners complained during their workshop session.

This, said Chairman John F. McInnis, must have been just an oversight on the part of the county supervisors.

McInnis asked Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, to re-submit the recommendation on the senior citizen program so that the county supervisors can take another look.

"I think it got lost in the press of problems" said McInnis.

On still another project, a countywide tennis-swim center, the supervisors said they like the concept but want more details on where a 20-25 acre site can be found and how such a center can be financed.

Parks commissioners also wanted a park acquisition fund built up from admissions charged at McNears Beach, and possibly at Stafford Lake when that park is developed.

At least a part of the admission fees should go to pay for maintenance, said Chairman McInnis. Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. suggested that revenue from admission fees could help pay for operating and maintenance cost, while revenue from any concessions at the park can be set aside for park acqusition.

Week's Diseases

One hundred and fifty-two cases of streptococcus infection, 27 of gonorrhea, two each of syphilis and infectious hepatitis, and one of tuberculosis were reported in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, health officer.

Airport Funds Aid BART Study

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The city Public Utilities Commission approves the use of $50,000 in airport funds to help pay San Francisco's $77,000 share of a Bay Area Rapid Transit International Airport service study.

The commission voted Tuesday to help fund the $577,000 study which will determine how best San Francisco Airport can be serviced by BART. the remaining $27,000 will be credited to employe services.

The study is a joint San Francisco-BART-San Mateo County venture, two-thirds of which will be financed by a federal National Transportation Act grant.

San Mateo and BART have contributed $77,000 and $30,000 respectively to the study.

Pot Smuggling Attempt Denied

James Henry Curtin, 38, of Kentfield, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of attempting to smuggle marijuana into Marin County Jail.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 28.

Curtin is accused of having three marijuana cigarettes in his shoe when he arrived at the jail to serve a sentence on March 30.

British Vessel Puts Out Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A fire today in the engine room of the freighter Akaroa, carrying 550 passengers and crewmen, was reported extinguished and the ship radioed that no assistance was needed, the Coast Guard said.

The 584-foot ship of British registry was some 1,200 miles southeast of Bermuda when it reported the blaze. The distress call was heard by a commercial radio station which notified the Canadian Coast Guard.

They relayed the message to Coast Guard rescue controllers here who dispatched a rescue plane and the cutter Androscoggin. A spokesman said the cutter would continue to the scene at the Akaroa's request.

STILL AUTOGRAPH HOUNDS — Onetime actor, Gov. Ronald Reagan stil is besieged by young autograph seekers. He signed a few yesterday while returning to his Sacramento office after a news conference in which he declared that the state can do nothing about the Los Angeles teacher strike, which he said is a strike against children. (UPI Telephoto)

Reagan Defends His 'Bloodbath' Remark

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says "a great many people" agree with his "bloodbath" comment about campus demonstrators.

The governor, responding to a question recently about how to resolve campus violence, said: "If it takes a bloodbath, let's get it over with. No more appeasement."

At his weekly news conference Tuesday, Reagan said the comment generated "much ado about nothing.

"A figure of speech became a balloon that was inflated with the hot air of campaign oratory, took off and the last I saw it disappeared over the horizon. I don't think it can ever be wafted back again."

Reagan continued, "I haven't gotten an actual mail count, but I know that a great many people have been slapping me on the back and they didn't think it was a wrong figure of speech at all to describe the situation."

Reagan's press office later said "several dozen" letters have been received "but they have not been tallied."

The governor said, "I think there are people who agree it was a figure of speech and didn't think it was inappropriate.

"We were talking about a small dissident group in the campus that has made it plain now that they are not, as they pretended for some time over the last few years, concerned with legitimate student grievances. They are revolutionaries and they must be resisted."

Reagan said he "was talking about administrators who must meet their moment of truth and stand firm."

He said some administrators previously "temporized," hopisg "these people would react to reasonable debate. We have passed that point."

Spanish Republic Still In Exile

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Spanish Republic celebrated its 39th anniversary in exile Tuesday in an unpretentious home in downtown Mexico City, with no apparent animosity for the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

"All we want is a free determination by the Spanish people," the exiled government's charge d'affaires, Martinez Feduchy, said during the celebration at his home. The house is also the government's headquarters in Mexico.

"If the people freely accept a monarchy or a republic or a democracy—we'll recognize it," said Feduchy. "Whatever the Spanish people decide in a free election is acceptable to us."

Cosmos Launched

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched No. 333 in its series of unmanned Cosmo Satellites, Tass reported. The official news agency said Cosmos 333 was in orbit 139 to 165 miles above the earth.

Demos' School Aid Demands May Slow Reagan's Tax Reform Plans

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The political battle over Gov. Reagan's billion dollar property tax relief plan is taking shape around the question whether ta reform should be turned into a vehicle for increasing state support of schools.

"We have planted the seeds of a taxpayers revolt, and we must change this first," Assemblyman William T. Bagley, author of the tax reform plan, told the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee Tuesday.

"The homeowners need this exemption more than the schools need an extra $500 million," added Bagley, R-San Rafael. "I submit that although there is no major new money for schools, we are creating a better atmosphere . . . adding to voter morale."

That, he said, would help schools raise more local money.

Bagley resisted repeated attempts by Democratic committee members to add extra school support to the reform proposal during the second of three hearings scheduled on the bills. The committee is expected to vote on the reform package Thursday.

"I would support proposals to give schools more support . . . but not here, not in this proposal," Bagley said. "I think this is a good enough package to support without encumbering it with extra school support," he said.

Said Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, "You have here a reasonably well balanced tax package . . . but we have to do something for schools, and we must do it here or we will throw (the reform proposal) off balance."

Bagley termed property tax relief "the most critical need today in our society." The tax reform plan would cut property taxes by $588 million next year and $993 million by fiscal 1973-74 by increasing sales taxes, adopting income tax withholding and making other changes.

Democrats are expected to press their amendments Thursday. A series of minor amendments by Bagley were adopted at the Tuesday hearing.

Lobbyists for manufacturers, retailers, real estate interests, the Teamsters Union and the California Taxpayers Association all endorsed the reform plan while the California Teacher Association and County Supervisors Association of California argued the reform didn't do enough.

Los Angeles County Supervisor Warren M. Dorn complained that increasing state support of welfare from 50 per cent to 70 per cent didn't go far enough to relieve countries while the proposed statewide school equalization property tax is a "subterfuge usurping the last tax base of local government."

Added Teachers' lobbyist Cal Rossi, "The school districts have no more reserve, and school teachers are being laid off throughout the state. You have 206 pages of tax reform legislation and say, 'we're not going to complicate it with school support' — it's incredible."

Base-Novato Sewer Pact Snarled?

The agreement between the Air Force and the Novato Sanitary District on handling sewage from Hamilton Air Force Base, expired in August 1967, and the new agreement is lost somewhere in bureaucratic red tape.

The sanitary district board Monday night instructed Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph to find out where the new agreement is bogged down.

The Novato Sanitary DIstrict Board also:

ALARM SYSTEM—Authorized a $2,200 alarm system which would flash a warning to the police station and the main treatment plant of any failure in power or high water. This will serve the main treatment plant, the Bahia treatment plant and the Olive Avenue pump station.

STANDARDS—Asked Joseph to find out what standards for discharge are to be set by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, and to file a report on the Novato Sanitary District with the control board.

LOS ROBLES—Accepted the mains and pump station to Los Robles mobile home park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

Senator Seeking Repayment Of Civil War Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to force the federal governmen to pay the town of Frederick, Md., $200,000 plus interest for a "Civil War debt" has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md.

Mathias said Confederate Lt. Gen. Jubal Early stayed in the town in 1864 and demanded $200,000 ransom in return for not destroying the community.

Many historians say the 24-hour delay enabled Gen. Ulysses S. Grant time to mass his forces and halt a later Confederate drive on Washington.

Mathias, saying it took the town 87 years to repay the banks that loaned the money to the town, said "the federal government should repay the western Maryland community its $200,000 plus interest."

Massachusetts Statute Goes Beyond Vietnam

The State of Massachusetts has done more than challenge the Vietnam War in enacting a law which says that Bay State servicemen may not be sent into combat abroad against their will unless in a war declared by the United States Congress.

Most of those commenting on the Massachusetts law have viewed it merely as it pertains to Vietnam. And most of them have dismissed it rather lightly.

ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY Drummond, in their article on the opposite side of this page, suggest that Massachusetts has picked the wrong war to challenge. They hold that sending U.S. troops into combat in Vietnam is thoroughly constitutional because of the Tonkin Gulf Resolution voted by both houses of Congress on Aug. 10, 1964.

The administration, however, does not put such high store by the Tonkin Gulf Resolution. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week voted unanimously to terminate that resolution. It did so without opposition from the President. The word from the White House was that the administration does not regard the Tonkin Gulf Resolution as the legal basis for our fighting in Vietnam.

FLORA LEWIS, who is classed as a liberal columnist, has called the Massachusetts law "unique, ingenious, and almost certainly unconstitutional." James J. Kilpatrick, who is classed as very conservative, has called it "a remarkably fatuous law."

Dean Robert McKay of New York University Law School has been quoted as predicting that if the Supreme Court rules, it will hold that since federal law is superior to state law, the Massachusetts statute is void.

MAYBE SO. But these commentators have overlooked something.

The U.S. Supreme Court, under both Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and his predecessor, Earl Warren, has studiously avoided ruling on the constitutionality of American fighting in Vietnam. It has accepted none of the several cases carried through the appellate courts in an attempt to get such a ruling.

This reticence hardly indicates that the eight justices of the Supreme Court are supremely confident that there is no question about the constitutionality of our involvement. If they were, it seems unlikely they would try so hard to avoid saying so.

And it will be very difficult for them to dodge acceptance of a direct challenge by a state.

MASSACHUSETTS' contention is based primarily on Article I, Section 11, of the U.S. Constitution, which gives Congress the power "to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water."

The federal defense of Vietnam involvement must rest largely on Article II, Section 2, which says the President "shall be commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy of the United States." (Nobody has ever bothered to add the Air Force.)

But if the commander-in-chief can send troops to fight anywhere in the world without a declaration of war, what is the point of Article I, Section 11?

THIS IS THE KIND of states' rights challenge that has not been raised in a long time. And it goes far beyond Vietnam.

It goes to the heart of what has become U.S. policy of risking war by sending troops into "hot spots." It brands as meaningless such subterfuges as the Tonkin Gulf Resolution and President Harry Truman's ordering U.S. troops into a "police action" in Korea under the banner of the United Nations.

If sustained, it could change completely the nature of U.S. foreign policy. And if it is rejected, the arguments and the court's ruling, should at the very least provide some needed guidelines on the extent of presidential authority.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Old Movie Sets May Help Governor Get New Mansion

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Another attempt on the part of private enterprise to rake together enough money for a governor's mansion for California is to be made next week, and it looks like this one may turn out some results.

The Pasadena Area chapter of the American Institute of Interior Designers has announced it will stage what may turn out to be the largest, strictly invitational benefit party ever held in the state.

THE EVENT will be a black tie premiere of a half century of Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer memorabilia. It will be held on the sound stages of the MGM studios in Culver City.

More than 600 of the state's American Institute of Interior Designers members are involved in the planning and hosting of the party, which they expect to attract more than 4,000 of the state's cultural, social and civic leaders.

The fund "will help finance a governor's residence that reflects the prestige, culture and heritage of California" says Richard M. Holmes, chairman.

"Guests will roam," the promoters say, "through three vast sound stages covering more area than several football fields, overflowing with hundreds of thousands of costumes, antiques, period furnishings, vintage firearms and cars, paintings, imports, sculpture, miniatures, and scale models seen in more than 2,200 films over the past half century."

The big event is scheduled to be held April 22, after which the display will be on exhibition, and auctioning it off will start May 3.

THE MATTER of a governor's mansion has been one of controversy for many years, brought to a head when Governor and Mrs. Reagan moved out of the 93-year-old mansion because it was unsafe. The mansion not only has been unsafe, but inconvenient and miserably located for many years. It is now a museum accommodating tourists for a price.

A group of civic minded citizens started a fund for a new mansion, and acquired a site on the American River, but could not come up with enough money to construct a residence for the chief executive. The state legislature has failed to appropriate funds for the state to do the construction.

The interior designers party may be a gimmick to help get rid of the MGM inventory by a subsequent auction sale. But at least, it may start the wheels moving.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

If Dog Could Write —An Appreciation

If our lovable and friendly German shepherd, Baron, could write I suspect that he would. . .say something like the following:

"Last week I bit my loving master on his hand. Today I was released after 10 days of quarantine restriction, a sentence imposed by the Marin County Health Department. I bit the hand that feeds me, not in anger, but from severe pain while my leg was caught and twisted. I had no other way of telling him that he might break my leg by pulling on it.

"I am a purebred dog, licensed, and my rabies shots are always up-to-date. Since I was brought home almost two years ago as a clumsy big-footed eight-week pup I have had the best of love and affection. I never run loose unattended. I've been raised on the best food, vitamin pills, and good bones.

"With this background one might question the necessity for my quarantine. But neither my master nor I hold any grievance because of my restriction. To the contrary, we wish to commend the Marin County Health Department and Humane Society for their strict and efficient enforcement of a law designed for the protection of everyone. Representatives of the Humane Society visited me three times, the last being the day of my release. Now I can resume our walks on a leash, and I can play with the neighborhood kids. . .

"Marin is marvelous, even for dogs! Let's keep it that way.

Howling yours,
Baron von Marin.

"P.S. The hand I bit belongs to the one who wrote this for me."

Candidate's Signs Called Pollution

Question: Who is the "conservationist" candidate for state senator whose signs have suddenly sprung up every 100 yards along Tiburon Boulevard and other county areas?

Answer: He's a Behr for polluting the environment.

NAN HEPP
Mill Valley.

Zucker Explains His Decision

Some people have suggested that I was wrong in seeking the office of Marin County supervisor without resigning my position as county planning director. I feel so deeply about the rightness of this decision that I believe your readers should receive this personal letter from me.

Letters to "What Our Readers Say" are welcomed. Only letters with signatures and addresses will be considered. Please keep them under 200 words. We reserve the right to cut letters.

In order to run for supervisor without infringing upon government time or creating possible conflict of interest, I voluntarily asked for and was granted a leave of absence without pay, even though the county administrator recommended that I be fired. It is well known that at one point after the filing I decided not to run, feeling my family's sacrifices were simply too great a price to pay. In the final analysis, however, my wife and I decided that I simply must run to do what we as two voters and taxpayers could do to help relieve peoples frustration with government, regardless of the personal consequences.

There is no legal precedent or ethical reason why a public employee in my circumstances should not seek office. The Supreme Court has again and again upheld the employees right to such activity and no valid county ordinance prohibits it. Several similar precedents exist in Marin County. My being on leave avoids any conflict of interest. I have gained the reputation of a candid person, and in so doing have created no confidential relations with the board and administrator which create problems of ethics. In terms of professionalism I ask what greater ethics can there be than serving the public and openly debating the issues?

Our Democratic form of government is in serious trouble in the country—serious trouble because people increasingly feel that they can not participate in government—serious trouble because many governmental officials feel they can no longer take the public into their confidence. What does Marin County government have to hide? What can an honest open discussion of issues do to government? Nothing—I suggest—other than give us a stronger, more viable form of democracy.

PAUL C. ZUCKER
Terra Linda.

TRY AND STOP ME

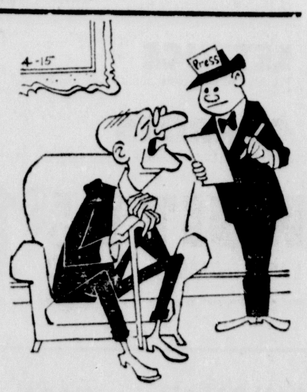
By BENNETT CERF

A socialite octogenarian wriggled angrily in an easy chair in his exclusive Park Avenue club and informed a reporter, "I know nothing, sir, about what you are pleased to call the generation gap. As for long hair, young man, I don't know anyone with hair!"

DIALOGUE:

1. "There, there, little girl. I wouldn't cry like that if I were you." "You can cry any way you like, mister; this is the way I cry."

2. "What would you do if you had all the money in the world?"



"Pay my wife's bills—as far as it would go."

THE DRUMMONDS

Massachusetts May Have Picked Wrong War To Challenge

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The state of Massachusetts is raising the wrong question about the wrong war.

A law passed by the state legislature and signed by the governor challenges the legality of the war in Vietnam.

But as so many people fail to remember, or conveniently forget, it was not President Johnson who neglected to go to Congress for approval to help defend South Vietnam. He did exactly that.

It was President Truman who neglected to go to Congress for approval to help de-

THE FACT IS: Every military measure which President Johnson and President Nixon have taken to support the defense of South Vietnam has been authorized by Congress.

The unrestricted use of U.S. forces was explicitly endorsed by the "Southeast Asia Resolution" which was passed by Congress Aug. 7, 1964, by a House vote of 414 to 0 and by a Senate vote of 88 to 2.

Neither President has acted beyond the terms of this conal resolution.

MASSACHUSETTS is raising the wrong question.

Gov. S. Francis W. Sargent says that the intent of his legislature is "to present our highest tribunal with the grave questions of whether and under what circumstances an individual can be required to serve in any armed conflict that lacks a formal congressional declaration of war."

This question misses the center of the target. Surely the precise question is whether Congress has the constitutional right to authorize the use of the nation's armed forces to help a treaty ally defend itself against aggression and to do this without making a formal act of war.

That's the heart of the matter, and that seems to us to be the question the Supreme Court may ultimately be asked to pass upon.

THERE IS NO basis for doubt about how explicitly and how completely Congress authorized U.S. participation in the Vietnamese war. It said:

"Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives that Congress approve and support the determination of the President as commander-in-chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

Congress went further. It added:

"Consonant with the Constitution of the United States and the Charter of the United Nations and in accordance with its obligations under the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty, the United States is, therefore, prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member or protocol state in the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom."

CONGRESS ALSO gave its reasons. It stated in its resolution: "The United States regards as vital to the national interest and to world peace the maintenance of international peace and security in Southeast Asia."

We fail to see how there could be a clearer, fuller, more precise congressional authorization of the U.S. role in Vietnam than contained in this resolution.

President Truman made a grave mistake not to take his Korean decision to Congress. Mr. Johnson did right to take his Vietnam decision to Congress. President Nixon has said he would never deploy ground forces in battle without approval of Congress.

THE ONLY QUESTION conceivably at issue is whether Congress in approving the use of U.S. forces in combat must rest this approval on a formal declaration of war. It is doubtful that any court would so rule.

In the 1964 resolution, Congress did not wish to declare war because such a declaration greatly enlarges the powers of the President and has wide international consequences. Congress was right.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Russia Turns To West In Foodstuff Shortage

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The faltering Soviet economy has made the Russians eager buyers in Western markets.

Performance of the Russian economy was dismally poor in 1969. That economic slowdown has occurred at a time when the Russian people are impatiently seeking to buy consumer goods.

Despite the comparatively low wages in the Soviet Union, Moscow's man in the street is ready to buy and able to pay. According to some estimates, Russian men and women have as much as $40 billion tucked away in capitalistic savings accounts.

To meet this accumulated consumer demand, the Soviet Union is looking to the West for consumer goods and for materials from which consumer goods can be fashioned. Strategic materials are on the shopping list too, of course.

Until rather recently, Russia and Communist China swapped their surpluses of many strategic metals and materials. With the two Communist super-owers now at one another's throats, that friendly barter arrangement has gone by the boards.

Much of the Kremlin's purchasing is still done secretly, but the Russians are known to have bought large quantities of tin in the West. Russia produces some tin, but it used to get additional tin supplies from Red China.

In some instances, Russia and China apparently are bidding against one another in western markets. Both have been heavy buyers of copper, for example, and trade experts say the two Communist powers, by their purchases, prevented a western world copper surplus last year.

ACCORDING TO the boastful predictions of former Premier Nikita S. Krhuschev, Russia was to have overtaken the United States by 1970 in the production of meat and milk. However, Russian agriculture has shared in the slow economic pace.

Consequently, the Kremlin is reported negotiating to buy as much as 80,000 tons of butter for Russian tables from the large surplus of the European Common Market. Russian buyers are also trying to buy beef and mutton from Australia and New Zealand, and in Latin America.

Under a recently signed agreement, Russia will purchase nearly 3.5 million long tons of wheat and flour from Canada.

Cocoa is another consumer item which has been purchased extensively in free world markets. According to one estimate, Russia doubled its imports of cocoa last year, buying in Africa and Brazil, as well as in Europe.

TO FINANCE their purchases, the Russians are stepping up their shipments of traditional exports, furs, for example, and nickel, as well as sugar and diamonds.

Free world purchases got nearly twice as much nickel from Russia last year as they had obtained in recent years, according to trade estimates.

A single sale of 100,000 tons of Russian sugar to refiners in Britain was recently reported. Diamond shipments to Britain were up more than 50 per cent in 1969 over the previous year.

State Testing Report Gives Data For Judging Schools

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Little Happy Valley Elementary School District in Santa Cruz County, with average daily attendance of only 86 pupils, ranked No. 1 in sixth grade reading scores among California school districts last year. To do so, it spent $457 per pupil on costs of instruction (which include most, but not all, of the costs of school operation).

Emery Unified School District in Alameda County ranked No. 1 in per-pupil instruction costs, at $1,574. Its sixth grade pupils ranked 257th on the reading tests.

THESE ARE AMONG disclosures in a new report on the state testing program produced by the California Department of Education, which shows spending, class sizes, minority racial enrollment, and other data along with the rank on the reading tests.

The top 10 on the reading score list (actually 11 because of a tie for 10th place) included three districts in San Mateo County, two each in Contra Costa and Marin, and one each in San Diego, Fresno, Los Angeles and Santa Cruz counties.

In order, behind Happy Valley, they were: Orinda Elementary, Contra Costa County (2,495 average daily attendance), Rancho Santa Fe, San Diego County (297 a.d.a); Moraga Elementary, Contra Costa (1,962); Menlo Park Elementary, San Mateo (1,687); Big Creek Elementary, Fresno (152); Kentfield Elementary, Marin (1,307); Portola Valley Elementary, San Mateo (908); Hillsborough Elementary, San Mateo (1,211); Ross Elementary, Marin, (469), tied with Beverly Hills Unified, Los Angeles (4,993).

Of these, only two — Big Creek and Beverly Hills — showed up among the top 10 spenders per pupil. (Some little one-room school districts which showed very high costs per pupil were not included in the reading tests.)

TOP 10 SPENDERS, in terms of instructional costs per pupil, were, in order: Emery Unified; Borrego Springs Unified, San Diego County, which ranked No. 6 on the reading scores; Elk Hills Elementary, Kern County, which ranked 188; Big Creek; Shasta Elementary, Shasta County, ranked 277; Maricopa Unified, Kern County, ranked 270; Buena Vista Elementary, Kern County, ranked 237; Beverly Hills, and Sausalito Elementary, Marin County, ranked 228. (Worst possible rank on the sixth grade reading scores was 301 because of numerous ties.)

To large extent, the districts topping the reading tests also had children ranking at or near the top in intelligence quotient tests. This bore out to an extent an often-heard contention that bright children learn to read on their own and the teaching has little to do with it. However, there were enough variations from this pattern to show that the teaching definitely can affect the children's reading accomplishment.

The sixth graders of Happy Valley district, who ranked No. 1 in reading, ranked No. 19 in median IQ, while those of Ross, No. 1 in IQ, squeezed in a tie for 10th in reading. Of the top 10 IQ score districts, six — Ross, Kentfield (No. 3 in IQ), Hillsborough (No. 6); Big Creek (No. 7), Orinda (No. 8), and Beverly Hills (No. 10) — made the top 10 in reading.

THE DATA disclosed a pattern in the reading accomplishments in districts with large enrollment of minority races. Most districts with a majority of pupils from the minority races placed lower in reading than in IQ scores, and the spread generally increased as the percentage of minority pupils increased. However, there were enough exceptions to prove the pattern can be broken.

As the top 10 lists suggest, there was no correlation between amount spent per pupil and the reading accomplishments. A single county — Alameda — will serve to illustrate the typical situation. Highest in reading scores among Alameda County districts was Piedmont Unified, placing No. 15. In spending per pupil, it ranked No. 146. As already noted, Emery Unified was top spender per pupil in the state but came out No. 257 on the reading scores. Lowest spending per pupil in Alameda County was in Murray Elementary School District, which ranked No. 611, but its sixth grade pupils placed No. 103 in reading.

The data in the report gives an opportunity to gauge to some extent which districts are getting the best returns per dollar spent on the schools.

Viaduct Project Well Ahead Of Schedule

The $3 million viaduct now under construction in San Rafael is about two months ahead of schedule, the California Division of Highways has announced. The project was originally due for completion next Jan. 1.

When Murphy-Pacific Enterprises of Oakland has completed the 2,800-foot-long structure, it will carry three lanes of traffic southbound on Highway 101. The existing highway will be converted to three northbound lanes.

The California Division of Highways also announced:

SPENCER AVENUE — A $61,000 project to provide an additional northbound land on Highway 101 at Spencer Avenue near Sausalito is 35 per cent completed.

TRUCK SCALES — The Valentine Corp. of San Rafael has been awarded a $41,000 contract to install changeable signs on Highway 101 at the north city limits of San Rafael to alert truck drivers to the truck scale house.

TIBURON BOULEVARD — A $4,600 contract has been awarded to Merz Brothers Construction Co. to clear a slide from Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, just east of Cecilia Way in April if weather permits.

SAN PEDRO ROAD — Design is almost complete on a project to construct a ramp and frontage road on Highway 101 between San Pedro Road and the Forbes Avenue overhead, San Rafael, but funds have not yet been allocated.

MUIR BEACH — Design work for widening the Big Lagoon Bridge at Muir Beach has been completed, but no funds for the project have been allocated.

ROUTE 37 — Funds have been approved for constructing bus stops on Highway 37 at the Atherton Avenue intersection. Bids will be sought in April.

IMPROVEMENT — $352,000 has been budgeted for improving road surfaces in Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties. Work on Highway 1 between Stinson Beach and the Sonoma County line is included.

MARKERS — Funds have been approved for placing pavement markers on Highway 1 between the junction with Highway 101 and the Sonoma County line.

Rohnert Park Rec Panel Questions Hair Hiring Ban

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission has recommended a look at city policy banning hirsute employees on the recreation staff.

The commission, acting Monday night on a request from Gregory Jilka of the Associated Students at Sonoma State College, asked the city council to review the regulation for possible revision to "go along with the changing times," according to Commission Chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen.

Rasmussen said the policy requires staff members to be clean shaven, neat and to keep their hair trimmed.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

POOL — Approved summer pool rates, unchanged from last year.

PETITION — Suggested that youths in the audience who voiced a need for a bowling alley and movie theater in the community organize petitions for possible presentation to developers.

RESIDENTS — During review of programs offered by the city, heard citizen suggestions for additions, such as boxing or judo classes.

DEVELOPMENT — Heard a committee report on the progress of park development plans. Drawings may be presented to the commission within a month.

The Gourmet Touch of Wine Jellies

Hostesses looking for something to give a little gourmet fillip to breakfast, brunch, luncheon or dinner may want to try the recipes for wine jellies given below.

Or if they want to try how they taste first, they will find the jellies available at the rummage and bake sale to be sponsored Saturday by the Mill Valley guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley.

Any of the following recipes are said to be delicious with hot rolls or biscuits or as an accent to enhance the flavor of meats replacing the traditional apple sauce with pork, mint with lamb or chutney with various dishes.

RED PORT JELLY

1¾ cup mellow ruby port
3 cups sugar
½ bottle liquid pectin

Mix wine and sugar in top of a double broiler. Place over boiling water; stir until sugar is completely dissolved, about five minutes. Remove from heat, but leave jelly over hot water. Stir in pectin. Skim off foam. Pour into sterilized jars or glasses, leaving ½ inch at top. Cool slightly, then cover with ¼ inch hot melted paraffin. Makes about four half pints.

CHAMPAGNE JELLY

The bubbles are the feature of this jelly. Wait until the jelly is almost firm, then stir briefly to form bubbles.

1¾ cup champagne, a sweet champagne is best
3 cups sugar
½ bottle liquid pectin

Using a double boiler, mix wine and sugar until sugar is completely dissolved. Remove from heat but leave jelly over hot water. Stir in pectin. When mixed well, remove it from the hot water, cover pan and let stand at room temperature. Do not stir for bubbles until ready. To test for readiness, wait two to two and a half hours, then tilt the pan at an angle. Pull away the top film from the pan side with a rubber spatula. Jelly is ready when it pulls away from the side of the pan. Skim off any foam. Stir vigorously for a couple of seconds to form bubbles. Pour into champagne glasses or other sterilized glasses. Seal with melted paraffin. This jelly cannot be processed in boiling water. Serve chilled.

GERMAN MAY WINE JELLY WITH WOODRUFF HERB

7 cups sugar
1 quart May wine
½ to 1 teaspoon lemon rind
Pinch of woodruff herb (found on Mount Tamalpais)
½ basket fresh strawberries. If one box of frozen strawberries is used, defrost and add during the last 30 seconds.
2 bottles pectin

Mix ingredients and bring to a rolling boil. Add pectin, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil for 30 seconds. Remove and skim off foam. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal with melted paraffin.

Peruvian Foods Sold On Street

By JEANNE LESEM

LIMA (UPI)—The tantalizing aromas of street foods follow you everywhere in Peru.

Construction workers at a work site buy hot plate lunches from pushcart vendors, who serve on heavy restaurant-weight china. They also sell finger food—including empanadas, or meat pies, tamales and humitas.

But anticuchos are the hottest meat snack—literally and figuratively. They're bits of grilled beaf heart that have been marinated in a peppery sauce, then grilled and served with more peppery sauce.

They were served frequently to a group of North American newsmen and newswomen during a trip to Lima as guests of Improtur, S.A., to attend the opening of a new restaurant. The Peruvian firm is a subsidiary of Braniff International.

At a street fair, we watched a buxom young Indian woman make picarones, doughnut-type confections.

Street vendors of uncooked foods also are commonplace. You wonder who buys from the women we saw squatting at the entrance of a suburban supermarket with baskets of fruit.

The store itself resembled a North American one, except for the meat department. There everything was sold from an open cooler amply supplied with long-handled forks and skimmers that customers used to place the meat or poultry of their choice in plastic bags. Attendants weighed and ticketed the bags.

MRS. FREDERICK Baker, left, looks on as Mrs. Thomas Kearney adds an ingredient to the wine jelly they are making for a bake sale Saturday. Members of the Mill Valley Guild of the Boyd Museum of Science have been making the jellies for the sale to be held in conjunction with their annual fund-raising rummage sale. Spring-Time Chopped Steak For A Slim Summer Figure

With the spring and summer months fast upon us and fashion emphasizing clingy fabrics, today's woman is most interested in maintaining the good figure she has kept through the winter.

Remembering it is easier to control weight before one becomes overweight she can serve spring-time chopped steaks with Bearnaise sauce to the delight of the entire family. To complete the meal and meet nutritional needs, merely add a generous tossed green salad, hard rolls and skimmed milk. Use a low-calorie salad dressing if desired.

The dieter might prefer to substitute diet garlic dressing for the Bearnaise sauce as well as reducing the oval patty to a 3 to 4 ounce size.

SPRING-TIME CHOPPED STEAKS

2 pounds ground beef chuck or round
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 egg
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
6 servings (18 to 24 spears) hot cooked asparagus
Bearnaise Sauce, recipe follows

Combine first 4 ingredients; mix well. Shape into six flat oval patties about ¾ inch thick. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat source to desired doneness, 15 to 18 minutes, turning at end of 8 to 9 minutes. Top with asparagus spears and serve with Bearnaise Sauce. Yield,: 6 servings.

BEARNAISE SAUCE

3 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons sliced green onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
3 tablespoons dry white wine or water
2 egg yolks.
1/3 cup melted butter or margarine
¾ cup salad dressing
Salt and white pepper to taste

Combine first 3 ingredients in saucepan; simmer gently until liquid is reduced by half. Stir in wine or water; set aside. Beat egg yolks until very thick and lemon colored; beat in butter or margarine. Cook egg mixture in top of double boiler over gently simmering water until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Blend in wine mixture then salad dressing. Add salt and pepper to taste. Yield: 1 2/3 cups.

Remove Bass Taste

When it is not convenient to skin or fillet bass, eliminate the characteristic "of" taste by scaling the fish and using a soft brush to scrub it with soap. Then rinse the bass in clear water before cleaning it.

Salads With Cottage Cheese

Cottage cheese blends so well with so many other foods that an imaginative cook need never duplicate a dish containing this dairy food.

Because one-half cup of cottage cheese has as much protein as two cups of fresh milk, this diary food is ideal for a family which includes a weight-watching father, a calorie counting daughter, a teen-age athlete and a very young child. They all need lots of body-building protein, calcium, and other minerals and vitamins.

The great variety of cottage cheese available makes daily menu-planning a simple matter. Choose from small or large curd, creamed or diet-packed, mixed with fruit or chives, or blend your own with herbs, onion or fresh canned fruits.

"Spring-Green Salad" gives a hint of the many ways a simple cottage-cheese gelatin salad can be varied. Crunchy celery, a touch of onion, and even a dash of vinegar make this a special spring green salad.

VEGETABLE DRESS-UP DRESSING

(Makes 1½ cups dressing or six servings)

1 cup sour cream or cottage cheese or ½ cup of each
¼ cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
Dash seasoned pepper
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
2 Tablespoons chopped pimento

Combine sour cream or cottage cheese, buttermilk, lemon juice, seasoned salt and papper. Mix until smooth. Stir in ripe olives and pimento. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours to blend flavors. This dressing will keep for two weeks, refrigerated.

Line individual salad plates or bowls with lettuce. Arrange two or three pieces of each of four or five vegetables on each plate. Top with about ¼ cup dressing.

Suggested vegetables: artichoke hearts, cooked carrots, canned tomato wedges, canned green beans, cooked cauliflower or any canned, fresh or frozen cooked vegetable.

BASIC COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

½ cup cottage cheese
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons sour cream

To the above ingredients you may add pickle relish, or minced onion, or chpped chives, or capers, or blue cheese or a combination of any of these to suit your taste. Beat with a rotary beater until all ingredients are well blended.

LEFT OVER vegetables are made into gourmet fare by "vegetable dress-up dressing." Served with hot buttered buns and a tall glass of milk, this salad makes a vitamin-packed lunch that tastes good too.

Will the real peanut butter please stand up.

(Hint: it's the one that's offering 10¢ off on your next jar.)

There are three of us. The famous brands. The "good" ones. But spread all three and you'll see: Two just lie there. Kind of plain and punchless. Alas, no real character to call their own.

And then there's one—the only easy-eatin' peanut butter with the grownup taste. The taste of the peanuts is so big and rich, it leaps off the bread. So creamy, it nearly spreads itself. So rich with the grow-on protein of peanuts—why, you can just watch a little guy grow on it. So why don't you?

Drumming Up Political Action

Marin Women

A fresh, creative approach to political action has developed in the American Association of University Women's Mill Valley Branch, thanks to the ideas and leadership of Mrs. James Schock, chairman of the group's political awareness section.

Two successful luncheons, one to "Save the Bay" and the other to stimulate interest in Southern Marin planning, "Space for Living", have triggered a new sense of involvement among Southern Marin women in political issues which are important to them and their families.

This year the national AAUW slogan is "Action is Our Bag", and Trubee Schock is dedicated to the belief that ideas must be implemented by action — not the negative action of the protest-marcher and picketer, but the positive action of working through established political channels for legislation and candidates supporting causes she feels are important.

AFTER THE frustrating experience of working on two unsuccessful political campaigns, Mrs. Schock, an artist by training and profession, realized a new approach was necessary to make political action attractive and exciting to the women of her community.

First she proposed a new study section, political awareness, to the AAUW board of 1968-69. Possibilities for political action on issues affecting their communities are now presented at this group's monthly meetings by speakers, representing both major political parties. As a nonpartisan group, AAUW does not support any particular candidates but does take a stand on issues and ballot measures.

One of last spring's speakers, Nancy Swadesh, discussed the crucial status of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and at her suggestion the political awareness group decided to organize Mill Valley precincts to bring the issue to the attention of the voters.

Trubee Schock enlisted the support of a politically-oriented friend, Mrs. Burton Wise, who offered her Mill Valley home for a luncheon meeting. Trubee designed invitations, planned a menu of low-caloric "finger foods", and asked five political figures to explain why immediate action was necessary to save the bay. After lunch precinct lists were distributed, and about 70 women left with a feeling of total commitment to what turned out to be a successful campaign to continue a strong BCDC.

A SECOND ACTION luncheon, "Space for Living", developed this spring from a joint meeting of the political awareness and conservation study sections of AAUW. In studying the Richardson Bay marshlands, the group was appalled at the lack of coordination and overlapping of political districts they discovered and decided to look into regional planning.

City planners from Mill Valley, Tiburon, Corte Madera and Sausalito, Supervisor Michael Wornum and county planner Paul Zucker presented their ideas on regional planning to the women at the luncheon in the Wise home, who became interested in working for a strong regional government.

Although Trubee Schock has kept her AAUW activities non partisan, she is a Republican and Myra Wise is a Democrat, both firm believers in the two-party system and in working through political channels. Trubee is actively participating in two current campaigns — one for State Senator and one for Mill Valley City Council, and she urges all women to get out and work for the candidates who support the causes they feel are important.

"The results of the Save the Bay Campaign and Save the Seashore have shown us that we can be involved in determining our own destiny," she ehphasized.

TRUBEE TRACES her interest in political action to her days at Beverly Hills High School, where, she says, "involvement became a way of life. Everyone worked for the causes he believed in, and extra-curricular activities were an important part of school life."

After earning a B.A. in commercial art from San Jose State College, Trubee entered retail advertising in San Francisco. After her marriage to James Schock, a television news producer, Trubee continued to do free lance art work and illustrated two guide books to San Francisco which her husband wrote.

The Schocks, who moved to Mill Valley in 1963, have three sons — Jeffrey, 11, David, 9, and Will, 5. Trubee is involved in their activities such as the Strawberry Swim Team and Cub Scouts along with her political work.

Trubee's mother, Mrs. Trubee Campbell, lives in Fairfax and her grandmother, the late Mrs. Harold Truscott, was a long-time resident of Belvedere.

MRS. JAMES SCHOCK, center, member of the American Association of University Women, Mill Valley Branch, is the chairman of the group's new political awarness section. Mrs. Schock and Mrs. Troy Lewis, right, chairman of the Marin County Chapter of the Women's Division of the Democratic State Central Committee, discuss plans for an open house, where Mrs. Lewis will tell members of the study section how women can become involved in political campaigns, with Mrs. Leo Killion, left. Mrs. Harold R. Beem To Lead Cancer Drive

"This year's April Cancer Crusade will be particularly urgent from a financial point of view because of the increased demand for privately sponsored research which has resulted from cuts in the federal government budget", said Richard S. Riede, crusade chairman of the American Cancer Society's Marin County Branch.

"Applications being received from scientists by the American Cancer Society are far greater than in any previous year," he continued. "This is because a lid has been placed on government support of research, and this is having a crippling effect on projects already in progress."

As residential chairman of Marin's Crusade against Cancer, Mrs. Harold R. Beem of San Anselmo will lead a group of volunteers starting April 25 for three days to house-to-house calls on Marin families as part of the American Cancer Society's 1970 educational and fund-raising drive. An informational leaflet will be distributed urging the recipient's family to go for regular medical checkups as a way toward early discovery of the onset of cancer.

Through these calls on families the society also hopes to raise a large share of the Marin County goal of $60,000 for support of its year-round program of research, education and service to cancer patients.

Area chaimen for the drive are Mmes. M. M. Magladry, San Rafael; Richard Less, Terra Linda; Wilmer McDowell, Novato; Rodney Thorsen, San Geronimo Valley; Edward Shev and John Hinman, Sausalito; A. S. W. Love, Belvedere; James Ziegler, Hooshang Taybi and Leo Souza, Tiburon; Robert Lantis, San Anselmo; Jon Bagshaw, Fairfax; John Young, Sleepy Hollow; Gibbs Lawson, Dillion Beach; Charles Silva III and Peter Niederberger, Stinson Beach; Richard Moore, Strawberry; Peter Smiley, Ross; H. C. Stevenson, Larkspur; John C. Polhemus and Ernest Mock, Corte Madera.

Blind Women Learn To Cook, Measure, Handle Hot Pans

By EDITH M. LEDERER

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Rosemarie Grayley sniffed her freshly baked custard, held up a slightly red finger and said: "Only one burn—not bad!"

Dorothy Daniels bent over an electric oven, counted four blobs of glue on the temperature dial and exclaimed: "I've got it—350 degrees."

Linda Havens batted her right hand hesitantly in the air until she touched the edge of her casserole dish. "There it is!" she declared.

These three young women were cooking lunch—a task performed daily by millions of women. But for them there was a difference: each is blind.

Since 1954, the Orientation Center for the Blind, a state-run school, has been teaching blind and partially sighted men and women to cook by touch—some with gourmet results.

Instructor Jane Teeter says there are many difficulties, such as learning to handle hot pots and pans, finding the right ingredients and measuring them properly, and knowing when a dish is finished.

Some sugar cookies have turned out a little salty and some hamburgers have been a little too well done, Mrs. Teeter said in an interview, but anyone who takes the course for four to six months can learn to cook.

At the end of the course each student cooks a complete meal for eight persons with food the student has purchased in a supermarket.

While shopping, Mrs. Teeter said, blind people must rely on store employes. Otherwise they may end up with canned peaches instead of canned peas.

In the center's kitchen, the cans, drawers, shelves, pans and measuring cups are labeled in braille. Dials on the oven are marked with blobs of glue every 50 degrees starting at 200 degrees.

Reading from a braille recipe, 22-year-old Rosemarie, a Long Beach State college student, began heating milk for her custard.

The problem? To figure out when it was just about to boil. "You stick your finger in it, and when it's hot, you know it's time," Mrs. Teeter explained. "If it boils, you'll hear it."

Lynda, 32-year-old Santa Cruz mother of two, put the finishing touches on her casserole, explaining: "I'm not a good cook. I've made hamburgers and pancakes and flipped one over on top of the other and never known it."

Said 19-year-old Dorothy of Bakersfield: "I like to cook. So far, I've made some pork chops, pancakes, fruit salad, chocolate pie and peach upside down cake. I guess they were pretty good. There wasn't anything left —they ate it all up."

ROSEMARIE GRAYLEY, left, who is blind, cooks by feel with an assist from Jane Teeter, who is showing her how to take a freshly baked custard from the oven. Miss Teeter is an instructor at the Orientation Center for the Blind, a state run school in Albany, where sightless persons have been learning how to cook since the school's inception in 1954. The masks are used by partially blind students to make sure no light interferes with the instruction. (AP Wirephoto)

Back From Safari In Africa

By MOLLY MARIN

The Thomas Welshes have returned to their home in Kentfield from a trip to Africa that Pat Welsh, an enthusiastic bird watcher, says was a paradise for anyone interested in that hobby.

On March 4 they flew via Athens to East Africa, where they drove 2,000 miles taking pictures of birds and animals. Then they flew to South Africa for a quick tour of Johannesburg and Cape Town and ended their African safari with a visit to Victoria Falls in Rhodesia. They spent Easter in London and returned home last week.

THE INFANT daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maffia of Cotati was christened Alyssa Anne on April 4 at St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma.

The Rev. Stephen Anny performed the ceremony. Godparents are Mrs. Maffia's brother, Severa Wilford III of Cotati, and Lucinda McaDniel of ePtaluma.

After the ceremony, friends and relatives gathered at Sonoma Joe's restaurant in Petaluma for luncheon.

MR. AND MRS. Tom Siebe, who were married on March 21 at St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma, will make their home in Santa Rosa.

The bride, the former Carol Corda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Corda of Petaluma. A graduate of Petaluma High School, she is attending the University of San Francisco as a candidate for an elementary teaching credential.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Siebe of Petaluma, is a deputy sheriff with the Sonoma County Sheriff's Department.

PETALUMANS WHO have returned home after attending the 46th annual convention and exposition of the Pacific Egg and Poultry Association in Palm Springs are Messrs. and Mmes. Oscar Miller, Edmund Johnsen, Albert Nissen, Clay Thompson, John Tennyson and Richard Weber.

MARRIED MARCH 26 in the Phoenix Wedding Chapel in Phoenix, Ariz., were Dorelle Ball, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Ball of San Anselmo and Paul E. Weimeschkirch of Phoenix.

Dore is the sister of Tamara, Sheldon, Scott, John and Bevanne Ball and is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon H. Guess of Healdsburg and Palm Springs.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helen Weimeschkirch of Phoenix and a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico. He is an electronics engineer and production director at KTVK in Phoenix.

They plan a wedding trip to Puerto Rico this summer.

If Your Children Laid Down The Law At Your House . . .

DEAR READERS:

If you parents think you're tough about rules, read below and imagine what it would be like if your children laid down the law at your house.

This list of 30 iron-fast orders came to me from a friend, Zorah Buchtman, whose 10-year-old Laurie helped put on an "afternoon musical and dance festival" for the neighborhood—in a home fearfully volunteered by one of the mothers.

The young producers, knowing many children would attend, decided to preserve family fixtures, furniture and sanity by handing out these regulations at the door:

RULES

1. No laughing. (I'm sure they meant, "Except when the actors are funny.")
2. No talking.
3. No going to the refreshment stand if no one is there.
4. No stealing anything from the refreshment stand.
5. At intermission time after each song, there will be two minutes for going to the bathroom or to get refreshments.
6. Refreshments every three songs or at intermission time only.
7. No getting up in the middle of songs.
8. No playing with curtains. (Which were floor-length chains of multi-colored paper loops, painstakingly glued together to look like the beaded-curtain entrances of certain speakeasies the kids must have seen on TV.)
9. No playing with the record player.
10. No going to the bathroom unnecessarily.
11. No going upstairs.
12. No going in the record case.
13. No pushing and shoving.
14. No lifting up chairs.
15. Boys, no teasing girls. Girls, no teasing boys.
16. No lifting dresses.
17. No pulling hair.
18. No pulling necklaces.
19. No making a mess of the room.
20. No pulling down chains.
21. You may go home in the middle of the show, but not in the middle of a song unless sick. (The repertoire included some 30 songs, plus interpretive dancing, so this rule may have been followed more often than some of the others.)
22. In the bathroom there will be changes of costume. Do not touch.
23. No touching anything downstairs that does not belong to you.
24. No reading any of the books Debby's mother and father have here.
25. No switching chairs.
26. No annoying anyone.
27. Don't make a show of yourselves.
28. No fooling around.
29. No ruining couch or chairs.
30. No bothering parents.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Named Volunteer Of The Year

Mrs. Allen P. Lovejoy of San Rafael was named "Volunteer of the Year" today by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin at its sixth annual meeting.

Mrs. Marion Kelley, executive director of the Bureau, said, "Mrs. Lovejoy, with her unique ability to contribute in depth in several areas simultaneously, is a bridge in the community and an outstanding volunteer."

Mrs. Lovejoy herself disclaims anything outstanding or unusual about her volunteer work. She says, "There is a guiding principal in what I do. It is first to educate and inform myself as to what the important current issues are and second, because I feel very strongly the frustration of young people in coping with today's society, to work with youth and help them with their problems."

Mrs. Lovejoy's vehicle for education is the League of Women Voters. She is a Unit Coordinator and Board Member of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin. She is also a representative for the League on the Marin Ecumenical Association for Housing and Recording Secretary for this group. She additionally serves once a week as an office volunteer in the League's San Rafael headquarters and as their observer at the Marin Board of Supervisors meeting.

MRS. LOVEJOY finds involvement with Juvenile Hall a means of helping young people. She is a Board member of the Juvenile Court auxiliary and a volunteer driver. Two years ago she helped set up the library at Juvenile Hall. She is now coordinator of library volunteers and a library aide herself. She and her husband recently invited a boy from Juvenile Hall, there awaiting placement in a foster home, to their home for a weekend.

"This was a happy experience for us and for him. There are many ways for volunteers to help at Juvenile Hall and there is such a shortage of them," she said.

Both Mrs. Lovejoy and her husband are members of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City where she is in charge of the primary department of the church school. She says: "St. Andrew is an example of black and white people working together in a meaningful way. My work there has a special satisfaction." In the summertime she is a driver for the church day camp and both Lovejoys often put in weekend hours doing volunteer gardening and custodial work for the mission church.

Another favorite activity for this young grandmother is writing and editing a monthly newsletter for the Marin Human Rights Commission. Two years ago she originated the Newsletter which now has county-wide distribution through requesting churches, libraries and schools. Its purpose is to inform the County of the issues before the commission, review pertinent books, interview commissioners and so on.

"MY PRESENT volunteer work", says Mrs. Lovejoy, "is a natural offshoot of raising five daughters, being scout leader, room mother, and all the other things I did when they were growing up." One of her daughters, Mrs. Thomas Best lives in San Anselmo. Of the others; one lives in New York, one in Washington, D.C., and two are still in college.

Mr. Lovejoy is assistant to the president for development at Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley. The couple, whose past includes a three year stint in Taiwan, moved to Marin two years ago. They enjoy sailing and the symphony together.

Despite her extensive volunteer activities, Mrs. Lovejoy insists, "My most important job is still being a homemaker." She substantiates this with hobbies of sewing and knitting plus an unshakeable committment to always "keep one day a week free for catching up at home!"

Angry Consumers Get Some Action

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—A decision last week by the Food and Drug Administration shows what a few letters from aroused consumers can do.

Letter writing is often futile, as many consumers can attest. But in this case, it beat a powerful industry on a basic principle: truth in labeling.

The issue was whether labels of small cosmetic products should list net weights, as many other products are required to do under the so-called "Truth-in-Packaging" law.

THE TOILET GOODS Association, representing the large manufacturers, wanted an exemption for lipsticks, rouges, mascaras, eyeliners, eyebrow pencils, powders, creams and fragrances when packaged in quantities of less than one-fourth of an ounce for solids and one-eighth of an ounce for liquids.

The association claimed that the labels are often too small to list the number of ounces. It also did not want to list the name and address of the manufacturer or distributor. The FDA decided last year to require that the name and address be labeled, but it granted a delay on the quantity declaration until comments were obtained from all interested parties.

That was when this column got into the picture. The time was last June. The question was simply whether any women want to know the net contents of "beauty" products or are they all content to keep playing the game of "surprise" with oddly shaped packages at the cosmetic counter.

It was not long before comments began arriving in Washington. Within a few days, one woman in Wisconsin sent in a petition with 28 signatures favoring the listing of net weights and urging the FDA also to require ingredients to be listed.

The industry submitted surveys purporting to show that most cosmetic buyers don't care whether weights are listed on the label.

THE PETITION and letters apparently had considerable influence on FDA's decision last week to require weights to be listed. In announcing its ruling, the agency said all but one letter favored the idea. The FDA set a deadline of July 1 for the labels to be changed.

To be sure, the decision was not earth-shaking. Eventually, the government is going to have to consider more important matters, such as requiring manufacturers to list ingredients and provide scientific proof that their products are safe for human use before selling them to the public.

But the decision confims an important principle: that all buyers have a right to know how much is inside even the smallest package.

It is not often that ordinary people have much say in government actions involving consumer products.

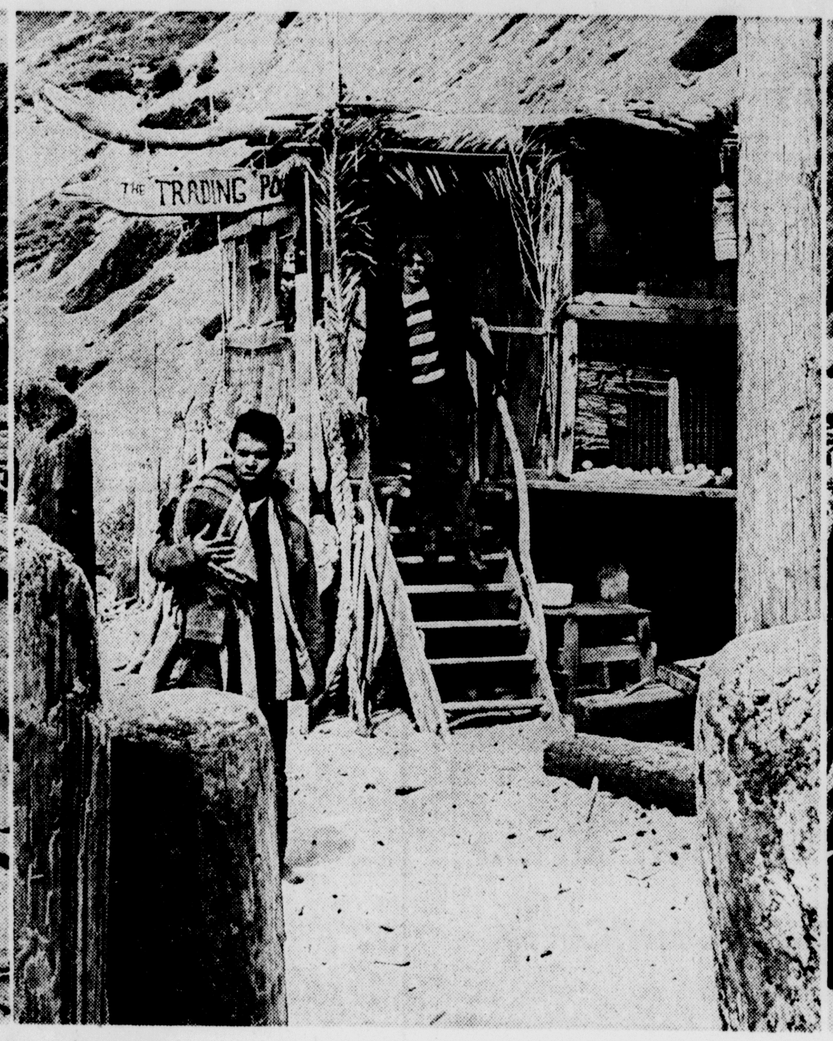
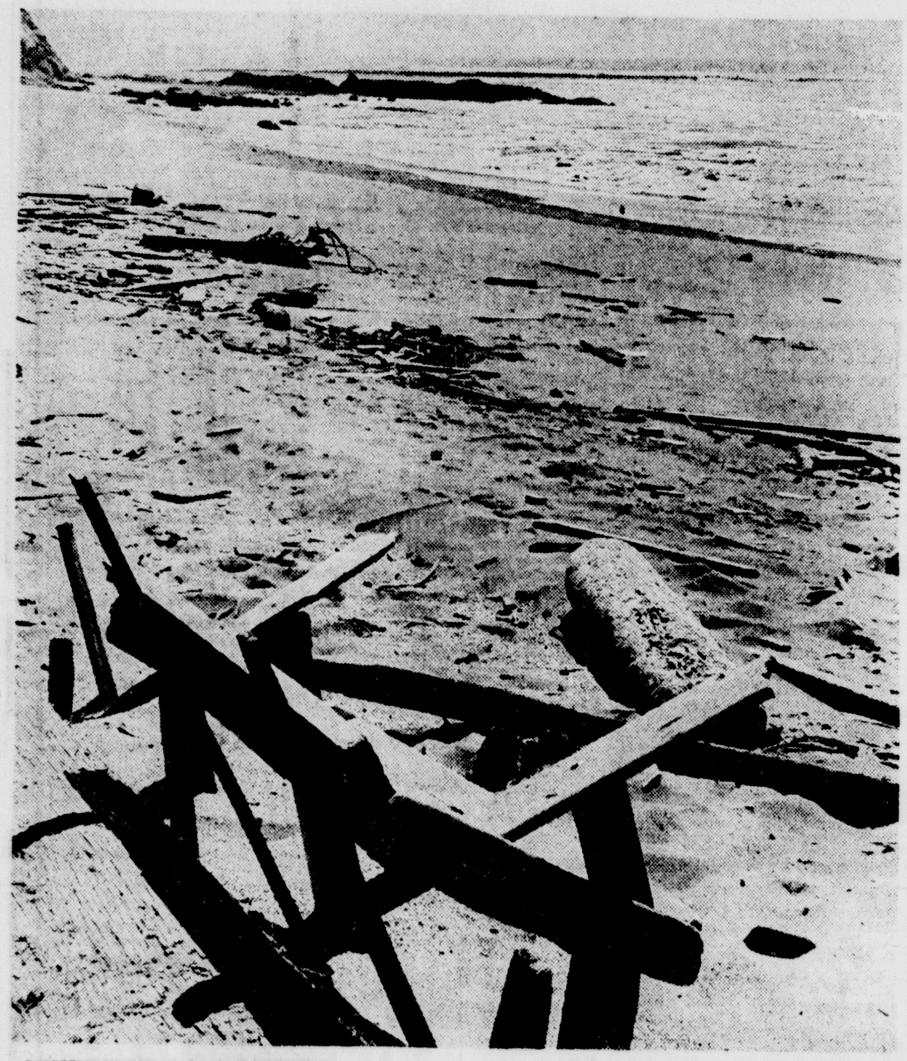
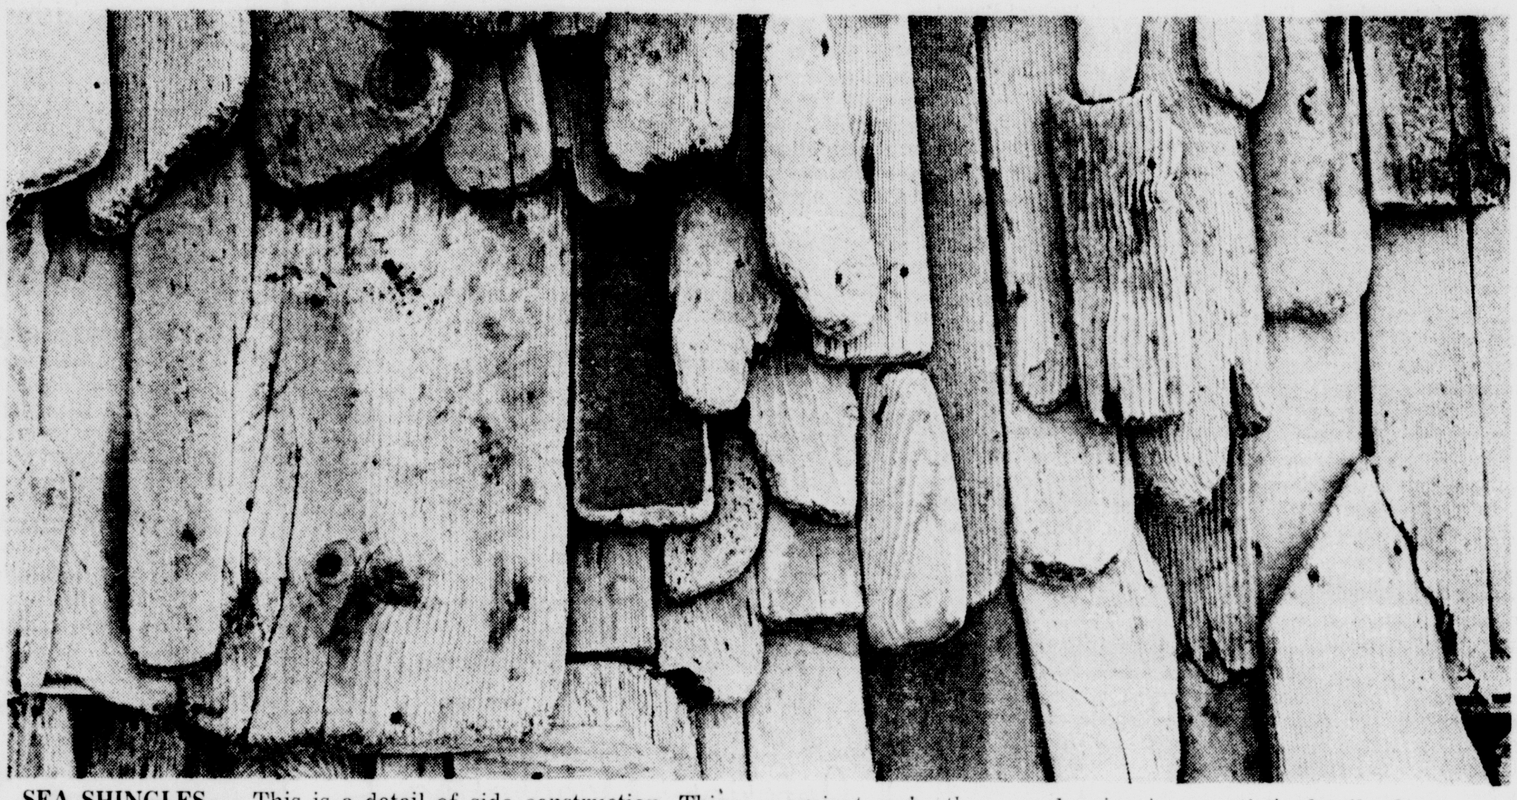
In From The Sea—A Trea sure Of Driftwood Homes



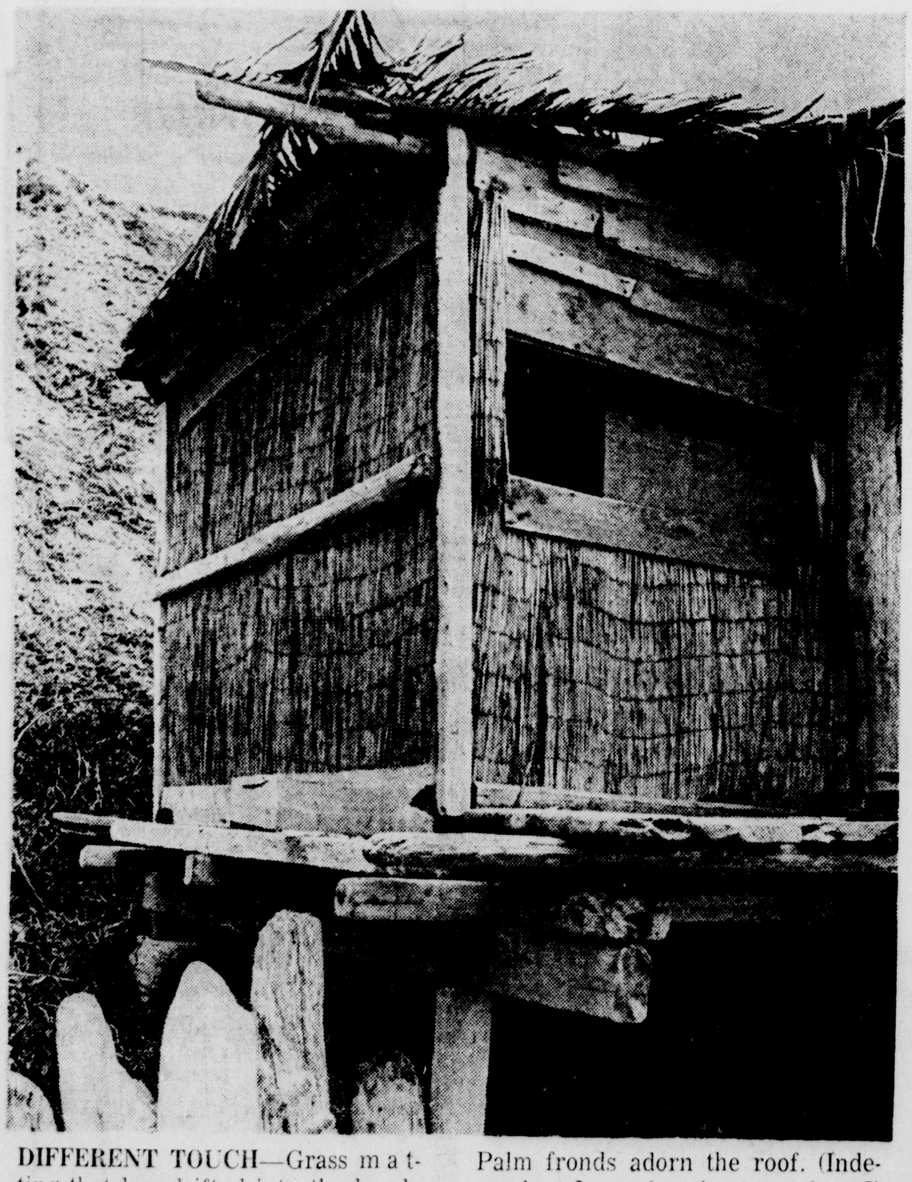
DRIFTWOOD HOMES—Out on west Marin's coast, about a 40-minute walk north of Agate Beach, is a small community made of up young people who come and go and who depend on the sea to provide their homes. There are two houses, one of them (center) labeled Trading Post, and a lean-to (left and right) built more like a tent and using a baby quilt for part of a wall.



WHERE IT COMES FROM—Scraps of wood and other things washed up from the sea is the "lumber yard" where young coastal drifters can pick and choose materials for their seaside homes. Only hammers and nails are used—no saws.

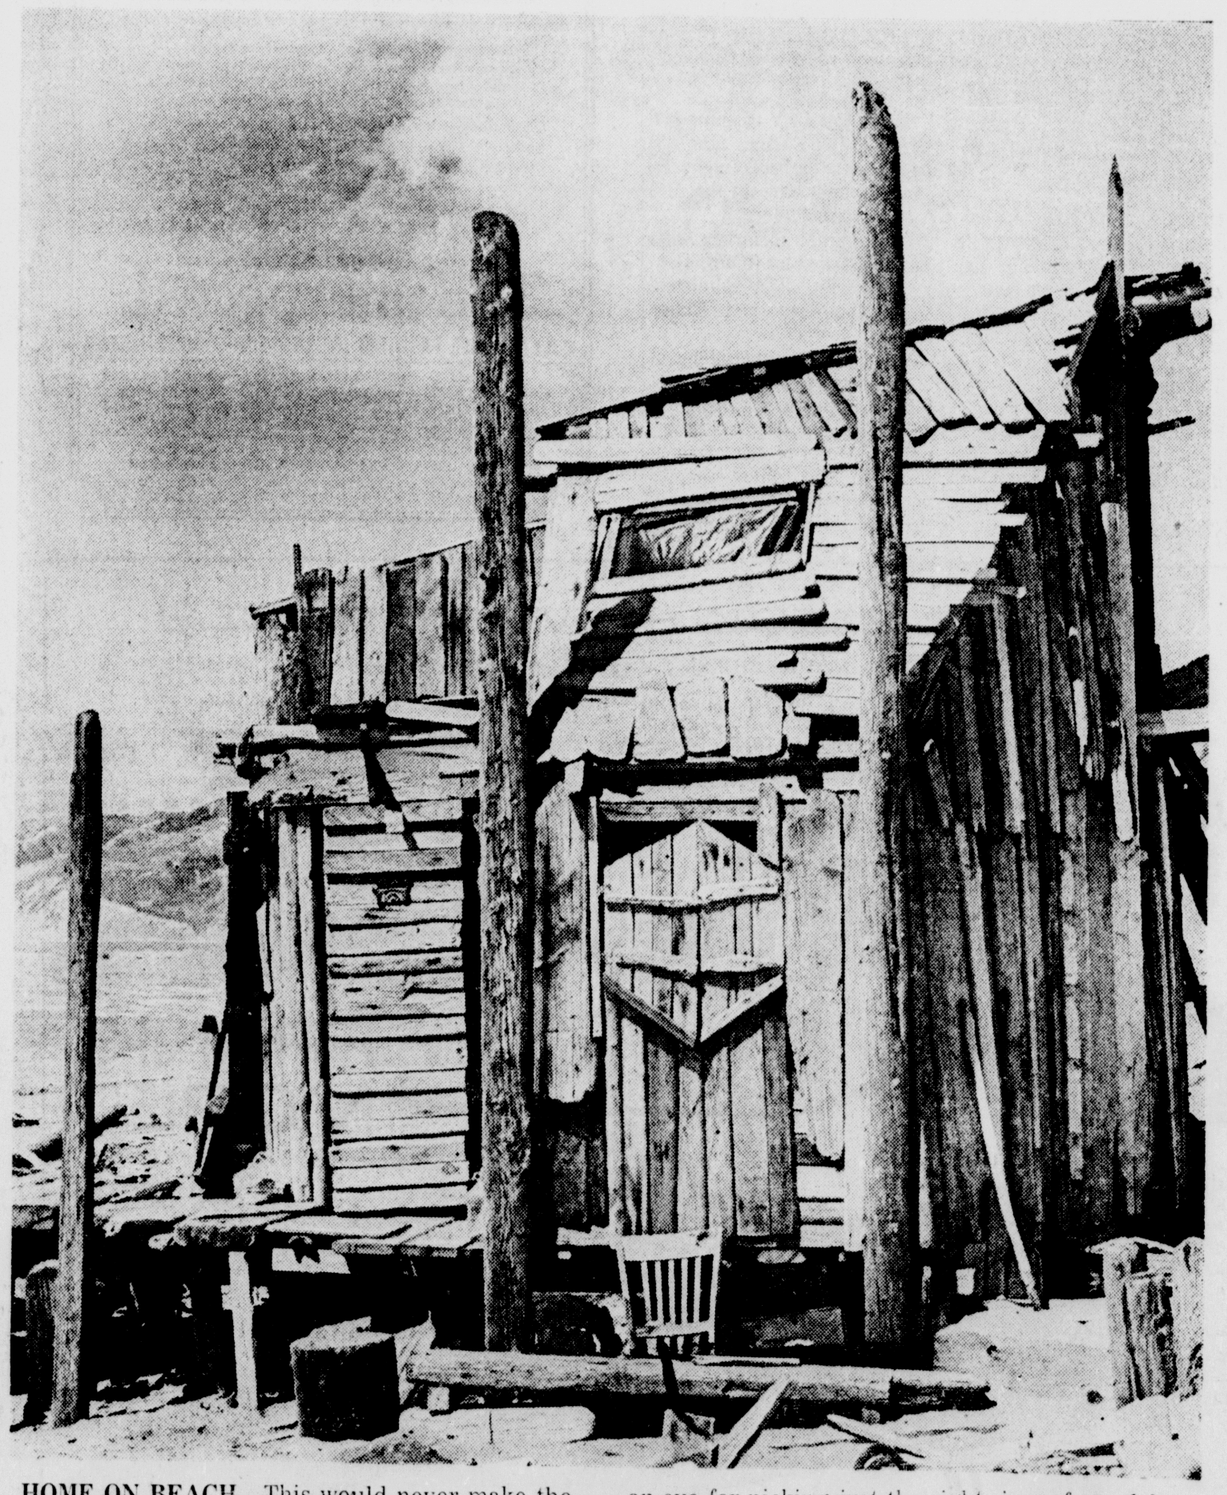


SEA SHINGLES — This is a detail of side construction. Thin pieces of driftwood, shaped and smoothed in the sea, and nailed against each other, overlapping in an artistic detail.



DIFFERENT TOUCH—Grass matting that has drifted into the hands of a few young beach builders provides a different construction touch. Palm fronds adorn the roof. (Independent-Journal photos by Ji Kean)

TOUCH OF ART — Here and there in the tiny community are touches of sculpture. A doll's leg protudes from driftwood (above), and wood hangs from a post (below) like a catch of fish from the ocean.



HOME ON BEACH—This would never make the cover of an architectural magazine but for someone north of Agate Beach it is home. Main builder is a man called John, who, they say, has an eye for picking just the right sizes of wood for construction. He has built 10 such homes on the Northern California coast. His friends, all young, come and go.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Blood Knot' Puts ACT In New Area

By GARY TISCHLER

SAN FRANCISCO—In a very ambitious, but so far, uneven, season, Athol Fugard's "The Blood Knot," a seemingly modest, two-act, two-character play about race and identity, may yet turn out to be one of the American Conservatory Theater's better efforts.

The play, which opened at the Marines' Memorial Theater last night, concerns the very special, agonized relationship of two brothers, one black, one white-skinned, living in a shack in the non-white section of a too close New Elizabeth, South Africa.

There is no plot, as such. Rather it is a journey toward a kind of realization that the two are indeed brothers not just in fact, but in a shattering kind of love and hate.

Morris, the white brother, is a fearful sort of man, neat, routine-captured, afraid of himself and his life-loving brother Zach, puttering around the room like some whimpering child listening for the wrath of God. He has locked his black brother into a kind of quiet bondage, working toward an escape, a new life on a farm, an ambigious dream to escape the drudgery of their present situation.

Zach, the black brother, is a living stick of untouched dynamite, trying to get out of a tiring body. Uneducated, unable to read his own name, he has an aching, memory-yearning for simple joys—sex, singing and Friday night drunks, as symbolized by his now-absent friend Mini, "who don't come around no more."

This sort of thing could easily fall into an integrated odd couple routine, but it doesn't. There is something much deeper at work here, for Morris cannot accept the fact that he is the son of a black mother, which is anathema in the world of South Africa. He longs to be white, inside and out and his love-hate for his brother bubbles over in a shattering play-game at the play's climax, in which he dons white man's clothes and attitudes and Zach does indeed become white man's kind of blackie, something threatening but unnoticed.

The play is a bit too long, but the actors, John Schuck as Morris and Gilbert Lewis as Zach, keep it afloat with a pair of very real, touching, funny and moving performances. They never let the brothers simply stand for something—these are, after all, human beings, and never more so then when they act out a childhood game of riding a car "to hell and back".

In that recall, clutched at joyfully and desperately, is the only time in which they are at all comfortable in each other. It is a scene at once innocent and moving.

"The Blood Knot" is a startling step away from the opulence of, say, "Oedipus Rex," or even the well-done but familiar efforts of ACT's other efforts this year. It's a sure-footed step into an area where the company has never been before. And it is well worth seeing.

Pamphleteer's Trial Recessed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trial of antiwar pamphleteer Roger Lee Priest has been recessed to give the Navy time to name additional officers to a court-martial panel.

Three Navy-appointed members were disqualified from the panel Tuesday after the trial judge, Navy Capt. B. Raymond Perkins, agreed that two of the officers might be biased or prejudiced. The third was excluded on a peremptory challenge by the defendant's attorney.

Priest is accused of urging servicemen to desert and commit sedition.

Ross Summer Signup Days Set

Registration dates for the 1970 Ross summer school program have been set for May 9 for residents and May 16 for nonresidents at 10 a.m. at the Ross School, according to Sydney Drosihn, program chairman.

Scheduled to begin June 15, the five week program is open to children who have completed kindergarden through the eight grade.

Courses offered this year include beginning and advanced guitar, science classes on ecology, typing, art, swimming, tennis and sewing.

Youth Admits To Burglarizing Home

Nicholas Komens, 19, of San Francisco, admitted yesterday in Marin Municipal Court that he burglarized a Mill Valley residence on Jan. 30, and two other counts of burglary and one of possessing stolen property in January were dismissed.

Komens was ordered to appear in superior court Monday for setting of a sentencing date on the felony charge.

DRAMA REVIEW

'The Boy Friend' Is Revived In A First-Class Production

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you missed the musicals of the 1920's, or 1954's "The Boy Friend," which parodized their style, there is a new chance to catch up with things at the Ambassador Theater where "The Boy Friend" was revived Tuesday night.

John Yorke, Don Saxon, and Michael Hellerman have given handsome, first-class production to the show created by England's Sandy Wilson, responsible for book, music and lyrics.

Gus Schirmer, an old hand at staging revivals, directed this one, and Buddy Schwab has done well as supervisor of the dance and musical numbers reminiscent of the era.

As an historical note, it should be recalled that the 1952 production introduced to these shores the then unknown Julie Andrews.

The show has been smartly designed by Andrew and Margaret Brownfoot, both as to scenery and fine period costumes. This is the English couple's first work here.

"The Boy Friend" brings to Broadway for the first time Judy Carne, also English, who has become nationally known in the past two or three years as the "sock-it-to-me" girl of television's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" comedy series.

Miss Carne does a good job as the heroine, pleasing as singer and dancer, but for me the outstanding female in the cast is Sandy Duncan, a reddish-blonde sprite already known here, as one of the heroine's schoolmates. It is to be hoped that it won't be long now before some producer is smart enough to bring Miss Duncan together with just the right role and show that will send her into the stardom she deserves.

There isn't much point to wasting space on details of the story. Finishing school for girls on the French Riviera, romance abloom on several fronts, rich student finding love with a temporary dropout from a titled British family, girl's pater reviving an old French flame, and so on.

The musical numbers, the dancing and the general comportment of the players reflect in somewhat exaggerated form the style of such numerous 1920 musicals. For my part, I think director Schirmer has overdone the mimicry, although I am sure many will not find this disconcerting.

Now comes the moment of truth in my reaction. I never did think that Wilson's show deserved the acclaim that it got originally. It is my belief that a parody, except in a short revue sketch, should show some contribution of talent above and beyond mere paraphrasing by the Author. I feel that Wilson has not done this. Admittedly, this is difficult, but it has been done by others.

Outstanding in the excellent cast are Ronald Young, Jeanne Beavais, Leon Shaw, Simon McQueen, Harvey Evans, David Vaughan, Barbara Andres, Marie Paxton and Lesley Secombe.

Without embracing it wholeheartedly, I must admit that this is a sparkling revival that may please those who want a look at the old days.

Dr. Sam's Death Blamed On Liver

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Franklin County Coroner Robert Evans said today an official autopsy report showed Dr. Sam Sheppard died of natural causes brought on by liver failure.

Evens said there was no sign Sheppard had cancer or had taken large doses of drugs before his death April 6. Evans had delayed the official autopsy report pending results of chemical tests.

Sheppard was convicted of murdering his first wife, Marilyn, in their Bay Village, Ohio, home on the shore of Lake Erie July 4, 1954. He served 10 years in prison and then was acquitted at a second trial, ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Shone Appoints Two County Aides

Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, today named chairmen of his Napa and Solano county campaigns.

In Napa, George B. Heibel, operator of Aetna Springs resort in St. Helena and 1966 Napa County chairman for Ronald Reagan, was named. A former chairman of the county GOP central committee, Heibel is president of the Napa County Taxpavers Association.

In Solano, Shone named George C. Demmon, former mayor of Vallejo. Demmon served on his county's board of supervisors from 1935 to 1943, then as mayor from 1943 to 1955.

Car Stolen

William B. Wolfson of 439 Canal Street reported a two-door 1962 blue Chevrolet Monza with license ZIW394 owned by Eleanor Butcher of Berkeley was stolen from his parking area, according to San Rafael police. The theft took place Sunday or Monday, Wolfson told police.

Bike Thefts Plague In Larkspur

Bicycle thefts are reaching epidemic proportions in Larkspur.

Police have reported six 10-speed bicycles stolen, possibly by professional thieves, in the past week.

Three bicycles were stolen last Wednesday and Thursday from the bicycle racks at Redwood High School. Wolfgang Gutscher of 520 Redwood Avenue, Cofte Madera, reported his $60 Schwinn bicycle taken Wednesday after someone forced its lock.

Daniel A. Airola of 145 Stewart Drive, Tiburon, reported his Mercier, valued at $50, was taken Thursday at the school.

Linda S. May, 11 Echo Avenue, Corte Madera, reported her bicycle, valued at $20, was taken Thursday at the school.

The other three machines were removed from owners' carports or garages, all Saturday night or Sunday morning. John V. Carlson of 115 Lower Via Casitas reported his $100 Schwinn taken. Jay T. Watson of 490 Riviera Circle reported his $95 Dawes taken, same time, and Anita M. Cattaneo of 120 Lower Via Casitas reported her son's $100 Schwinn taken.

Police Chief Howard H. Clark said he suspected professional thieves because the expensive machines are rarely recovered, and because most are stolen after bolt cutters or other tools are used to cut their padlocks.

State Facing Bad Year For Forest Fires

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California can expect a "more severe" forest fire season than last year, the state Board of Forestry was told Tuesday.

"Certainly, we are going to have an early fire season and it is going to be more severe," said John Hastings, deputy state forester for fire control.

Hastings said forest fires have been breaking out at sharply increased rates this year in California and have consumed 10 times more acreage than burned on a five-year average.

He said he based his forest fire prediction on strong northerly winds and the lack of rain and snow last winter. "We have been sadly lacking in precipitation," he told the board.

Hastings reported there have been 803 fires so far this year compared with 569 at this time last year. He said the fires have consumed 1,188 acres this year while only 248 acres had burned by this time last year. The five-year average on burned acreage is 163 acres.

Mieuli Hoping To Block Pro Basketball Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association has started a pattern play toward merger — general agreement among its club owners—and now its up to the National Basketball Association to help complete the goal.

But a member of the NBA team—owner Franklin Mieuli of the San Francisco Warriors—is threatening to block the shot at marrying the two pro leagues.

And Mieuli also has hollered technical foul at Ned Irish, president of the NBA New York Knicks, charging Irish with pushing for merger in the interests of Madison Square Garden, which owns the Knicks.

These were the developments Tuesday on the bumpy road toward merger.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph announced after an owners' meeting in New York that they had agreed in seven general areas for merger. The two leagues' merger committees alreads had agreed on the points, he said, and now if the NBA owners agree, more technical negotiations can begin.

The NBA owners might meet in New York next week.

Four of the seven points agreed on were:

—All 11 of the ABA teams will be included in any merger.

—All players who are involved in multiple signings will remain in their current legal status and will be resolved between the two teams involved.

—An indemnity of approximately $11 million will be paid by the ABA.

—The Washington-Baltimore situation cannot be resolved unilaterally, and a decision on this matter will depend on the NBA meeting. However, Earl Foreman has indicated to the ABA that he is not unwilling to leave Washington under certain circumstances, and the ABA has reached an agreement on a recommendation to be given the NBA on this matter.

Mieuli told the San Francisco Examiner:

"I've got three votes to block this merger and I hope to have a fourth, which would guarantee defeat."

Twelve of the 15-member NBA Board of Governors must vote for the merger for approval.

Mieuli said he wants only six ABA teams to join the NBA—Indiana, Kentucky, Carolina, Denver and two more to be picked by the NBA.

He also said he not only wants Rick Barry returned to the Warriors from Washington but wants all other players who jumped, or are expected to jump, to the ABA returned to their NBA clubs.

"He wasn't on the merger committee so we have not dealt with Mr. Mieuli," said Dolph.

Mieuli charged Irish with pushing expansion because Madison Square Garden also has a lease on a Long Island arena where the ABA Nets play.

"Irish doesn't care what trash he brings into the NBA so long as the Nets survive and rent his building on Long Island," said Mieuli. "It makes me laugh because Irish has always been against expansion."

Irish countered by saying, "I can't say much for his statement since it's inaccurate. No. 1, we have no lease nor contemplate seeking a lease on any building on Long Island. No. 2, if he's trying to read my mind, he's not doing a very good job."

Dolph did not say what recommendation would be made to the NBA concerning the Washington franchise which has been considered a major stumbling block toward merger. The NBA Baltimore franchise contends Washington infringes on its territorial rights.

A Few Bats And Balls On A Vacation Trip

Bert and Evelyn Gustafson of Tiburon may have trouble getting across the border next week enroute to their annual vacation in Mexico.

Besides the usual vacation paraphernalia, the Gustafsons will be lugging along 24 baseball bats, four dozen National League balls, about a dozen mitts and a complete catcher's outfit.

Imagine, the two of 'em, crossing the border and trying to explain all that sporting gear to a Mexican customs official.

What kind of vacation is THIS, Amigo?

Yanqui, go home! And Cardinals and Dodgers and Tigers. . .

Really, the Gustafsons haven't flipped. They're not going to Mexico just to play catch and hit a few grounders. No, they don't have a little game of pepper before meals nor does Bert hit Evelyn some fungoes every morning.

Ambassadors Of Good Will

Actually, the Gustafsons are goodwill ambassadors to our neighbors south of the border.

A little background music, Jose, and I'll fill you in. . .

The Gustafsons have adopted a town baseball team in Zihuatanejo, Gro., where they vacation each year.

Bert, a physiotherapist who helps condition the San Francisco Giants in Arizona each spring, embarked on a project to better equip the Mexican team. "They were playing in the darnedest outfits with the goshawfullest equipment you've ever seen, he regoshawfullest equipment you've ever seen," he reflects. "To put it politely, they were ragamuffins.

"So, last year I told the people in town that if they'd raise some money for equipment, I'd match it. Well, we managed to scrape together enough for shoes and uniforms, which was a pretty good start, but not enough for everything."

Up Steps Horace Stoneham

Somehow news of Gustafson's project drifted back to Candlestick Park where Horace Stoneham caught wind of it, called Bert and told him to buy as much equipment as he needed, and to send him the bill. Stoneham does things like that, unsung.

Which, I think, is a nice story. About some very nice people named Bert and Evelyn Gustafson and Horace C. Stoneham going out of their way to make the townfolk of Zihuatanejo, Mexico, a little happier, a little sportier. And, perhaps, enhancing the American image.

Oh, I forgot one thing. Mr. Stoneham also sent along a whole mess of Giants' caps.

Which is why that one-time ragamuffin town team in Mexico is now officially and proudly called the Zihuatanejo Gigantes.

Adios, adios, Bambino!

San Marin, Redwood Lead

San Marin High School's baseball team came from behind with two runs in the last inning yesterday to edge crosstown Novato High, 2—1, and remain undefeated in Marin County Athletic League play.

Joining the Mustangs in first place with in identical 3-0 record are the Redwood Giants, who gained a 5-2 recenge victory over Marin Catholic, behind the three-hit pitching of Roger Smith.

In other high school games Tamalpais got by Drake 9-5, and Terra Linda whipped San Rafael, 14-6.

RALLY

Novato's Dave Judnick had a two hitter going into the seventh inning against San Marin. Pinch hitter Steve Francis led off the inning with a single, and took second base when Jim Thompson struck out. Marty Larsen promptly singled Francis home with the tying run, and Ken Gnoss slashed a double that scored Larsen for the victory.

San Marin's Dennis Bueler went the distance to pick up his third win without a loss.

Redwood scored three runs in the third inning to give Smith all the insurance he needed. Joe Caito's base hit scored Pete Cooney and Frank Pomilia, who had both singled and Tom Wickert came in on a squeeze. Smith fanned seven in winning his second game without defeat.

DOUBLE PLAYS

Jim McCammon collected three hits for Tam and the Indians turned in three double plays in handing Drake its third straight loss. Bill Secor went the distance to get the win.

Dewey Forry's two run home run climaxed a four-run third inning that paved the way for Terra Linda's win over San Rafael. The 425-foot shot to left-centerfield followed back to back doubles by Bill Berry and Bob Daniele.

Terra Linda, Novato and Tamalpais are all tied for second place, with 2—1 records.

Henderson Paces Giants' Comeback

Houston Is Next For S.F.

ATLANTA (AP) —After two innings it looked like an Atlanta romp was under way, but three hours and 44 minutes after the first pitch the San Francisco Giants were on the winning end of a 15-11 marathon.

The Braves scored eight runs in the second inning Tuesday night but two innings later were clinging to a shaky 10-9 lead. And after Willie McCovey tied it at 11-11 with a two-run homer in the eighth, Ken Henderson put it away with a grand slam homer in the ninth.

The Giants move on to Houston for games tonight and tomorrow.

DIETZ HOMERS

After the Braves' big second inning during which 14 men went to the plate, Dick Dietz got the Giants started on the comeback trail with a three-run homer in the third as San Francisco scored five runs.

The blast kayoed Braves' starter Jim Nash, making his first appearance in Atlanta after he was traded from Oakland during the winter. Nash, who lives in nearby Marietta, had won his first start of the season, beating San Diego.

The Braves made it 10-5 in the third on Hank Aaron's fourth homer of the season, but the Giants got right back in the game with a four-run fourth.

Loser Gary Neibauer, the Braves' fifth pitcher, sealed his downfall by walking the bases loaded in the ninth. Milt Pappas relieved him, and promptly served up Henderson's game-winning blast.

BATTING 545

Henderson had himself quite a series in the two games here. He was four-for-four Tuesday night and three-for-four in the opener Monday night, won by the Braves 9-3. The heavy hitting boosted his average to a gaudy .545.

The grand slam, his first homer of the year, was he first bases-loaded clout of his major league career.

McCovey's blast was his first of the year and Dietz' was his third.

Athletics' Trade Paying Dividend

OAKLAND (AP) — A winter trade started paying dividends for the Oakland A's Tuesday night as lefthanded pitcher Al Downing was the winner in a 9-1 rout of the Milwaukee Brewers.

The victory was the second straight for Oakland, and evens its season record at 3-3. They go after their third straight when they meet the Chicago White Sox in the Coliseum tonight. Rookie Jerry Janeski, 1-0, will pitch for Chicago against Chuck Dobson, 0-1, of the A's.

Downing, who came to the A's in a deal that sent first baseman Danny Cater to the New York Yankees, made his first start of the season and hurled 6 2-3 innings.

"My arm got a little stiff but that's because I hadn't been in a game for 10 or 11 days. I started to struggle in the fifth inning," Downing said.

Four double plays kept Downing out of trouble in the early innings. Two of the twin killings were unusual, with five players participating irn one and an aborted double steal leading to the other.

Manager John McNamara was pleased with the way Downing pitched out of trouble in the early innings. "It was a good performance," he said.

LINDBLAD

Downing gave up eight hits and walked three before giving way to relief pitcher Paul Lindblad, who shut out the Brewers in the final 2 1-3 innings.

The A's broke out of a scoring slump that had produced only five runs and three defeats in the previous four games.

Outfielder Rick Monday had three hits, including a three-run homer, and Tito Francona came through with a two-run pinch single.

Four of the Oakland runs were unearned as two errors ruined a good pitching performance by loser Gene Brabender, who gave up only three hits over 5 2-3 innings.

Milwaukee manager Dave Bristol's pitching strategy went wrong for the second straight night. He ordered an intentional walk to Dick Green in the sixth inning and before the inning was over, Oakland had three runs and the victory.

The defeat was the second straight for the Brewers, who had nine hits.

Steve Hovley, Greg Goossen and Ted Kubiak each rapped two hits for the losers, with Hovley scoring their only run when he singled in the sixth and scored from first when A's third baseman Roberto Pena bobbled a grounder and threw wild to first.

More And More Teams Try Tricky Maneuvers

Trick plays in baseball occasionally are successful because of the element of surprise. But long ago the surprise element was eliminated from a trick defensive maneuver designed against a bunt sacrifice with runners on second and first base.

DURING THE successful 1960 world championship season of the Pirates, Dick Groat and Don Hoak worked the trick play several times. In the bunt situation with two men aboard, Groat, the Pirate captain and shortstop, would start running to third base as the pitcher delivered the ball to the batter.

Simultaneously, Hoak, the Pirate third baseman, would charge in for the bunt. So would Dick Stuart, the Pirate first baseman, while Bill Mazeroski, the second baseman, ran to first base to cover that bag.

THE STRATEGY of the maneuver was obvious—to erase the lead runner at third base with the possibility of a double play at first on the bunter.

A batter ordered to sacrifice with teammates on second and first invariably tries to lay the ball down along the third base line. That makes sense because normally, under conservative defensive setups against the sacrifice, the third baseman stays back to cover the bag, the shortstop covers second and the second baseman covers first as the first baseman charges. The pitcher—or catcher—is responsible for fielding the bunt along the third base line.

THE TRICK maneuver always is tipped by the way the shortstop breaks with the pitch. It leaves the entire infield defenseless but there are no batters, under orders to bunt, who would take the initiative of swinging away in hope of hitting a grounder through an undefended infield.

Batters would no more think of defying a manager's bunt orders than a Marine in boot camp would defy the orders of a DI.

BUT NOW that more and more major league teams this season seem to have adopted the tricky maneuver of the 1960 Pirates, managers may give capable batters the option of bunting or hitting away.

In the opening series at Candlestick last week, the Astros tried the trick play twice. It worked once, backfired the second time. Doug Rader, Astro third baseman, and Denis Menke, Astro shortstop, made it work on a bunt down the third base line by Bobby Bonds with Hal Lanier and Steve Whitaker aboard on singles and none out. Rader threw to Menke, covering third, to erase Lanier. That was in the season opener.

SECOND TIME the Astros tried it, Bonds also was the batter with Ron Hunt aboard on a pinch single and Willie Mays on a walk. This time Bonds bunted along the first base line to the Astros' rookie first baseman, John Mayberry, who got a bit rattled as the ball stuck in his glove. Mayberry threw late and wildly to third. Hunt scored and that started a winning five-run eighth inning rally in the third game.

WHEN THE Cincinnati Reds came into Candlestick during last weekend, they also used the trick maneuver. Hunt again had started a winning eighth inning rally with a leadoff pinch double after which Bob Burda was hit by a pitch. Frank Linzy popped up, trying to sacrifice, as the Reds sent their infielders in all directions. There was no defense, tricky or conservative, for what followed.

It was a game-winning single to right by Bonds that tallied Hunt.

Petaluma Baseballers Take Lead

Petaluma High School jumped into the driver's seat in the North Bay League I Baseball race yesterday as it scored four times in the final inning to nip Montgomery High (Santa Rosa), 5-4.

The win, the Trojans fourth in as many league contests, puts Petaluma on top of the NBL-I standings, one-half game ahead of idle Napa, and sets the stage for a showdown with the Indians Friday in Petaluma.

The Trojans topped Montgomery mainly due to the heroics of Jim Thomas and Dave Adams.

Adams blanked the Vikings on two hits for the first six innings before Montgomery could score a run. He gave way to reliever Norm Sweeney in the seventh after Montgomery had gone ahead 4-1.

Thomas, a sophomore who has just stepped into the starting catcher's role, blasted a solo home run to put Petaluma on top 1-0 in the bottom of the fifth, then singled home two runs to tie the game in the last of the seventh. Walt Sweeney then singled home Thomas and Petaluma had the win.

Danny Cader tossed a four-hitter in the junior varsity game to lead Petaluma to an 8-4 win over the Viking JV's.

Two other southern Sonoma baseball contests, Sonoma-Analy and Rancho Cotate-Cardinal Newman, were rained out. The Sonoma game will be played today at Analy in Sebastapol, while no date has been set for making up the Rancho Cotate-Cardinal Newman contest.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

When your ball just doesn't seem to carrying the pins as it used to and you've searched in vain to find out what you are doing wrong, consider your left knee. Maybe you've gotten a little lazy and have stopped bending it enough. If so, you'll be dropping the ball from too steep an angle and robbing it of some of its explosiveness.

West Shows His Skills On Defense

ATLANTA (AP) — Jerry West, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, plays defense, too.

The Los Angeles star pitched in 23 points Tuesday night as the Lakers defeated Atlanta 105-94 to take a 2-0 lead in the Western Division playoff finals.

But West's key contribution came on defense where he continued to shackle Atlanta's Lou Hudson, holding him to 12 points, 13 below his regular season average.

5 OF 20

Hudson managed to hit only 5 of 20 shots from the floor, and went only 6 of 16 in his 16-point effort in the first game of the best-of-7 series here Sunday.

"We did not expect to win two games here," West said. "It's nice to be in this situation."

Los Angeles could sweep the series with victories on its home floor Friday and Sunday nights and then face the New York-Milwaukee survivor for the NBA championship.

New York also leads the Eastern Division playoffs, which resume at Milwaukee Friday night, by a 2-0 margin.

If the capacity crowd of 7,100 expected to see blood, they were disappointed.

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin, ed at the officiating in Sunday's irked at the officiating in Sunday's game, called a news conference Monday and accused officials of protesting West and Elgin Baylor.

QUOTES

"If we get called for little bitty fouls, then West and Baylor won't be around at the end," Guerin had said. "A lot of blood will be split on the floor tomorrow night."

Walter Kennedy, the league commissioner, slapped a $1,000 fine on Guerin for remarks "detrimental to basketball."

However, the game wasn't any rougher than the average NBA game, but an aroused crowd peppered paper cups and occasionally ice onto the floor when they disagreed with an official's calls.

"The only thing," West said, "the fans don't realize a player could get hurt on that ice. These fans are just wrapped up in the Atlanta team and want to see them win."

24 REBOUNDS

Wilt Chamberlain, continuing to play back into peak condition, pulled down 24 rebounds and matched teammate Dick Garret's game high 24 points.

"We can't beat them without shooting well," Guerin said. The Hawks hit only 39 of 100 field goal attempts while the Lakers were hitting 45.8 per cent.

"Our backs are against the wall, but it has been done before and we'll be fighting," Guerin said. "But it's a long haul."

Home Is Place To Be

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home is still the best place to be for Detroit's Al Kaline and Boston's Reggie Smith, but the other man's grass has been greener this spring for the California Angels.

Kaline marked his 18th home opener in Detroit Monday with a two-run double that helped the Tigers maul Cleveland 12-4 and Smith crashed a homer, triple and double as the Red Sox whipped the New York Yankees 8-3 in their first start at Boston.

LOSE AT HOME

But the Angels, who had reeled off five consecutive road victories to set the early pace in the American League, bowed to the Chicago White Sox 3-1 in their initial home game as Joe Horlen tossed his 100th career victory.

In the only other AL game, Oakland bombed Milwaukee 9-1 behind left-handers Al Downing and Paul Lindblad. Kansas City and Minnesota were snowed out at Minneapolis-St. Paul and Washington's game at Baltimore also was postponed because of wet grounds.

N.L. SCORES

San Francisco outslugged Atlanta 15-11, Cincinnati trimmed San Diego 6-1, Pittsburgh topped the New York Mets 6-4 in 10 innings, St. Louis shaded Montreal 6-5 in 10, the Chicago Cubs nipped Philadelphia 5-4 and Los Angeles edged Houston 3-2 in National League play.

"You always enjoy playing in front of a home crowd on Opening Day," said Kaline, whose double keyed a four-run third inning salvo at Detroit, where the Tigers pounded out 15 hits before an appreciative throng of 46,891. "I think there's a little extra incentive when you know everyone is behind you."

ADRENALINE

"When it's Opening Day the adrenaline always flows a little more," added Manager Mayo Smith.

Norm Cash and Jim Northrup had three hits apiece for the Tigers, including a two-run homer by Cash, and left-hander Mickey Lolich weathered 12 Cleveland hits on the way to his second victory in three decisions.

At Boston, 34,010 jammed Fenway Park to see the Red Sox wreck the Yanks with a 12-hit barrage. Smith, George Scott and Tony Conigliaro pounded bases-empty homers over the short left field wall. Smith doubled home two more runs and tripled and scored another while boosting his early batting average to .345.

Horlen, a nine-year AL veteran, reached the century mark in victories with late inning relief help from Wilbur Wood before 18,229 at Anaheim.

The White Sox, who had won just one of six games at home, turned an error by second baseman Sandy Alomar into three first inning runs and made them stand up.

Solano J.C. Stops Ken's Bat Streak

College of Marin's Ken Lazzarini had his hitting streak stopped at 17 games yesterday as the Tar baseballers bowed ingloriously to Solano Junior College of Vallejo, 7-2, at Kentfield.

Lazzarini was hitless in four tries. Marin first baseman Rafael Gallardo highlighted a punchless attack with a pair of hits, and Steve Trono had a double.

The Tars, who had won two games in a row after losing their first nine, commited five errors to finance their own defeat.

Alcindor Wears Rookie Crown With Modesty

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lew Alcindor, wearing the National Basketball Association's rookie of the year crown with modesty, refused Tuesday to predict the outcome of the Eastern Division playoffs.

The Alcindor-led Milwaukee Bucks move back into the Milwaukee Arena for the first time in more than a month to take on the New York Knicks Friday night in the third of their best-of-7 series.

New York won the first two games, in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The 7-foot-2 center was unanimously named the NBA's top rookie by writers and broadcasters throughout the league.

All the three-time UCLA All-American did was finish second to Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers in scoring with 28.8 points per game; wind up third behind Elvin Hayes of San Diego and Wes Unseld of Baltimore in rebounds; lead all NBA centers in assists with 337, and lift the Bucks from a last-place finish last year to second place in the Eastern Division this season.

Another Upset For Redwood

The Redwood High School Giants, led by the freestyle victories of Paul Cane and Brian Hennessey, downed Novato High yesterday 49-46 for their second upset in a row.

First place Tamalpais High swamped San Marin, 61-24, while Terra Linda, now alone in second, handed Drake a 61-32 defeat.

In the day's other meet, San Rafael beat Marin Catholic, 50-35.

DOUBLES

The Giants, who defeated Terra Linda last week, needed double wins from Cane in the 200 and 400 free, and Hennessey in the 50 and 100 free to lock up their victory and move into a third place tie with the Hornets. Both clubs are now 7-3.

Tamalpais got double wins from Lowry McFerrin and Tom Smiley in winning their ninth meet against a single loss.

EASY TIME

Terra Linda had such an easy time with Drake that freshman sensation Rick Demont didn't even swim his specialties, the 200 and 400-yard freestyle events. He went instead in the 100 back, finishing second to Drake's Scott Bradley.

Clint McDuffie and Steve McGee were double winners in Marin Catholic's losing effort against San Rafael. Gary Schweitzer won two events for the Bulldogs.

Salmon Party Boat Fleet Hits Jackpot

By AL GIDDINGS

The salmon party boat fleet out of Sausalito had it pretty good over the past weekend, even though it was fairly windy and rough. On Saturday, eight boats working out of Caruso's had 233 salmon. Generally, all hands had limits.

The fish seem to be getting a little bit larger and heavier. Most boats reported their top fish with weights of 15 or 16 pounds. Of course, a lot of fish are still in the five to eight pound class, but a couple of these topped with a 16 pounder would be considered a good day's catch.

WHILE WORKING the Sausalito area in my capacity as warden for the Department of Fish and Game, I went over to the Golden Gate Bridge area at Fort Baker. There were about 150 fishermen trying for anything they could catch off the army pier there. I thought I would work it undercover (out of uniform) just to see what was really cooking without getting bogged down with a million questions.

I just leisurely walked around the pier more or less eyeballing the catches. Then I noticed this one old fellow going around really checking the catches! If someone had an undersized crab, they got a lecture from him. If they didn't put the crab back, he did it for them.

No arguments; they took his word as law. He explained the differences between rock and market crabs, the female and male crabs, the fact that using two rods is illegal, and that the worms in the meat of the smelt would not harm humans.

At times he would waive his arms and even yell a little. Sometimes I would have to ask myself if I ever appeared that way. It was funny.

Most of the anglers had a few perch, and lots of jack smelt. Spinning rods and bobbers with two or three small hooks using prawns for bait seemed to be the best setup. The kids there were having a ball, and the area is somewhat protected from the wind.

WITH THE old man still in charge, (though he probably ruined my day's quota), I left and checked for stripers from Richardson Bay around to Buck's Landing in San Pablo Bay. There were no boats at Paradise Cay and only a few below the Richardson Bridge.

There has been some trolling activity from about two hours before high tide to about two hours after between San Quentin and Paradise Cay. Trollers using pet spoons with a pork rind trailer and no sinker have been taking limits unless the area is too windy.

Off China Camp and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia a few fish are still being taken, but things are generally slow with most of the bass up in the delta for spawning purposes.

A few good sturgeon have been taken by patient anglers fishing the deeper waters outside and below the pumphouse. If you're out there in a small boat and the wind comes up, get in, but take it easy. You might get wet, but you won't dump over. I haven't taken a sturgeon in a month. Things are tough there.

FOR THE fellows with small boats who usually get commercial licenses each year, the price has gone up. The legislature this year raised the fee per fisherman to $25 for the season (April 1 to March 31). The legislature also raised the boat registration fee for commercial boats to $50. The license before was $10 and the registration $15.

The commercial salmon season opens April 15 for this area. The minimum size limit for commercial salmon remains at 26 inches.

Marin County municipal lakes are scheduled to open May 2 with the regular trout season. The early season limit is still five trout per person. On May 2 the limit will change to 10 per person.

Plans are being made to stock Rodeo Lagoon with trout this week.

I HEARD a rumor about some good fishing in the private lagoon at Bel Marin Keys. But don't get excited if you have an "in" there. I checked 17 anglers who had all fished five or six hours there Saturday. The catch: One six pound bass. That was it! And if you do fish there keep the place clean.

DID YOU watch channel 5 last Friday night? The special entitled "Man's Deepest Dive" was filmed and directed by my skindiving son, Al Jr. A dive of 240 feet was made by a navy freediver named Croft for a world record.

A SPEEDER—Eric Bortfeld pushes his drag racer to a speed of nearly 124 miles per hour in a quarter-mile.

Marin Drag Racer Urges Major Changes In Sport

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Eric Bortfeld of San Rafael is a young man of 23 who would like to see some major changes made in the sport of drag racing.

"There should be two divisions, one for the pros and one for the amateurs," he declared shortly after winning top money at Fremont Drag Strip's summer championships.

Bortfeld is very proud of his black 1955 Chevrolet sedan racer. Running in B modified production class, he clocked 11.37 seconds in a quarter mile and reached top speed of 123.90 miles per hour.

"I'll win a lot unless I go up against the pros in the factory backed cars," he said.

Bortfeld was critical of Sears Point International Raceway in Sonoma, saying "they should open it up for us, have weekly drag races there, instead of just big ones to attract the pros."

Continued Bortfeld, "The little guy just gets pushed around in those national meets, and it's almost impossible to compete against those factory teams."

Bortfeld got interested in drag racing while a student at San Rafael High School. "We used to drag on the streets," he said, "and one time I saw this guy, just a bystander, get hit by a car during a drag. Right then I decided that if I was going to drag it would be on a track."

He does most of his racing at either the weekly sessions at Fremont Drag Strip or at the Vaca Valley Drag Strip in Vacaville.

"Drag racing is quite a sport," said Bortfeld, a transmission specialist at Carlo's Transmission Service in San Rafael. "I think it's the safest type of auto racing. You have to pass some rigid safety and technical inspections before you can even get on the track."

After high school, Bortfeld went to College of Marin and planned to major in business. But he changed his mind and went into auto mechanic work "because there is more money in it and I guess it just comes naturally with me."

Bortfeld's car, powered by a 1969 Corvette 427 cubic inch engine, is sponsored by H.A.T. Racing Enterprises and Barsotti's Body and Fender Service, both of San Rafael.

"The car has won prizes in auto shows," said Bortfeld, "and there isn't a scratch on it. If I put mufflers on it, it would be ready for street driving, but I keep it in a garage and just use it for either drag racing or show."

He has had the car since high school and estimates the total cost today at $3,000 over the five-year span.

Bortfeld won his class at the Sears Point drags last month, but says that was only because a factory team car blew an engine and had to withdraw. "That factory car would turn 10:50, and I can't compete against that. I'm hoping to break 11 seconds with my car."

Bortfeld, a bachelor, says he feels drag racing is the best way to get the kids off the dangerous game of street drags. He knows. He's been there before.

Boston Bruins Get Back To Their Winning Ways

BOSTON (AP) — For two periods the Boston Bruins played as though they were still reeling from their weekend beatings in New York, but they came to life just in time to pull out a 3-2 victory and move ahead once again in their National Hockey League quarter-final playoff series.

"I think it was the realization that this was probably the most critical period of the season for them," Coach Harry Sinden said Tuesday night in explanation of the turnabout, which left the Bruins leading 3-2 in games and in position to wrap up the best-of-seven series in New York Thursday night.

"We smartened up," forward Wayne Cashman said, and several teammates echoed the sentiments.

"Between the periods we said to ourselves 'if we blow it here we're in deep trouble,'" Derek Sanderson said. "They'd be flying in New York...if they knew they could end it there. Now they know that even if they win they've got to come back here. A team goes into a game with a different attitude when they know that if they lose they're out."

In the other hockey playoff, St. Louis whipped Minnesota 6-3, also taking a 3-2 advantage.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 15, the 105th day of 1970 with 260 to follow.

The moon is between first quarter and full.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, eVnus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1861 President Lincoln died from an assassin's bullet and Andrew Johnson was sworn in as president three hours later.

In 1912 the luxury liner Titanic sank off Newfoundland. Of 2,223 persons aboard, 1,517 died.

In 1959 Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived in the United States for a goodwill visit.

A thought for the day: American poet Robert Frost said, "I never dared be radical when young, for fear it would make me conservative when old."

Seminary Building, Hub Signs Approved

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee has approved plans by the San Francisco Theological Seminary for a new communications building at 2 Kensington Road.

Also approved Friday were plans by Abbey Carpets, 820 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, to install new backing and lettering on its signs, secretary Thelma Foster has reported.

Hawaii Hunting

HONOLULU (UPI)—Hawaii has so many wild goats and pigs that they may be hunted year-round in designated areas. There also are bow and arrow seasons for wild sheep and special seasons for hunting of deer, partridge, pheasant, quail and chukar.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It's Always Easy To Tell Other Player Exact Chart

It's very easy to tell the other fellow how to play bridge. Knowing how to play our own hands is far more difficult. That's why we must have deep sympathy and a crocodile tear or two for South's failure to make his contract with today's hand.

TAKES TRUMPS

East put up the king of spades at the first trick, and South won with the ace and drew four rounds of trump. Then he led the ten of diamonds for a finesse.

On a good day, the finesse would win, and South would win 12 easy tricks. Then he would scold his partner for not getting to a slam. But this was a bad day. East won with the king of diamonds, cashed the ace of clubs and led the jack of spades.

West overtook with the queen of spades and cashed the ten of spades to defeat the contract. It's now time to shed those tears.

SIMPLE PLAY

South could have made his contract by a simple play. He should refuse to take the first trick with the ace of spades. South takes the second spade, draws the fourth round of trumps, and tries the diamond finesse.

East wins with the king of diamonds, but cannot lead a spade for the very good reason that he has no spades in his hand. This was what South should have in mind at the first trick.

CAN GET LEAD

No matter what East does return, South can regain the lead and run the diamonds to get rid of his last losing spade.

Perhaps we shouldn't scold South for his play at the first trick. He doesn't have to refuse the first spade if the diamond finesse is going to work. In fact, it will cost South an Overtrick to hold up the ace of spades in that case. South explained this very patiently to his partner, but North was very rude about it.

What the world needs now is sympathetic bridge partners.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 10 7 6 5
♥ - 4
♦ - 7 5 2
♣ - 10 7 4 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Despite your trump length and the side singleton, the hand simply isn't strong enough for a jump to four spades. However, some experts would risk the jump to four spades, especially if not vulnerable against vulnerable opponents.

Swift Contract

CHICAGO (UPI)—Swift & Co. has negotiated a new 41-month labor contract with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America covering 7,500 workers.

Stock Fall In Day Of Light Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market shaved its lead late this afternoon, with winning issues on the New York Stock Exchange leading losers by a narrow margin.

At 2 p.m., an hour before the close of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead 1.58 at 782.14. The average had been ahead as much as 4.35 arond midsession.

The market had been ahead for the entire session.

Analysts said the early advance was a carryover from yesterday's late firming trend. But they noted that it was strictly technical and had little support because traders were still concerned about first and second quarter corporate earnings, and the general slowdown in the economy.

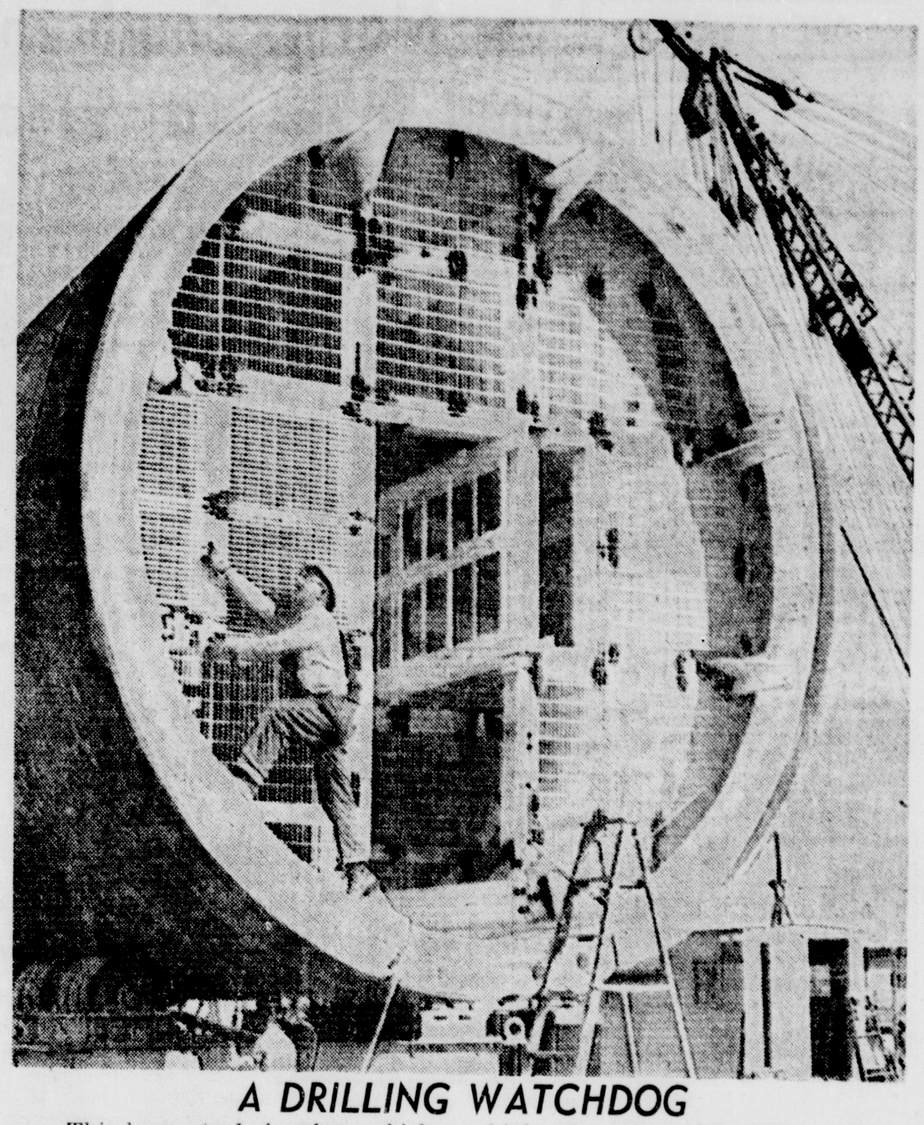
"The market is oversold, but there's more negative news than positive," one analyst commented.

Glamor issues generally advaced, although they were be low their highs for the session in some instances. Prices of glamors included Control Data, up ⅜ at 48¾; IBM up ⅝ at 325⅝; Polaroid, up ⅜ at 95⅛; and Zerox, up ⅝ at 84⅞.

Ling-Temco-Vought was ahead ¾ at 184. The company said all of its major subsidiaries except Jones & Laughlin were operating at profit.

Monroe Auto Equipment was off 4¾ at 354 after a delayed opening. It last traded Monday. The company said Monday that per share earnings for the March quarter had declined to 43 cents a share from 46 cents a year earlier.

Big Board prices included Ampex, off 4½ at 24; Monroe Equipment, off 4¾ at 35½; Ward Foods, up 1 at 14⅛; Dome Mines, up 1 at 58; Denny Restaurants, up 1⅜ at 11⅛; and Sperry Rand, off ⅞ at 295.



A DRILLING WATCHDOG

This huge steel chamber, which may cut down on the cost and pollution risk involved in wresting oil from under the sea, is scheduled for dryland testing later this month at Long Beach. The chamber is 55-feet high, 16 and one-half feet in diameter and weights 235 tons. It is designed to automatically monitor and control up to 18 oil wells down to 6,000 feet below the surface. SHEEP DOG WANTS TO BE COUNTED

Census taker Bruce Pearson humors Alfie, a 75-pound English sheep dog, by pretending to fill out a census form for him. The two-year-old canine trundled into the San Rafael census bureau, 580 Irwin Street, about 8 a.m. this morning seeming to want to be counted. No one told Alfie that census forms were mailed out weeks ago and that his three-mile walk from the home of Robert Rosenblatt, 27 Graceland Drive, was all for naught. A phone call to his owner ended Alfie's visit. (Independent-Journal photo)

Dixie Voters Continue School Funds Support

Dixie School District, which has never lost a bond or tax election, kept its record clean yesterday.

A 50-cent increase in the general purpose operating tax passed 2,233 to 1,468, or 60.34 per cent "yes."

Conversion of $1,495,000 in previously authorized bonds to a new issue with a maximum of 7 per cent interest passed 2,563 to 1,143, or 69.19 per cent "yes."

The total vote of 3,714 was a 45.9 per cent turnout of the 8,085 registered in the district — exceptionally high for a special election.

The tax increase, which will boost the general purpose maximum to $3.85 per $100 assessed valuation, and probably will mean a total rate of nearly $5 for the district, carried in all but two of the 10 precincts. It got only 49.7 per cent approval at Bernard Hoffman School and 46.3 per cent at Don Timoteo School.

The bond issue fell below the necessary two-thirds at Hoffman, Timoteo, Mary Silveira, and Miller Creek schools.

The district board recessed its regular meeting while totals were posted on the blackboard as they were received from the polling places.

Fate of the bond issue was in doubt until the final return, from Santa Margarita School, where it received 73.9 per cent approval.

The board then took up the matter of hiring an architect to design additions to Oak View and Miller Creek schools which will be financed from the new bonds. The previous bonds were unsalable because of their 5 per cent interest limit.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell noted that the firm of Rockwell and Banwell, which has designed all Dixie district buildings for some years, has dissolved. Chairman Earl Koehler commented this seemed an appropriate time to solicit proposals from a wide field of architects. This was agreed.

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff announced he will present April 28 the preliminary budget prepared in expectation of the tax increase passing. (Another had been readied in case the increase failed.)

Adoption of the preliminary budget is set for May 12, with the "publication budget" to be adopted May 26 and final budget hearing set June 23.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

NDEA APPLICATION — Approved submittal of an application for $56,000 for audio-visual equipment under the National Defense Education Act.

GIFTS ACCEPTED — Accepted a new English Bible donated by the Don Timoteo School faculty; a two-volume set on Galapagos by the Don Timoteo Parent-Teacher Association, and carpet in the Don Timoteo School library and principal's office, also by the P-TA.

TEACHERS LEAVING — Granted Mrs. Claire Gould, a Santa Margarita teacher, maternity leave for next school year, and accepted the resignation of Mary Campion, a teacher on leave this year. Superintendent Campbell announced that this resignation will make it unnecessary to release any teachers whose names were drawn in a recent lottery. Thirteen more would have to be released had the tax issue not passed.

AUDIT — Agreed to hire Soderblom and Co. to audit the district books for the current fiscal year.

MILLER CREEK FIRE — Heard from Campbell that an arson charge arising from a fire at Miller Creek School had not resulted in conviction, and advised him to consult the district's insurors regarding action to recover damages.

Affairs Panel Sets Election

Marin Council for Civic Affairs will elect officers at its annual dinner meeting next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Tiburon Tommie's in Tiburon.

Chairman, vice chairman and a board of directors will be elected at the meeting. A slate of candidates has been prepared by a nominating committee headed by Bunny Lucheta of Greenbrae. Nominations also will be accepted from the floor.

Proposed as chairman, to succeed Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon, is George Ellman of Tiburon, a research biologist. Mrs. Dewey J. Forry of Marinwood is proposed as new vice chairman to succeed Ellman.

Ellman and Beverly Savitt of Belvedere are in charge of the dinner meeting. A light show prepared by Edward Farrell of Mill Valley will be a feature of the program.

Landscaping Bids Sought

Bids for landscaping an unsightly plot of land outside the Federal Building in San Rafael are now being sought by the General Services Administration.

The building was remodeled last winter and spring at a cost of $270,000, but no money was left to landscape the building.

Bids will be opened April 28, a year after the weed garden at Third and D streets began.

Children Sign For Summer

A total of 1,747 children has signed up for summer school in the Dixie School District, Asst. Supt. Raymond A. Riley reported to district trustees last night.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell reported this represents 41 per cent of the eligible kindergarten through seventh grade pupils.

Riley pointed out that the registration in fourth through seventh grades is more than double last summer. He credited this to adoption of an elective subject program for these grades.

The board approved appointment of Curtis Kalstand at Vallecito School and Otto Geiger at Miller Creek School as summer school principals for grades four through seven, at $1,400 each. It also authorized appointment as teachers in charge for summer sessions in the primary grades, at $800 each, of: Jean Blackburn at Dixie School; Clark Matthiessen at Lucas Valley; Eric Goodrich at Mary Silveira; A. William Malet at Oak View; Michael Glose at Don Timoteo; Jack Neiger at Bernard Hoffman; Jack Klippensteen at Santa Margarita, and Nina Bloom at Nova Albion.

Riley reported 66 teachers will be needed to staff the summer session.

Conditional Nod To Plans For A Market

The Cotati Planning Commission conditionally approved the design last night of a proposed Pam's supermarket at 7646 Redwood Highway and of a duplex at 8107 El Rancho Drive.

The store is proposed by the Todd Construction Co. Earl Anderson applied for design approval for the duplex.

In other business, the commission recommended that the city council rezone three lots from single family to duplex use on West Cotati Avenue across from St. Joseph's Catholic Church and that it approve a cost study of installing a sidewalk on the north side of West Sierra Avenue, east of Highway 101.

The commission also affirmed its recommended denial by the county of a use permit that would enable William Espenshade Jr. to operate a printing shop outside the city limits at 8340 Poplar Avenue.

Three Apartment Developments Given Approval

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved architectural plans for three apartment developments in Bon Air, clerk Barbara Bruton reported.

Plans were approved for a 16-unit project by Sue Mills, Inc., on Via Casitas, a 10-unit project by J. J. Menke on South Eliseo Drive, and an 8-unit project by Belardo Co. at 599 South Eliseo Drive.

The commission also approved a lot split allowing Charles McLeran to divide a 30,000-square foot parcel at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane and combine 9,015 square feet of it with a commercially zoned parcel on Magnolia Avenue.

After hearing a preliminary proposal by Patrick A. O'Donnell for development on four acres at Olive and Maple avenues, the commission recommended that the city council abandon Olive Avenue between Maple and View Street, opening up the acreage for either cluster of conventional development. O'Donnell proposes to build four houses on the land.

Behr Challenges On Party Loyalty

Peter H. Behr, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, yesterday challenged his three GOP opponents to a test of "Republican Party loyalty."

In letters to Don Pinkerton, Raymond H. Shone and Hugh O. Pessner, Behr urged them to agree to support the winner of the June primary and to observe the party's "11th commandment," which bars Republicans from speaking ill of one another.

"I don't have to tell you of the need for party unity," Behr wrote. "Only we can guarantee that the party will not suffer another damaging primary."

How Marin, Southern Sonoma Voted In 12 City Elections

BELVEDERE

Willard G. Pittman, a food broker, and Allen Steinau, an architect, were elected to the Belvedere City Council last night.

They will succeed Sally Matthews and John R. Moore, who didn't seek reelection.

It became a three-way race for the two seats when one of the candidates, Vernon E. Perry, withdrew although his name oppeared on the ballot.

Pittman, a board member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, was the top vote getter with 508 votes, while Steinau, a former chairman of the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission, garned 470.

Beatrice S. Mann, a member of the parks and recreation commission, was runnerup with 387. Perry, although out of the race, had 63 votes.

There was a 54 per cent voter turnout with 793 of the city's 1,483 voters casting ballots.

CORTE MADERA

By the slim margin of one obscure ballot, Corte Madera voters returned to office all three incumbents running for reelection to the three open town council seats.

Incumbent Mayor Edward W. Colthurst polled 1,005 votes to secure a fourth term and lead the list followed closely by Harold B. Wagstaff in his first bid for reelection with 976.

A photo finish race developed early in the evening between incumbent Holmes S. Norville and challenger Herber C. Leney, a retired attorney, for the third council seat.

The lead changed hands four times between them as each of the five precincts reported their totals. The final tally saw Norville winning by one vote with 861, and Leney indicating he would probably finance a recount.

The youngest candidate, David I. Freed, a 27-year-old attorney showed surprising strength in eastern Corte Madera, beatinrg both Leney and Norville at the two eastern precincts. Freed totaled 833 votes.

Housewife Patricia Friend trailed the slate with 293 votes.

The turnout in Corte Madera was 43 per cent with 1,339 ballots cast out of 4,119 registered voters.

COTATI

Voters rejected last night the bid of T. Jeffrey Hughes, a 24-year-old graduate student challenging two experienced office holders for a seat on the city council ,but authorized a $100,000 sewer bond issue by the whopping margin of 318 to 27.

Hughes, a political science major at Sonoma State College in adjacent Rohnert Park, ran third in a three-man race for two council seats. Elected were incumbent Mayor Frank J. Dolsinek, with 215 votes, and former Councilman Herbert Winters, 205. Hughes got 176.

Besides Dolsinek's, the seat of John Rasmussen, who did not seek reelection, was up.

Dolsinek, appointed to the council in 1966, won his first full term of four years. He is a nursery owner.

Winters, owner of a mattress company, served one term on the council but was defeated in a reelection bid two years ago.

The bond issue is to finance new sewer lines and a connection with the Rohnert Park sewage treatment plant. Engineers had recommended the hookup to Rohnert Park's facility instead of improving Cotati's treatment plant, which is under a cease and desist order by North Coast Regional Water Quality Control officials.

Federal funds will supplement the bond project .

Voter turnout was 355 of 654 registered, or 54 per cent.

FAIRFAX

Fairfax voters yesterday gave incumbent Frank J. Egger the highest vote ever polled by a candidate in the city, while ousting two other incumbents seeking reelection.

Elected along with Egger were San Francisco police sergeant Lee Nelder and Albert E. Gately, an attorney and chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission.

Egger polled 1,043 votes, Nelder 992 and Gately 981. The three incumbents Robert R. Souza with 978 votes and Adelaid P. Wilson with 772. James K. Henington had 311 and Winston R. Curtis 193.

The previous high vote in the city was in 1964 when Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., now a county supervisor, polled 993 votes.

A total of 1,841 votes was cast, or 56 per cent of the city's 3,302 registered voters.

LARKSPUR

Two members of the Larkspur City Council (one of them the mayor) beat off a challenge by a San Quentin correctional officer who is chairman of a John Birch Society committee to win reelection.

Elected were Mayor Neil R. Brixon, owner of the Elite Rug Cleaners in Larkspur, and Alfred J. Malvino, who operates Malvino Furniture Co. in San Francisco.

Defeated was Raymond C. Kesner, who is chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee.

Totals were Malvino, 1,056; Brixon, 963; and Kesner, 395.

Twenty-nine per cent, or 1,303 of the 4,420 of the registered voters in Larkspur turned out yesterday.

MILL VALLEY

As many had expected, Mill Valley returned Edward J. Boessenecker to the city council and elected Jean S. Barnard to succeed Mayor Dean N. Meyer, who chose not to run.

Voters turned thumbs down on a $150-a-month salary for councilmen and a measure supporting the 18-year-old vote.

Mrs. Barnard, head of the city's parks and recreation commission before she resigned to run for the council, was top vote getter with 2,333. Boessenecker received 2,107 and Dolph Jaeger 1,030.

Voters said no to the 18-year-old vote by 1,620-to-1,421.

Mrs. Barnard had opposed the salary measure and it was defeated soundly, 1,876 to 1,063. Boessenecker had supported it.

Some 47.7 per cent, or 3,099 of the 6,496 registered voters went to the polls.

NOVATO

Novato voters yesterday ousted Mayor Harley A. McAskill and former mayor Babe Silva and voted in two members of the city planning commission.

Elected to two council seats were F. Wayne Sartain, vice chairman and George C. Quesada, chairman, of the planning commission.

Sartain, a printer, was the top vote getter with 2,637 while Quesada, an architect, had 2,543.

Silva was third with 1,546, while rancher Wilford H. Lieb had 1,537, Betty J. Machadao, 949, McAskill, 758, and Joseph Bonomolo, service station operator, 295.

McAskill, elected to the council in 1966, has served as mayor for two years and recently was elected to the Marin Transit District Board by the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

Silva, was elected to the council when Novato was incorporated in 1960, served as mayor in 1962-64. He was defeated in 1964, but regained his seat in a comeback in 1966.

There was a 56 per cent turnout of the city's 9,860 registered voters, 5,549 of whom went to the polls.

ROHNERT PARK

Incumbents James W. Rogers and Arthur N. Roberts rode a record turnout back into their city council seats last night, repulsing the bid of three challengers.

Rogers, also mayor, got 617 votes and Roberts, 608. Billy C. Ayers and Louis G. Beary tied for third with 492 votes. Paul C. Lynd, 93 votes, finished last.

The spirited race, during which Ayers and Beary assailed the incumbents' records, produced a turnout of 62 per cent — 1,195 voted out of 1,922 registered — highest since the city was incorporated in 1962.

Rogers, a real estate agent, was appointed to the council in 1963 and elected to his first full term three years later.

Roberts, winning his second council term, is a pharmacist.

Ayers, past president of the Rohnert Park Homeowners Association, had raised conflict-of-interest implications in the voting records of Rogers and Roberts, with Beary also criticizing the two for allegedly shielding higher costs in the purchase of property for the new municipal golf course.

Rogers and Roberts had hotly rejected the criticism, with Rogers saying "interested people" in the community were fully aware right along of golf course costs.

ROSS

In an uncontested Ross City Town Council election Mayor Frederick S. Allen and Councilmen Robert Farrington Jones yesterday regained their seats for another four years.

The vote was 153 for Allen and 139 for Jones. A total of 153 of the town's 1,300 registered voters balloted yesterday, a 12 per cent turnout.

Allen has been a member of the council since 1960 and Jones since 1962.

SAN ANSELMO

San Anselmo residents split their ballots last night to reelect Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and challengers Warren R. Perry and Lewis W. (Skip) Stewart.

Perry and Stewart led the field by whacking margins, rolling up 1,867 and 1,780 votes respectively against Capurro's 1,397.

Incumbent Duane C. Ragan ran a distant sixth among seven candidates with 1,008 votes.

Capurro was the only member of a three candidate "revolt slate" to win, former councilman Arthur W. Smith getting 1,127 votes and Sarah Nome last at 941.

Fourth place went to Martin G. Blinder with 1,190. Early returns had Blinder close behind Capurro but the mayor gained a sizeable bulge with the last returns from two precincts.

The city turned out 50.23 per cent of registered voters in the spirited campaign, with a total of 3,207 voting and 6,384 registered.

In a precinct-by-precinct count, Perry and Stewart were among the top three candidates in all eight precincts. while Capurro was in the top three in four precincts.

One confused voter wrote in the name of Raymond H. Shone. The trouble is that Shone is a Nicasio resident; running for the State Senate, and running in the June 2 election.

SAUSALITO

Incumbent Earl F. Dunphy, seeking his fourth full term, captured one of two council seats up for election in Sausalito last night and led the field in the voting. Stephen A. Fraser, a government professor at Sonoma State College was successful in his council bid.

Robert D. Bauerle, co-owner of a Sausalito gift shop, trailed the successful Fraser by 27 votes. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), owner of the Valhalla Inn, came in fourth in her fifth attempt to gain a council seat. Attorney Michael J. Kutsko was fifth and artist Serge Trubach, also a perennial candidate, came in last in the voting.

Dunphy, a machinist for a San Francisco newspaper printing company, will begin his 15th year as a councilman. He was first elected to the council in 1936.

The totals were: Dunphy, 812; Fraser, 726; Bauerle, 699; Mrs. Owen, 682; Kutsko, 197 and Trubach, 87.

Forty-six per cent, or 1,710 of Sausalito's 3,714 voters turned out.

TIBURON

Tiburon planning commissioner Albert H. Sennett, incumbent Branwell D. Fanning and landscape architect Carlisle Becker were elected to four-year terms on the Tiburon City Council last night.

Sennett led in the balloting with 868 votes, followed by Fanning with 838. Fanning was the only incumbent seeking reelection. Councilmen William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan did not run.

Becker narrowly edged Alvin R. Kuhn. Becker had 664 votes to Kuhn's 662. Kuhn did not indicate last night whether he would seek a recount.

Forty-nine per cent, or 1,335 of the city's 2707 registered voters, cast ballots.

Totals for the other candidates were Donald L. Batten, 319 and R. Gary Gray, 310.

Report In Error In Filling Vacancy

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Harvey R. Crotts Jr., of Bolinas was selected to fill a vacancy on the Bolinas Fire Protection District board.

Actually, Harvey R. Crotts Sr. of Bolinas, a longtime volunteer fireman and mill superintendent for Hutchison Co. in Greenbrae, was nominated for the post. His nomination must be confirmed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

San Rafael Man Collapses, Dies

Walter C. Volz, 67, of 908 Fifth Street, San Rafael died enroute to a local hospital after collapsing at a San Anselmo service station, the coroner's office said today.

According to Keith Craig, deputy coroner, Volz had a history of heart trouble and apparently died of natural causes.

The body was moved to Harry Williams Mortuary for autopsy.

Incumbents Lose Out In Novato

Novato voters had the last word yesterday in the long fight between the planning commission and the city council.

Planning Commissioners F. Wayne Sartain and George C. Quesada thrashed two incumbent councilmen and three other candidates by overwhelming margins.

Sartain, vice chairman of the commission, led with 2,637 votes and Quesada, the chairman, had 2,543, compared to Councilman Babe Silva's 1,546 and Mayor Harley A. McAskill's 758.

The vote apparently settles the commission-council battle, in which the council has for two years consistently overridden planning commission recommendations, to favor commercial development.

The commission sought a moratorium on all new business during the 701 downtown study, but the council rejected it. An ordinance was passed requiring a use permit for new business, however.

Many residents were angered by the Sutter Hills development at South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, protesting the council's granting of use permits for a drive-in restaurant, Lucky grocery and Thrifty drugstore there.

Other projects in the past year which the council overrode the commission to approve included a readerboard sign for Pacheco Plaza, a proposed car wash on Seventh Street, increased height for a Toyota sign at 7505 Redwood Highway, a garage on First Street for John Angeloni, the teen center for the Economic Opportunity Council at 875 Grant Avenue, and a veterinary clinic on Highway 101.

Inmate Near Parole Found After Escape

A night-long search for an escaped San Quentin prisoner ended this morning at about 7 o'clock when a woman phoned the sheriff's office complaining of a man sleeping in her car.

According to James W. L. Park, associate warden, Gerald D. Davis, 29, was captured as he lurked near the back door of a San Quentin Village home. A few minutes earlier the homeowner had noticed him sleeping in the family car.

Park said Davis, who was to be paroled next December, had escaped at 12:20 a.m. today by wading around a prison fence at low tide.

Davis had been working at the prison's employees snack bar outside the maximum security wall when he made his escape.

Park said only those men with close parole dates are allowed outside the walls to work.

Davis has been at San Quentin since 1961, when he was moved from a southern California prison for repeated escapes.

Mill Valley Apartments Plan Vetoed

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has rejected a plan submitted by the Bothin Real Estate Co. for an apartment project at the corner of Miller Avenue and Camino Alto, according to Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator.

The commission decided at Monday night's meeting that the area's zoning, commercial-recreational, did not permit the apartments to be built. MGill said that the zoning required water-oriented businesses and fewer dwelling units.

The commission also decided to make a budget request for $8,000 to retain a planning consultant to develop an East Mill Valley plan for land and water use, McGill said.

Postponed to the regular meeting April 27 at 8 p.m. in city hall were: Formulation of the commission's recommendation to the city council on the small craft harbor; consideration of a master plan for a residential development submitted by William Cullen; a request by Cal-Fong Investment Co. to allow a dwelling density of 4.36 dwelling units per acre when zoning calls for a density of 3; and a request for a use permit to allow construction of a Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant at East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto.

The Council does hereby submit to the qualified electors of the City at said special municipal bond election said measures, and each of them, set forth in Section 1 of this ordinance, and designates and refers to said measures as the measures to be set forth on the ballots hereinafter prescribed for use at said election.

Only qualified voters of the City shall be permitted to vote at said special municipal bond election. The Board of Supervisors of said County is authorized to canvass, or cause to be canvassed, the returns of said special municipal bond election with respect to the votes cast in the City and to certify the results to the Council.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Chocolate Does Not Necessarily Aggravate The Condition Of Skin

The latest on acne is that chocolate and fatty foods do not bring on or aggravate the skin condition. Dermatologists from the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine became skeptical about the influence of chocolate on acne when they were unable to find any reliable proof in the medical literature that an association existed.

For their study, the researchers used two identical appearing candy bars, remarkably similar in taste. Bar A contained 10 times the amount of chocolate found in an average 10 cent candy bar; the control bar (B) had no chocolate but it contained 28 per cent vegetable fat to mimic the fats found in chocolate liquor and cocoa butter.

SIXTY-FIVE YOUNG volunteers with moderate acne consumed one candy bar (either A or B) a day for four weeks. After a three-week rest period, they ate the alternate bar (one daily) for a month. Weekly examinations were done to determine whether the skin was improved, the same, or worse. In addition, the investigators ran tests on 5 of the volunteers to determine whether the (sebaceous) oil producing glands were more or less active, and whether the composition of the oil had changed.

AT THE END of the experiment with bar A, in 46 of 65, the acne condition remained the same. Ten were better and nine worse. With bar B, 53 remained the same, five were better, and seven worsened. There was no change in the amount of oil produced or in its composition. They concluded that chocolate did not alter the course of acne. And, because the control bars (B) contained one-third fat, neither did a diet rich in vegetable fats.

With further research, old prejudices against chocolate, fried foods, and fats may gradually fade. For the teenager, acne is bad enough without having to give up his favorite foods. On the other hand, some develop pimples whenever they eat certain foods. If you know that chocolate is bad for your skin—leave it alone.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ANTIBIOTIC REACTION

A. R. writes: Could an antibiotic cause hives?

REPLY

Yes. Hives is one type of skin reaction that occurs when a person is allergic to penicillin or one of our other antibiotics. It is well to remember that not every rash that develops when taking penicillin represents an allergy to the antibiotic.

BLOOD CLOTTING

W. N. writes: When a blood clot forms, as in phlebitis, is it due to a blood disease?

REPLY

Not as a rule. In phlebitis, the wall of the vein becomes inflamed and blood cells adhere to its surface. In time a clot develops that obstructs the passageway. Now and then clotting occurs when the flow of blood is sluggish.

NODULE IN THYROID

W. N. writes: My physician told me that I have a nodular growth in the thyroid gland. What is the difference between this and a goiter?

REPLY

Goiter is an over-all enlargement of the thyroid, whereas a nodule is a tumorlike growth that protrudes from the gland.

REFINED SUGAR

F. S. writes: Is it true that the use of white sugar robs the body of calcium and vitamin B?

REPLY

No. The food faddists really give poor old refined sugar a beating.

Candidate Tells Of His Finances

Despite the California Supreme Court's ruling last month that the state law requiring disclosure of financial investments by public officials and candidates is unconstitutional, Harry E. Rice, candidate for Marin Municipal Court judge, yesterday filed a statement of his financial interests with the county clerk's office.

He declared his sole investment in excess of $10,000 held for income or gain is a $19,000 rental property in Pleasant Hill, Contro Costa County.

Rice said he filed the statement because "I believe that the public has a right to be assured that the private financial dealings of candidates for judicial office present no conflict of interest between the public trust and private gain."

Span Board Ferryboat Discussion Tomorrow

A $558,673 bid on a ferry boat for the Golden Gate Bridge District will be considered by the district's "committee of the whole" at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the toll plaza office.

Directors balked last week at acting on the bid before knowing where the boat would dock, who would run it, and whether it was the best vessel for the proposed Marin-San Francisco service.

A preliminary report on long-range plans for the ferry service, drawn by the district's consulting naval architect, Philip F. Spaulding, will be presented immediately after the "committee of the whole" meeting to the joint transportation and finance-auditing committee.

The joint committee also will hear a report on a proposal to provide service to Sausalito if the district accepts the bid on the ferryboat.

The legislation-public relations committee will meet at 9 a.m. to consider a request from Okamoto-Liskamm, urban design and planning consultants, to hire a public relations firm to help its work on a long-range transit plan for the district.

A special meeting of the full board will be held at 10 a.m. Friday to consider hiring a new attorney for the district. A closed session is expected to discuss candidates for the job, a post for which some directors are competing.

The rules and policy committee will meet at 11 a.m. Friday to consider a policy on allowing the public to address directors' meetings.

Petaluma Education Board Eyes $7.3 Million Spending

Preliminary 1970-71 budgets of $2,450,626 in the elementary district and $4,832,169 in the high school district were presented last night to the Petaluma Board of Education, according to Mrs. Marian Beltzner, district secretary.

The board did not discuss the budgets in detail, Mrs. Beltzner said, setting further presentations through the first week in August, when it expects to adopt a final spending program. (State law now requires a budget hearing before June 30.)

Petaluma Board Of Education Also:

U.S.-Russ Chat Is SALT Prelude

VIENNA (UPI) — The Chief U.S. and Soviet arms control negotiators, Gerard C. Smith and Vladimir S. Semenov, met briefly today prior to the opening of talks Thursday on the limitation of nuclear weapons.

Officials of both delegations said the meeting was strictly informal and conference details were not discussed.

The substantive stage of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—begin at noon Thursday with a formal ceremony in the Belvedere Palace. Smith, Semenov and Austrian Foreign Minister Kurt Waldheim will deliver prepared speeches.

State Truckers Get Rates Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California truckers have been granted an interim hike in freight rates to help offset new wage increases.

The state Public Utilities Commission Tuesday approved the hikes, which total $38.6 million and average about 7.5 per cent.

Most of the hikes — $32.5 million — cover general freight. Also affected are fresh fruits and vegetable hauling and hauling within Los Angeles, San Francisco, the East Bay and San Diego.

Not affected are livestock, household goods, new furniture, dump trucks, trailers, cement, grain and oil-bearing seeds.

Hearings will be held later to determine new permanent rate hikes to replace the interim hikes.

According to National Geographic, scientists believe 75 million meteors slam into earth's atmosphere every day. However, all but a relative few —weighing about one ton altogether—burn up before reaching the ground.

School Chief Won't Take Bolinas Job

Johnn A. O'Shea, selected last week as new superintendent of Bolinas-Stinson School District, said today he has decided not to take the post.

"I just feel I would like to stay in this particular area and follow through with the programs we are developing and work with my faculty," said O'Shea, principal of a Yuba City elementary school.

He expressed regret in causing "quite a bit of inconvenience to the Bolinas-Stinson District," but said he had signed no contract with the district.

The 39-year-old O'Shea was the unanimous choice of Bolinas-Stinson trustees, from 64 applicants. Clarence B. Larison resigned as superintendent in December, effective at the end of the school year.

The Bolinas-Stinson board has called a special meeting for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Bolinas School to choose another man for the superintendent's job.

Cash Bag Stolen

A thief yesterday stole a money bag containing $150 from beneath a counter at Stop and Go Market, 2222 Fourth Street, San Rafael police reported today.

Shots Fly In Feud By Neighbors In 70s

A feud between two Larkspur neighbors—both in their 70s—was punctuated by gunfire yesterday, Larkspur police reported.

It started, Chief Howard H. Clerk said, when Walter a Frizzi, 77, of 119 Ward Street, saw his next door neighbor, William Joseph Riley, 76, of 44 Locust Street, pulling on some of Frizzi's shrubbery at 12:45 p.m.

Frizzi yelled at Riley, and Riley invited him to step outside. Instead, Frizzi went into his front yard to mow the lawn, where Riley approached him with a pistol and fired two shots at him, Calrk said.

Riley reportedly then hit Frizzi twice with the gun, turned and went back to his home, where Clark arrested him.

Both men said Riley had fired blanks, and he was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of battery. He was released on his own recognizance to appear Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Police later found two bullet holes in the wall of Frizzi's home, and Clark said further investigation today may lead to a new charge against Riley.

He said the two men have feuded for 15 years or more.

Kentfield Woman Has Both Feet Fractured

A 60-year-old Kentfield woman has been treated at Marin General Hospital for fractures of both feet after being struck by a car while walking along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Kathern Meek, of 14 Stetson Avenue, was hit by a car driven by Barbara J. Pugh, 39, of 7 Oak Hill Drive, San Anselmo, at 1:15 p.m. Monday.

'This Is Your Life' Planned For Revival

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer-master of ceremonies Ralph Edwards says he will revive the "This Is Your Life" show next January. The show left the air in 1961 after nine years on television, which followed two years on radio.

An Edwards spokesman said the show, chronicling the lives of unsuspecting guests and bringing together friends and acquaintances they have not seen for years, would be taped on outdoor locations instead of in a studio as before.

Marathon Wins Nod In Tiburon

The Tiburon City Council has reversed an earlier decision and voted to allow the Golden Gate Marathon to pass through Tiburon May 30, according to Robert Kleinert, assistant city manager.

The council Monday night, reconvening after once adjourning its meeting, voted unanimously to allow the 300 to 500 racers to run along Tiburon Boulevard on their way to the Golden Gate Bridge and San Francisco in the Memorial Day event billed as the West's answer to the Boston Marathon.

The council had indicated on March 23 that it did not want the race to go through its city because of possible traffic and spectator congestion.

Richard W. Perry, race director told the council that the starting time had been moved up from 9:30 to 8:30 a.m. and most of the runners would be through Tiburon within an hour.

Two German cities, Munster and Nordlingen, still retain tower watchmen who blow a horn every hour of the night to indicate they are on guard against dangers.

A LITTLE TOGETHERNESS

What are friends for, if not to share joy and happiness, aches and pains? Last May, Randy Levison, (left) and Mark White had their third birthday together. They're inseparable. Last month, Mark fractured his right leg and the next day, Randy broke his right leg. (AP Wirephoto)

Oil Tanks Are Going Underground

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (GF) — The first subterranean oil storage tanks in West Germany will be ready for service this coming summer near Wilhelmshaven on the North Sea coast.

Engineers have made use of a natural geological structure, a huge underground salt deposit, or "dome", near the city, and have piped in sea water to dissolve and literally "flush out" nine pear-shaped caverns which can be filled with petroleum for storage.

Work will be finished on a tenth cavern this summer, bringing total storage capacity to 260,000 cu. yds. per cavern, equal to the cargo of ten ocean-going super tankers.

The caverns will be used for storage over longer periods of time, since removal of the oil more frequently by pumping in salt water would unnecessarily enlarge the tanks.

The pipeline presently used to pump in sea water will later serve as an oil transport artery.

The "North-West Cavern Co.," which is constructing the subterranean tanks expects to invest some 13.7 million dollars into the project, half of which is being spent on the caverns themselves, and the rest on surface facilities.

New Optical Instrument For Space

WETZLAR, Germany (GF) — West German firms are supplying American and European space programs with optical instruments.

Cameras and objectives from the Zeiss Co. in Oberkochen or precision instruments from the Leitz Works in Wetzlar are in common use in satellites and research rockets, while smaller German firms have also contributed to America's Apollo program and other international space experiments.

Experts in Wetzlar have recently developed a new optical electronic instrument designed for automatic microscopic and macroscopic photographic analysis.

QUICK WORK

Called the "integramat", the precision tool requires only fractions of a second to define an object under the microscope, reproduce the material in its component parts on an attached picture screen, and provide computerized data on the contents.

The "integramat" can be used in variety of ways. Currently it is being employed to analyze moon soil. But it can also be mounted in an aircraft for cross-country surveying or for registration of urban structures.

Leitz scientists have also produced optical sensors used primarily for adjustment and guidance of space satellites. Such sensors are to be employed to keep the German-French communications satellite "symphony" in orbit.

OLYMPIC ROLE

Leitz sensors will also play a role in satellite television broadcasts of the 1972 Olympic Games from Munich.

A test model of the Olympic satellite will be orbited next year to an altitude of 21,600 miles above the earth, and will, when replaced with a permanent version, broadcast news and pictures from the Olympic games to all of Europe, a large part of Africa, Central America and the Antilles.

Train Hobbyists Keep Memory Of Crack Trains

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Those great-name trains of America, such as the 20th Century Limited, Golden State and Chief have not passed completely into oblivion.

Scale models of these famous flyers are making more and more runs every year—across the basements and attics of America.

A model railroading magazine estimates that 150,000 Americans engage in the hobby, spend more than $41 million annually and keep a bit of Americana alive at the same time.

The average hobbyist today is 33.2 years old, indicating the age level has remained constant for the past 20 years.

Underwater 'Lawns' Could Hold Major Pollution Key

I-J Special Report

DAVIS—Underwater "lawns" may help solve one form of water pollution.

Scientists on the University of California campus at Davis are planting submerged turf to control aquatic weeds in canals and reservoirs without chemical herbicides. Actually, it isn't grass—it's a small aquatic plant called slender spikerush. But it grows like a lawn, even under five feet or more of water.

"Slender spikerush doesn't clog water-ways with masses of foliage, and it crowds out the pest plants that do," says Richard Yeo, who heads a U.S. Department of Agriculture aquatic pest control research laboratory here.

Because herbicides in water can cause environmental pollution, a chief goal of the laboratory is to develop biological controls for aquatic weeds. Slender spikerush looks like one of the most promising possibilities, Yeo said.

JUST A BASKIN' IN THE SUN

It's a predicament for some birds to find a pillar of their own on Chicago's lake front so they can bask in the warm sun on a chilly afternoon. The two in the center seem to be arguing about terrirtorial rights as almost every breakwater pillar along Lake Michigan was taken when the photographer snapped the picture. (UPI Telephoto)

Wrong Name

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Cafe proprieter Jao Vasco Consalier Perroira was fined $210 on three charges under the public health laws. Health inspectors found his food was exposed, kitchen utensils were filthy, cooks were not wearing overalls or aprons and "flies and cockroaches swarmed in the kitchen." Perroira's cafe is named the "Spic and Span."

Colleges Face Task In Computer Demands

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The demand for college training in the field of computer sciences, systems analysis, and data processing has multiplied at a staggering rate, according to a Temple University dean.

Dr. Seymour L. Wolfbein, dean of the School of Business Administration, said college graduates from every segment of commerce and industry are seeking graduate education in computer sciences because the use of computers in business has no limit.

Commercial's Timing Couldn't Be Worse

LONDON (UPI)—The play on the commercial television channel was about Sweeney Todd, "The Demon Barber of Fleet Street," who killed and chopped up customers to make pork pies.

Halfway through the show came the commercials, including one for pork pies. A spokesman for the pork pie company said he was "at a loss for words" when heard of the unfortunate coincidence, but accepted the television company's apology.

Britain Learning To Count By Tens

LONDON (AP) — Britain is learning to count by tens. Its quiet revolution in numbering may leave the United States as the world's last bastion of the foot and the pound.

Industrial and government planners are at midpoint of a 10-year changeover to metric measurements—meters, liters and grams. This will affect the shape and weight of nearly everything manufactured or sold.

The change is so gradual that nearly one-third of the population is unaware that the country is goint metric.

Only one-sixth of the women in a recent shoppers' poll knew that a kilogram weighs more than a pound, and only a fifth of those questioned had heard of the Metrication Board.

Metrication is the second part of a one-two combination that will bring British commerce into line with the weights and measures used by 85 per cent of the world. The first part is decimalization, the switch from coinage based on 12 pennies to a shilling to a system based on 100 pennies to a pound sterling.

The advantages of divisible-by-10 systems in increased efficiency and east of counting are clear. Authorities expect the $300-million cost of minting decimal coins and converting business machines to handle them, as well as the undetermined millions involved in metricizing British industry, to be regained many times over.

People like Kathleen Johns blue-eyed grandmother of 59 went to a demonstration supermarket where 150 women a day are practicing shopping with the new money to get ready for Decimal Day next Feb. 15.

"Britain was a great power for a great many years. Must we lose everthing we had?" "Doing like everyone else is wrong. Let them do as we do."

Executives say the demonstration market has been a success in training employes to make decimal change and that most shoppers find decimal buying confusing at first but enjoyable.

"I had no trouble at all," said Freda Moss, a 52-year-old housewife. "Decimal money should have come in years ago."

Three decimal coins are already in circulation—for 5, 10 and 50 pennies. Three more will be introduced on decimal day—the new halfpenny, new penny and two-penny piece. They will replace the last remaining non-decimal coins—the present penny, threepenny piece and sixpence.

His Nightmare Was Too Real

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Tony Rose thought he was having a nightmare. He woke to find his horse galloping away with his bed—and himself still in it.

On an overnight camping trip with his horse, Roadrunner, professional horse trainer Rose camped alongside the road at nightfall, fastened his steed to his camp bed and went to sleep. Roadrunner was probably frightened by a snake and made off, dragging bed and master behind him. Rose, clad only in shorts, managed to roll off the bed. He stopped a passing car and gave chase, but it took a police patrol car to stop the runaway.

City Father And Wife Both Jog

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Charles E. Barnhart, chairman of Albuquerque's city commission and ex-officio mayor, jogs at least a mile five days a week.

He is joined by his wife, Kathleen, in the physical fitness program.

"There's nothing like it to keep you feeling well and priming you for the decision-making chores," says the Albuquerque attorney. Barnhart is 48.

Steeplejack, 66, Is Still Ready To Work

MUNDAY, Tex. (UPI)—At the age when most men are thinking about retiring, A.W. Williams is out looking for jobs.

Williams, 66, is a steeplejack. He cut his teeth on a water tower in East Texas 54 years ago and has made his living painting towers and poles most people wouldn't dare touch ever since.

Perched 50 feet in the air he dipped his brush into a bucket of silver paint and smoothed it onto a rusting flag pole. Back down on the ground a little later, the West Texan admitted it was a crazy way to make a living.

"You have to be part cowboy and part jackass to climb a flagpole and paint it," he said. "Yet, it comes natural to me. I just wouldn't know what else to do."

Williams said he had from 15 to 25 jobs a month—depending on what kind of jobs they were and where they were located. He said when he was younger he worked 26 states but now he limits himself to Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

His highest job was on a radio tower 1,640 feet up. He has fallen just once in 54 years.

"A pole broke with me in Gunterville, Alabama," Williams said. "I tried to get in a hurry and save 10 minutes. Instead I wound up spending eight weeks in a hospital."

The spry, stocky veteran climber uses a pair of specially-knotted ropes for climbing. He puts his weight on one knot while he slides the other up the pole.

"The Navy calls the knot I use a crow hitch, lumberjacks call it a rolling half hitch, Boy Scouts call it a clove hitch and us steeplejacks just call it a rigger hitch."

Regardless of what it is called, Williams knows how to use it to go up the pole at a good clip, although he explains: "I used to be fast, now I'm old and careful."

Williams makes his home in this small Knox County community of Munday, about mid-way between Abilene and Wichita Falls in West Texas. However, he spends little time here.

"I was in Amarillo a few years ago fighting a 70-footer when a good-looking girl walked by," he said with a twinkle in his eye. "You know, before I knew what was happening I had climbed 10 feet past the end of the pole."

Sand, Gravel Soar Steeply In Value

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Sand and gravel is worth $1.25 a cubic yard at the gravel pit, according to the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries.

By the time it leaves the pit its value has increased 10 times, and when the material is put in steel-reinforced concrete buildings, its value has increased more than 100 times the original costs.
